والعلامات حتى 30 ديسمبر 2014

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن ایضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل ایضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

مت 24: 7 لأنه تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة وتكون مجاعات واوبئة وزلازل في اماكن

مت 24: 8 ولكن هذه كلها مبتدأ الازعاج

مت 24: 9 حينئذ يسلمونكم الى ضيق ويقتلونكم وتكونون مبغضين من جميع الامم لأجل اسمي

مت 24: 10 وحينئذ يعثر كثيرون ويسلمون بعضهم بعضا ويبغضون بعضهم بعضا

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون كثيرين

مت 24: 12 ولكثرة الاثم تبرد محبة الكثيرين

مت 24: 13 ولكن الذي يصبر الى المنتهى فهذا يخلص

مت 24: 14 ويكرز ببشارة الملكوت هذه في كل المسكونة شهادة لجميع الامم ثم ياتي المنتهى

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

المسيح لا يتنبأ ولا يتوقع بل يعرف

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

وايضا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَانْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.»

At Least 24 Dead in Malaysia and Thailand Floods

KUALA LUMPUR — The worst flooding in Malaysia in more than a decade has killed 10 people and forced nearly 160,000 from their homes and more rain is expected, authorities said on Sunday. Over the border in southern Thailand, 14 people have been killed in the floods that began in mid-December. Among the casualties, five were in the worst-hit state of Kelantan, in northeastern peninsular Malaysia.

Malaysian Prime Minister Najib Razak toured some of the worst-hit areas this weekend, following his return from a vacation in Hawaii on Friday. Najib was criticized for his absence during the calamity, after being photographed playing golf with President Barack Obama.

Northeastern Malaysia and southern Thailand are regularly hit by flooding during the annual northeast monsoon, but this year the rain has been particularly heavy. The Malaysian government said rain in Kelantan and southern Thailand would last for at least another week. An official in the

Scientists try to decipher Idaho earthquake swarms

By KEITH RIDLER The Associated Press

Boise, Idaho » The latest earthquake swarm in central Idaho could help scientists better understand quake belts extending from Yellowstone National Park.

The most recent swarm in the Challis area started this week and so far 20 quakes have been recorded, the largest a magnitude 3.7 on Monday.

"There's obviously a fault down there at depth to produce these, and the town of Challis happens to be built on top of it," said scientist Mike Stickney of the Montana Bureau of Mines and Geology based in Butte, Montana. "We have no indication that it's leading to a larger event."

The quakes are occurring at the northern tip of the Lost River Fault but it's not clear if that fault is involved or if an unknown fault is at work. The Lost River Fault caused Idaho's largest recorded quake, a magnitude 6.9, rumbling in 1983 near 12,667-foot Borah Peak, Idaho's tallest peak.

Scientists brought in portable seismographs to monitor an earthquake swarm last summer. Most were removed after the swarm stopped but one was left in place.

It "completely stopped and then just a couple days ago it started up again," said Melanie Corrigan, a dispatcher with the Custer County Sheriff's Office. "People are just like, 'Oh, great, here we go again.'"

She said no damage has been reported.

Stickney said the quakes are being produced by different triggers, indicating a complex process that's poorly

Hawaii lava stalls just short of shopping center

HONOLULU (AP) — Call it a holiday gift from Pele.

Lava from the mountain believed to be home to the Hawaiian volcano goddess has stalled on its slow creep toward a Big Island shopping center.

Officials had been worried that the lava from Kilauea volcano would hit Pahoa Marketplace on or around Christmas, but civil defense administrator Darryl Oliveira said Tuesday that the lava's leading edge had stopped about 700 yards from the shopping center, which has a supermarket, gas station and other stores.

Bárðarbunga volcano update 22-December-2014

Posted on December 22, 2014 by Jón Frimann

 Send to Kindle

This is a short update of Bárðarbunga volcano eruption.

- The eruption has now lasted almost four months. Making this the longest eruption in Iceland for many, many years. This might be the longest eruption in Iceland since 19th century.
- The lava field in Holuhraun is now larger then 80 km² in size. The lava now flows underground in lava tubes inside the lava field. It breaks out on the edges at times and sometimes up on the surface.
- Earthquake activity remains the same in Bárðarbunga volcano. Bad weather has decreased the sensitivity on the nearby SIL sensors. Some remain offline due the weather and heavy snow in the area.
- Subsidence has slowed, the amount of larger earthquakes has also dropped at the same time. It has not stopped, just slowed down for the moment.
- There are no signs about the eruption ending any time soon. The eruption could go on for years, at least many months in it's current phase.

Harrisburg sinkhole problems

HARRISBURG—Monday the city of Harrisburg divulged more information about a report on the sinkhole problem that has plagued certain areas south of the city. The news isn't promising for one block of homes in particular.

A geological survey projects the 1400 block of South 14th street to be in eminent danger of more sinkhole issues within the next five years. The city wants to relocate the people living there, and they are constructing a plan to collect grant money to make that a reality.

"I don't feel comfortable down there," resident Vonda Evans says. "We are on pins and needles."

Evans lives in the area of 14th Street the survey has red flagged for future sinkhole problems.

"I could see it happening again the next month because it's winter and that's when it always comes, any day now another hole could open up," Donnie Graves says. Like Evans, Graves' property is under the same sinkhole threat.

To keep the current residents safe, the city wants to relocate them and acquire the homes along 1400 South 14th

DOLAKHA, DEC 21 - Mystery surrounds the death of thousands of pigeons on the Bhimeshwor temple premises in the past week.

