والعلامات حتى 11 نوفمبر 2014

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن ایضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل ایضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

مت 24: 7 لأنه تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة وتكون مجاعات واوبئة وزلازل في اماكن

مت 24: 8 ولكن هذه كلها مبتدأ الازعاج

مت 24: 9 حينئذ يسلمونكم الى ضيق ويقتلونكم وتكونون مبغضين من جميع الامم لأجل اسمي

مت 24: 10 وحينئذ يعثر كثيرون ويسلمون بعضهم بعضا ويبغضون بعضهم بعضا

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون كثيرين

مت 24: 12 وكثرة الاثم تبرد محبة الكثيرين

مت 24: 13 ولكن الذي يصبر الى المنتهى فهذا يخلص

مت 24: 14 ويكرز ببشارة الملكوت هذه في كل المسكونة شهادة لجميع الامم ثم ياتي المنتهى

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

المسيح لا يتنبأ ولا يتوقع بل يعرف

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

وايضا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَانْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.»

ATLANTA (WXIA) – Dozens of reports of a fireball crossing the sky emerged Monday evening across 14 eastern states, from as far north as the Great Lakes states and extending as far south as Georgia and Alabama.

As of 4 p.m. Tuesday, the American Meteor Society said they had received nearly 400 reports of one or more meteors crossing the skies at about 6:20 p.m. Monday.

The reports came from Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia. The six reports from Georgia included one each in Rossville, Statesboro, Homer, Doraville, Alpharetta and Atlanta.

Most of the reports said the fireball was a greenish-to-white color as it crossed the sky.

11Alive's Greensboro sister station WFMY received a number of reports from viewers in their area.

No reports have been received indicating the meteor hit the ground.

Those Sunspots Approaching Earth Could Bring Blackouts

By Brian K. Sullivan | Nov 5, 2014 9:29 AM MT 54 Comments Email Print

A new group of sunspots that has come into view of Earth has the attention of the U.S. Space Weather Prediction Center.

The area, referred to as 2205, spat out an x-ray flare that produced a moderate radio blackout today, according to the center's website. Earlier this week, it let loose several coronal mass ejections, explosions of magnetic fields and plasma from the sun's atmosphere that can knock out power grids and disrupt navigational systems.

Most of the material in today's flare, along with the earlier eruptions, was pointed away from Earth, thus sparing the planet severe storms.

"We're kind of seeing a bit of resurgence now," said Robert Rutledge, lead operations at the center. "The sun is making a second run at us."

Sunspots are large magnetic storms that appear as dark areas on the sun's surface and can be seen from Earth. A large and active sunspot complex last month caused several radio blackout storms before moving away from the side of the sun facing Earth.

A person walking down the street isn't going to be vaporized by a solar storm striking Earth. The planet's magnetic field acts as a shield.

Huge Fireball Spotted in Japan

People in western Japan have reported sightings of a sparkling light racing across the sky on Monday evening. Experts say it was probably a "fireball" meteor – a piece of an asteroid that ignites upon entering Earth's atmosphere – and any surviving fragments mostly likely ended up in the sea. More Below

Fireball lit up Texas sky, NASA says

By Catherine E. Shoichet and Ben Brumfield, CNN

updated 5:56 PM EST, Sun November 9, 2014

STORY HIGHLIGHTS

- NEW: NASA scientist: Fireball burned five times brighter than a full moon
- NEW: It was at least four feet wide and weighed about 4,000 pounds, he says
- NEW: Hundreds report seeing a fireball over Texas on astronomical website
- Weather service: Sheriff's office says meteorite lands, shaking the ground

Editor's note: A photo previously accompanying this story was not of Saturday's meteor event and has been removed.

(CNN) -- What burns five times brighter than a full moon and flies through the air with its tail sticking out behind it?

Many Texas residents reported seeing a meteor streaming across the Saturday night sky.

They were right, but scientists are still investigating the details, said Dr. Bill Cooke, lead for NASA's Meteoroid Environment Office.

"This was definitely what we call a fireball, which by definition is a meteor brighter than the planet Venus," he told reporters in a conference call Sunday.

