والعلامات حتى 1 يوليو 2014

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد حدثت مثل ابن الهلاك وحرب هرمجدون وظهور

الشاهدين وحزقيال 38 وغيره ولا نعرف متى ولكن أشعر انها اقتربت.

ولكن ايضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير وفي الجيل الأخير

بدأت تحدث بوضوح ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. فلا نعرف هل المسيح سيأتي في سنة ام سبع سنين ام

سبعين سنة أم أكثر فكرر لا احدد مواعيد وارفض من يحددون ولكن نذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان

نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون

عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى

نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في

مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقه اقتربت جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت

في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذاري انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعته سابقا. فأكرر لا نحدد المواعيد ولكن أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقرب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقرب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

فيجب علينا ان نذكر الكل بالاستعداد والتوبة من الان حتى لو كان سيتأخر فقد نسلم وديعتنا في اي وقت

بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات تتزعزع

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

وايضا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَانْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.».

Big Earthquakes Double in 2014, But They're Not Linked

By Becky Oskin, Senior Writer
2 hours ago

If you think there have been more earthquakes than usual this year, you're right. A new study finds there were more than twice as many big earthquakes in the first quarter of 2014 as compared with the average since 1979.

"We have recently experienced a period that has had one of the highest rates of great earthquakes ever recorded," said lead study author Tom Parsons, a research geophysicist with the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) in Menlo Park, California.

Earthquakes larger than magnitude-7 since 2000.

E' un vero disastro ambientale nell'oasi di interesse comunitario per l'alto valore della flora e della fauna, che "ospita" nelle vicinanze le centrali a biogas. L'area interessata è di una ventina di ettari, una vasca si è svuotata, così i pesci, soprattutto carpe, sono morti per mancanza di ossigeno. I residenti hanno subito avvertito l'odore nauseante, ma hanno avuto la prova di quanto stava accadendo quando le foto sono state diffuse sui social network.

Fishes dying in Ambazari lake, but no one to take responsibility

NAGPUR: In another indication of the threats to environment around us, fishes are dying on a large scale in the Ambazari lake. Shockingly, Nagpur Municipal Corporation (NMC) and Maharashtra Pollution Control Board (MPCB) are yet to take cognisance despite the phenomenon coming to light on Saturday. The greens have expressed the fear that pollution levels in the lake have reached a new high.

Once the major drinking water source for the city, Ambazari lake water is still utilized for drinking purposes by some villages, and by manufacturers of some famous soft drinks and bottled drinking water. Many citizens also enjoy swimming in the lake almost everyday. A large number of cattle and birds too are dependent upon the lake for water.

A visit to the lake over the weekend revealed a gory picture. A large number of dead fishes could be seen on the bank of the lake near Ambazari Garden and the embankment along Ambazari Layout. Many of the fishes are big in size, hinting at some serious problem with the lake's water.

Social activist NL Sawarkar told TOI that morning walkers like him have been seeing more and more dead fishes over the last three days. "Some fishes were found dead on Saturday. The number of fishes on the bank increased to a great extent on Sunday and Monday. A bad smell is now emanating from the dead fish. NMC operates a garden adjacent to the lake. But no one from NMC has taken cognisance and initiated preventive measures," he said.

Fish began floating to the surface of Sterling

Lake on Tuesday in what has become a significant fish kill at this popular summer locale.

"They were pulling out humongous catfish; some were over 15 pounds," Sterling resident Deb Oden said. Those fish were alive and taken to the river.

"The ducks are doing a nice job with cleanup," Oden said.

While Oden saw many fish saved – such as bass, flatheads, perch, carp and shad – by the quick action of local residents, probably thousands died from what city officials described as an excessive growth of naturally occurring green algae.

"The water is not deemed to be dangerous and is not believed to be part of a group of other lakes in the state affected by blue-green algae," said City Manager Taggart Wall. "Fish kills often result from natural events, particularly too little oxygen in the water."

Officials from Sterling contacted the Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism, which AGRA: Thousands of dead fish have been found floating at Samgor ghat of river Yamuna in Etmadpur area of Agra over the past few days. Locals and environmentalists have blamed the death to rising pollution in the river water. However, a team of Uttar Pradesh Pollution Control Board (UPPCB) which collected water samples from the ghat for testing blamed fisher deaths, saying they had probably mixed chemicals in water to catch fish.