According to the people in Dolakha Bazaar, dead pigeons are lying on the streets, rooftops, gardens and paddy fields. The stench from dead birds pollutes the atmosphere.

"Approximately 5,000 pigeons have died in a week," said Bharat Shrestha, treasurer of the Bhimeshwor temple prayer and trust management committee.

Authorities are yet to respond to the situation. Vets said an unidentified virus may be responsible for the menace while the locals have got into a panic fearing a disease outbreak in humans.

INDRAYANI WASTING AWAY?

Environmentalists blame chemical waste from cottage industries, PCMC turns a blind eye

After hundreds of fish were found dead in the Indrayani river in Pimpri Chinchwad, local environmentalists are once again up in arms against the discharge of chemical waste generated by cottage industries which have flooded Kudalwadi, Chikhali and More wasti.

Activists claim the fauna in the river is hugely threatened by this waste and have accused the Pimpri Chinchwad Municipal Corporation (PCMC) authorities of not paying heed despite several complaints in the past.

On Thursday, some local fishermen had gone to the river near Chikhali ghat and found several fish floating on the surface. Some of them even complained that a stink from the chemicals was emanating from the water.

Speaking to Mirror, Vikas Patil, a member of the Pune district environment committee, said that over the last few years, due to industrialisation, chemical waste has been discharged into the river on a large scale, polluting the water and killing the fish.

ANNA MARIA ISLAND -- A Christmas Day walk along Holmes Beach in Anna Maria Island turned foul today with the discovery of hundreds of dead fish washed ashore.

Tourists and residents discovered the dead fish littered along the Anna Maria shoreline Christmas morning. The fish measured about a foot in length and created a stench by the afternoon.

There has been no official explanation for the fish kill although a red tide bloom could be to blame.

One visitor from Chicago on the beach said possibly as many as 1,000 dead fish were on the beach.

Contaminated Water Reservoir, Dead Fish sprawl

Mass death of fish in the reservoir allegedly caused water pollution leading to a reduction of dissolved oxygen (Dissolved Oxygen / DO).

Pollution of the waters of the reservoir is not only due to the existence of floating net cages exceed the carrying capacity of the environment, but because it is a downstream reservoir watershed that has been contaminated by sewage.

Floating net cage fish farmers (KJA) in waters Cirata, West Java, helm obtain weather forecast information hostile conditions the next few weeks. The Meteorology, Climatology and Geophysics (BMKG) predicts the peak of the rainy season occurs early January to February 2015.

Learning from the experience of previous years, entered the peak of the rainy season means it will appear threat of mass death of fish (KMI) in waters Cirata. Signs before the events of the IMA, usually cloudy sky for a few days with the wind.

Therefore, these days most of the farmers did not dare to speculate with the weather conditions. "Because the weather is getting a bit ugly, some farmers to harvest fish early KJA. There are also farmers who plant the seeds reduce fish so great loss," said fish farmers KJA, Maman, told The Jakarta, last week.

Japan's Miyazaki prefectural government has ordered the culling of 42,000 chickens on a farm after a second bird flu outbreak, media reported Monday.

Chickens at the poultry farm in the Uranomyo area in Miyazaki tested positive for the H5 strain of the bird flu, the prefectural government said Sunday.

The prefectural government has set up 10 sterilisation points around the affected farm.

The latest case marks the second time a highly pathogenic bird flu strain has been confirmed in Japan this year, Japan Times reported.

On Dec 16, the highly pathogenic H5N8 virus was confirmed at a poultry farm in the city of Nobeoka, also in Miyazaki prefecture, where about 4,000 chickens were killed.

A prefectural official said it was uncertain whether the latest case is linked to the Nobeoka one.

Mass starfish stranding reported on Fripp Island

BY REBECCA LURYE

rlurye@islandpacket.com December 27, 2014

FRIPP ISLAND, SC — Thousands of starfish were stranded on Fripp Island on Christmas Eve, likely because of the day's stormy weather, according to a marine veterinarian.

Al Segars of the S.C. Department of Natural Resources said he had not looked into the stranding, but said strong winds could have caused the creatures, also known as sea stars, to wash ashore. Christmas Day beachgoers estimated that roughly 100,000 sea stars were on the beach.

The Sea Islands experienced the same thing last year, Segars said.

"I wouldn't say it's anything out of the ordinary," he said. "These guys are just sitting on the bottom, so if you've got a strong wave action, they can't fight the current."

George Sedberry, a science coordinator in national Office of Marine Sanctuaries, said he has not studied this stranding but offered other possible explanations for the sea stars' deaths.

The creatures have poor tolerance for water with low dissolved oxygen, which can wreck a population, Sedberry said. Those events are commonly reported in the Myrtle Beach area, but a dip in oxygen levels is unlikely to occur in the winter or as far south as Fripp, Sedberry said.

Some of the sea stars could also have been unintentionally caught by (Reuters) - A leak on a major Russian oil pipeline caused a spill in the Black Sea near the port of Tuapse on Wednesday where officials said stormy weather was hampering efforts to assess and respond to the mishap.

"Some quantity of oil has spilled into the sea," Sergei Proskurin, first deputy captain of the port of Tuapse, told Reuters.

He said the size of the spill was unclear and that emergency services were working to deploy temporary floating barriers to contain the spill but were being delayed by the stormy conditions.

Tuapse is a busy industrial and oil port but is located close to many Russian Black Sea resorts. It is just 118 km (73 miles) from the town of Sochi which hosted the 2014 Winter Olympics.