"This event was so bright that it was picked up on a NASA meteor camera in the mountains of New Mexico over 500 miles away, which makes it extremely unusual," he said. "This was a very bright event."

Based on data from NASA's camera, Cooke estimated that the meteor was at least four feet wide, weighed about 4,000 pounds and burned five times brighter than a full moon.

The American Meteor Society has received more than 200 reports about it so far from people in various parts of the Lone Star State, who reported seeing it within minutes of the same time -- 8:45 p.m. Central (9:45 p.m. ET). Descriptions of the fleeting flash spread rapidly on social media.

Typhoon Nuri Could Challenge All-Time Record

Typhoon Nuri has already had a remarkable run on this Earth. The Capital Weather Gang explains that for 24 hours over the weekend, Nuri was a category 5 monster storm with maximum sustained winds of 180 mph, tying with Typhoon Vongfong as the strongest cyclone of the season. But Nuri may actually make a name for itself after it loses its tropical characteristics when it moves north into the Bering Sea. When it gets there, all the warm, tropical air it's pushing around will crash into a mountain of cold air and cause a violent explosion of meteorological energy that could propel this storm into history. Northeast California and Nevada Dealing With Swarm Of Earthquakes

By JAVIER PANZAR

NOVEMBER 7, 2014, 3:03 PM

A swarm of hundreds of earthquakes that has been striking a corner of the Nevada desert near the Oregon border for months has intensified in recent days, prompting new warnings from seismologists.

About 750 earthquakes, mostly magnitude 2.0 to 3.0, have struck the area about 50 miles southeast of Lakeview, Ore., since the swarm started in July, said Ian Madin, chief scientist for Oregon's Department of Geology and Mineral Industries.

Volcano Eruption Forces Icelanders to Hide as Europe Forgets

Bardarbunga volcano's lava field now covers 65 square kilometers (25 square miles) and the amount of lava that has been spewed out equals about 1 cubic kilometer (0.24 cubic miles). For the kids at the Graenuvellir kindergarten in Husavik, north Iceland, going out to play was not an option. They were kept inside on Nov. 4 to protect them from sulfur-dioxide gases spewing from the Holuhraun lava field near the Bardarbunga volcano. The eruption has been going for almost three months and shows no sign of stopping. Red-hot lava has spread 70 square kilometers (27 square miles), covering an area larger than Manhattan. "On regular days the kids go out to play to take in the fresh air, but that's not really possible or safe under the current conditions," Augusta Palsdottir, a manager at the kindergarten, which has 125 children between the ages of one and six, said in a Nov. 4 interview.

Hawaii lava flow destroys first home

By Susanna Capelouto, CNN

updated 9:39 PM EST, Mon November 10, 2014

STORY HIGHLIGHTS

- Lava from Kilauea volcano engulfed a house, USGS says
- The residents had long evacuated and cleared out their belongings
- There are not other homes nearby in any danger, officials say
- Officials can only watch the lava flow and warn residents

(CNN) -- Lava from Hawaii's Kilauea volcano engulfed a home today in Pahoa village, according to the U.S. Geological Survey. It's the first home to be destroyed by the lava flow.

The residents had long evacuated and cleared out their belongings, officials said.

"The lava spread out and ignited the house before noon local time," said USGS spokeswoman Janet Baab. "There are no other homes in imminent danger. We are watching the flow closely and continue to monitor it."

Over One Million Birds Killed by Storms in India

30 October 2014

INDIA - The cost of chicken and eggs is going through the roof in the city, thanks to the damage suffered by the poultry industry due to the cyclone Hudhud. With the industry not showing any signs of immediate revival, prices are likely to soar further.

As on date, chicken is priced at 180 rupees a kg as against its normal price of 140 rupees, with meat shop owners predicting that the cost would reach 200 rupees in the coming days. Similarly, eggs are being sold for 'six each as against 'four and are likely to touch 'seven, reports TheNewIndianExpress.

In the districts of Visakhapatnam, Srikakulam and Vizianagaram, there used to be about seven million broiler chicken, a whopping 60 per cent of which died due to the cyclone, causing immense damage to poultry farms.

