والعلامات حتى 28 ابريل 2020

اكرر هدفي فقط من هذه الخدمة أن نذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد أي حياة اليقظة الروحية.
والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه لأننا نور العالم
الذي أصبح مظلم وليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا
مضيئة وقت مجيؤه او من منا سيسلم وديعته في أي وقت. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة
بأيمان عامل بالمحبة والتبشير وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان
الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان
وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذاري انه لن يكون هناك
زيت الا ما جمعته سابقا.

أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقرب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان
سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقرب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشرا اشاعات او اخيف البعض
ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لأنه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي
المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

ثانيا لنؤمن

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تَوْمُنُونَ.

ثالثا لنتنبه ونستعد

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَأَنْصَبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.».

Huge Asteroid Appearing to be Wearing a Face Mask To Pass By Earth

Apr 27, 2020 | 0 📖 | ★★★★★

(CBN) – An image of an asteroid that will pass by the Earth on Wednesday, appears to show it's wearing its own mask. The image captured by Arecibo Observatory in Puerto Rico looks as though the space rock named 52768 (1998 OR2) will also practice its own social distancing as it will pass almost four million miles away from Earth at 5:59 am EDT on Wednesday, according to USA Today.

The earliest cyclone on record just formed in the eastern Pacific

Apr 25, 2020 | 0 | ★★★★★

(ETH) – The earliest tropical cyclone on record has just formed in the eastern North Pacific, far off the coast of Mexico according to a report from the Associated Press. The report indicates that the U.S. National Hurricane Center has stated that Tropical Depression One-E had maximum sustained winds of 35 mph (55 kph), and while it was not forecast to strengthen into a named tropical storm before weakening, "it cannot be ruled out."

The tropical storm is expected to dissipate to a remnant low by Sunday night. The storm was centered about 730 miles (1,175 kilometers) southwest of the southern tip of the Baja California Peninsula and posed no threat to land. According to the Hurricane Center, this storm is the earliest formation of a tropical cyclone in the eastern

Historic drought in Chile enters 10th year -- the country's longest dry spell on record

A severe drought in Chile's central region is entering its 10th year, setting a record for the country's longest dry-spell ever. Records since 1915, when the nation started data-keeping, showed that no droughts have lasted longer and that the previous megadrought of this scale likely occurred more than 1 000 years ago.

Over the past 10 years, rainfall in central Chile has been below normal every year by an average of 20 to 45 percent, which is extremely low. Around the capital Santiago (population 7 million), lack of rain has been particularly severe. Between 2014 and 2019, only 10 to 20 percent of normal rainfall has been recorded.

In 2019, the greater Santiago area in Valparaiso saw rainfall almost 80 percent below the previous record low. It was down by 90 percent in the northern region of Coquimbo.

According to Rene D. Garreaud, a scientist at the University of Chile, they are estimating that the last 'megadrought' of this scale probably occurred in this region more than 1 000 years ago.

4.1 aftershock rattles Boise late Monday night, 8 recorded in last 24 hours

Apr 22, 2020 | 0 📰 | ★★★★★

(ETH) – Residents of Boise, Idaho continue to shake, rattle, and roll as a magnitude-4.1 aftershock that is directly connected to last month's large earthquake was felt by some residents on late Monday night just before midnight according to a report from the Idaho Statesman.

The report stated that the epicenter was 20 miles northwest of Stanley and that the latest aftershock is one of eight reported aftershocks that has taken place in Idaho with a magnitude of 2.5 or higher recorded by the USGS in the past 24 hours.

Idaho residents have been rattled by aftershocks since a magnitude-6.5 earthquake struck the region on March 31. The epicenter was determined to be in the mountains northwest of Stanley and 45 miles west of Challis.

Two clinical trials addressing this question are underway, and WHO will evaluate the evidence when it is available. In the absence of evidence, WHO does not recommend BCG vaccination for the prevention of COVID-19. WHO continues to recommend neonatal BCG vaccination in countries or settings with a high incidence of tuberculosis.¹' It also mentions that 'There is experimental evidence from both animal and human studies that the BCG vaccine has non-specific effects on the immune system. These effects have not been well characterized and their clinical relevance is unknown.^{2,3}' and that 'On 11 April 2020, WHO updated its ongoing evidence review of the major scientific databases and clinical trial repositories, using English, French and Chinese search terms for COVID-19, coronavirus, SARS-CoV-2 and BCG.' The review yielded three preprints and two registered protocols for clinical trials. A note at the bottom states: 'BCG vaccination prevents severe forms of tuberculosis in children and diversion of local supplies may result in neonates not being'.

