اكرر هدفي فقط من هذه الخدمة أن نذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد أي حياة اليقظة الروحية.

ولكن اركز على اهم حدث هذا الأسبوع بالطبع هو استشهاد اخوتنا على يد المسلمين الإرهابيين

الخبر مؤلم جدا مثل كل حوادث قتل المسيحيين ولكن ما جعل هذا الجرح مؤلم أكثر انه حدث فوق

جرح قديم في قلوبنا مشابه من سنة مضت في نفس المكان وبنفس الطريقة.

لا يوجد عندي أي كلمات تكفي للتعبير ولكن يكفينا كلمات التعزية في الكتاب المقدس الذي عزانا

بان هذه الاضطهادات والدماء هي شهادة التقوى وطريق للملكوت

2تي 3: 12 وجميع الذين يريدون ان يعيشوا بالتقوى في المسيح يسوع يضطهدون

وهذا قاله لنا الرب يسوع المسيح

(إنجيل يوحنا 15: 20) "اذْكُرُوا الْكَلَامَ الَّذِي قُلْتُهُ لَكُمْ: لَيْسَ عَبْدٌ أَكْبَرُ مِنْ سَيِّدِهِ. إِنْ كَانُوا قَدْ اضْطَهَدُونِي فَسَيَضْطَهُدُونَكُمْ، وَإِنْ كَانُوا قَدْ حَفِظُوا كَلَامِي فَسَيَحْفَظُونَ كَلَامَكُمْ"

فالطريق صعب جدا ولكن هذا يؤدي الى الحياة الأبدية

مت 7: 14 ما اضيق الباب وأكرب الطريق الذي يؤدي الى الحياة. وقليلون هم الذين يجدونه

فلا تحزنوا رغم كل هذا الدم الا ان ربنا اعطانا الغلبة

يو 16: 33 قد كلمتكم بهذا ليكون لكم في سلام. في العالم سيكون لكم ضيق. ولكن ثقوا. انا قد غلبت العالم

عارف ان البعض سيقول بس احنا بشر وتعبنا من الاحزان ومظلومين ولنا حقوق وممكن نبدأ نتكلم عن فين حقوقنا وأين الامن والتواطؤ والإرهاب الإسلامي بل ونبدأ نلقي الاتهامات بل ممكن نصل ان نهاجم بعض ونختلف مع بعض. رغم أني مع حق الدفاع عن أولادنا وحق التعبير وعدم الخوف من اعلان الحق

لكن ارجوا في نفس الوقت ان تتذكر ان حياتنا على الأرض مؤقتة جدا

يعقوب 4: 14 أَنْتُمْ الَّذِينَ لَا تَعْرِفُونَ أَمْرَ الْعَدَا! لِأَنَّهُ مَا هِيَ حَيَاتُكُمْ؟ إِنَّهَا بُخَارٌ، يَظْهَرُ قَلِيلًا ثُمَّ يَصْمَحِلُ.

مزالمير 39: 5 هوذا جعلت أيامي أشبارا وعمرى كاشيء قدامك. إنما نفخة كل إنسان قد جعل. سلاه.

فارجوا رغم الاحزان ان نستمر ناظرين الى فوق لان هدف كل هذا الاضطهاد انه يبعد نظرننا عن الأبدية ونفقد سلامنا ويشغلنا بأمور أرضية لان من يدبر كل هذه الاضطهادات ليس البشر، هم فقط أدوات اما المدير هو الشيطان

أفسس 6: 12 فَإِنَّ مُصَارَعَتَنَا لَيْسَتْ مَعَ دَمٍ وَلَحْمٍ، بَلْ مَعَ الرُّؤْسَاءِ، مَعَ السَّلَاطِينِ، مَعَ وُلاَةِ الْعَالَمِ عَلَى ظُلْمَةٍ هَذَا الدَّهْرِ، مَعَ أَجْنَادِ الشَّرِّ الرُّوحِيَّةِ فِي السَّمَاوِيَّاتِ