Locals at Etmadpur alleged that fish and aquatic animals have been dying at the ghat. The quality there is highly toxic with extremely low dissolve oxygen (DO) level. "The problem is compounded the problem as the river has dried up. The river looks like a 'nullah' these days," said Kavita Shukla, a resident of Etmadpur.

Locals said the authorities seem to have turned a blind eye to the discharge of sewage and industrial effluents from towns upstream. Steps need to be taken immediately to clean and release fresh water into it, they added.

Added to this are the open drains in the city that discharge both domestic and industrial effluents into the river, said Virendra Sahoo, a resident who lives near Samgor ghat.

UPPCB official VB Awasthi said it would be unfair to draw any conclusion before getting more reports of the water. The officials accepted that Yamuna's water quality is deteriorating, passing day. He added that fishermen are very active in Etmadpur area and this could be an illegal fishing activity.

At least a Million dead fish found in Georgetown County

By Julie Roy - email

North Inlet-Winyah Bay - At least a million fish carcasses line the banks and water ways of the Winyah Bay in Georgetown County after a massive fish kill occurred earlier this week.

Officials with the South Carolina Department of Natural Resources were on the scene and said it was one of the largest fish kills they had seen.

"It was up to a million animals; certainly hundreds of thousands," said Dean Cane

Cane is a marine biologist with DNR.

He spent Friday making sure the fish kill was a contained event.

Hundreds of thousands of fish all dying at one time in a body of water that is frequented by recreational boaters and fishers raises a lot of questions.

So News 13 asked Cane if people should be worried by the kill.

Tokyo region battered by storms, severe hail

Tokyo and surrounding regions were hit with some extreme weather on June 24, as heavy rain, lightning storms and severe hail hit the area.

The Japan Meteorological Agency has said that the wild weather is being stirred up by extreme temperature differences between warm ground-level air and a cold air mass -- measured at minus 12 degrees Celsius and below -- sitting about 5,500 meters above the national capital region.

According to local residents in the Tokyo metropolitan cities of Mitaka and Chofu, several dozen centimeters of 10-yen-coin-sized hailstones fell on the area in the space of about an hour starting from around 3 p.m. Locals also said that the mix of heavy rain and hail formed whirlpools of ice and water in some places.

A residential street in Chofu, Tokyo, is seen after the area was blanketed by hail on June 24, 2014. (Mainichi)

Meanwhile, two Yokohama men were hospitalized with severe injuries after they were likely hit by lightning. One man in Ishioka, Ibaraki Prefecture, was also taken to hospital with symptoms consistent with electrocution from lightning strikes. Lightning was observed over a wide area on June 24, and Tokyo Electric Power Co. has stated that some 11,600 households in Kanagawa, Ibaraki and Chiba prefectures lost power.

President Vladimir Putin has proposed that the upper house call off the March 1 resolution allowing the head of state to use the armed forces on the territory of Ukraine, said presidential press secretary Dmitry Peskov.

"Because of the beginning of the three-party talks to settle down the situation in the eastern parts of Ukraine, the head of state has addressed to the Federation Council to repeal the resolution on the use of Russian armed forces on the territory of Ukraine," ITAR-TASS cited Peskov as saying.

The president sent an address to Federation Council Valentina Matvienko today morning, ahead of leaving on official visit to Vienna.

RUSSIA PREPARES FOR AN "EXPECTED U.S. NUCLEAR ATTACK"

In response to the Obama Administration's Ukrainian coup that replaced the democratically elected pro-Russian President of Russia's neighboring country by a regime that is seeking to join NATO and become a base for U.S. nuclear missiles, Russia is girding for America's expected attack. BurkoNews, an organization of journalists based in Crimea, headlined on 22 June 2014, "Why Is Russia Preparing for the Nuclear War?" and reported: "From the middle of May to early June 2014, the Russian Federation [i.e., 'Russia'] undertook two large command-staff exercises testing the realization of a local nuclear attack. According to military experts there were never such dense and extensive testing scenarios of nuclear war even in the Soviet Union. ... The 12th General Directorate of the Ministry of Defense, which is the most secret department, was involved in the exercises." Previously, the present reporter had headlined "Why Ukraine's Civil War Is of Global Historical Importance" and explained the connection between America's coup in Ukraine in February 2014 and America's re-start of the anti-Soviet Cold War. ## NATO Warns Russia Over Ukraine as Obama Mulls Delaying Sanctions

Combined Reports | Jun. 25 2014 17:06 | Last edited 17:06

East Ukrainian refugees taking temporary shelter in a school building in the Russian village of Griqoropol'sskaya.

