والعلامات حتى يوم 14 يناير 2014

Holy_bible_1

المسيح اقترب لا احدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب ان نستعد ونصنع اثمار تليق بمجيئه ونفرح بالعريس
ولكن الأرض تطرب لاقترابه وتظهر بعض العلامات والعالم يقوم على أولاده لكن أبناء الرب لا
يخافوا بل يفرحوا.

سنة 2013 الذين استشهدوا لأنهم مسيحيين كان ضعف سنة 2012 ففي 2013 استشهد
2123 مسيحي بسبب ايمانهم في 50 دولة وهذا ضعف 2012 الذي استشهد فيه 1201
مسيحي. هذا الرقم الرسمي ولكن الحقيقي الغير معلن في أماكن كثيرة هو اضعاف ذلك فكثيرين
استشهدوا لأنهم مسيحيين مع عوامل أخرى مثل حروب او غيره فلم يحسبوا هذا بناء على ما
أعلنته واشنطن دي سي. واضطهد تقريبا 100 مليون مسيحي بشكل او اخر وبدرجات مختلفة
بسبب عقيدته المسيحية. الترتيب أولا كوريا الشمالية ثم الصومال ثم سوريا

Washington D.C., Jan 9, 2014 / 04:51 pm (CNA/EWTN News).- Nearly twice the number of Christians were reported as dying for their faith in 2013 than the previous year, according to a new study by an organization monitoring global religious persecution.

The World Watch List, issued by Open Doors USA each year, documents oppression of Christians throughout the world. Based on data from the past year, it ranks the 50 countries that are home to the worst treatment of Christians.

Along with the release of the 2014 report, Open Doors USA also offered information about global Christian persecution on its website, explaining that it had gathered evidence of 2,123 Christians who were killed for their faith in 2013, up from 1,201 such martyrdoms in 2012.

"This is a very minimal count based on what has been reported in the media and we can confirm," said Frans Veerman, head of research for the organization, according to Reuters. He explained that the actual numbers could be much higher.

من العلامات ما اعتقد هو قرب حرب حزقيال 38 فاتفاق السلام الذي يقوده اوباما به أمور غريبة
فهل هذا سيقود الى حرب ام لا بعد اتفاق السلام والامن.

رسالة بولس الرسول الأولى إلى أهل تسالونيكى 5: 3
لأنه حينما يقولون «:سَلامٌ وَأَمَانٌ»، حينئذٍ يُفاجئهم هَلاكٌ بَغْتَةً،
كالمَخاضِ لِلْحَبْلِى، فَلَا يَنجُونَ.

جون كيري قدم الاتفاق الي عباس ونتنياهو ولكن الإشكالية ان امريكا مصرة على ان تتراجع
اسرائيل عن حدودها الي ما قبل 67 وهذا مدمر لإسرائيل وهذا ما قاله اوباما في اول ولايته
الاولى وتراجع عنه ولكن اتضح الان انه مصر عليه وهو كذب ولم يتراجع عنه حتى الان. فمعظم
ما كسبته إسرائيل في أكثر من خمسة وأربعين سنة يريد اوباما نزعها منهم في تسع شهور.
فمن نقاط الاتفاق ان اسرائيل تعيد 92.8 من ارض الضفة الغربية الي الفلسطينيين وايضا جزء
من غزة وايضا قطعة من شرق اورشليم تعطى للفلسطينيين التي ستصبح عاصمة الفلسطينيين.
اما الاماكن المقدسة في جبل صهيون منها كنيسة القيامة والاقصى هؤلاء سيكونون تحت اشراف
خمس دول وهم امريكا واسرائيل وفلسطين والاردن والسعودية.

10000 يهودي يجب ان يغادر المستوطنات و80000 اخرين سيكون لهم اختيار ان يبقوا ولكن
يخضعوا للحكم الفلسطيني او ان يهاجروا هذه الارض. فهذا لم يرجعهم فقط الي ما قبل 1967
بل يرجع اسرائيل لما هو حدود 1949م

امريكا ستبني خط سكة حديدي بين غزة ورامله امن ليس من حق اليهود الاشراف عليه رغم انه يعبر في جنوب اسرائيل لكنه لن يتوقف في محطة في اسرائيل وطريق اخر من رامله الي بيت لحم.