وهذا السلاح الي نغلب به ليس الغضب والثورة والانتقام بل الصلاة والصوم

متى 17: 21 وَأَمَّا هَذَا الْجِنْسُ فَلَا يَخْرُجُ إِلَّا بِالصَّلَاةِ وَالصَّوْمِ»

لان كل هذه الضيقات تزيد مجدنا الابدي

2 كو 4: 17 لَأَنَّ خِفَةَ ضِيقَتِنَا الْوَقْتِيَّةِ تُنْشِئُ لَنَا أَكْثَرَ فَأَكْثَرَ ثِقَلٍ مَجْدٍ أَبَدِيًّا

2كو 12: 10 لذلك اسر بالضعفات والشتائم والضرورات والاضطهادات والضيقات لاجل

المسيح.لاني حينما انا ضعيف فحينئذ انا قوي

فأرجوكم استمروا في الصلاة والركب الساجدة امام الرب كما اوصانا الكتاب

رو 12: 12 فرحين في الرجاء . صابرين في الضيق . مواظبين على الصلاة .

وربنا يعزي قلوبنا جميعا

انفجار كرة نارية كبير فوق بورتوريكو

A FIREBALL OVER PUERTO RICO: On Friday night, something exploded in the sky above Puerto Rico. "A large meteor lit up the sky just west of the island," says Frankie Lucena, whose automated meteor camera recorded the flash:

"According to my software, the brightness of the explosion was magnitude -7.4, or about 20 times brighter than Venus," he says. "Any surviving fragments could have splashed down (or made landfall) between Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic."

What was it? Using a sky map, Lucena traced the meteor's path back to its origin—not far from the constellation Taurus. Indeed, it may be a Taurid.

This is the time of year for Taurid fireballs. Every November, Earth crosses through a broad stream of debris from Comet Encke. The resulting drizzle of meteors emerging from the horns of Taurus is remarkable because Comet Encke produces fireballs--meteors so bright that they can cast shadows on the ground.

Two-metre wide asteroid hits Earth, lights up sky in Africa

DID AN ALIEN LIGHT SAIL VISIT THE SOLAR SYSTEM?: It sounds like a tabloid headline, but in this case it could be real. Mainstream researchers from the Harvard Center for Astrophysics have made the case that interstellar asteroid 'Oumuamua could in fact be an alien light sail. Their original research was posted Oct. 31st on the moderated preprint server arXiv.org.

The story of 'Oumuamua begins in October 2017 when it was discovered by Robert Weryk using the Pan-STARRS telescope atop Hawaii's Haleakalā volcano. Astronomers quickly realized that 'Oumuamua was something special: The object was hurtling through the Solar System on an unbound "hyperbolic" orbit. It came from the stars. Dramatic changes in the object's brightness suggested that it was tumbling and asymmetric—thin and wide like a cigar or perhaps a pancake.

On its way out of the Solar System, something unexpected happened. 'Oumuamua accelerated as if jets of gas were pushing it forward. Astronomers who initially thought 'Oumuamua was an asteroid now turned their attention to the comet hypothesis. Comets naturally develop jets after close approaches to the sun, and such jets could explain 'Oumuamua's behavior.

Just one problem: "Despite its close Solar approach of only 0.25 AU (inside the orbit of Mercury), 'Oumuamua shows no sign of any cometary activity, no cometary tail, nor gas emission/absorption lines," point out the Harvard researchers Shmuel Baily and Abraham Loeb. Moreover, "if outgassing was responsible for the acceleration, then the associated torques would have driven a rapid evolution in 'Oumuamua's spin, incompatible with observations."

Typhoon Yutu batters Philippines, killing at least 6 people

Associated Press Published 3:24 p.m. ET Oct. 30, 2018

A strong typhoon blew across the northern Philippines on Tuesday, forcing thousands to flee from villages that were still recovering from a deadly storm last month, officials said. (Oct. 30) AP

ILAGAN, Philippines – A strong typhoon blew across the northern Philippines on Tuesday, setting off landslides that left at least six people dead and forcing thousands to flee from villages that were still recovering from a deadly storm last month, officials said.

Regional police Chief Superintendent Rolando Nana said authorities were attempting to verify a report that a landslide buried a government building under construction in Natonin in Mountain province, trapping more than 20 people. Several landslides blocked roads and prevented policemen from reaching the area, he said.