Two Tuapse residents told Reuters they had seen oil in the sea and in a river along which the pipeline runs toward the Tuapse oil refinery operated by state oil firm Rosneft.

"I can see dark spots on the river... The sea is stormy. I can't say it is fully covered in oil but there is plenty of oil in the port and on berths, not to mention the coast line," said a worker at the BEIJING: China today said it has developed a vaccine to combat the spread of deadly Ebola virus that has killed more than 7,000 people in three West African countries, and the test of the drug on humans would begin this month.

Defence Ministry spokesman Yang Yujun told reporters that the vaccine has been developed by a research team at the Academy of Military Medical Sciences, one of the top research units of China's People's Liberation Army.

"The vaccine has recently passed appraisal by state and military authorities and will begin clinical tests in December," said Yang.

He said the China-developed Ebola vaccine was the third in the world to have been put into clinical tests in the world. It is also the world's first 2014-genetic mutation Ebola vaccine.

Scientists are racing to develop Ebola vaccines after the world's worst outbreak of the virus, which has killed more than 7,000 people in West Africa.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A new virus thought to be carried by ticks or other insects has been discovered following the death of a south-east Kansas resident during the summer, public health officials said Monday.

The new virus is called Bourbon virus, after Bourbon County, home of the patient who died. The Kansas Department of Health and Environment said the patient's symptoms, including fever and fatigue, were similar to symptoms from other tick-borne dis-

New Tick-Borne 'Bourbon Virus' Is Deadly And Unlike Anything Previously Seen In U.S.

The Huffington Post | By Sarah Klein

Posted: 12/24/2014 12:57 pm EST | Updated: 12/24/2014 9:59 pm EST

Researchers have identified the cause of a Kansas farmer's mysterious death this summer as Bourbon virus.

Thought to be transmitted by ticks, the virus "was fast-moving and severe, causing lung and kidney failure, and shock," The New York Times reported, killing the previously healthy man after only 10 days in the hospital.

Together, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and University of Kansas Hospital researchers identified the virus as a thogotovirus, part of a larger type of viruses called orthomyxoviruses, Dana Hawkinson, M.D., an infectious disease specialist at The University of Kansas Hospital said in the video statement above.

Bourbon virus, named after Bourbon County, Kansas, where the only known patient lived, is similar to viruses seen previously in Eastern Europe, Africa and Asia, said Hawkinson, but nothing like it had ever been identified in the Western Hemisphere before.

According to Assistant U.S. Attorney Stuart Delery, the pharmacy's employees showed "not only a reckless disregard for federal health and safety regulations, but also an extreme and appalling disregard for human life."

Half of All Children Will Be Autistic by 2025, Warns Senior Research Scientist at MIT

December 23, 2014

 Print This Post

Why? Evidence points to glyphosate toxicity from the overuse of Monsanto's Roundup herbicide on our food.

For over three decades, Stephanie Seneff, PhD, has researched biology and technology, over the years publishing over 170 scholarly peer-reviewed articles. In recent years she has concentrated on the relationship between nutrition and health, tackling such topics as Alzheimer's, autism, and cardiovascular diseases, as well as the impact of nutritional deficiencies and environmental toxins on human health.

At a conference last Thursday, in a special panel discussion about GMOs, she took the audience by surprise when she declared, "At today's rate, by 2025, one in two children will be autistic." She noted that the side effects of autism closely mimic those of glyphosate toxicity, and presented data showing a remarkably consistent correlation between the use of Roundup on crops (and the creation of Roundup-ready GMO crop seeds) with rising rates of autism. Children with autism have biomarkers indicative of excessive glyphosate, including zinc and iron deficiency, low serum sulfate, seizures, and mitochondrial disorder.

A fellow panelist reported that after Dr. Seneff's presentation, "All of the 70 or so people in attendance were squirming, likely because they now had serious misgivings about serving their kids, or themselves, anything with corn or soy, which are nearly all genetically modified and thus tainted with Roundup and its glyphosate."

Dr. Seneff noted the ubiquity of glyphosate's use. Because it is used on corn and soy, all soft drinks and candies sweetened with corn syrup and all chips and cereals that contain soy fillers have small amounts of glyphosate in them, as do our beef and poultry since cattle and chicken are fed GMO corn or soy. Wheat is often sprayed with Roundup just prior to being harvested, which means that all non-organic bread and wheat products would also be sources of glyphosate toxicity. The amount of glyphosate in each product may not be large, but the cumulative effect (especially with as much processed food as Americans eat) could be devastating. A recent study shows that pregnant women living near farms where pesticides are applied have a 60% increased risk of children having an autism spectrum disorder.

Other toxic substances may also be autism-inducing. You may recall our story on the CDC whistleblower who revealed the government's deliberate concealment of the link between the MMR vaccine (for measles, mumps, and rubella) and a sharply increased risk of autism, particularly in African American boys. Other studies now show a link between children's exposure to pesticides and autism. Children who live in homes with vinyl floors, which can emit phthalate chemicals, are more likely to have autism. Children whose mothers smoked were also twice as likely to have autism. Research now acknowledges that environmental contaminants such as PCBs, PBDEs, and mercury can alter brain neuron functioning even before a child is born.