As a result, only a small quantity of broiler chicken is arriving into the market. The city itself requires 150 tonnes of broiler chicken per day. As there is no chicken available in the district, it is being brought from Godavari districts, thereby causing scarcity there.

"At this rate, the price is sure to go up further. It may even go beyond '200 per kg," says Mohammed Arif, a meat vendor at Isukathota Junction. Since the remaining broiler chicken in the city might cause health problems, as the birds have been affected by the storm, the demand for country chicken has risen sharply, leading to an increase in price from '300 to 360, which is likely to go up as well.

There are hundreds, thousands strong, the fish found dead in Spain and in Mexico, unknown cause of death

Hundreds of fish found dead in Spain and Mexico - A strange phenomenon is common these days in Spain and Mexico. The presence of thousands of dead fish in Seville, Valencia and Veracruz. Found in the last hour from residents in the area of the basin of the Marciaga, Seville, in the lake of La Devesa del Saler, Valencia, Spain, and in the lagoon El Paraiso in Veracruz, Mexico, died in large numbers for reasons unexplained and stacked on the banks. According to experts led to the death of so many fish in two different places in the world there may be a sudden change in climate, in this case a rapid change in temperature at which the fish would not be able to get used to and that would leave them without oxygen.

Another reason could be due to the fact that the intense heat of recent days have caused a high water evaporation, resulting in the death of many fish. In any case, the fish were removed from the three laghie will proceed to a detailed analysis of the water, to see if there were any potentially harmful substances discharged. Also because, in the case of the lagoon of Veracruz in Mexico, it is not the first time that such an episode occurs.

Purwakarta – Pembudidaya ikan kolam jaring apung (KJA) Waduk Jatiluhur, Purwakarta, Jawa Barat, dilanda panik. Pasalnya, akhir-akhir ini serangan koi herpes virus (KHV) mulai mengganas. Akibat serangan virus itu, tercatat 217 ton ikan mati.

Untuk mengantisipasi kerugian yang lebih besar, pembudidaya tersebut terpaksa panen dini. Ketua Himpunan Petani Nelayan Ikan (Hipni) Waduk Jatiluhur, Darwis, mengatakan, sepanjang 2014 ini kolam di Waduk Jatiluhur telah beberapa kali terserang virus. Paling parah pada akhir Oktober kemarin sampai sekarang. Akibat virus itu, ikan mati satu persatu.

"Ikan yang mati sejak akhir Oktober sampai saat ini sudah mencapai 217 ton," ujar Darwis, Senin (3/11).

Diungkapkan, potensi kematian ikan ini, cukup besar. Mengingat, sampai sekarang petani ikan tak bisa memutus mata rantai virus tersebut. Sehingga, dari pada menanggung rugi terlalu besar, lebih baik petani panen dini.

Dangerous bird flu in West Pomerania

A highly contagious bird flu virus mixed poultry farmers in trouble. 31,000 turkeys only in Asia. As the disease came to Germany, is unclear.

A sign informs about the outbreak of avian influenza in a turkey operation in Heinrichswalde.
Source: dpa

Heinrichswalde / Schwerin. first time, a previously known only from Asia and dangerous avian pathogens in Germany has surfaced. The affected turkeys operation with about 31,000 animals in the Vorpommern-Greifswald was locked. The turkeys are infected with the influenza virus of subtype H5N8. On Thursday began with the killing, which is to be completed on Friday.

ANZEIGE

Mecklenburg-Western Pomerania Agriculture Minister Till Backhaus (SPD) said, on the evening cautious confidence that the disease remains limited to operation in Heinrichswalde. In contrast to the first major bird flu outbreak in February 2006 was so far been discovered in Mecklenburg-Vorpommern no infected wild bird.

Brazilian Tourist Beach Mysteriously Covered with Dead Fish

Published 6 November 2014

The unusual situation is harshly affecting the local fisherpeople's life, while authorities have finally started an investigation to find the cause of the problem.

For reasons as yet unknown, huge numbers of fish from the same species have been dying on the tourist beaches of Ganabara Bay in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil over the past month, an unprecedented situation that is scaring the population.

