والعلامات حتى 17 مايو 2016

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا لا اقصد ان اخيف أحد بل من يخاف هو لا يثق في مواعيد الرب

هدفي فقط أن نذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل

ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر هذه الظلمة

وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه او من منا سيسلم وديعته في أي وقت. بمعنى نحتاج من

الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا

لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة

لان وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك

زيت الا ما جمعته سابقا.

أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان
سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة
بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لأنه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي المسيح في زمنه
ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَتْ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.»

How Earth's magnetic field is changing

A new study has made use of data gathered by ESA's Swarm satellites, which have been studying the Earth's magnetic field for more than two years (Credit: ESA/ATG medialab). View gallery \(4 images\)

The European Space Agency (ESA) launched its trio of Earth-facing satellites - the Swarm satellites - more than two years ago. Since then, the three probes have been tirelessly making measurements of the Earth's magnetic field, mapping it out in detail. Now, that data has been used in a new study of how the magnetic field has changed over recent years, with the results echoing what's happening at the planet's core.

Earth's magnetic field might be invisible, but it's complex and ever-changing, Updated Monday morning..... It is snowing this morning in northern Maine and so far Caribou has picked up over 2 inches making this the biggest snow for ever so late in the season.

Here is a great comparison though. In 1894 on May 20, portions of eastern Kentucky up through southeast Indiana had up to 6 inches of snow. Flurries fell in Louisville.

At least 56 people were killed by lightning strikes in just two days across multiple districts in Bangladesh. A total of 90 in Bangladesh people have been killed by lightning this year after Friday, up from 51 throughout all of 2015. A combination of increased lightning activity due to high temperatures and lack of tall trees in rural areas are believed to have caused the number of lightning deaths in the country to increase. Anticyclonic tornadoes are very, very rare, but a tornado near Roff, Oklahoma, was on the ground for almost 13 miles.

An anticyclonic twister developed about 8 miles north-northwest of Sulphur and moved northeast. The tornado has been rated as an EF1 tornado with winds up to 110 mph.

The tornado was likely wrapped in precipitation and not very visible. At the same time, a larger EF-3 tornado was on the ground, moving to the east, about 8 miles to the west of the anticyclonic tornado. One could even consider this rare tornado as it satellite tornado to moved around

The heat wave that has been building in recent days as summer descends upon Israel is to reach its peak on Monday and Tuesday.

Intense temperatures and hot air pressure are to be felt in most parts of the country on Monday as the heat continues to flourish, a day after records were set.

Temperatures reached 48°C (114.8°F) in Eilat Sunday afternoon, breaking the record for May; the previous record was 45.2°C (113.4°F) in May 1980. The intense heat was accompanied by brushfires around the country.

But after a record-breaking Sunday and the heat peaking on Monday, Tuesday is to see the temperatures go down, though the heat is to remain above seasonal averages and the humidity is to rise in certain areas.

Temperatures will fall further on Wednesday and return back to the comfortable range, with the weather lending itself to outdoor excursions.

Things are to remain much the same on Thursday, and while there will be a slight rise in temperatures on Friday most areas are still expected to be

↑ 5.6 magnitude earthquake strikes northeast Taiwan

Channel News Asia
Thu, 12 May 2016 04:15 UTC

The US Geological Survey revised down its original assessment of 5.9-magnitude.

An earthquake with a magnitude of 5.6 shook northeast Taiwan on Thursday (May 12), the US Geological Survey said, with tremors felt as far away as the capital, Taipei.

The quake was centred 14 km (nine miles) northeast of the coastal town of Su-ao, the U.S. Geological Survey said.

AFP reporters in Taipei said Thursday's quake rocked high-rise blocks. There were also reports by local media of power cuts and people trapped in lifts, it added.

There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage.

The USGS initially assessed it to be a 5.9-magnitude quake, before revising the figure down. It added that the earthquake was 10-kilometre below earth's surface.

Earthquakes are common in Taiwan. In February, a 6.4-magnitude quake toppled a large apartment complex in southern Taiwan killing more than 100 people. The island's worst quake disaster came in September 1999 when a 7.6-magnitude earthquake killed around 2,400 people.

May 2016 – COSTA RICA – The strong eruption by volcano Turrialba at the 01:19 local time affected a great part of the Costa Rican capital, which got up Thursday covered by a thin layer of ashes. Television stations transmitted images of the exact moment of the explosion, with a column of smoke and ashes, gases and other materials. The Turrialba is 3,340 meters high, the 2nd highest in Costa Rica after the Irazu volcano, with 3,432 meters, and the experts stated that after this eruption, which lasted 11 minutes, the volcano went back to its passive state.