اللاجئين الذين عددهم اكثر من 20000 سيقسمون قسمين نصفهم سيهجرون الي كندا ونصفهم الاخر الي استراليا.

الامن (لتحقيق السلام والامن) سيتم عن طريق وجود مناطق عازلة بين الاردن وفلسطين واسرائيل يشرف عليها امريكا والامم المتحدة.

وهذا يجب ان يتحقق في منتصف ابريل 2014م

أمريكا حتى لو رفض الطرفين ستجبرهم فهي تهدد فلسطين بانها لو رفضت ستقطع عنها المعونات الامريكية

وأیضا الشعب الاسرائيلي يرفض ولكن الضغط الدولي على نتنياهو كبير لان الكل تقريبا بدؤا يديروا وجوههم عن اسرائيل.

ورقة ضغط امريكا على إسرائيل هي إيران فلو اسرائيل رفضت هذه المبادئ الضارة بها امريكا ستترك إيران تنطلق ضد اسرائيل ولكن لو قبلت اسرائيل فأمریکا ستمنع إيران من استكمال القنبلة النووية. وبخاصة ان ايران بدأت تقول تصريحات ان امتلاك ايران لقنبلة نووية هو ضروري لتدمير إسرائيل

Iran Warns 'Nuclear Bomb Necessary to Put Down Israel'

Posted on January 6, 2014

Iranian lawmaker, cleric, and Majlis (council) member Mohammed Nabavian declared Monday that Iran does need a nuclear bomb – to destroy Israel. Iran would be able to build a nuclear bomb in “two weeks” if it gets “access to 270 kilograms of 20 percent [enriched uranium], 10 tons of 5 percent, and 20 thousand centrifuges,” Nabavian stated, according to Iranian media reports. “We are not looking for a nuclear bomb, but having a nuclear bomb is necessary to put down Israel.” Regarding Iran’s resumed diplomatic relations with the US, Nabavian stated, “If Obama asked for a meeting five times before the visit to New York and several times during the visit, it’s because over these eight years measures were taken [by Iran] and, as a result, the United States [now] needs Iran.” “In Syria, the U.S. did not manage to attack and was humiliated. In practice, Obama was humiliated because he did not stand up to Iran, and hence it is necessary to meet with Iran’s president to show that he is a strong man and tell the world: I brought Iran to the negotiating table after 30 years.” According to MEMRI, Nabavian made the remarks in a speech that he delivered at a political activists’ conference in Mashhad (northeastern Iran).

Iran nuclear talks hit snag on centrifuge research

Posted on January 8, 2014

Negotiations between Iran and six world powers on implementing a landmark November deal to freeze parts of Tehran's nuclear program in exchange for easing some sanctions have run into problems over the issue of centrifuge research, diplomats said. The dispute over centrifuges highlighted the huge challenges facing Iran and the six powers in negotiating the precise terms of the Nov. 24 interim agreement. If they succeed, they plan to start talks on a long-term deal to resolve a more than decade-long dispute over Tehran's nuclear ambitions. Among the issues to be resolved in political discussions due to begin in Geneva later this week is that of research and development of a new model of advanced nuclear centrifuge that Iran says it has installed, diplomats said on condition of anonymity. Centrifuges are machines that purify uranium for use as fuel in atomic power plants, or, if purified to a high level, weapons. "This issue (centrifuges) was among the main factors in stopping the previous technical discussions on Dec. 19-21," a Western diplomat told Reuters on condition of anonymity. Other Western diplomats confirmed that centrifuges were a "sticking point" in the talks with Iran but noted that last month's discussions were understandably adjourned ahead of the December holidays. Iran's utilization of advanced IR-2m centrifuges for enriching uranium, in violation of the interim Geneva accord, was presented by the US and the five powers Wednesday, Jan. 8, as the main difficulty in its implementation. This claim allowed the follow-up meeting to take place in Geneva on Thursday, Jan. 9. DEBKAfile's Iranian and intelligence sources report that this was a lame excuse to account for the real situation, which is that Iran has not even started implementing any part of the Geneva accord it signed last November 24. The follow-up talks this week are not expected to break out of this impasse, any more than the first round did on Dec. 19-20.

This is because the obstacles are far from technical; they arise from Iranian domestic politics. Supreme leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei has fenced in President Hassan Rouhani and Foreign Minister Mohammed Jawad Zarif with hard-line objectors to the tactics employed till now by the Iranian team, led by Iranian deputy foreign minister Abbas Araqchi. In future, negotiators will be required to refer all the conclusions reached with the powers to the policy-making levels in Tehran for approval and abide by their guidelines.