The municipal cleaning service have found 20 tons of shads, a particular species of fish similar to sardines and herrings, as well as four sea turtles.

Surprisingly, "the tests proved that it is not a matter of chemical or toxic contamination of water," declared the oceanograph David Zee to AFP, from the State University of Rio de Janeiro (UERJ).

The fisherpeople have complained of being forced to buy fish to resell, as their weekly wage has been cut by more

Indian River Lagoon System experiencing large fish species

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
November 08, 2014 - 1:16 pm EST

MERRITT ISLAND, Florida — The Indian River Lagoon system is experiencing a major fish die-off.

Florida Today (<http://on.flatoday.com/1tq0TNi>) reported Saturday that dead fish are fouling canals around Merritt Island.

Among the dead fish are catfish, flounder, mullet, pinfish and red drum.

A spokesman for the Fish and Wildlife Research Institute in St. Petersburg told the newspaper that a recent water test on Merritt Island found no evidence of a harmful algae bloom or raw sewage. Biologists continue to monitor the fish kills.

The latest fish die-off is happening in an area from Satellite Beach to Fort Pierce.

Researchers have been testing the tissues of hardhead catfish but haven't reached conclusions about a cause of the die-off.

"You're talking about a wide span of area," Doug Adams, assistant research scientist with the institute's Melbourne field office, said of the hardhead catfish deaths. "We've seen these hardhead catfish die-offs in the past. We've even seen them Florida-wide."

In 2005, scientists suspected a toxic algae similar to red tide caused thousands of baby hardhead catfish to die near Rockledge and Melbourne.

2014 Found more than 300 dead trout at Brenkhausen

fish kills in the Schelpe

In the Schelpe at Brenkhausen many dead fish were found on Wednesday afternoon. The fishing club is concerned that the entire portfolio has died in the village. Photo: WB

Hoxter / Brenkhausen (dp). A mysterious fish kills in the Schelpe employed residents of Brenkhausen. There are several hundred trout have been found.

Citizens in Brenkhausen have found a number of dead trout in the stream of Schelpe on Wednesday afternoon and informed the water authority of the circle Hoxter. From the department of water samples and dead fish were seized for examination. Legged subsequent Bach commission gathered members of the fishing club Brenkhausen a three ten-gallon bucket full of dead fish. The first dead trout were about 100 meters above the registered Tennis home, the last in the amount of the old sewage treatment plant. In the Schelpe are due to the low water level mostly undersized fish that migrate in larger state in the Weser. So about 300 trout were collected in size from ten to 15 centimeters and about 15 large specimens from the dead stream. "I'm assuming that the entire stock of fish is found dead in the area of the village Brenkhausen," said Chairman of the Fisheries Association Brenkhausen, Johannes Hahn angle. In addition to the financial loss to the club and the environmental damage is large. For it was killed and the large inventory of Mühlkoppen. Mühlkoppen, also known as sculpins, are ten to 15 centimeters big fish,

While a new set of government measures announced is to "curb rising cost of living," the waters of the Aumance are victims of a new pollution.

Once again, the waters have been polluted Aumance at the beginning of November. In July already, between Neuville and Cosne-Allier, hundreds of pounds of fish were destroyed, but this time the disaster is greater.

Indeed, for several days, about eight kilometers from Cosne-Allier, to the deck of Hollow at Hedgehog, "large pieces and small fry were victims of water contamination," as stated Centre-Matin newspaper, in its issue of Tuesday, November 10.

Naturally, the fishing company Aumance Roach, by its president, Jean Pichard, has once again moved to "the disastrous turn was taking the situation".