A Cyber War With North Korea And An Economic War With Russia

By Michael Snyder, on December 22nd, 2014

In addition to all of our wars in the Middle East and the war that has erupted on the streets of America, we are now engaged in a cyber war with North Korea and an economic war with Russia. Without a doubt, the United States has the capability to do a tremendous amount of damage to both of them. But what about the damage that they could potentially do to us? We have a society that is absolutely teeming with soft targets. Our Internet infrastructure is extremely vulnerable, our debt-based economic system is already teetering on the edge of disaster, and government officials freely admit that security at key facilities such as power plants is sorely lacking. And these kinds of bitter conflicts have a way of escalating. The North Koreans and the Russians are both very proud, and neither one is going to back down any time soon. If a foreign power wanted to really make us hurt, it wouldn't take much imagination at all. There are thousands of ways to do it. So Americans should not just smugly assume that we are untouchable. In a war, it is often those that are overconfident that get hurt the worst.

Last week, Barack Obama blamed North Korea for the nightmarish hack attack on Sony Pictures Entertainment and he promised that the U.S. would respond.

Well, it looks like that response began on Monday. According to Bloomberg, North Korea's connection to the Internet was totally cut off...

North Korea's limited access to the Internet has been cut off, according to a network-monitoring company, days after the U.S. government accused the country of hacking into Sony Corp. (6758)'s files.

North Korea, which has four official networks connecting the country to the Internet — all of which route through China — began experiencing intermittent problems yesterday and today went completely dark, according to Doug Madory, director of Internet analysis at Dyn Research in Hanover, New Hampshire.

Needless to say, that got the attention of the North Koreans.

Reasons Why Russia's Emerging Borei-Class Submarine Fleet is a Fearsome Nuclear Weapon at Vladimir Putin's Disposal

Russia plans to commission eight Borei-class submarines that will be at the disposal of President Vladimir Putin by 2020. The Kremlin characterises the subs as "the backbone of Russia's naval strategic forces for the coming decades."

The Borei subs, also known as Dolgorukiy-class, is being advertised by Moscow as a strategic nuclear deterrent, according to a report by ITAR-TASS news agency, in the same manner that Putin had described the 80 plus intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) that his country will acquire by 2015 as potent weapons against aggressions directed to Russia.

Yet as specs of the Vladimir Monomakh, the third of the Borei subs to join the Russian navy since last year, were revealed last week, it became clear that Putin is adding another war tool that will give him significant edge in engaging the United States and the West into a shooting war.

Below are the key lethal elements, according to RT.com, that are found on Russia's newest RS-26 missile system, dubbed the 'anti-missile defense killer', will join the ranks of the country's defenses in less than two years, Russia's Strategic Missile Force commander said.

"We are continuing the test program for RS-26 and plan to finish it next year, with the missile to be put on combat duty in 2016," Lt. Gen. Sergey Karakayev is cited as saying by RIA Novosti.

Currently, there is hardly any information available about the new missile system because it was developed in secrecy.

Reportedly, the RS-26 is a solid-fuel missile with an advanced splitting warhead, which is launched from a mobile platform.

(Update: By a vote of 303-9, Ukraine's parliament passed a bill Tuesday dropping their country's non-aligned status.)

(CNSNews.com) – Ukrainian President Petro Poroshenko's bid to drop the country's official "non-aligned" status amounts to an application to join NATO and therefore makes Ukraine a "potential enemy" of Russia, Prime Minister Dmitry Medvedev warned on Tuesday.

The comment, posted on Medvedev's Facebook page, was the strongest Russian reaction yet to the move by Ukraine's new leader to reverse his Moscow-backed predecessor's 2010 decision formally declaring the country to be non-aligned.

Legislation to end the non-aligned policy was introduced in the parliament in Kiev, the Verkhovna Rada, last week.

China: Nuclear Weapons Upgrade Puts 'Entire U.S. at Risk,' Chinese Army Told To Be Ready To Win A War

China's nuclear weapons capabilities were recently upgraded with a multiple warhead missile, and now Chinese leader Xi Jinping, and the Chinese Communist Party, have repeatedly telling the People's Liberation Army (PLA) to be ready to win a war. China's military is building a large-scale base on islands off the coast of Zhejiang province, stepping closer to the Diaoyu Islands, several Chinese sources said yesterday.

Construction is underway in the Nanji Islands, about 90km from southeast of Wenzhou, and about 300km northwest of the Japanese-administered, uninhabited Diaoyus in the East China Sea. Japan calls the Diaoyus the Senkakus.

The new base is expected to enhance China's readiness to respond to potential military crises in the region, as well as strengthen surveillance over the air defence identification zone that it declared over part of the East China Sea in November last year, the sources said.

MIRV: a nuclear game-changer for India and China

Staff Reporter | 2014-12-28 | 10:48 (GMT+8)

Multiple independently targetable reentry vehicles, or MIRVs, on Chinese and Indian ballistic missiles potentially pose a more serious threat to the world than the nuclear programs of Iran or North Korea, writes Zachary Keck, the managing editor of Washington-based National Interest magazine in an article published Dec. 19.

MIRVs allow Chinese and Indian missiles to carry payloads of several nuclear warheads, Keck wrote, each of which can be directed at different targets. This allows the warheads to be less vulnerable to anti-ballistic missile systems.

A single missile containing a MIRV system can be used to eliminate numerous enemy nuclear sites simultaneously using only a small portion of a country's missile force. Second, the kill probability can be increased since the MIRV system allows multiple strikes on the same target.

After the US deployed its first missiles with MIRV systems in 1968, the Soviet Union increased its number of nuclear warheads from 10,000 to 25,000 and later deployed its own missiles with MIRV systems. China and India have previously maintained nuclear doctrines of minimum deterrence and no-first use. Yet now, with the introduction of MIRV systems, the author said that the size of those two nations's nuclear forces will expand.