Typhoon Yutu weakened considerably from its earlier super typhoon status before slamming into the Philippines' northeastern Isabela province before dawn. It knocked down trees and power posts and ripped roofs off houses and stores, officials said.

Seven reasons the Middle East could be heading towards a war over water

ADAM BENSAID • 4 DAYS AGO

The effects of climate change and water scarcity in the Middle East will only get worse, and there may not be a way out. Here are seven reasons why.

The Middle East is quietly heading towards the largest natural disaster in human history, and there's nothing it can do about it.

1) Ignored warnings

A Russian Su-27 aircraft has intercepted a US EP-3 spy plane in "unsafe" fashion over the Black Sea, the US Navy said. It posted video, on Twitter, showing an armed Russian fighter jet flying within meters of the spy plane.

The video, which the Navy posted on Twitter, shows a Su-27 flying close to the US spy plane, showing its underbelly before blasting away. The fighter jet appears to be armed, carrying missiles on its wing pylons.

NATO, Russia to meet amid missile arms race fears

by Staff Writers
Brussels (AFP) Oct 30, 2018

NATO and Russia will hold talks this week as fears grow of a new arms race in Europe, with the US vowing to pull out of a Cold War weapons treaty in response to new Russian missiles.

The meeting of the NATO-Russia Council (NRC), the first since May, comes as the transatlantic alliance carries out its biggest military exercise since the end of the Cold War in Norway, a show of strength intended to deter any would-be aggressor -- and which the Kremlin has criticised as "anti-Russian".

Events over recent years -- from Moscow's annexation of Crimea from Ukraine in 2014 to the deadly nerve agent attack in Britain in March, blamed on the Kremlin -- have seen tensions between NATO and Russia soar.

But the two sides have maintained regular dialogue in Brussels and ambassadors from the 29 NATO countries will meet their Russian counterpart on Wednesday, an alliance official said.

"This is part of NATO's twin-track approach of strong defence and meaningful dialogue with Russia, and will be the eighth meeting of the NRC in the last two years," the official said.

No details of the agenda have been published but a European diplomat said Russia had asked for discussion of the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (INF), which bans mid-range missiles.

US President Donald Trump sparked concerns earlier this month when he announced he was pulling out of the INF treaty, a pillar of Cold War disarmament, in response to Russia's deployment of a missile system Washington says breaches the accord.

NATO urges Russia to comply by nuclear treaty

by Staff Writers
Brussels (AFP) Oct 31, 2018

NATO on Wednesday urged Russia to comply fully with a Cold War nuclear weapons treaty after US President Donald Trump announced he wanted to pull out of the deal.

The message came after a meeting of the NATO-Russia Council (NRC) in Brussels.

The NATO allies "urge Russia... to ensure full compliance with the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (INF) Treaty without delay," the transatlantic alliance said in a statement after the talks.

"While we stand ready to continue dialogue on this issue with Russia, as an Alliance we are also committed to take effective measures to continue to ensure the safety and security of all Allies," the statement added

Trump sparked concerns earlier this month when he announced he wanted to pull out of the INF treaty, a pillar of Cold War disarmament, in response to Russia's deployment of a missile system Washington says breaches the accord.

Russian President Vladimir Putin warned last week that abandoning the INF agreement could lead to a new arms race, and vowed to respond in kind if the US deployed any new missiles on European soil.

Trump's move is not backed by all NATO members and alliance chief Jens Stoltenberg has insisted there is no desire for reviving the Cold War or starting a new arms race.

Russia to respond to NATO exercises with missile tests

By Pierre-Henry DESHAYES
Byneset, Norvège (AFP) Oct 30, 2018

Russia plans to test missiles off Norway this week in an area where NATO is carrying out its biggest military exercises since the end of the Cold War, a move seen as an escalation of tensions in the Far North.

"We were notified last week about the planned Russian missile tests outside the coast here," NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg told reporters in western Norway where the Trident Juncture 18 exercises are taking place.

The manoeuvres are aimed at training the Atlantic Alliance to defend a member state after an aggression.