Thousands break quarantine to find food in Sierra Leone

Posted on November 5, 2014

November 2014 – SIERRA LEONE – Thousands of people in Sierra Leone are being forced to violate Ebola quarantines to find food because deliveries are not reaching them, aid agencies said. Large swaths of the West African country have been sealed off to prevent the spread of Ebola, and within those areas many people have been ordered to stay in their homes. The government, with help from the U.N.'s World Food Program, is tasked with delivering food and other services to those people. But there are many "nooks and crannies" in the country that are being missed, Jeanne Kamara, Christian Aid's Sierra Leone representative, said Tuesday. The Ebola outbreak in West Africa has killed nearly 5,000 people, and authorities have gone to extreme lengths to bring it under control, including the quarantines in Sierra Leone. Similar restrictions have also been used in Liberia and Guinea, the two other countries hardest hit by the epidemic. Some efforts have begun to show progress. The situation in Guinea is improving, as is the quality of care for Ebola patients, thanks to international aid, said Aboubakar Sidiki Diakite, an official with the country's Health Ministry, who was visiting Paris on Tuesday. But more treatment centers and medical teams are still needed, the World Health Organization said at a news conference in Geneva on Tuesday. There are currently 16 treatment centers up and running and 58 more planned. To staff those centers, 500 foreign health care workers and 4,000 national ones are still needed.

The number of new cases of Ebola in Sierra Leone has jumped dramatically, putting paid to any hopes that the infection rate is slowing.

Official figures released by the minister of health and sanitation show there were 111 new cases registered on Sunday, the highest daily rate since the ministry started publishing figures in August.

There were 45 new cases the day before, including 24 in the capital, Freetown. Laboratory results for patients in Freetown, which include the new British army-built Ebola hospital, showed 40 new cases on Sunday.

There was also a spike in the number of cases in Port Loko, a district north of Freetown where there is still no treatment centre and where, until recently, corpses were left lying on verandahs, in hospitals and in houses for days before collection.

A schoolteacher brought his sick daughter from Liberia's capital to this small town of 300 people. Soon he and his entire family were dead and buried in the forest nearby, along with an increasing number of residents.

The community of Jenewonde has become a new hotspot for the Ebola outbreak in Liberia. With cases on the decline in the capital, officials must now turn their attention to hard-to-reach places where the disease is flaring.

Jenewonde, in Grand Cape Mount County near the border with Sierra Leone, has reportedly lost about 10 percent of its population to Ebola since late September. Markets and farms nearby have been abandoned.

(NaturalNews) The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is ramping up its acquisition of protective gear for U.S. hospitals that may have to handle Ebola patients, following a "sudden increase" in demand on its current national stockpile.

The federal health agency said in a November 7 statement that it is ordering an additional $2.7 million in personal protective equipment that will eventually be fashioned into 50 kits that can be deployed rapidly to hospitals if or when needed.

WASHINGTON, November 4 (RIA Novosti) - The United States does not recognize Sunday's elections in eastern Ukraine and believes that Russia's support of the independence push there will only serve to isolate it further, US State Department spokesperson Jen Psaki said at a briefing.

"The United States deplores and does not recognize yesterday's so-called separatist elections in eastern Ukraine, nor do we recognize any of the leaders chosen in this illegal vote," Psaki said late on Monday.

"We also welcome statements from the European Union, the United Nations, France, Germany, and others rejecting these illegal and illegitimate actions," she added.

NATO fighter jets intercepted a Russian military aircraft over the Baltic Sea, the latest in a spate of similar incidents that have grown in frequency during the conflict in Ukraine.

F-16s based in the Baltic region intercepted a Russian IL-20 surveillance plane, Latvia's army said today on its Twitter account. The encounter took place near Latvia's territorial waters, it said. Ukraine's military said Russia's airforce had put some of its units on high alert. A spokesman for Russia's armed forces said by phone that he wasn't able to comment.

The increased activity coincides with wrangling between Russia, the U.S. and the European Union over the future of Ukraine, where a September cease-fire is wobbling. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization tracked Russian military planes that included fighter jets, long-range bombers and tankers over the Baltic region, the North Sea and the Atlantic Ocean for three days in late October.

Russian Air Force command put units of military transport planes near the Moscow and Ryazan regions on high alert, Ukrainian military spokesman Andriy Lysenko told reporters today in Kiev. IL-76 transport planes may be used to bring troops and equipment to Ukraine's border, he said.

NATO says interceptions in 2014 have now reached 100, three times last year's total. The alliance pledged in September to bolster the defenses of frontline states in eastern Europe in response to Russian actions in Ukraine.