Most of the affectations were located in the Central Valley, particularly San Jose, the capital, and the smell at sulfur was still present, just as ashes in the air. Though the majority said that till now they have not presented any difficulty for this exhalation of the colossus, specialists recommend the asthmatic people and persons who suffer lung diseases to avoid to inhale the air impregnated with these gases. ## Activity increases at Alaska's Pavlof Volcano – alert level raised

Posted on May 16, 2016

May 2016 – ALASKA – An increase in seismic activity at Pavlof Volcano, which erupted spectacularly in March, has prompted Alaska Volcano Observatory staff to step up monitoring of the Alaska Peninsula volcano. In a brief update Friday, raising Pavlof's alert level to watch and its aviation color code to orange, staff at the observatory said they haven't been able to visually confirm any eruption from satellite data or camera images, due to clouds obscuring the volcano.

“At about 10:35 a.m. (Alaska time) seismic activity at Pavlof Volcano increased to levels typically associated with low-level eruptive activity and it is possible that an eruption of Pavlof Volcano may be in progress,” AVO staff wrote. AVO spokesman Dave Schneider said that the seismic activity that led to Friday's notice for Pavlof has been increasing in intensity, although there's still no confirmation that “anything is coming out of

An outbreak of highly pathogenic H7N7 avian influenza (AI) in north-eastern Italy has seen more than 17,000 laying hens culled.

Italian authorities say it is distinct from a low-pathogen variant of the same strain discovered in "ornamental" poultry close to the outbreak earlier this month.

A Defra assessment authored by Prof Ian Brown and Helen Roberts says that, if a wild bird strain of H7N7, the outbreak would be "concerning and novel".

Over 2,000 pigs have died in the Mizoram-Myanmar border Champhai town and surrounding villages due to Porcine Reproductive and Respiratory Syndrome (PRRS), Champhai Area Vawkvulh Association (CAVA) or Champhai area Pig Rearers' Association president K. Zamlova has said.

Zamlova told PTI over phone from Champhai that the PRRS outbreak, which started more than a month back, continued unabated as more pigs were dying everyday while fresh infections causing illness continued in the affected area covering 19 village councils in Champhai town and nearby villages.

There was no official figure yet on the PRRS toll and Champhai District Veterinary Officer Dr Lalchungnunga Pudaite said they depend on the local Young Mizo Association (YMA) branches, which had been collecting data on the deaths and infections.

Dr. Pudaite claimed the district veterinary officials acted fast, but there were some constraints and waste of time in determination of the disease as samples of the dead pigs were sent to laboratories and the results routed through the Directorate of the Animal Husbandry and Veterinary.

Shortage of antibiotics to combat the outbreak was the main hurdle, he said, adding PRRS vaccination was yet to be invented.

YMA's Champhai sub-headquarter volunteers dug trenches with excavators near the town to use them as temporary burial grounds for the dead pigs to prevent spread of the disease.

At least 3,000 pigs died in Mizoram in 2013 due to the outbreak of PRRS in the State which affected six of the eight districts during March to April that year, forcing the State government to prohibit import of pigs and piglets from Myanmar.

Poisonous gas kills hundreds of gees in Idaho

Posted: May 10, 2016 2:38 PM MDT
Updated: May 10, 2016 2:40 PM MDT

Kris Milgate

Jefferson County, Idaho -- Poisonous gas caused the deaths of more than 300 snow geese migrating through eastern Idaho in March, the Idaho Department of Fish and Game says.

The Idaho Fish and Game Wildlife Lab and the Washington Animal Disease Diagnostic Lab found traces of phosphine gas in tissue samples from dead birds collected at Mud Lake and Market Lake wildlife management areas.

Market Lake WMA hosts a blizzard of feathers in the spring. About 50,000 big, bright-white and honking snow geese stop at ponds near Roberts to rest and refuel, but for the second year in a row, some of those geese died. The trend warranted testing even though the overall snow goose and Ross' goose population, estimated at 2 million, is not impacted by the die-off.

"It won't cause any population concerns with those species, but it does raise concerns with other birds that are not as visible - birds like partridge, pheasant and Canada geese that are not as easy to find," said Jeff Knetter, Fish and Game upland game and migratory bird coordinator.