Using a "senior Western diplomatic source" to paint the centrifuge issue as the main obstacle to progress allowed the three figures running the show - US Undersecretary of State for Political Affairs Wendy R. Sherman, EU Foreign Policy Coordinator Catherine Ashton, and her deputy Helga Schmidt - to keep the negotiations alive while disregarding the full scale and blatancy of Iran's misconduct.

Massive Sinkhole Suddenly Opens Swallowing 13 Homes in Abadetetub, Brazil

Posted on January 8, 2014

SECURITY footage shows a desperate mother throwing her child from their home moments before the building is swallowed by a sinkhole. The dramatic incident occurred when a sinkhole suddenly opened on a street in Abadetetub, Brazil on Saturday destroying 13 homes, reports G1. The CCTV footage shows neighbours rushing to catch the child thrown from the upper story window. Terrified residents then flee as the ground gives way behind them and a massive sinkhole emerges, swallowing their homes. The woman, who was 7 months pregnant, managed to escape before the building collapsed. No one died in the incident, but 67 families were left homeless, reports G1. The council has declared a state of emergency and the affected families are receiving rent assistance. "We work so hard...and in the end we lose everything," said affected farmer Alfredo Rodrigues.

Sun Unleashes Powerful X-Class Flare. Solar Storm Likely!

Earlier this afternoon, at approximately 1:32 PM ET, our sun produced a powerful X1-Class Solar Flare. (The highest category for solar flares)

In addition, stereoscopic imaging of the sun suggests that a Coronal Mass Ejection (CME) appears to be emerging from the blast site.

If this is indeed the case, then the CME is almost certainly heading towards Earth.

يتوقع بعض العلماء انه من بقايا حجارة مذنب ايزون التي لاتزال تتساقط على سطح الشمس وايضا يوم 8 يناير انفجار كبير في الشمس باسم X1 من CME من بقعة باسم 1948 زواكد بعض العلماء أن بعض الرياح الشمسية سيصل للأرض في اليوم التالي أي الخميس 9 يناير عندما تكون اليابان مواجهة للشمس وهذا ممكن بسبب زلزال لليابان وهذا اخر مكان يتمنى العلماء ان يصاب بموجات شمسية لظروف التلوث.

بسبب هذا الانفجار الشمسي

يوم 9 يناير ما يخشاه العالم حدث وهو زلزال يضرب اليابان بقوة 6 ريختار شمال اليابان وهذا يسبب ان اجهزة تعقيم مفاعل فوكوشيما تتوقف ويزيد التلوث للمحيط الهادي وايضا هذا الانفجار الشمسي منع انطلاق صاروخ موجه للمحطة الفضائية بسبب الخطورة الاشعاعية للرياح الشمسية. المحطة التي قالوا لا يستطيع يعطلها ولا الله نفسه

Fish with deadly levels of radioactive cesium have been caught just off the coast of Fukushima prefecture, as scientists continue to assess the damage caused to the marine food chain by the 2011 nuclear disaster.

One of the samples of the 37 black sea bream specimens caught some 37 kilometers south of the crippled power plant tested at 12,400 becquerels per kilogram of radioactive cesium, making it 124 times deadlier than the threshold considered safe for human consumption, Japan's Fisheries Research Agency announced.

Pentagon Agency Admits It Began Stockpiling Potassium Iodide Due to Fukushima

Radiation leaks from nuclear plant "renewed interest" in iodide, agency said in 2012