Civilian Risk

Russian military aircraft flying without using on-board transponders pose "a potential risk to civil aviation as civilian air traffic control cannot detect these aircraft or ensure there is no interference with civilian air traffic," NATO said Oct. 30.

U.S Military Losing Tech Superiority to China.

During the first Gulf War in the early 1990s, the U.S. military used a new generation of technological weapons that left the rest of the world far behind. But according the Frank Kendall, the Pentagon's undersecretary of defense for acquisitions, technology, and logistics, that advantage is evaporating. Speaking at a breakfast at the Navy League in Arlington, Virginia on Wednesday, Kendall said the deterioration has continued during his four and a half years on the job, "in large part because of our budget situation," including sequestration. Claudette Roulo of DoD News reported on the under secretary's breakfast remarks: When I talk to people on the Hill and I mention that I'm concerned about technological superiority, ... I get a reaction that is a sort of surprise, first of all, and disbelief. ... I think we have gotten so accustomed to our technological superiority militarily that it's just a given, and it's one of the things I kind of fight against when I try to have these conversations," Kendall said. (ANSAmед) - CAIRO, NOVEMBER 3 - The Islamic State (ISIS) has issued a statement saying that an Islamic Caliphate will be established in the Sinai, calling it the "first step towards the invasion of Jerusalem". The statement threatens Egyptian security forces, which were suffered an attack on October 24. ISIS urged jihadists in the region to "destroy police checkpoints and stations, launch RPGs at their gatherings and show the world that the Rule of God must be imposed".

Nov. 5, 2014: An Israeli fire fighter walks at the scene of an attack in Jerusalem. A Palestinian man rammed his car into a crowded train platform in east Jerusalem on Wednesday and then attacked people with an iron bar, killing one person and injuring 13 in what authorities called a terror attack before he was shot dead by the police. The militant Islamic group Hamas took responsibility for the attack. (AP)

At least one person has died and 13 others have been injured after a Palestinian man rammed a car into a crowd on a light rail platform in east Jerusalem Wednesday in what Israeli police describe as a terror attack.

Police spokesman Micky Rosenfeld said that police shot and killed the driver of the car. The driver slammed his car into the train platform in east Jerusalem first, backed out and Three IDF soldiers were injured in a second terror attack on Wednesday evening - this time, in an attempt to run over soldiers in Gush Etzion.

In the latest attack, a terrorist driving a Palestinian Arab commercial vehicle attempted to run over the soldiers as they were on duty near a guard stand outside of Kafr Al-Arub.

The driver then fled from the scene, driving southward. Security forces located the car a short time later, but the driver was nowhere to be found.

Paramedics and Magen David Adom staff gave medical treatment to the three wounded; of the three, one of them is wounded critically, with chest and limb injuries, and two were wounded moderately.

They have been evacuated to Hadassah Ein Kerem Hospital in Jerusalem for treatment.

Earlier Wednesday, a car terror attack in Jerusalem killed a Border Patrol officer, and injured 13 others. Two people are in critical condition and three in moderate condition.

The terrorist, Ibrahim Al-Akari, a resident of Shuafat in eastern Jerusalem, ran over a group of pedestrians, continued driving and struck another vehicle traveling along the road. He hit another vehicle before being stopped.

Clashes broke out after Palestinian protesters took to the streets in a "Day of Rage" against Israel on Friday, after Israel imposed entry restrictions on the Al-Aqsa mosque – the third holiest site in Islam, and the holiest place in Judaism.

Demonstrators shouted anti-Israel slogans and hurled stones, while explosions in the vicinity of the protests were audible. Israeli forces fired rubber bullets at the protesters, who had been throwing petrol bombs, according to Reuters. Protests were also met with tear gas.

Trouble has been brewing for two weeks over the area which is known to Muslims as the Noble Sanctuary and to Jews as Temple Mount.

On Friday, Israel's Sephardi chief rabbi forbade the presence of Jews.

NEW YORK — The Home Depot Inc. said Thursday that hackers stole 53 million email addresses in the U.S. and Canada in addition to payment card data.