Oxford University Just Injected The First Participants in a COVID-19 Vaccine Trial

SYLVAIN PEUCHMAURD, AFP 24 APRIL 2020

Oxford University is launching a human trial of a potential coronavirus vaccine, with the daunting aim of making a successful jab available to the public later this year.

Of the more than 100 research projects around the world to find a vaccine - described by the United Nations as the only route back to "normality" - seven are currently in clinical trials, according to the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

Such trials are already underway in China and the United States and are due to begin at the end of this month in Germany, where the federal vaccine authority gave the green light on Wednesday.

The British government strongly supports Oxford University's work, and the first human trials were to start on Thursday, Health Minister Matt Hancock said.

He hailed the "promising development", pointing out that it would normally take "years" to reach such a stage of vaccine development.

Abstract

Background

Severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS) emerged in China in 2002 and spread to other countries before brought under control. Because of a concern for reemergence or a deliberate release of the SARS coronavirus, vaccine development was initiated. Evaluations of an inactivated whole virus vaccine in ferrets and nonhuman primates and a virus-like-particle vaccine in mice induced protection against infection but challenged animals exhibited an immunopathologic-type lung disease.

ABSTRACT

Middle East respiratory syndrome coronavirus (MERS-CoV) can cause severe and fatal acute respiratory disease in humans and remains endemic in the Middle East since first being identified in 2012. There are currently no approved vaccines or therapies available for MERS-CoV. In this study, we evaluated parainfluenza virus 5 (PIV5)-based vaccine expressing the MERS-CoV envelope spike protein (PIV5/MERS-S) in a human DPP4 knockin C57BL/6 congenic mouse model (hDPP4 KI). Following a single-dose intranasal immunization, PIV5-MERS-S induced neutralizing antibody and robust T cell responses in hDPP4 KI mice. A

An outbreak of an unknown infectious pneumonia has recently occurred in Wuhan, China.¹ The pathogen of the disease was quickly identified as a novel coronavirus (SARS-CoV-2, severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2), and the disease was named coronavirus disease-19 (COVID-19).² The virus has so far caused 78,959 confirmed cases and 2791 deaths in China according to the reports of government. COVID-19 has been spreading in many countries such as Japan, Korea, Singapore, Iran, and Italia. The clinical manifestation of COVID-19 include fever, cough, fatigue, muscle pain, diarrhea, and pneumonia, which can develop to acute respiratory distress syndrome, metabolic acidosis, septic shock, coagulation dysfunction, and organ failure such as liver, kidney, and heart failure.^{1,3,4} Unfortunately, there is no effective medication other than comprehensive support. However, the mild type of COVID-19 patients can recover shortly after appropriate clinical intervention. The moderate type patients, especially the elderly or the ones with comorbidity, can worsen and became severe, indicating high mortality rate.^{3,4} However, efficient indicators for the disease severity, therapeutic response and disease outcome have not been fully investigated. Once such indicators are present, reasonable medication and care can be inclined, which is believed to significantly reduce the

SARS-CoV-2 infects T lymphocytes through its spike protein-mediated membrane fusion

COVID-19, the novel coronavirus disease caused by SARS-CoV-2 and outbreak at the end of 2019 in Wuhan, China,¹ becomes a worldwide pandemic. SARS-CoV-2 belongs to the betacoronavirus genus and has 79.5% identity to SARS-CoV. SARS-CoV-2 uses angiotensin-converting enzyme 2 (ACE2) as its host entry receptor.² The clinical manifestations of COVID-19 include pneumonia, diarrhea, dyspnea, and multiple organ failure. Interestingly, lymphocytopenia, as a diagnostic indicator, is common in COVID-19 patients. Xiong et al. found upregulation of apoptosis, autophagy, and p53 pathways in PBMC of COVID-19 patients.³ Some studies reported that lymphocytopenia might be related to mortality, especially in patients with low levels of CD3⁺, CD4⁺, and CD8⁺ T lymphocytes.^{4,5} Lymphocytopenia was also found in the Middle East respiratory syndrome (MERS) cases. MERS-CoV can directly infect human primary T lymphocytes and induce T-cell apoptosis through extrinsic and intrinsic apoptosis pathways, but it cannot replicate in T lymphocytes.⁶ However, it is unclear whether SARS-CoV-2 can also infect T cells, resulting in lymphocytopenia.