While India's MIRV systems pose an immediate threat to Pakistan, the article said China can pose a similar danger to Russia. Russia possesses a larger nuclear arsenal but China is increasing its own stockpile year on year. To prevent its nuclear superiority from eroding, Moscow must abrogate its arms control treaties with the United States, Keck wrote.

Taiwan on Tuesday launched its largest ever missile ship Tuesday as the island strives to modernise its armed forces in response to a perceived threat from China.

The 500-tonne corvette named 'Tuo Chiang' -- 'Tuo River' -- is the first of its kind ever produced by Taiwan and was touted by defence minister Yen Ming as "the fastest and most powerful" in Asia.

North Korea Blames U.S. For Internet Outage, Calls Obama A “Monkey”

More harsh rhetoric from Pyongyang tonight as the North Korean government pins blame for that country's Internet shutdown on the U.S., the Associated Press reports. The state-run Korean Central News Agency said that a spokesman for the Policy Department of the National Defense Commission, North Korea's top military body led by Kim Jong-un, said in statement, "Obama always goes reckless in words and deeds like a monkey in a tropical forest." The rep also blamed the White House for the sporadic Internet shutdown that has hit North Korea this week, in the wake of President Obama promising the U.S. "will respond proportionally" to the cyber attack on Sony Pictures last month. "The U.S., a big country, started disturbing the Internet operation of major media of the DPRK, not knowing shame like children playing a tag," the spokesman said, also threatening consequences.

Iran has launched a six-day exercise involving all branches of its military.

The large-scale, armed forces display is meant as a demonstration of defense capabilities and a test of new weapons, Iranian officials said.

Codenamed Mohammad Rasoulallah (Mohammad, the Messenger of God), the drills launched on Thursday encompass a territory of some 2.2 million square kilometers, Iranian news television Press TV reported.

It stretches from the Strait of Hormuz and the Sea of Oman, where the Iranian Navy will be testing its warships and submarines, to the southeastern part of the country, where units of the army will be participating in maneuvers.

Right on the eve of the drills – the largest in the region – the Iranian military said they planned to bring state-of-the-art missile defense systems into its integrated air defense shield. And in September, Iran promised to unveil and launch several new hi-tech radar systems capable of tracing and identifying smaller flying objects like spy drones.

A week ago chief of Iran's Navy called on foreign forces to leave the drill zone for the duration of the exercises saying that it will pose "no danger to foreign forces in the TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran's army said Saturday it has deployed a suicide drone for the first time in massive ongoing military drills near the strategic Strait of Hormuz at the entrance to the Persian Gulf.

Gen. Ahmad Reza Pourdastan, the army's chief commander of ground forces, described the unmanned aircraft as a "mobile bomb," according to state media, which said the aerial device is designed to strike air, ground and naval targets.

He did not provide the name of the drone. The conservative Kayhan daily referred to it as the Yasir, while an online news

ISIS Closing in on Israel from the North and the South

Netanyahu after sniper attack: Israel will respond strongly against all violence from Gaza

By HERB KEINON

PM comments on IDF's response to sniper fire on patrol emanating from Gaza earlier on Wednesday.

Israel will respond strongly and with determination against all attacks in the south, Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said Wednesday, commenting on the IDF's response to the sniper fire from Gaza.

"We will respond with force every time there is an attempt to disturb the quiet that was attained in the south after Operation Protective Edge," Netanyahu said in a statement.

Intelligence Minister Yuval Steinitz said Israel would not accept a deterioration in the security situation on the Gaza border.

" Hamas needs to understand that if it continues to undermine the security situation on the Gaza border, it risks a harsh Israeli response, which could turn into a comprehensive military campaign to demolish its government and military infrastructure," he said.

Meanwhile, the UN's deputy Mideast envoy, James Rawley, issued a statement urging all parties to maintain and reinforce the August 26 cease fire that put an end to Operation Protective Edge.

The statement said that Rawley "is deeply concerned by reports of exchange of fire between Palestinian militants and the IDF in the southern Gaza Strip today, which resulted in casualties on both sides. This follows a series of armed incidents since the end of November."

(NaturalNews) Scientists from the University of Rochester say they have made mice significantly smarter by injecting them at a young age with human brain cells, according to a study published in the journal Cell Stem Cell.

The researchers used immature glial cells removed from human fetuses that had been donated for research. Glial cells are a type of nerve cell that do not transmit signals (as neurons do) but provide a wide variety of other important functions for the nervous system, including forming the myelin sheath around nerve cells and supporting the neurons.

Scientists have made primitive forms of artificial sperm and eggs in a medical feat that could transform the understanding of age-related diseases and fertility problems.

Researchers in Cambridge made the early-stage sex cells by culturing human embryonic stem cells under carefully-controlled conditions for a week.

They followed the success by showing that the same procedure can convert adult skin tissue into precursors for sperm and eggs, raising the prospect of making sex cells that are genetically matched to patients.

The cells should have the potential to grow into mature sperm and eggs, though this has never been done in the lab before. The next step for the researchers will be to inject the cells into mouse ovaries or testes to see if they fully develop in the animals.

Study: There could be life deep beneath the Earth's crust

A new study published in the journal Nature explains that there is likely more water beneath the Earth's crust than on top of it — and that below-crust water may contain life.

Researchers from the University of Toronto looked at data from 19 mine sites in Canada, South Africa, and Scandinavia, and found 2.5 cubic miles of water. The water had reacted with billions-of-years-old Precambrian rocks to produce hydrogen, the BBC reports, which could be a food source for potential life. The researchers also estimate that their findings double the amount of hydrogen believed to be on Earth.