Mobilising some 50,000 troops, 65 ships and 250 aircraft from 31 countries several hundred kilometers (miles) from Norway's border with Russia in the Arctic, the exercises have angered Moscow, which had vowed to "retaliate".

"Despite the pretty awkward attempts by representatives of the Alliance and its member states to present this military activity as defensive, it is obvious that this show of force is clearly of an anti-Russian nature," the Russian foreign ministry said.

The Russian military announced last week it was deploying four vessels in the North Atlantic for exercises of its own.

"Russia has significant naval forces in this area," Stoltenberg said Tuesday. "I expect Russia to behave in a professional way."

N. Korea readying nuclear site for inspectors: S. Korea report

by Staff Writers
Seoul (AFP) Oct 31, 2018

South Korea's spy agency has detected signs that Pyongyang is preparing to allow international inspectors to visit its nuclear and missile test sites, Yonhap news agency reported Wednesday.

North Korean leader Kim Jong Un has expressed his willingness to have foreign experts inspect the facilities, as part of on-off negotiations on denuclearisation, but there is no indication as to whether invitations have been sent.

At a parliamentary audit on Wednesday, the South's National Intelligence Service (NIS) said it was "closely monitoring" the Punggye-ri nuclear test facility and the Tongchang-ri missile launching ground for possible inspections.

"Signs have been detected that North Korea is doing some preparations and intelligence-related activity over a possible visit by outside experts," a lawmaker who was briefed by the NIS was cited as saying.

At a summit with South Korean President Moon Jae-in in Pyongyang last month, Kim pledged to close the Tongchang-ri site and allow international experts to observe its dismantlement.

North Korea took apart the Punggye-ri site in the country's northeast in May but has yet to allow international observers in to verify its claims.

US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo said that Kim had told him he was "ready" to allow foreign inspectors to verify the work at Punggye-ri, following a meeting in Pyongyang earlier this month.

S. Korea, US resume suspended joint marine drills

by Staff Writers
Seoul (AFP) Nov 5, 2018

South Korea and the United States on Monday resumed small-scale military training that was indefinitely suspended following an historic summit between US President Donald Trump and North Korean leader Kim Jong Un.

The combined marine drills were among "select" joint exercises that were indefinitely delayed in June, after Trump met with Kim in Singapore and pledged to halt "very provocative" and expensive joint military drills with Seoul.

But the Korean Marine Exchange Programme (KMEP), involving some 500 marines from the US and South Korea, will resume for two weeks from Monday in the South's southern city of Pohang, Seoul's defence ministry said.

"We have previously said we will conduct US-South Korea battalion-level or small-scale drills as planned," ministry spokeswoman Choi Hyun-soo told reporters.

Washington is Seoul's security ally and stations 28,500 troops in the South to protect it from its nuclear-armed neighbour.

The two countries have long carried out joint exercises which they insist are purely defensive in nature, but which Pyongyang sees as a rehearsal for invasion.

The US has reimposed sanctions on Iran, targeting the Islamic Republic's energy, banking and shipping sectors. State Secretary Mike Pompeo warned of "swift punishment" for other countries doing business with Iran.

Monday's sanctions are a reintroduction of penalties lifted under the 2015 Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA). The multilateral deal promised Iran sanctions relief in exchange for a pause on its nuclear weapons program. President Trump withdrew from the deal in May, and has since reimposed economic sanctions in several rounds.

EU bid to sidestep US Iran sanctions hits quicksand

By Christian SPILLMANN
Brussels (AFP) Nov 1, 2018

The EU effort to save the Iran nuclear accord by building a mechanism to buy Tehran's oil despite the return of US sanctions has run into difficulty.

Brussels supports the deal struck in 2015 to curb Iran's nuclear ambitions, which was dealt a blow in May when the US President Donald Trump pulled out.

But Washington has announced the reimposition of swingeing sanctions from November 4, including on Iran's oil sector, scaring off European traders.

Last month at the United Nations, the EU announced plans for a "special purpose vehicle" -- a payment system to continue trade and business ties with Iran.

The renewed US sanctions come into force on Sunday, and work on the mechanism is still going on.