To address this question, we evaluated the susceptibility of T lymphocytes to SARS-CoV-2 infection. To accomplish this, pseudotyped SARS-CoV and SARS-CoV-2 were packaged based on methods described previously.⁷ The pseudoviruses could infect permissive cells (293T/ACE2 and Huh7 cells) expressing the ACE2 receptor, but could not infect nonpermissive cells (HeLa cells) (Fig. 1a). We used pseudovirus with equal

COVID-19 Alert: To add to many studies already showing that the deadly and potent ways the SARS-Cov-2 has of attacking various human host cells and also critical proteins and cellular pathways in the human cells, a new collaborative study by researchers from the United States and China now shows that the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus also attacks the T Lymphocytes similarly to the way that HIV viruses act.

Abstract

We are currently witnessing a major epidemic caused by the 2019 novel coronavirus (2019-nCoV). The evolution of 2019-nCoV remains elusive. We found 4 insertions in the spike glycoprotein (S) which are unique to the 2019-nCoV and are not present in other coronaviruses. Importantly, amino acid residues in all the 4 inserts have identity or similarity to those in the HIV-1 gp120 or HIV-1 Gag. Interestingly, despite the inserts being discontinuous on the primary amino acid sequence, 3D-modelling of the 2019-nCoV suggests that they converge to constitute the receptor binding site. The finding of 4 unique inserts in the 2019-nCoV, all of which have identity /similarity to amino acid residues in key structural proteins of HIV-1 is unlikely to be fortuitous in nature. This work provides yet unknown insights on 2019-nCoV and sheds light on the evolution and pathogenicity

Highlights

- The genomic sequence of 2019-nCoV indicates that the virus clusters with betacoronaviruses of lineage b.
- 2019-nCoV S-protein sequence has a specific furin-like cleavage site absent in lineage b CoV including SARS-CoV sequences.
- The furin-like cleavage site in the S-protein of 2019-nCoV may have implications for the viral life cycle and pathogenicity.
- Campaigns to develop anti-2019-nCoV therapeutics should include the evaluation of furin inhibitors.

French Nobel prize winner: 'Covid-19 made in lab'

Agence France-Presse / @afpfr / Twitter

Professor Luc Montagnier is a controversial figure within the scientific community

A controversial French Nobel prize-winning scientist has accused biologists of having created SARS-CoV-2 - the virus that causes Covid-19 - in a lab, but the wider scientific community has so far refuted the claim.

Luc Montagnier, who won the Nobel Prize in 2008 for his work on HIV - and who is a very controversial figure in the scientific community - said in an interview this week that "the virus has come out of a laboratory in Wuhan, which has been specialising in these types of coronaviruses since the beginning of the 2000s".

He made the claim during an interview with news platform CNews.

He said: "We have arrived at the conclusion that this virus was created." He accused "molecular biologists" of having inserted DNA sequences from HIV into a coronavirus, "probably" as part of their work to find a vaccine against AIDS.

A drug used to treat HIV and cancer patients has shown success in treating some of the most severe COVID-19 patients, and just got cleared by the FDA to start a phase 2 clinical trial. Much of the work behind the drug is happening right in Washington State.

The drug was developed by a company called CytoDyn in Vancouver, Washington.

ان طبيعي ان كورونا يكون فيها جينات الایدز.

طبيعي ان يكون في كوفيد جينات ایدز؟؟؟؟؟؟

وأيضاً دراسات كثيرة تخطئ عن طريق ادعاء ان أربع مناطق الإضافة على كوفيد هم ليسوا من الـإيدز فقط

المهم سواء صحيح ام خطأ ولكن الذي اتفقوا عليه العلماء انه يوجد أربعة تغيرات او إضافات على جينات كوفيد وهم

- Insert 1: TNGTKR
- Insert 2: HKNNKS
- Insert 3: RYSL—TPGDSSG
- Insert 4: QTNSPRRA

وبهم تشابه مع إيدز

المهم لماذا يهم ان اذكر هذه الاحتمالية التي ممكن تعرضني للاتهامات؟

مع وضع احتمالية ان يكون الكوفيد هو بسبب محاولة لتصنيع تطعيم للإيدز بمساعدة كورونا فيرس فخرج كوفيد. الان يوجد شيء في رأيي أخطر ويعلنوا عنه وهو

In Nigeria, families battle coronavirus and the more deadly Lassa Fever

PHILIP OBAJI JR • 6 DAYS AGO

Nigeria's health system could come under immense stress as it faces a two-pronged fight.