Kit Daniels

Infowars.com

January 9, 2014

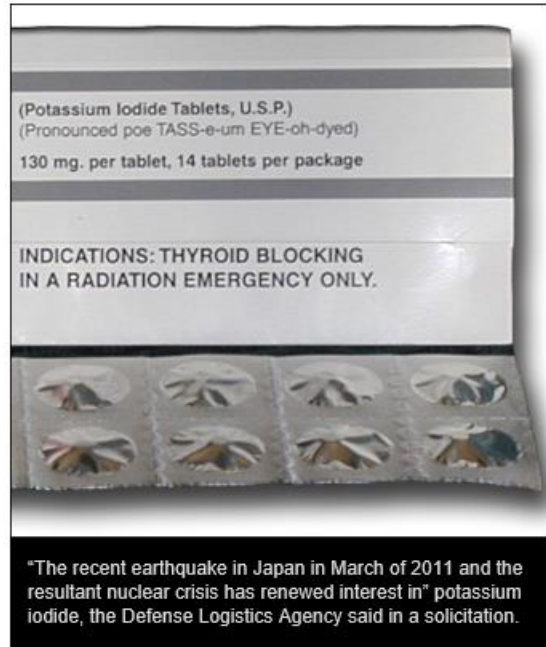

A federal bid notice reveals that a Pentagon agency began stockpiling potassium iodide in 2012 due to its concerns over the Fukushima nuclear crisis, shedding light on why the Dept. of Health and Human Services is now ordering 14 million doses of iodide.

The Defense Logistics Agency posted a solicitation on FedBizOpps in 2012 asking contractors for 75,000 packages of potassium iodide tablets because the "recent earthquake in Japan in March of 2011 and the resultant nuclear crisis has renewed interest in this item."

"The U.S. Army Medical Materiel Agency has submitted a MILSTRIP (Military Standard Requisitioning and Issue Procedures) for this item to ensure that critical operational forces are protected in the event of nuclear fallout," the solicitation added.

Potassium iodide keeps radioactive iodine from being absorbed by the thyroid gland and therefore it is commonly taken in the event of a severe nuclear emergency, such as the current Fukushima crisis.

As Paul Joseph Watson reported on Jan. 1, HHS ordered an unprecedented 14 million doses of potassium iodide for delivery next month.

1400% Radiation Hot Spot Found on San Francisco Beach

Experts say no link to Fukushima

Paul Joseph Watson

Infowars.com

January 8, 2014

Following reports of abnormally high radiation readings on a beach in San Francisco, experts have discovered radiation hot spots measuring 1,400 per cent above normal background levels, although they are keen to stress there is no link to Fukushima.

As we reported on Monday, after a viral video emerged showing a man recording measurements of over 150 micro-REM per hour, 500 per cent normal background radiation, on a beach south of Pillar Point Harbor, San Mateo County officials confirmed the spike but said they were "befuddled" as to the cause.

In a new development, El Granada electrical engineer Steven Weiss, a 40 year veteran designer of Geiger counters, took his own measurements and found hot spots that were returning levels 14 times normal background radiation.

Image: Radiation Sign (Wikimedia Commons).

"It's not normal. I've never seen 400 cpm when I just wave my Geiger around." Weiss told the Half Moon Bay Review. "There has to be something radioactive for it to do that."

After studying a dirt sample in a spectrum analyzer, the substance was found to contain radium and thorium, which are both naturally occurring radioactive elements. No evidence of cesium-137, the fissile material used in the Fukushima reactors, was discovered, leading Weiss to conclude that the radiation had no link to the nuclear plant in Japan.

Missouri Snow Found to Contain Radiation “DOUBLE” the Normal Amount

Posted on January 6, 2014

Readings taken from snow blanketing St. Louis, Missouri contains double the normal radiation amount, once again stoking concerns that the ongoing Fukushima crisis is now firmly impacting areas of America. “The radiation return from the snow precipitation is returning DOUBLE the normal background amounts. Normal background in this area is approximately 30CPM,” writes YouTube user DutchSinse, alongside a video documenting the readings. “This means small particles of radioactive material are indeed coming down in the precipitation. Past tests show around 30CPM in the same spot on a nice day with no precipitation,” he adds, noting that snowstorms in 2012 also showed alert level radiation readings. As we reported earlier, Geiger counter readings taken on a beach in San Francisco returned results five times the safe level of normal background radiation, prompting federal officials to launch an investigation. Whether such readings are linked to the ongoing Fukushima crisis is unknown, but the fact that officials in Japan have been duplicitous in downplaying the true scale of radiation releases at almost every turn has understandably fanned the flames of suspicion. Last week it was reported that new plumes of radioactive steam were emerging from the crippled reactor number 3 at the plant, but TEPCO representatives refused to explain the cause. A former Fukushima worker also recently revealed that duct tape and wire nets were used to “repair” leaking radioactive water tanks in 2012 as a cost cutting measure. The Department of Health and Human Services has ordered 14 million doses of potassium iodide, the compound that protects the body from radioactive poisoning in the aftermath of severe nuclear accidents, but a DHHS official denied that the purchase was connected to the Fukushima crisis.