"We are in the process of putting measures in place. Work is ongoing," EU foreign affairs spokeswoman Maja Kocijancic told reporters on Wednesday.

The payment mechanism has the backing of the remaining five signatories to the Iran deal -- Britain, China, France, Germany and Russia.

But senior officials in Brussels admit that it is proving difficult to set up.

"The undertaking is very complicated... the vehicle will not be operational on November 5," one told AFP.

The EU will publish a statement on Tuesday reaffirming support for the nuclear deal, as long as Tehran continues to respect its side of the bargain.

Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan is once again trying to stir up tensions in the Middle East in order to advance both his Islamist agenda and his Ottoman imperialistic aspirations.

The hot-headed Turkish leader is milking the Khashoggi scandal in order to shift the focus from the disastrous state of affairs in Turkey, where inflation jumped over 25 percent last week after the Turkish Lira lost more than 40 percent of its value against the dollar, and to camouflage his continuing attempts to take over eastern Syria where the Kurds have established an autonomous region.

'Taliban Five'

When President Obama agreed to exchange five members of the Afghan Taliban for U.S. Army Sgt. Bowe Bergdahl, who had been captured after deserting his colleagues, critics warned the terrorists eventually would return to their jihad against the United States.

On Tuesday, Taliban spokesman Zabihullah Mujahid announced the five released from Guantanamo Bay in 2014 have joined the group's political office in Qatar.

The five are said to be involved in peace negotiations, but they all are close to founder and hard-line leader Mullah Mohammed Omar, the Associated Press noted.

"The Taliban are bringing back their old generation, which means the Taliban have not changed their thinking or their leadership," said Haroun Mir, a political analyst in the Afghan capital, according to the AP.

Jihad Watch Director Robert Spencer recalled that who warned that the released Taliban prisoners would return to Taliban leadership "were mocked and vilified as 'Islamophobes.'"

Army scientist seeks enhanced soldier systems through quantum research

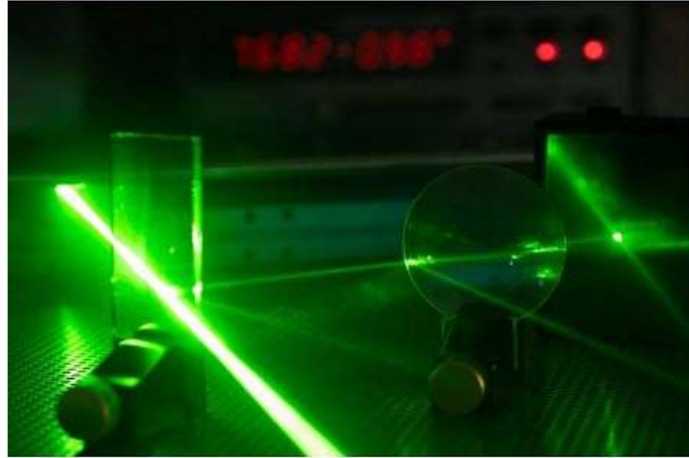

by Staff Writers
Adelphi MD (SPX) Nov 02, 2018

Researchers at the U.S. Army Research Laboratory and the Joint Quantum Institute have created a pristine quantum light source that has the potential to lead to more secure communications and enhanced sensing capabilities for Soldiers.

ARL's Dr. Elizabeth Goldschmidt and JQI's Dr. Sunil Mittal and Prof. Mohammad Hafezi discuss this research in their paper titled "A topological source of quantum light" that is featured in the journal Nature.

Photons, the smallest amount of light that exists, are useful when it comes to carrying quantum information, which can be used for encryption to avoid interception from adversaries and enhanced sensitivity to the environment.

According to the researchers, one major part of the puzzle is that the photons must be undisturbed and as similar as possible in order for secure communications and Soldier systems to operate at the highest quality.

A green laser on optical table in a quantum optics laboratory is an example of how scientists use light to potentially lead to futuristic secure communications. (Photo Credit: Shutterstock)

The research team has successfully developed a silicon chip that guides light around the device's edge, where it is protected from disruptions.