The production of hydrogen suggests that "complex microbial communities" could be just below Earth's crust, according to the researchers. The ancient water's chemistry is similar to that of the water found near Earth's deep sea vents.

Mars also has billions-of-years-old rocks with the potential to produce hydrogen, so the discovery could have "ramifications for astrobiology" if similar processes are found occurring there. First, though, scientists are going to look for more evidence closer to home.

'Awareness in Canada of Islamic banking has increased dramatically in the last few years,' says Walid Hejazi, an associate professor at the University of Toronto's Rotman School of Management.

After emerging largely unscathed from the financial crisis that hammered North American and European financial institutions, Islamic banking has momentum.

Worth $1 trillion in assets, Islamic banking is being lauded by British Prime Minister David Cameron and supported by Canada's Conservative government, major banks and credit unions, leading business schools and influential Muslims across the country.

Egypt bans movie 'Exodus'

STORY HIGHLIGHTS

- Egypt bans the movie "Exodus: Gods and Kings"
- Ministry of Culture cites "historical inaccuracies"
- The movie portrays the biblical story of enslaved Jews fleeing Egypt

(CNN) -- Another Hollywood movie is running afoul of a foreign government this month.

"Exodus: Gods and Kings" was banned in Egypt.

"The Ministry of Culture bans the film 'Gods and Kings' for historical inaccuracies," the Egyptian agency said in a statement.

The movie, which stars Christian Bale as Moses, is a re-enactment of the biblical story of the Jews' escape from slavery in Egypt more than 3,000 years ago, during the time of the pharaohs. Australian actor Joel Hedgerton plays the Pharaoh Ramses in the 20th Century Fox production.

Egyptian Culture Minister Jabir Asfour slammed the film as

What Happens Next In The Global Economy Depends On One Thing

It has been a wild few days for global financial markets.

The ruble collapsed, Russia's central bank raised rates, and oil was all over the place, all while equity markets, bond markets, and currency markets around the world were seesawing back and forth.

In case you missed the announcement, Cyprus-style bail-ins are coming to a bank near you.

On November 16, leaders of the G20 Group of Nations – the 20 largest economies – made an important decision. The world's megabanks now have official permission to pledge depositor accounts as collateral to make leveraged derivative bets. And if they lose a bet, the counterparty to the contract has first dibs on your money.

The governments of these 20 countries are now supposed to put these arrangements into law. Most, including the US, have already done so.

You could be forgiven for not paying much attention to the G20 meeting, because it was mostly “more of the same” – the latest plan to have central banks inject trillions more dollars into the global economy.

VISA SUSPENDS SERVICE WITH RUSSIAN BANKS IN CRIMEA

Visa cards and lines of credit will no longer be usable in Crimea as a result of strict economic sanctions placed on Russia by the United States earlier in December.

"According to the US sanctions imposed against Crimea on December 19, 2014, Visa currently cannot provide services and offer their products in the Crimea," Visa Inc. said in a statement.

"This means that we can no longer issue or accept bank cards in Crimea, and service them in ATMs ... As for the time period, these limitations will last until the sanctions are lifted from Crimea. At the moment it is unclear when this will happen; it will depend on the development of the political and diplomatic situation. VISA continues to follow closely the events and will provide you with the information as soon as it appears."

The expanded U.S. sanctions prohibit doing business in Crimea until Russia surrenders the annexed territory back to the Ukraine.

Russia on Verge of Junk as S&P Puts Rating on Negative Watch

By Olga Tanas, Anna Andrianova and Ye Xie | Dec 23, 2014 12:08 PM MT | 149 Comments | Email | Print

Russia may lose its investment-grade credit rating for the first time in a decade after Standard & Poor's said it's considering a cut amid the country's worst economic crisis since the 1998 debt default.

There's at least a 50 percent chance that Russia will be lowered to junk within 90 days, S&P said in a statement as it put the country on negative credit watch. Moody's Investors Service and Fitch Ratings rank Russia one step higher than S&P, which lowered the rating one level in April to BBB-.

The move "stems from what we view as a rapid deterioration of Russia's monetary flexibility and the impact of the weakening economy on its financial system," S&P said. Oil prices at a five-year low and sanctions over the conflict in Ukraine have pushed the world's biggest energy exporter to the verge of recession. The central bank in Moscow has spent one-fifth of its international reserves and increased benchmark interest rates six times since March, when Russia came under international sanctions after it invaded Crimea.

While the ruble strengthened for a third day as the government told state-run exporters to sell foreign currency, it's still lost 40 percent against the dollar this year, the second-worst performer among more than 170 currencies tracked by Bloomberg after Ukraine's hryvnia.

The ruble remained higher following S&P's announcement, trading at 54.7005 per dollar as of 1:34 p.m. in New York, up 2 percent from yesterday. Dollar-denominated bonds fell, sending yields on notes due 2030 up 0.11 percentage point to 6.24 percent. Yields touched a five-year high of 7.64 percent Dec. 16.

When about a month ago it was revealed that Japan's shadow economic advisor is none other than Paul Krugman, we said it was only a matter of time before the Japanese economy implodes. Terminally. We didn't have long to wait and last night the barrage of Japanese economic data pretty much assured Japan's transition into failed Keynesian state status.