During the same two-year die-off, the vole population in the area increased. Voles are similar to mice in size, and farmers often use zinc phosphide to control the rodents in their fields. When phosphide is consumed, it turns into the poisonous gas phosphine.

"Ag does use zinc phosphide to kill voles, but in truth we're not sure where the geese picked it up," Knetter says. "The folks that are using zinc phosphide are just trying to deal with voles damaging their crops. We can't make a link at this point, but we want to provide people with resources so they can educate themselves on the issues."

Millions Of Dead Fish Washing Up On Vietnam's Shores

13 MAY, 2016

Vietnam has a fish problem and the government isn't talking about it. Since April, millions of dead fish have been washing up on Vietnam's shores. Steel or Fish? The lifeless fish and clams—along with the odd whale—go on for miles. Researchers hired by Vietnam's government have concluded that "toxic elements" are behind the "unprecedented" deaths, but that's where the answers seem to stop, reports Scott Duke Harris for the Los Angeles Times.

London (AFP) - A fifth of the world's plant species are at risk of extinction, British researchers warned Tuesday in an unprecedented global census of the plant kingdom.

The survey by Britain's Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, London, said 21 percent of species are under threat. The report, the first of its kind, is intended to become a global reference point for the study of plants.

The study, which estimates there are a total of 390,900 plants known to science, found farming to be the biggest extinction threat, representing 31 percent of the

Yellow Fever epidemic: world on the verge of a global health emergency

Posted on May 11, 2016

May 2016 – HEALTH – Nearly a billion people in Africa and Latin America are at risk, Asia could be next and even Europe and the US have had outbreaks of the deadly disease in the past. Urgent action is needed to combat a yellow fever epidemic in Africa amid signs it is turning into a global health emergency and a severe shortage of the vaccine, academics have warned. With nearly a billion people at risk from the deadly disease in Africa and Latin America and the danger of an outbreak in Asia, immunologist Professor Daniel Lucey and Lawrence Gostin, a professor in global health law, called on the World Health Organization (WHO) to declare an emergency saying delays over Ebola had “cost lives.”

And they also said that because of the surge in new infectious diseases in recent years – thought to be driven in part by climate change – the world should now set up a permanent committee to decide how to respond as new threats emerge. Angola is in the grip of its worst yellow fever epidemic since 1986 with more than 250 deaths, and the disease is spreading rapidly – Kenya, Uganda and the Democratic Republic of Congo have all

Iran: U.S. Encouraging Islamic Republic to Keep Illicit Missile Tests Secret

State Department declines to respond

A senior Iranian military commander claimed that U.S. officials are quietly encouraging the Islamic Republic to keep its illicit ballistic missile tests a secret so as not to raise concerns in the region, according to Persian language comments.

Amir Ali Hajizadeh, commander of the Iranian Revolutionary Guard Corps' Aerospace and Missile Force, said in recent remarks that the Obama administration does not want Iran to publicize its ongoing missile tests, which have raised questions about the Islamic Republic's commitment to last summer's comprehensive nuclear agreement.

"At this time, the Americans are telling [us]: 'Don't talk about missile affairs, and if you conduct a test or maneuver, don't mention it,'" Hajizadeh was quoted as saying during a recent Persian-language speech that was translated by the Middle East Media Research Institute.

"If we agree to this, they will advance another step, and say: 'Don't conduct [a missile test] at this time, and also don't do it in the Persian Gulf region.' After that, they will tell us: 'Why do you need your missiles to have a range of 2,000 km [anyway?]?' Hajizadeh reportedly said.

The military commander expressed concern that the United States will attempt to dissuade Iran from developing missile technology capable of carrying a nuclear payload.

"After that, they will tell [us]: 'Next, we will check whether your missiles can really carry nuclear weapons. Bring us the details [of the missiles].' After that, they will say: 'We need to set up cameras.' And, finally, they will say: 'Either saw [the missiles up into pieces] or, like [Libyan dictator Mu'ammarr] Gadhafi, load them onto a ship and hand [them] over to us.'" he said.

Leaked TTIP Deal to Merge U.S. and EU Triggers Outrage

Written by Alex Newman

font size    | Print | Email

Outrage is growing on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean following a massive new leak of the proposed Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership (TTIP), a globalist "trade" agreement negotiated between the Obama administration and the European Union. The leaked documents are being used, properly in some cases, to portray the treaty as a giant handout to Big Business cronies. Just as importantly, the almost 250 pages of text also confirm once again that the controversial new "trade" regime aims to merge the regulatory regimes of the United States and the EU under unaccountable transnational institutions. In short, the threats to liberty, privacy, self-government, and national sovereignty are very real. But critics are fighting back.