"Energy prices will seriously depend on the severity of the conflict. A Christian missionary from Indiana was killed in Cameroon on Tuesday when he was shot while traveling in a region where the military and separatists have been fighting.

Charles Wesco, a 44-year-old Baptist missionary, had been in Cameroon for less than two weeks when he was killed, his sister-in-law, Joy Williams, said.

He was shot in a region of northwest Cameroon where the military has been fighting English-speaking separatists who want to break away from the predominantly Francophone central government and create an independent state called Ambazonia.

The conflict has killed hundreds of people since last year and has emerged as Cameroon President Paul Biya's greatest security problem in nearly four decades in power.

Biya won election to a seventh term earlier this month.

The American missionary was traveling in a vehicle with his wife Stephanie, one of his children and another missionary, Ben Sinclair, heading toward the town of Bamenda, when he was shot in the head.

Protesters chant slogans after the acquittal of Asia Bibi. The banners read, 'Ready to sacrifice our lives for Mohammad.'

A Christian woman whose death penalty for blasphemy was overturned this week still cannot leave Pakistan because of a government deal to appease radical Islamists.

Hardliners have been staging widespread protests since Wednesday when the courts acquitted Asia Bibi of blasphemy charges going back a decade.

Why Does the Mainstream Media Continue to Ignore These Mass Christian Executions?

The global persecution of Christians continues to escalate dramatically, and yet the mainstream media in the United States is virtually silent about it. In this article, I am going to quote a lot of sources, but they are all either overseas news outlets or Christian websites in the United States. To a certain extent, I think that the mainstream media is extremely hesitant to report about the global persecution of Christians because it may cause the general public to feel sympathetic, and that would definitely be counterproductive to what they are trying to accomplish.

Are parents getting it right in teaching children the faith?

Lizzie Bassford Mon 5 Nov 2018 10:49 GMT

I've often heard it said that many Christian parents expect the church's Sunday school or youth group to be the main teacher of faith in their child's life. Recently in a discussion on Twitter, I read that churches should be equipping parents to intentionally parent their children in the Christian faith.

Should churches be better at helping their children find their way through spiritual issues?

I completely agree, but I am left perplexed and grieved at how we in the West have found ourselves in a situation where God's people are separating life and faith.

Of course the church needs to teach intentional parenting, but why is the gospel not already having a transforming impact on how we live and how we parent?

Matthew Grech speaks before his audition on "X Factor Malta," which was televised on Oct. 21, 2018.

An ex-gay contestant on the Maltese version of the musical reality series "X Factor" has drawn backlash after he declared on the show that homosexual "love" is "sin" and that he left the lifestyle after he found Christ.

Matthew Grech, a singer and vocal coach, appeared on "X Factor Malta" Sunday night. In a video interview segment that played before his performance, Grech declared: "I used to lead a homosexual lifestyle, and then I found God. For a long time, I stopped following my passions to follow Jesus. There can be love between two men and two women, yes — but only friendship love. Everything else is a sin."

Dems Promise Action on Major LGBTQ Legislation if They Retake House in Midterms

Nov 1, 2018 | 0 🌟 | ★★★★★

(FaithWire) House Democrats are promising to take action on major pro-LGBTQ legislation if they regain the majority in the midterm elections Tuesday. House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) said recently she would introduce anti-discrimination legislation — the “Equality Act” — as one of the first orders of business, should Democrats gain control of the House of Representatives. The bill would expand the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which already bans discrimination on the basis of race, sex, color, religion and nationality, to include discrimination on the grounds of sexual orientation in places like retail shops, restaurants, realty, health care and social services, according to The News Tribune. Drew Hammill, a spokesman for Pelosi, told the Tribune the pro-LGBTQ proposal would be given “a place of honor” on the agenda, meaning it would be among the first bills up for consideration.

Academics are arguing that many people will soon be identifying as "digisexuals" and taking their sexual identity from having sex with robots.

While sex robots are currently quite primitive, a new report published in the Journal of Sexual and Relationship Therapy argues that before long they will be able to look, speak and act like real people - and will be specifically designed to fulfill a person's desires.

The report's authors, Neil McArthur and Markie L. C. Twist, from the University of