In fact, after last night's abysmal Japanese eco data, we doubt even the most lobotomized Keynesian voodoo priests have anything favorable left to say about Abenomics: not only did core inflation miss expectations and is now clearly in slowdown mode despite Japan openly monetizing all gross Treasury issuance, not only did industrial production decline 0.6% missing expectations of an increase and record its first decline in 3 months with durable goods shipments crashing, not only did consumer spending plunge for the 8th straight month dropping 2.5% in November (with real spending on housing in 20% freefall), but - the punchline - both nominal and real wages imploded, when total cash wages and overtime pay declined for the first time in 9 months and 20 months, respectively.

Saudi Projects Huge Deficit as Oil Price Drop Bites

Saudi Arabia announced a 2015 budget with a huge deficit Thursday as the world's largest crude exporter begins to feel the impact of its own decision not to shore up oil prices.

The government announced the $38.6 billion deficit on state-run television, saying it would nonetheless boost projected spending by tapping its vast financial reserves.

The lead producer in the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, Saudi Arabia has insisted the cartel will not move to strengthen global oil prices despite a drop of nearly 50 percent since June.

OPEC has maintained a production ceiling of 30 million barrels per day, in a move analysts say is aimed at stifling competition from new market players with higher costs, in particular North American shale oil producers.

Special: Biblical Prophecy: Will Jesus Ever Return?

Saudi officials have vowed not to boost production no matter how low prices go, regardless of the impact on the country's coffers.

The budget announced for next year sees spending at 860 billion riyals ($229.3 billion) and revenues at 715 billion riyals ($190.7 billion).

Projected spending is slightly higher than planned for this year, but revenues are 140 billion riyals lower than estimates for 2014, said the statement read after a cabinet session chaired by Crown Prince Salman bin Abdulaziz.

The 2015 budget shortfall is the first deficit projected by the OPEC kingpin since 2011 and China has announced it will deploy a 700-strong infantry battalion in South Sudan at the beginning of 2015. It comes as the war-torn African country signed an agreement with Chinese petroleum giant CNPC to boost oil production.

China's Central Military Commission and President Xi Jinping approved a plan to send an infantry battalion, including 121 officers and 579 soldiers, among them female soldiers, to the UN peacekeeping mission in South Sudan on Monday, Xinhua reported Monday.

It's the first time China has sent infantry troops to take part in a UN mission, as previous Chinese peacekeepers were primarily engineers, medical and transportation workers, and security guards. The first 180 troops will fly to South Sudan in January, with the rest going in March to perform patrol and security duties in the capital city, Juba.

India Becoming Third Largest World Economy Is A Sign Of Failure, Not Success

Share

+ Comment Now + Follow Comments

An interesting little point following on from the CEBR report into the size of national economies. Of course, as we would expect, reports from different countries about the same report note and detail different facets of said report. So we've a report out of SE Asia that looks at the way in which India is set, within the decade, to become the largest economy in the Commonwealth and the third largest overall. This is being seen as a sign of success, of their doing something right. Which is true in a trivial manner: but the greater truth is that this is a sign of the failure of previous policies.

Theft of baby Jesus figure may be hate crime, authorities say

By Andreas Preuss, CNN

A pig's head wrapped in plastic was left in the center of the manger in the church's nativity scene.

(CNN) -- The FBI has joined the investigation into who stole a baby Jesus from a Haverhill, Massachusetts, nativity scene and replaced it with a real pig's head.

During a press conference Friday, authorities said this case may be treated as a hate crime.

"If our investigation leads us to think this person was motivated by prejudice towards a religion, it will be treated as a hate crime,"

A cartoon has circulated depicting three children sitting outside their school principal's office. The first child says, "I said the 'S-H' word." The second, "I said the 'F' word." And then the third, "I said 'Christmas.'"

While some may sigh and shake their heads at this cartoon, the reality is even worse, says religion and culture expert Alex McFarland.

"The truth is that our culture has become so accustomed to profanity that we hardly blink anymore when we hear the 'f' word," McFarland said. "But say the word 'Christmas', and suddenly you're an anomaly. Americans should not have to muster the courage to freely say, 'Merry Christmas.'"

McFarland points to the fact that the recognition of Christmas, not merely the 'holiday season', has long been woven into the fabric of our nation's history since the beginning.

"Since 1789, Christmas has been a congressionally sanctioned national holiday," he said. "And when Chief Justice Warren Burger argued for the legitimacy of one city's nativity scene display in 1984, he wrote,

The Islamic vocabulary worksheet was assigned to seniors.

"I was reading it and it caught me off guard," the student told me. "I just looked at it and knew something was not right—so I emailed the pages to my mom."

"In the following exercises, you will have the opportunity to expand your vocabulary by reading about Muhammad and the Islamic word," the worksheet read.

Christmas Banned by Chinese University

A university in northwestern China has banned Christmas, calling it a "kitsch" foreign celebration unbecoming of the country's own traditions and making its students watch propaganda films instead, media said on Thursday.

The state-run Beijing News said that the Modern College of Northwest University, located in Xian, had strung up banners around the campus reading "Strive to be outstanding sons and daughters of China, oppose kitsch Western holidays" and "Resist the expansion of Western culture."

A student told the newspaper that they would be punished if they did not attend a mandatory three-hour screening of propaganda films, which other students said included one about Confucius, with teachers standing guard to stop people from leaving.

"There's nothing we can do about it, we can't escape," the student was quoted as saying.

An official microblog belonging to one of the university's Communist Party's committees posted comments calling for students not to "fawn on foreigners" and pay more attention to China's holidays, like Spring Festival.

"In recent years, more and more Chinese have started to attach importance to Western festivals," it wrote.