The head of NATO said Wednesday he saw no sign that Russia was respecting its international commitments over Ukraine as Britain warned Moscow it could face tougher European Union sanctions unless it acted to stop fighting in eastern Ukraine.

Meanwhile, sanctions aimed at key economic sectors in Russia because of its threatening moves in Ukraine might be delayed because of positive signals from President Vladimir Putin, according to Obama administration officials.

Sector Sanctions

The United States and its European allies were finalizing a package of sanctions with the goal of putting them in place as early as this week, the officials and others close to the process said Tuesday.

Penalizing large swaths of the Russian economy, including its lucrative energy industry, would ratchet up the West's punishments against Moscow.

The U.S. and Europe have already sanctioned Russian individuals and entities, including some with close ties to Putin, but have so far stayed away from the broader penalties, in part because of concern from European countries that have close economic ties with Russia.

But with the crisis in Ukraine stretching on, a senior U.S. official said the U.S. and Europe are moving forward on "common sanctions options" that would affect several areas of the Russian economy. A Western diplomat said those options included Russia's energy industry, as well as Moscow's access to world financial markets.

The U.S. and Europe have been eyeing a European Council meeting in Brussels later this week as an opportunity to announce the coordinated sanctions. However, the enthusiasm for new sanctions, particularly among European leaders, appears to have waned in recent days as countries evaluate whether Putin plans to follow through on a series of promises that could ease the crisis, officials said.

THE United States has warned Russia it has only "hours" to prove it is helping disarm Ukrainian insurgents, whose tenuous truce with Kiev is due to expire by the weekend.

IZVARYNE, Ukraine — As a shaky cease-fire in the east entered its final hours Thursday, thousands of Ukrainians in cars stuffed with belongings lined up at the border to cross into Russia, some vowing never to return.

Many said they were most frightened for their children and desperate to take them to safety.

Also on Thursday, four of eight observers from the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe who were held hostage in eastern Ukraine were released, the organization said in a news release.

DF-41 missile can wipe out 3 US cities in one attack: report

Staff Reporter | 2014-06-26 | 16:43 (GMT+8)

China's DF-41 solid-fueled road-mobile intercontinental ballistic missile is capable of wiping out three American cities in just one attack, according to the Kanwa Defense Review, operated by Canadian military analyst Andrei Chang, also known as Pinkov.

With an attack range of between 11,500-12,000 kilometers, the article said that the DF-41 missile is capable of reaching any target within the continental United States.

From the missile base in northwestern China's Gansu province, the distance to Washington is 11,856 km, to New York is 11,667 km and to Los Angeles is 11,127 km. From Henan in central China, the distance a missile would travel to reach Washington would be 11,982 km, to New York would be 11,815 km and to Los Angeles would be 10,911 km.

From Qinghai in western China, the distance to Washington is 11,597 km, to New York it is 11,390 km and to Los Angeles it is 11,126 km. From Jilin in northeastern China, the distance to Florida is about 11,598 km.

North Korea launches three newly developed projectiles into East Sea

Updated: 2014-08-27 PM 10:55:11 (KST)

North Korea claimed Friday that the three projectiles its fired into the East Sea on Thursday were newly developed state-of-the-art precision guided missiles.

North Korean leader Kim Jong-un was at the scene on Thursday and watched over the launch process.

The missiles were airborne for around 190 kilometers before landing in waters between North Korea and Japan.

The projectiles bear a similarity to North Korea's KN-09 missiles but the maximum range was 40 kilometers further than a KN-09.

"The primary goal of North Koreans serial activities threatening other neighboring countries especially Seoul and Washington is to destabilize or solidify Kim Jong-un regime's survival. They want to make new pressure for getting TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An attack near Iran's western border with Iraq has killed three Iranian border guards, the semi-official Fars news agency reported on Wednesday.

The troops were killed on Tuesday night while patrolling along the border in western Kermanshah province. A border outpost commander was among those killed, Fars quoted a local security official, Shahriar Heidari, as saying.

Heidari said an unspecified "terrorist group" was behind the attack but provided no details.

Syrian warplanes bombed Sunni militants' positions inside Iraq, military officials confirmed Wednesday, deepening the concerns that the extremist insurgency that spans the two neighboring countries could morph into an even wider regional conflict. U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry warned against the threat and said other nations should stay out.

Meanwhile, a new insurgent artillery offensive against Christian villages in the north of Iraq sent thousands of Christians fleeing from their homes, seeking sanctuary in Kurdish-controlled territory, Associated Press reporters who witnessed the scene said.