BENIN CITY, Nigeria — Hours after Amodu's 21-year-old son was admitted to hospital after contracting the deadly Lassa fever, the livestock farmer received a phone call from a relative that his younger half-brother had tested positive for the novel coronavirus that is ravaging the entire world and has led to more than 175,000 deaths globally.

Amodu was devastated and feared that he could lose both his only son and brother in the blink of an eye to two deadly viruses that are highly contagious and wrecking lives in several parts of Nigeria.

"There'll be nothing to live for if I lose both of them," Amodu, who lives near Benin City in Nigeria's southern Edo state, told TRT World. "Every day, I wake up thinking it could be the last day my son and brother spend alive on earth."

But that's not the only concern. Amodu's son and brother had come into contact with several family members — some of whom had returned to their remote

US Norway to partner on hypersonic missile propulsion systems

by Ed Adamczyk
Washington DC (UPI) Apr 21, 2020

A joint U.S.-Norwegian effort to produce solid fuel propulsion systems for hypersonic missiles was announced by the U.S. Defense Department on Monday.

The Tactical High-speed Offensive Ramjet for Extended Range project, or THOR-ER, will develop and integrate advancements in solid fuel ramjet technologies into full-size prototypes that are affordable, attain high speeds, and achieve extended range, Pentagon said in a press release.

The United States has admitted a gap in relevant technology, compared to Russian progress, in hypersonic missile development. The missiles remain in the atmosphere as they travel, unlike some ballistic missiles which briefly travel through outer space, but theoretically can achieve speeds of up to 15,000 miles per hour.

In December 2019, Russian President Vladimir Putin announced the deployment of the Avangard. It was said to be the first in a new class of missiles capable of reaching hypersonic velocity and hitting a target, potentially with a nuclear warhead, within minutes of launch from anywhere in the world. China and France also have also begun hypersonic missile programs.

The statement on Monday did not include a cost estimate, but said the THOR-ER program "continues collaborative research efforts involving the U.S. Navy's Naval Air Warfare Center, Weapons Division China Lake, Calif.; the Norwegian Defense Research Establishment; and with Norwegian industry partner Nammo."

Seoul plays down report on North Korean leader's health

by Staff Writers
Seoul (AFP) April 21, 2020

South Korea played down a report Tuesday that the North's leader Kim Jong Un was being treated after surgery, as speculation mounted over his absence from a key anniversary.

Pyeongyang marked the birthday of its late founder, Kim's grandfather Kim Il Sung, on April 15 -- by far the most important date in its annual political calendar -- but Kim was not seen in attendance.

Daily NK, an online media outlet run mostly by North Korean defectors, said Kim had undergone a cardiovascular procedure earlier this month and was recovering at a villa in North Phyongan province.

"Excessive smoking, obesity, and fatigue were the direct causes of Kim's urgent cardiovascular treatment," it cited an unidentified source inside the country as saying.

No confirmation of the report was immediately available.

But it triggered widespread speculation, with CNN citing a US official saying that Washington was "monitoring intelligence" that Kim was in "grave danger" after undergoing surgery.

In a statement, a spokesman for the South's presidential Blue House said: "We have nothing to confirm and no special movement has been detected inside North Korea as of now."

The South's Yonhap news agency, meanwhile, cited an unnamed government official saying that reports Kim was seriously ill were "not true".

But there were no explicit denials that Kim, who is in his mid-30s, had had some kind of procedure.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Iran's paramilitary Revolutionary Guard said on Wednesday that it launched a military satellite into orbit amid wider tensions with the United States, describing it as a successful launch after months of failures.

There was no immediate independent confirmation of the launch of the satellite, which the Guard called "Noor," or light. The U.S. State Department and the Pentagon, which contend that such launches advance Iran's ballistic missile program, did not immediately respond to a request for comment.