"In their eyes, the West is more developed than China, and they think that their holidays are more elegant than ours, even that Western festivals are very fashionable and China's traditional festivals are old fashioned."

After seeing Christian-owned bakeries pay a severe price for refusing gay wedding customers, Theodore Shoebat decided to see how tolerant gay-owned bakeries really are when the shoe is on the other foot.

It turns out, not so tolerant.

Shoebat, communications director for Rescue Christians, called 13 pro-gay bakeries and asked them if they would bake a cake—or a cookie or even a pie—donning the words "gay marriage is wrong" for a traditional marriage appreciation event.

Not one of them would oblige—and at least one of them went on a profane rant about "hypocritical Christians."

What motivated Shoebat to launch this unscientific experiment? It seems he took exception to a pro-gay watchdog in Ireland that launched proceedings against a Christian-owned bakery for refusing to make a

REGINA, Saskatchewan – A Canadian court has upheld the right of two Christians to distribute literature on university campuses despite dislike for their message, and has found the men not guilty of a mischief charge following their arrest this past spring.

As previously reported, in April, Peter LaBarbera, the director of the U.S.-based Christian ministry Americans for Truth about Homosexuality, and Canadian activist Bill Whatcott were placed in handcuffs and escorted off the University of Regina campus when they refused to leave and stop distributing pamphlets on homosexuality and abortion.

"We are a diverse campus. We are a welcoming campus," Vice President Tom Chase told reporters. "We celebrate that diversity, and our staff felt that the material and some of the things they had with them simply contravened that policy and we asked them to leave."

But Whatcott asserted that the men had a right to be on campus and that they should not be censored for the content of their speech.

U.S. to Allow Homosexual Men to Donate Blood If Abstinent From Sexual Activity

December 24, 2014 | Filed under: Health, Law & Government, Life & Society, Top Stories | By: Heather Clark

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has announced that it will move to loosen its restrictions on blood donations from homosexual men, provided that they are abstinent from sexual activity for at least one year.

“The agency will take the necessary steps to recommend a change to the blood donor deferral period for men who have sex with men from indefinite deferral to one year since the last sexual contact,” FDA Director Margaret Hamburg wrote in a statement on Tuesday.

She said that the decision was made after reviewing scientific evidence over a period of several years in conjunction with other governmental agencies regarding its current policy to ban men who have sexual relations with other men from donating blood.

While the department still prohibits men who are sexually active with those of the same gender from giving blood, it plans to soften its lifetime ban, and allow those who have remained abstinent for at least a year to donate. Heterosexuals who are involved in prostitution, those who have had sex with a prostitute, or those involved in illicit drug activity are also included in the ban.

The FDA first enacted its policy in 1983 during the height of the AIDS crisis, but some have decried the ban as being discriminatory toward homosexuals. The organization Gay Men’s Health Crisis (GMHC) issued a press release on Tuesday stating that they remained in opposition to the policy despite the loosened restrictions.

“Gay Men’s Health Crisis (GMHC) believes the new policy announced by the FDA related to gay and bisexual men donating blood is offensive and harmful,” it wrote. “[T]his new policy does not require heterosexual blood donors to be celibate for one year. Some may believe this is a step forward, but in reality, requiring celibacy for a year is a de facto lifetime ban.”

Popular pain reliever Tylenol is out with a new ad campaign that presents video profiles on contemporary American families, including a family comprised of two lesbian mothers, an African American family and a Chinese-Japanese family.

Among the individuals featured in the "For What Matters Most" video series is the Beser Carr Schneider Musich family, a mixed unit that is comprised of a four parents, including a lesbian couple, the ex-husband of one of those women and another individual.

The two-minute clip, which offers a modernized, re-imagination of Norman Rockwell's famed "Freedom From Want" painting, describes how the Beser Carr Schneider Musich family formed, while also showing the four adults and their children seated together around the Thanksgiving table.

"[My husband] and I were married for 10 years. We've known each other since we were 12," one of the mothers proclaims in the clip. "When we divorced we had Cole and Elias and we decided that they should never be divided between the households."

Her partner then explains that the two women met while the husband and wife were separated and began dating with the husband's blessing. After the divorce, the lesbian couple, the ex-husband and another adult essentially became a mixed family that tries to parent together.

13: 11 هذا وأنكم عارفون الوقت انها الان ساعة لنستيقظ من النوم فان خلاصنا الان أقرب مما

كان حين امنا

13: 12 قد تناهى الليل وتقارب النهار فلنخلع اعمال الظلمة ونلبس اسلحة النور

13: 13 لنسلك بلياقة كما في النهار لا بالبطر والسكر لا بالمضاجع والعهر لا بالخصام والحسد

13: 14 بل البسوا الرب يسوع المسيح ولا تصنعوا تدبيرا للجسد لأجل الشهوات

احترس ان لم تتمسك بالمسيح من الان قد لا تستطيع في المستقبل القريب بسبب الظلام.

الثاني لا نخاف

بطرس الأولى 3: 14

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوْا،

بل نفرح

رسالة بولس الرسول إلى أهل فيلبي 4: 4

إَفْرَحُوا فِي الرَّبِّ كُلَّ حِينٍ، وَأَقُولُ أَيْضًا: اْفْرَحُوا.

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان يريد أن نفقد سلامنا ولا ننال أكاليل.

وأيضاً استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك 150 ألف شخص يموتوا في اليوم الواحد

انت لا تعرف متى ستكون منهم

المسيح اقترب فاصنعوا ثمار تليق بالتوبة واستعدوا لاستقبال العريس.

والمجد لله دائماً