The United States government and a senior Iraqi military official confirmed that Syrian warplanes bombed militants' positions Tuesday in and near the border crossing in the town of Qaim. Iraq's other neighbors — Jordan, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and Turkey — were all bolstering flights just inside their airspace to monitor the situation, said the Iraqi official, who spoke on condition of anonymity because he was not authorized to speak to the media.

American officials said the target was the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant, the Sunni extremist group that has seized large swathes of Iraq and seeks to carve out a purist Islamic enclave across both sides of the Syria-Iraq border.

"We've made it clear to everyone in the region that we don't need anything to take place that might exacerbate the sectarian divisions that are already at a heightened level of tension," Kerry said, speaking in Brussels at a meeting of diplomats from NATO nations. "It's already important that nothing take place that contributes to the extremism or could act as a flash point with respect to the sectarian divide."

Meanwhile, two U.S. officials said Iran has been flying surveillance drones in Iraq, controlling them from an airfield in Baghdad. The officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity because they weren't authorized to discuss the issue publicly, said they believe the drones are surveillance aircraft only, but they could not rule out that they may be armed.

ISIS TERROR THREAT TO US TARGETS 'HIGH,' SAY OFFICIALS

Number of potential U.S. targets in the region – meaning U.S. military personnel – has increased

by NBC NEWS | JUNE 30, 2014

ISIS, the Islamist terror group that now controls much of Syria and Iraq, poses an “extremely high” terror threat to U.S. targets, and has the bomb-making skills and foreign fighters needed to strike U.S. and other Western interests, according to multiple U.S. intelligence officials.

“While trying to rank threats or compare them to previous threat periods is a hazardous endeavor,” said one former U.S. counterterrorism official, “the current threat coming out of ISIS — and Syria more broadly — is extremely high.” While the opposition in Syria and Iraq is diverse, said the official, there are “sub elements” within it that are “especially worrisome because of their commitment to attack the West.” Another senior counterterrorism official added that in recent weeks, “ISIS has accumulated tens of millions in wealth, large amounts of military equipment and ordnance, and has expanded the safe haven in which it operates.” During this same period, the number of potential U.S. targets in the region -- meaning U.S. military personnel — has increased. Both officials noted, however, that ISIS leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi is currently preoccupied with building an Islamic state across a broad swath of Iraq and Syria, not attacking the U.S. at home or abroad. “It’s not his focus right now,” said the second official, even though “al-Baghdadi’s rhetoric alone would suggest that he does have ... international ambitions.” Read more

The Obama administration announced Friday, June 27, that unmanned aerial vehicles flying over Baghdad would henceforth be armed in order to defend the US Embassy in the Green Zone. The embassy was originally assigned the tasks of guardian of Iraq's central government and symbol of post-Saddam national unity. These roles have remained out of reach ever since the Americans invaded Iraq in 2003. Today, the armed drones overhead are reduced to holding back the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIS) and its local Sunni allies from overrunning the Green Zone and seizing the embassy, most of whose 5,000 staff were evacuated as a precaution. President Barack Obama has again decreed that no US soldiers will take part in combat in Iraq. Therefore, American military personnel on the ground will be there to guide the drones to their targets.

Those targets were defined Saturday, June 28, by Gen. Martin Dempsey, Chairman of the US Joint Chiefs of Staff, as striking at ISIS leaders and defending Iraq's strategic facilities. He did not elaborate.

DEBKAfile reports that he was referring to the Haditha dam on the Euphrates. ISIS fighters have been battered the town of Haditha on and off for some days.

Its dam is the key to the water supply of most of Iraq, including Baghdad. With its capture, Al Qaeda's affiliates will have gained control of northern Iraq's oil refineries and pipeline networks.

US Secretary of State John Kerry in Jordan Friday laid out another piece of the Iraq-Syria imbroglio. He estimated that the Syrian rebel recruits enlisted from among the nearly one million Syrian refugees sheltering in Jordan could be deployed in Iraq for fighting ISIS.

More than 800 Taliban insurgents have launched a major offensive in southern Afghanistan to try to gain territory recently vacated by US troops, officials said Wednesday, with 40 civilians killed in five days of fighting.

About 100 Taliban have been killed, according to the interior ministry, in clashes that erupted as Afghanistan wrestled with a political crisis over alleged fraud in the June 14 election to choose a successor to President Hamid Karzai.

Local officials in Helmand province said that 800 militants were involved in attacks centred on the Sangin district of Helmand province, a hotbed of fighting during the 13-year insurgency.