It said the hackers accessed its network with a vendor's username and password.

The Atlanta-based home repair retailer in September disclosed a massive data breach that involved 56 million debit and credit cards between April and September.

The company said Thursday that the file containing the email addresses did not contain passwords or other sensitive personal information.

Found: The viral infection that makes nearly HALF of us more stupid (and it lasts for YEARS)

- The virus - called chlorovirus ATCV-1 - was only known to appear in algae
- Researchers in U.S. have not established how it comes to infect humans
- It hasn't infected just swimmers, which rules out direct link to algae itself
- Instead humans could've been carrying virus but was not known to doctors
- Research suggests it alters genes in brain including memory and emotion
- Scientists found 44 per cent of patients tested had virus in their throats

The Economy Of The Largest Superpower On The Planet Is Collapsing Right Now

By Michael Snyder, on November 5th, 2014

How do you fix a superpower with exploding levels of debt, that has a rapidly aging population, that consumes far more wealth than it produces, and that has scores of zombie banks that could collapse at any moment. You might think that I am talking about the United States, but I am actually talking about Europe. You see, the truth is that the European Union has a larger population than the United States does, it has a larger economy than the United States does, and it has a much larger banking system than the United States does. Most of the time I write about the horrible economic problems that the U.S. is facing, but without a doubt economic conditions in Europe are even worse at the moment. In fact, there are many \(including the Washington Post\) that are calling what is happening in Europe a full-blown "depression". Sadly, this is probably only just the beginning. In the months to come things in Europe are likely to get much worse.

First of all, let's take a look at unemployment. If the U.S. was using honest numbers, the official unemployment rate would probably be somewhere close to 10 percent. But in many nations in Europe, the official unemployment rate is already above the ten percent mark...

STORY HIGHLIGHTS

- The blast took place near where students gathered; police say 79 people were wounded
- No one has claimed responsibility for the attack
- Police suspect Boko Haram, which has targeted schools teaching Western ideas
- The group's five-year insurgency is aimed at establishing an Islamic state

Kano, Nigeria (CNN) – At least 47 people were killed and 79 were wounded Monday by a suicide bombing outside a school in northern Nigeria, police said.

The attacker was disguised as a student when he set off the explosion in a government boarding school in the town of Potiskum, police spokesman Emmanuel Ojukwu said.

"We suspect Boko Haram is behind the attack," Ojukwu said.

The explosion took place at 7:50 a.m. local time outside the principal's office, where students had gathered for a daily speech.

Federal Court Rules 'Secular Humanism' a Religion, Extends Equal Protection Rights to Atheists

In a landmark decision last week, a federal judge in Oregon declared 'secular humanism' to be a religion, opining that those who profess to be atheists and secular humanists should be afforded equal protection rights under the Establishment Clause of the U.S. Constitution and be allowed to enjoy the same liberties to practice religion that religious groups are able to enjoy.

Jason Holden, an atheist inmate who is serving time at the Federal Correctional Institute in Sheridan, Oregon, filed suit against the Federal Bureau of Prisons in April for rejecting his requests to form a study group on humanism. The Federal Bureau of Prisons denied the request on the ground that humanism was not a religious affiliation under existing prison classification, and hence Holden elevated it to federal court.

Senior District Judge Ancer Haggerty of the federal district court ruled in favor of Holden in order to exercise his constitutional right to form a humanist study group. Haggerty ruled that Holden's constitutional rights were violated under the First and Fifth Amendments. In his ruling, he moved to recognize secular humanism as a religion for "Establishment Clause" purposes. Under the Establishment Clause, Haggerty's rationale is that secular humanism must be able to enjoy the same liberties as other religious organizations because it is a constitutional principle that no religion shall be established above others as a state religion.

The American Humanist Association co-filed the case with Holden in the case American Humanist Association vs United States and declared the ruling a victory for secular groups to be afforded the same legal rights that are available to Buddhists, Christians, Hindus, Jews and Muslims – all of whom were permitted to organize under the current federal prison system. Haggerty sided with the plaintiffs, citing legal precedent in the case Torcaso vs Watkins which cited Secular Humanism as a religion in the decision to prohibit state and federal governments from passing laws to have religious requirements in holding public office.