Scientists Discover Conjoined Gray Whale Calves Dying Near West Coast

Posted on January 7, 2014

Following continued news of disturbing sea life occurrences off the West Coast, scientists in Northern Mexico's Laguna Ojo de Liebre, formerly known as Scammon's Lagoon, have discovered what appears to be the first ever documented case of conjoined gray whale calves. Scientists Discover Conjoined Gray Whale Calves Dying Near West Coast. Discovered last Sunday, the calves, which did not survive, measured in at just under seven feet long, much smaller than the average newborn length of 12 to 16 feet. "Unfortunately the specimen died, his survival was difficult," a translated comment from the Guerrero Negro Verde Facebook page reads. Shockingly underdeveloped, American Cetacean Society researcher Alisa Schulman-Janiger believes the calves were the result of a miscarriage. Later collecting the carcass for further analysis, scientists made no comments regarding a possible cause. While conjoined twins have been found in several other whale species, a search of the database at the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County by local scientists produced no records of conjoined gray whales. Although no information has yet been released, concerns over the ongoing Fukushima disaster has many asking questions, especially in light of rare animal deaths spreading along the West Coast. Incidences such as the ongoing "melting sea star" epidemic, which has been seen off the coast of California, Oregon, Washington and Canada, have yet to be explained as sea stars are found literally disintegrating.

AMERICAN COP-TURNED-EVANGELIST ARRESTED IN SCOTLAND FOR PREACHING THAT HOMOSEXUALITY IS A SIN

Posted on January 12, 2014

An American preacher serving on a week-long mission trip in Scotland was reportedly arrested Wednesday for openly preaching that homosexuality is a sin. Tony Miano's legal problems began when he delivered general comments about immorality during an outdoor sermon. He spoke about adultery, promiscuity and — homosexuality, The Christian Post reported. It was this latter issue that ended up landing Miano, who once served as Los Angeles Deputy Sheriff, in hot water. As he was preaching, a woman who disagreed with his message yelled out that she has a gay son and threatened to call police on Miano and Pastor Josh Williamson, another preacher who accompanied him. "Tony wasn't focusing just on homosexual practice — it was about all sin," Williamson said in a statement distributed by the Christian Legal Centre, a legal group based in London. "A woman was yelling at him and her friend noticed we were filming the preaching, so she ran up to me and tried to smash my camera." The woman then made good on her promise and called the police. When Scottish authorities arrived, they reportedly arrested Miano on the charge of "breach of peace with 'homophobic' aggravation." He was detained after a police officer questioned the woman about what had unfolded, according to the Christian Legal Centre, though police reportedly didn't ask for his side of the story. The pastor, who pleaded not guilty, was later released on bail and is expected to show up to court on April 22, though he is permitted to return to his home in the U.S. in the mean time.

Report: Teacher Tells Student “Jesus Is Not Allowed In School”

Teacher trashes messages a first-grader brought to class referring to Christ, says non-profit group

A school teacher told a first grader that “Jesus is not allowed in school” while tearing off messages reciting a religious legend that the student attached to candy canes he brought for his class, a non-profit group claims.

Each candy cane that first grader Isaiah Martinez brought for his classmates at Merced Elementary came attached with the legend that a candy maker created candy canes to symbolize the life of Jesus Christ, which the teacher reportedly tore off of each cane and threw in the trash under the direction of the school principal.

After telling Martinez that “Jesus is not allowed in school,” the teacher handed him back his candy canes without the messages attached.

“Isaiah then nervously handed the candy canes to his classmates in fear that he was in trouble for trying to bring a little Christmas cheer and ‘good tidings’ to class,” the non-profit group Advocates for Faith & Freedom said in its press release.

The non-profit group demanded that the school in West Covina, California stop “officials from bullying and intimidating Christian and religiously-affiliated students.”

Even the mention of Jesus Christ, who is a noted teacher, will get students in trouble at this school. Credit: waitingfortheword via Flickr

Washington D.C. is the gayest city in the nation — thanks in part to some of the “hunky young pols” on the right.

That is according to the 2014 rundown of the most gay-friendly places in America by The Advocate, a magazine that focuses on gay news and lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender rights.

The magazine cites the city’s “whopping 17 gay officials” as well as its well-known gay-friendly neighborhoods and bars.