The last US troops pulled out of Sangin only last month, handing over their remaining bases to Afghan soldiers and police who have now taken over responsibility for tackling the fierce Taliban insurgency.

Iraq's Prime Minister Nouri Maliki has told the BBC that he hopes jets from Russia and Belarus will turn the tide against rebels in the coming days.

"God willing within one week this force will be effective and will destroy the terrorists' dens," he said.

He said that the process of buying US jets had been "long-winded" and that the militants' advance could have been avoided if air cover had been in place.

King Abdullah calls up Saudi armed forces on high preparedness. Egyptian troops ready to fly to kingdom

DEBKAFfile Exclusive Report June 26, 2014, 6:49 PM (GMT+02:00)

Thursday, June 26, the day before US Secretary of State John Kerry was due in Riyadh, King Abdullah summoned a National Security Council meeting "upon the current security events in the region, especially in Iraq," and ordered "all necessary measures to protect the kingdom against terrorist threats." This meant a general call-up of military units for a high level of preparedness.

debkafle's military sources disclose that Egypt is assembling an expeditionary commando force to fly to Saudi Arabia and bolster its border defenses.

This flurry of Saudi-Egyptian military steps comes in the wake of intelligence gathered by Saudi reconnaissance planes showing Iraqi Al Qaeda-linked Sunni fighters (ISIS) heading for the Saudi border and aiming to seize control of the Iraqi-Saudi crossing at Ar Ar (pop: 200,000).

ISIS and its Sunni allies are still on the march after capturing Iraq's border crossings with Syria and Jordan earlier this week.

On Wednesday, Kerry warned Mideast nations against taking new military action in Iraq that might heighten sectarian divisions.

By then, he had been overtaken by a rush of events, as debkafle reported this morning.

When the first of the 300 military advisers US President Barack Obama promised the Iraqi government arrived in Baghdad Wednesday, June 25, Iranian and Saudi Arabian arms shipments were already in full flow to opposing sides in embattled Iraq, debkafle's military sources report.

At least two cargo planes from bases in Iran were landing daily at Baghdad's military airport, carrying 150 tons of military equipment. More than 1,000 tons were flown in this past week alone. Tehran has replicated for the Iraqi army the routine it established for Bashar Assad's army, furnishing its needs on a daily basis as per its commanders' requests. Those requests come before a joint Iranian-Iraqi headquarters set up at the Iraqi high command in Baghdad for approval and the assigning of priorities for shipment.

At the same time, Saudi arms are flowing to the Iraqi Sunni tribes fighting alongside the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIS) against the Iraqi army and the Shiite Nouri al-Maliki's government.

Islamists fighting for Boko Haram are leaving their forest hiding places after a number of senior militants died as a result of relentless attacks by snakes and bees, it has been claimed.

Two suspected Boko Haram gunmen arrested in Maiduguri in north eastern Nigeria claimed that members of the group have now fled the Sambisa Forest, close to the border with Cameroon, following 'incessant snake bites' and bee stings.

Nigeria's army have been trying to flush the militants out the area for months, but it appears they are now leaving voluntarily in the belief the attacks are the spirits of their victims haunting them.

Wenzhou City, China – Christians are vowing to stand firm for Christ amid much persecution by officials in a Chinese province where church buildings continue to be demolished, and where believers in a recent video can be seen bursting into tearful song about the cross and how their sins were washed away by the blood of Jesus while the cross atop their building is forcibly removed.

Within a week after pastors and church members from various congregations wrote objections concerning the ongoing abuse in a published letter to the government in Wenzhou City, which is located in the country's Zhejiang Province, authorities removed the cross on the roof of Yahui Church in the city.

Church members were also threatened with harm if they talked to the media or petitioned Beijing, according to a report by International Christian Concern \(ICC\).

The public letter, which the Chinese government has since blocked the content of on websites within mainland China, listed eight reasons why “the anti-church campaign is an abnormally illegal administrative action that is abusing authority and ignoring the rule of law.”

However, the government's demolition teams usually show up at churches in the middle of the night, without legal documents, and began the demolition process under the cover of darkness.

In addition, Chinese Christians argued that, even if a cross is illegal, the law demands that the demolition team should be from the Religious Bureau or the Housing and City Planning Bureau. However, the demolition team is usually made up of unidentified personnel, police, and SWAT—a clear violation of procedure and the rights of the believers.

It is reported that over 360 churches in Zhejiang Province have been completely or partially demolished under the guise of “removing or modifying illegal constructions.” The government of Zhejiang Province says it is removing or modifying illegal buildings for urban development.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — A New York federal district judge ruled on Tuesday that a public school was justified in forcing a Christian science teacher to remove personal Bible-themed materials from her classroom.