Not Science Fiction: Definitive Proof That Biblical Giants Existed

1:00PM EDT 4/27/2020 | SHAWN A. AKERS

Elongated skulls of the Nephilim? You decide. (L.A. Marzulli YouTube channel)

For hundreds of years, theologians have debated and speculated about a bizarre passage of Scripture in Genesis 6 that tells the account of angels mating with humans and creating a race of giant hybrids.

While some may contend that this is only science fiction, author and filmmaker L.A. Marzulli, in his book On the Trail of the Nephilim, offers definitive proof that these biblical giants truly existed. His search for the Nephilim has taken him to Paracas, Peru, and other "relatively unknown places in South America," leaving no stone unturned to reveal this incredible supernatural mystery.

Marzulli first learned about the Nephilim when he read Dr. I.D.E. Thomas' The Omega

04-23-2020 - Dale Hurd

Oil prices have been sitting at their lowest levels in 20 years, and the May contract price collapsed Monday into negative territory for the first time in history. America's domestic oil industry is imploding quickly, as producers from Texas to North Dakota are being forced to shut down wells and lay off workers. It has some asking if this is the end of the US shale oil revolution.

Todd Staples, president of the Texas Oil and Gas Association, says,

Singapore Coastline Packed With Ships Full of Oil No One Wants

Bloomberg Elizabeth Low

Bloomberg April 27, 2020

(Bloomberg) -- A narrow waterway off Singapore has become even more congested as oil-laden tankers wait out a slump in global fuel consumption that's crimped demand and boosted the use of ships to store cargoes.

About 60 clean fuel tankers are currently anchored along the busy strait, up from the usual 30-40 ships, according to Rahul Kapoor, head of commodity analytics and research at IHS Markit. Some vessels are being used to hoard fuel at sea as onshore tanks fill up. Others are probably parked, waiting to be redirected to any willing buyer across Asia and the world as the coronavirus pummels economies worldwide.

U.S. Reels Toward Meat Shortages and the World May Be Next

Apr 26, 2020 | 0 | ★★★★★

(ETH) – The coronavirus is shutting down plants across America and leaving the U.S. dangerously close to meat shortages as outbreaks have now spread to suppliers across the Nation. According to a report from Yahoo, Almost a third of the U.S. pork capacity is down, and the first big poultry plants closed on Friday, leaving experts warning that domestic shortages are only weeks away.

Brazil, the world's top shipper of chicken and beef, has witnessed its first major closure with the halt of a poultry plant owned by JBS SA, which is the world's largest meat company. Key operations are also down in Canada, the latest being a British Columbia poultry plant.

'God Healed Me': Seminary President's 93-Year-Old Mother-in-Law Praises God After Surviving COVID-19

NEW ORLEANS (Baptist Press) — "Hope for the best; plan for the worst" was the warning the hospice doctor gave Joyce Harrington, 93, at a New Orleans hospital when she was admitted with COVID-19 symptoms March 25.

The doctor delivered the same dire warning over the phone to Harrington's daughters — Rhonda Harrington Kelley, wife of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary President Emeritus Chuck Kelley, and Mitzi Woodson, whose husband is a medical doctor in Oklahoma.

"Really, the doctor told me I wasn't going to make it," Harrington said. "So, I just talked to the Lord. I said, 'Lord, I'm ready right now. I'm ready to see the angels come after me.'"

I recently wrote that practical obedience to God today is far more important than speculation about the mark of the beast tomorrow. I have also made clear that I do not believe that COVID-19 is one of the plagues from the book of Revelation. At the same time, a number of recent developments help illustrate how quickly a false Messianic figure could emerge on the earth, in both religious and secular circles.

Male Who Identifies as Female Sues Over Idaho Law Prohibiting 'Transgenders' From Competing in Girls' Sports

By Heather Clark on April 21, 2020 · 4 Comments

BOISE, Idaho — A college student at Boise State University who was born male but identifies as female has filed suit to challenge a new Idaho law prohibiting biological males from competing on girls' sports teams.

The 19-year-old student, who goes by the name Lindsay Hecox, ran track and cross-country in high school and now wants to be a part of the Boise State track and cross-country teams.

"Running on a men's team is not an option for Lindsay. She is not a man, and as a woman who is transgender, it would be painful and humiliating to be forced to be the only woman on a men's team," the lawsuit, filed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) of Idaho, reads.