With public support for the scheme collapsing and the new revelations sparking fury across the political spectrum, some analysts are actually heralding the death of TTIP. Top politicians, business leaders, and media outlets across Europe are suggesting that the end may be near for the unpopular pseudo-free trade agreement. However, despite the statements of some government leaders, without an even more massive outcry in the United States, the TTIP is unlikely to die a peaceful death anytime soon. Instead, globalists will continue working to impose their anti-sovereignty agenda on the world, just with more regulations to placate the controlled opposition from the Left that demands more environmental, consumer, and labor "protections." Everybody agrees that chances for the scheme to come to fruition are better while Obama occupies the White House.

A pea-sized device that produces weak pulses of electricity is being tested as a treatment for migraine.

The StimRelieve Halo system consists of a tiny implant inserted into the forehead, just under the skin, and a battery which clips to the ear and sends electric pulses to it wirelessly.

More than 140 people are taking part in a U.S. trial, where they will have the implant fitted, but half won't have the batteries activated. Patients can trigger an electric signal using a button on the battery.

North Korea remains the worst place to be a Christian while Iraq has replaced Somalia as the second most dangerous place to be a Christian.

Eritrea, now nicknamed the 'North Korea of Africa' due to high levels of dictatorial paranoia, follows at number three.

Constant prayer is playing a key role in helping Christians smuggle Bibles into North Africa, where believers can face years in prison for possessing the Scriptures.

According to Open Doors, believers in a North African country that can't be identified for security purposes have been holding a 24/7 prayer meeting.

Local Christians believe it is the source of the miracles they have seen, including a steady stream of Bibles coming into the country.

I am the bad boy of Facebook.

I earned that badge of honor back in 2013 when Facebook blocked my page and removed a message I had posted that invoked Paula Deen, the National Rifle Association and Jesus Christ. Here's what I wrote:

"I'm about as politically incorrect as you can get. I'm wearing an NRA ball cap, eating a Chick-fil-A sandwich, reading a Paula Deen cookbook and sipping a 20-ounce sweet tea while sitting in my Cracker Barrel rocking chair with the Gaither Vocal Band singing 'Jesus Saves' on the stereo and a Gideon's Bible in my pocket. Yes sir, I'm politically incorrect and happy as a June bug."

The folks over at Facebook took great offense to that message.

"We removed this from Facebook because it violates our Community Standards," Facebook wrote me. "So you're temporarily blocked from using this feature."

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio — A school board in Ohio is being urged to reconsider removing the Lord's Prayer from its upcoming graduation

The Lord's Prayer has been a part of the graduation ceremony for the past ten years, but because FFRF contacted the East Liverpool School District to complain, officials decided to drop the song from the program to

More 'straight' young women are having gay sexual experiences and fewer believe that their gender is something that is fixed, according to new research.

A quarter of 18 to 24-year-old women admit to having a fling with someone of the same sex, and a third confess they have been attracted to someone outside of their defined sexuality.

Only a third of the age bracket - described as The Pioneers, 'the new generation of sexual fluidity' - think marriage is relevant to their lives, and 45 per cent would consider having a baby without a partner.

Lynch: States Can't 'Insist' a Man is a Man and a Woman is a Woman, If Person Feels Otherwise

By Susan Jones | May 10, 2016 | 6:20 AM EDT

(CNSNews.com) - The U.S. Justice Department is putting the feelings of transgenders -- men who think they are women and women who think they are men -- above the privacy rights of the vast majority of people who don't contest the biological facts of who they actually are.

"And what we must not do, what we must never do, is turn on our neighbors, our family members, our fellow Americans for something that they cannot control and deny what makes them human," Attorney General Loretta Lynch said on Monday.

"[N]one of us can stand by when a state enters the business of legislating identity and insists that a person pretend to be something or someone that they are not."

(CNSNews.com) – House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) said Friday that she is “proud” of the “directive” from the Obama administration that says federally funded schools must allow students to use restrooms and locker rooms according to their “gender identity” rather than their biological sex.

The federal edict requiring schools to allow transgendered students to use the bathrooms of their choice was under fire from a number of state leaders, some of whom have already begun to push back.

Eight states — West Virginia, Arizona, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Utah, Maine and North Carolina — have signed on to challenge a federal appeals court ruling in a dispute in which the Obama administration used the same logic for its edict to schools as the foundation for the legal argument requiring a Virginia school to allow a transgendered student access to female locker rooms.