As previously reported, Joelle Silver works as a high school teacher for the Cheektowaga Central School District near Buffalo. Silver, a Christian, displayed several inspirational posters and artworks in her classroom, including a number of Bible verse references and Christian materials.

One poster in Silver's classroom included a quote from former President Ronald Reagan:

"Without God there is no virtue because there is no prompting of the conscience," the quote said. "... Without God there is a coarsening of the society; without God democracy will not and cannot long endure ... If we ever forget that we are One Nation Under God, then we will be a Nation gone under."

Other religious materials in the classroom included a drawing of three crosses on a hill, four small posters featuring verses from Psalms, and several sticky notes with biblical citations stuck on Silver's desk.

In 2012, representatives with the Freedom From Religion Foundation learned of Silver's Christian materials and swiftly complained to school district officials. Soon afterward, Silver received a warning letter from the school superintendent advising her to cleanse her classroom of the Christian materials.

"I ... want to caution you that your Constitutional Rights, including those you enjoy under the First Amendment, are not without their limitations," the superintendent warned in the letter.

"It is my conclusion that you are using your publicly funded classroom to express your personal religious beliefs to your students," he wrote, "including but not limited to your apparent belief in the divine inspiration and authority of the Bible as the word of God."

The superintendent ordered Silver to remove all of her religious materials or else face the termination of her job at the school.

DENVER (AP) — A federal appeals court ruled for the first time Wednesday that gay couples have a constitutional right to marry, extending the movement's legal winning streak and bringing the issue a big step closer to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The three-judge panel in Denver ruled 2-1 that states cannot deprive people of the fundamental right to marry simply because they choose a partner of the same sex.

The court dismissed as "wholly illogical" the notion that allowing gays to wed could somehow undermine traditional marriage.

The decision by the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel upheld a lower-court ruling that struck down Utah's gay marriage ban. It becomes law in the six states covered by the 10th Circuit: Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Utah and Wyoming. But the panel immediately put the ruling on hold pending an appeal.

The Utah attorney general's office planned to appeal, but it was assessing whether to go directly to the U.S. Supreme Court or ask the entire 10th Circuit to review the ruling, spokeswoman Missy Larsen said.

Gay Pride Parade Sponsorship On The Rise Among Corporations

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — In between muscular men in speedos gyrating to thumping dance music and drag queens decked out in formal gowns, Salt Lake City's gay pride parade also featured a few, more conventional participants: Some of America's most well-known companies.

From Starbucks to eBay to Macy's, the increasing visibility of corporations at the parade in Utah and at others across the country in recent years comes as same-sex marriage bans fall in the courts and polls show greater public acceptance of gay marriage.

In that climate, companies are finding that the benefits of sponsorship outweigh the risks of staying away, giving them a chance to make a statement in support of diversity and use it to help recruit and retain top talent who want to work for a business that supports LGBT rights.

"We understand there are people who might have different points of view on that," said spokesman Michael Palese at Chrysler, which has been a sponsor of the Motor City Pride Festival and Parade in Detroit, Michigan, for years and became a primary backer this spring.

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Gay pride parades held around the U.S. Sunday drew huge crowds of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender people and their supporters who celebrated after a year of numerous same-sex marriage victories.

As many as 1 million people packed the streets of the Chicago's North Side for the first gay pride parade since Illinois legalized gay marriage last month.

"I think there is definitely like an even more sense of pride now knowing that in Illinois you can legally get married now," said Charlie Gurion, who with David Wilk in February became the first couple in Cook County to get a same-sex marriage license. "I think it is a huge thing, and everybody's over the moon that they can do it now."

Seeking to mobilize a global front against anti-gay violence and discrimination, Vice President Joe Biden declared Tuesday that protecting gay rights is a defining mark of a civilized nation and must trump national cultures and social traditions.

Biden told a gathering of U.S. and international gay rights advocates that President Barack Obama has directed that U.S. diplomacy and foreign assistance promote the rights of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender men and women around the world.

"I don't care what your culture is," Biden told about 100 guests at the Naval Observatory's vice presidential mansion. "Inhumanity is inhumanity. Prejudice is prejudice is prejudice."

With anti-gay laws taking root in nearly 80 countries, Biden and other top White House officials met with religious, human rights and HIV health care advocates in a forum dedicated to promoting gay rights internationally.