Imagine looking up the word "God" in the dictionary only to find it's not there. This was the case in Albania, where before the fall of communism in the early 1990s, government leaders attempted to remove all spirituality from the culture—destroying churches, temples and mosques and even removing the word "God" from dictionaries.

Now, the door has opened for The Tide global radio ministry to expand into this former atheist nation, bringing the gospel of Jesus Christ to Albanians through radio programs produced on-site in the language listeners were born to speak.

"This nation that was once so closed to the gospel is now open to missionaries and allows full religious freedom," said Don Shenk, director of The Tide. "Sadly, though, the effects of blocking the gospel for so

A 90-year-old chef and two ministers are facing criminal charges for feeding hundreds of homeless people in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Chef Arnold Abbott, Rev. Dwayne Black and Rev. Mark Sims are accused of violating a new city ordinance that prohibits feeding the homeless in public.

The city ordinance took effect Friday, and the penalty includes a possible 60-day jail sentence and a $500 fine.

On Wednesday night, police simply finger-printed Abbott at the scene and issued a citation. But this is the second time he has faced off with police in recent days.

Police also arrested them Sunday as they handed out food to homeless people in a park.

You should be outraged and appalled over this—and you should take action. Disney Channel is officially allowing profanity in its programming.

One Million Moms is certainly outraged and appalled by the curse words in Doc McStuffins, an animated program that was, until now, clean and family-friendly. The mom activist group reports that Doc McStuffins includes curse words and bleeps to cover up foul language during this cartoon.

"Disney Channel has questionable content at times, especially when it portrays kids showing disrespect towards parents and adults," the group contends. "However, many still consider, or at least hope, it is a family-friendly channel since it is a network created for children, particularly the Disney Junior division, which is primarily for preschoolers."

One Million Moms offers a specific example: During one episode of Doc McStuffins, the dino stuffed animal used profanity purposely placed immediately before a sneeze so it would not be as noticeable.

TUPELO, Miss. – A number of Christians are expressing outrage after a popular cereal company recently used Tony the Tiger in a print advertisement promoting “gay pride.”

“Wear your stripes with pride,” an advertisement featuring the Frosted Flakes icon, was reportedly published in the Atlanta, Georgia pride guide last month to coincide with the city’s homosexual pride march and festival. Kellogg had served as one of the sponsors for the event.

“At Kellogg, we’re an evolving culture that respects and accepts employees’ sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression so that all employees can be authentic and fully engaged,” the advertisement reads.

U.K. Mother Who Won Case to Kill Disabled Daughter Raising International Concerns

The case of a mother who petitioned a United Kingdom judge to allow her to kill her 12-year-old daughter by depriving her of hydration and nutrition is raising international concerns from disability advocates and others around the world.

Nancy Fitzmaurice, who was killed in August, was born blind with hydrocephalus, meningitis and septicaemia. Nancy was twelve years old at the time and required 24-hour care. She was fed, hydrated and medicated by tube at London's Great Ormond Street Hospital, and was given morphine and ketamine to alleviate her pain until her death.

Her mother, Charlotte Fitzmaurice Wise, petitioned a U.K. judge to deprive her daughter from hydration and nutrition, leading to a slow death.

"She has endured enough," said Wise, "For me to say that breaks my heart."

This Device Has Grocery Stores Panicked

Although Nancy died in August, news of her case only became known after her parents came forward with the details recently, hoping that similar decisions could be made by parents and doctors without requiring legal intervention.

During the case, Justice Eleanor King, a high court judge in the United Kingdom, reportedly lauded Wise's decision for her "love and devotion" towards Nancy, ruling that Nancy had no quality of life given her circumstances, and that she should be killed by depriving her of food and water until her death. Following the court order, Wise claimed that her intention was to end her daughter's suffering and to grant her death with dignity.

However, disability advocates around the world were outraged by this incident. The Autism Self Advocacy Network recently released a statement that this decision sets a "troubling" and "concerning" legal precedent that will allow parents to end the lives of their disabled children.