It also credits some GOP leaders for helping the city win top billing.

Russia chooses life: bans all abortion advertising

Jan. 6, 2014 (PRI) - Last month, Russian President Vladimir Putin signed a law banning abortion advertising. Some members of the Duma (the Russian state assembly), are talking about going even further and banning the procedure itself. The Russian Orthodox Church, whose numbers are swelling with converts and "reverts," is weighing in as well. One Orthodox prelate called abortion a "mutiny against God." I couldn't have put it better myself.

This is an amazing turn about in a country which has long been known for its tragically high abortion rate. Until recently, the average woman in Russia could expect to have seven abortions over her lifetime. Even The New York Times, no bastion of pro-life sentiment, has been compelled to acknowledge that Russia's high abortion rate was damaging the health and fertility of Russian women. As the paper noted in a 2003 editorial, "Now the Russian government is attempting to slow the abortion rate. It is an admirable goal, given the toll that multiple abortions have taken on the health and fertility of Russia's women." Not to mention the toll that abortion has taken on the unborn, and on the population as a whole.

New York sets 118 Year Record Low, Chicago Breaks 1894 Record

Posted on January 7, 2014

Record low temperatures in New York City - The coldest, most dangerous blast of polar air in decades gripped the country on Tuesday, closing schools and day care centers, grounding flights and forcing people to pull their hoods and scarves tight to protect exposed skin from nearly instant frostbite. Central Park in New York City broke a 118-year old record on Jan. 7 when the temperature dropped to 4 degrees. Strong winds pushed the wind chill well below zero. Central Park had a record low temp of 6° since 1896. The Tuesday temperature was 50 degrees lower than was recorded on Monday. La Guardia Airport in Queens also set a record low of 4 degrees. The old record of 11 degrees for Jan. 7th was set in 1968. Cold temperatures will continue on Tuesday with a high of 10 degrees and wind chills near -10 degrees. Overnight temperatures on Tuesday night will near 5 degrees with wind chills of -10 degrees.

Amtrak stopped running trains into New Jersey out of New York's Penn Station for nearly an hour on Tuesday morning because of signal problems caused by the cold weather. Monday's subzero temperatures broke records in Chicago, which set a record for the date at minus 16, and Fort Wayne, Ind., where the mercury fell to 13 below. Records also fell in Oklahoma and Texas, and wind chills across the region were 40 below and colder. Officials in states like Indiana already struggling with high winds and more than a foot of snow urged residents to stay home if they could. "The cold is the real killer here," Indianapolis Mayor Greg Ballard said Monday as he asked schools and businesses to remain closed another day. "In 10 minutes you could be dead without the proper clothes." Highs in the single digits were expected in Georgia and Alabama, and wind chill warnings stretched as far south as Florida, with forecasts calling for minus 10 in Atlanta and minus 12 in Baltimore. Forecasters said some 187 million people in all could feel the effects of the "polar vortex" by the time it spreads across the country.

Spain's Youth Unemployment Rate Hits 57.7% IBTimes UK

Spain saw its youth unemployment rate rise to a staggering 57.7% in November as the country registered the worse youth jobless rate in the eurozone area.

Eurostat, the statistical information arm of the European Union, also revealed the youth unemployment rate across the eurozone remained steady at 24.2% for the second consecutive month – meaning there were 3.5 million unemployed under-25s across the region.

Record 91.8 Million Americans not in Labor Force

Posted on January 10, 2014

Curious why despite the huge miss in payrolls the unemployment rate tumbled from 7.0% to 6.7%? The reason is because in December the civilian labor force did what it usually does in the New Normal: it dropped from 155.3 million to 154.9 million, which means the labor participation rate just dropped to a fresh 35 year low, hitting levels not seen since 1978, at 62.8% down from 63.0%.

The Number Of Working Age Americans Without A Job Has Risen By Almost 10 Million Under Obama

By Michael Snyder, on January 12th, 2014

That headline is not a misprint. The number of working age Americans that do not have a job has increased by nearly 10 million since Barack Obama first entered the White House. In January 2009, the number of "officially unemployed" workers plus the number of Americans "not in the labor force" was sitting at a grand total of 92.6

million. Today, that number has risen to 102.2 million. That means that the number of working age Americans that are not working has grown by close to 10 million since Barack Obama first took office. So why does the