Biden, who has emerged as a leading gay rights advocate within the Obama administration ever since he got ahead of Obama in declaring his support for gay marriage, said that across U.S. government agencies officials have been instructed to make the promotion of gay rights abroad a priority.

Where countries fail to move toward protections of LGBT people, he warned, "there is a price to pay for being inhumane." Among those at the evening reception were leading gay rights activists and the ambassadors from Britain, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland.

Earlier Tuesday, White House National Security Adviser Susan Rice cast the protection of gays from global discrimination, abuse and even death as one of the most challenging international human rights issue facing the United States. Biden called gay rights "the civil rights issue of our day."

If evolution is about the advancement of a population through reproduction, shouldn't evolutionists be opposed to homosexuality? (Original image credit: imageZebra/Shutterstock)

The "lifestyle left" has waged a war against the unborn, the institution of marriage, freedom of conscience and the standards of civilization and tradition. With the talk of politicians "evolving" to support same-sex "marriage," it is now waging a war against science and language as well.

In a testy exchange with NPR's Terry Gross last week, Hillary Clinton said that she now supports gay "marriage," because she and her fellow Americans had "evolved" on the issue.

The use of that word, "evolved" in the public debate of homosexuality has become ubiquitous. Since then numerous public figures including Alaska Republican Senator Lisa Murkowski, South Dakota Democratic Senator Tim Johnson, and former Homeland Security Secretary Tom Ridge have said they have "evolved." Secular progressives seem to use that syntax as a subtle form of self-congratulation, designed to contrast themselves with Christians hesitant to redefine an institution that predates written history.

Is the 'Gay Gene' a Myth? Scientists Say Homosexuality Impossible to Determine by DNA

CHICAGO – The results of a comprehensive scientific study released earlier this year suggest that homosexuality cannot be directly traced to a 'gay gene,' but is instead dependent on a variety of factors, including environmental and social influences.

Pro-homosexual activists have long claimed that homosexuality and abnormal "sexual orientations" are primarily caused by genetic factors. They argue that individuals with a hereditary "gay gene" are predisposed toward same-sex attractions and thus unable to appreciate traditional marriages.

However, scientific findings released earlier this year during the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Chicago call this premise into question. During the meeting,

Michael Bailey of Northwestern University unveiled comprehensive research results which suggest that genetics alone do not determine "sexual orientation."

In his research, Bailey and other scientists examined the DNA of 400 men who described themselves as homosexual. Ultimately, the researchers concluded that homosexuality cannot be traced to specific genes.

▶ "The genes were neither sufficient, nor necessary, to make any of the men gay," wrote Ian Sample, science correspondent for The Guardian.

The findings show that it is impossible to accurately predict a person's sexual behavior by solely examining DNA.

"The flawed thinking behind a genetic test for sexual orientation is clear from studies of twins, which show that the identical twin of a gay man, who carries an exact replica of his brother's DNA, is more likely to be straight than gay," The Guardian article continues. "That means even a perfect genetic test that picked up every gene linked to sexual orientation would still be less effective than flipping a coin."

A collection of over 100 of the world's communist, Islamist, and socialist tyrants, along with some elected but mostly corrupt Third World regimes, gathered in Bolivia at the G77 plus China summit to demand what they called a "New World Order to Live Well." United Nations boss Ban Ki-moon joined the anti-American, anti-freedom, anti-national sovereignty, anti-free market festivities, calling on the assembled rulers — the biggest bloc at the UN — to keep pushing "sustainable development" and global-warming alarmism with the goal of foisting global governance on humanity. Despite its significance, the historic 50th anniversary G77 summit went largely unnoticed in the establishment press.

In their final declaration, signed by more than 130 rulers from around the world, the regimes called for what amounts to global tyranny, central planning, and massive wealth redistribution from Western taxpayers to oppressive Third World governments. Everything must be in "harmony" with "Mother Earth" under a "sustainable" UN "international climate change regime," they said. From a stronger UN better able to implement its "mandates" to empowering the UN General Assembly as an "emblem of global sovereignty" and advancing a global reserve currency run by the IMF, the radical screed demands a dramatic planetary transformation.

"We fully respect the principles and purposes of the Charter of the United Nations and international law, particularly as they relate to equality among States," the regimes said in the final agreement, calling for the "strengthening" of the UN for a wide variety of purposes. "We recognize that the United Nations needs to improve its capabilities and capacities to fully implement its mandates and to ensure the effective delivery of its programs in the social and economic development fields." The agreement, dubbed the "Declaration of Santa Cruz: For a New World Order for Living Well," also called for empowering the despot-dominated UN General Assembly to be a sort of veto-proof planetary legislature.

The Natural Gas Sector in Israel

Israel, like many countries around the world, is encouraging a transition to natural gas as the primary energy source, with the many advantages it offers the consumer, the economy and the environment: reduced cost of electricity generation and of industrial products, less air pollution and greenhouse gas emissions, greater market competition and promotion of exports, and strengthening of Israel's economy, etc.

Use of natural gas started in Israel as of 2004, mainly by the Israel Electric Corporation and by very large industrial plants. The Natural Gas Authority in the Ministry of Energy and Water Resources is taking steps to promote the distribution of natural gas to smaller consumers as well. Over the next few years, low-pressure natural gas infrastructures will be developed, which will make it a readily available and accessible source of energy for small industrial plants and for businesses such as hotels, launderettes, and restaurants, etc.

Development of the Natural Gas Sector in Israel

The Israeli economy has, in recent years, undergone significant changes in terms of fuels. Within the space of a few years, natural gas has become the primary, preferred fuel for electricity generation and for major industries, yielding savings of NIS 20 billion for the economy, alongside a significant reduction in emissions of pollutants due to the declining use of oil and coal. Vast gas reserves found off the coast of Israel are helping to encourage energy initiatives based on natural gas.

In 2010, Israel consumed 5.3 BCM of natural gas, of which 90% went to electricity generation. Yam Thetis supplied approximately 60% of consumption, with the remainder supplied by Egyptian gas company EMG. In 2010, 40% of electricity in Israel was generated from natural gas, leading to savings of 1.4 billion dollars for the economy. By 2015, the rate of natural gas consumption is expected to rise to 50%. At the same time, natural gas production from new reserves will be increased, and the transmission and distribution systems will be upgraded.

Supply of natural gas from Egypt commenced in 2008, following an agreement signed between the Government of Egypt and the Government of Israel for the supply of up to 7 BCM (billion cubic meters) of natural gas per year over a 20-year period. The natural gas flows through a submarine pipeline from El Arish to a reception facility adjacent to Ashkelon and is intended to serve as the primary energy source until natural gas starts flowing from the Tamar field, expected to happen in 2013.

The policy of the Natural Gas Authority at the Ministry of Energy and Water Resources is based on continued growth in demand and the economy's transition to natural gas consumption. The highlights of the policy are securing a steady supply, issuing licenses for infrastructure development, encouraging competition, establishing safety criteria and tariffs, and ensuring consumer protection.

وهذا سيشعل الموقف بين اسرائيل وروسيا

فالاضطهاد يزيد والاضطراب يزيد والفساد الأخلاقي يزيد والاحاد يزيد

فلهذا أقول المسيح اقترب ميعاد مجيؤه لا احدد مواعيد بل ارفض من يحدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب

شيئين

الأول نصلي ونستعد ونعد زيت لمصابيحنا لاستقبال العريس بالصلاة والصوم وخدمة أبناء الله

وتنقية القلب والاستعداد بلبس العرس.

أفسس 6: 15 وَحَازِينَ أَرْجُلَكُمْ بِاسْتِعْدَادٍ إِنِّجِيلِ السَّلَامِ .

رسالة بولس الرسول الي أهل رومية 13

13: 11 هذا وأنكم عارفون الوقت انها الان ساعة لنستيقظ من النوم فان خلاصنا الان أقرب مما

كان حين امنا

13: 12 قد تناهى الليل وتقارب النهار فلنخلع اعمال الظلمة ونلبس اسلحة النور

13: 13 لنسلك بلباقة كما في النهار لا بالبطر والسكر لا بالمضاجع والعهر لا بالخصام والحسد

13: 14 بل البسوا الرب يسوع المسيح ولا تصنعوا تدبيرا للجسد لأجل الشهوات

احترس ان لم تتمسك بالمسيح من الان قد لا تستطيع في المستقبل القريب بسبب الظلام.

الثاني لا نخاف

بطرس الأولى 3: 14

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوهُ،

بل نفرح

رسالة بولس الرسول إلى أهل فيلبي 4: 4

افرحوا في الرب كل حين، وأقول أيضا: افرحوا.

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان يريد أن نفقد سلامنا ولا ننال أكاليل.

وأیضا استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك 150 ألف شخص يموتوا في اليوم الواحد

انت لا تعرف متى ستكون منهم

المسيح اقترب فاصنعوا ثمار تليق بالتوبة واستعدوا لاستقبال العريس.
