والعلامات حتى 9 سبتمبر 2014

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا

بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه یوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن

الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن ایضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها

في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح ويجب أن ننتبه

اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد

ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل ایضا قبل الظلمة التي

ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان

نعبر هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه.

بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان عامل

وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في

مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت جدا ومن لن

يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة
لان وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان
أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما
جمعتة سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان
لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا
وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب
وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد
ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي
المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين
جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا
بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون

Earth is about to have a close encounter with a house-sized asteroid on Sunday (Sept. 7), when a space rock discovered just days ago will zoom by our planet at a range closer than some satellites. But have no fear, NASA says the asteroid won't hit Earth.

The asteroid 2014 RC will safely buzz Earth at 2:18 p.m. EDT (1818 GMT) on Sunday. At that time, the asteroid will pass over New Zealand and fly just inside the orbits of the geosynchronous communications and weather satellites orbiting Earth about 22,000 miles (36,000 kilometers) above the planet's surface, according to a NASA statement. During its close pass, 2014 RC will be about 21.126 miles (34,000 km) from Earth's surface.

India Pakistan flood toll passes 200

Indian troops have been deployed to help rescue operations

More than 200 people have been killed in flooding caused by heavy rain across large swathes of India and Pakistan, reports say.

At least 110 people were killed by downpours in Pakistani-administered Kashmir and Punjab, officials said.

About 100 people also died in Indian-administered Kashmir, as the floodwaters washed away houses and triggered landslides, officials said.

Phoenix Declares State of Emergency from Extreme Flooding

A massive storm drenched the Valley with record rainfall early Monday morning, turning freeways into lakes and forcing the closure of highways, streets and schools throughout the region. Gov. Jan Brewer ordered non-essential state employees to stay home Monday and she declared a "statewide emergency for areas impacted by today's severe rainfall and flooding." The storms prompted Phoenix Mayor Greg Stanton to declare a state of emergency for the city, an action that allows multiple city departments to operate and respond from one location. Stanton said the emergency management team will work "around the clock" to monitor the situation and deploy the necessary resources to areas of the community that were hit the hardest. "Last night the city of Phoenix and our entire regions saw levels of rainfall we haven't seen in nearly a century," Stanton said at a media briefing late Monday morning. "...Thank God there have been no fatalities as a result of this historic rainfall and flooding." More

Iceland Volcano Eruptions Displays Apocalyptic Scene

A volcanic eruption has created an almost post-apocalyptic landscape in Iceland. Streams of lava are spewing out, reminiscent of Mount Doom in Lord of the Rings. And there is still a significant risk to air traffic, with the current 'Orange' warning. The Orange level, is the second highest on a five-color scale. So far no ash has been visible, but this could change. Lava fountains rose to around 50 meters on Sunday at the Bardarbunga volcano, which took the aviation warning to red, the highest on the scale. There has been a lot of seismic activity in the area and Einar Heinsson, a spokesman from Iceland's department of civil protections says, "The eruption is still going on at the same pace as before. It has been continuous." For Full Story with Link click on video below

这段民心河漂着一层死鱼

2014年09月01日 11:39 燕赵晚报 评论中大奖 (0人参与) 收藏本文

本报讯（记者 董昌）昨日，省会石风路民心河部分河段漂浮着很多死鱼，让沿河遛弯儿的市民大叫可惜。城市河道水系管理处称，死鱼与前几天的那场大雨有关，他们将尽快清理河面。

昨日5时许，天还没有大亮，李先生前往石风路附近的民心河边散步，隐约看到河面上泛着一层白。等着天渐渐变亮后，李先生才发现，河面上泛起的白色，竟是一层死鱼。“漂浮的死鱼，以鱼苗居多，看着十分可惜。”李先生说。

昨日9时30分，记者在现场看到，槐安路两侧的河面上都漂浮着很多像柳树叶一样的小鱼，最长的也只有十余厘米。“以前从没见过这么多死鱼，今早遛弯儿时见着了，吓了一跳。”市民王大爷说，在民心河边遛弯儿就是为了风景好，可没想到遇到了这样的事儿。

昨日下午，城市河道水系管理处工作人员说，死鱼与前几天突如其来的那场大雨有关。暴雨过后，防汛部门启动了应急预案，要求民心河沿线打开多处雨水闸门，排泄城市雨水。“雨水夹杂着生活污水排入民心河后，部分水域可能出现不同程度的污染，致使有死鱼出现。”工作人员说，他们将安排相关部门对事发区域进行打捞，以避免影响到河水的水质。

BEIJING, Sept. 1 (Xinhua) -- Northeast China's Heilongjiang Province has reported an outbreak of the H5N6 bird flu virus in poultry, the Ministry of Agriculture (MOA) announced Monday.

Over 20,000 geese at a farm in Harbin, the provincial capital, showed symptoms of avian flu and almost 18,000 died last month, according to the MOA.

The National Avian Influenza Reference Laboratory on Monday confirmed the epidemic was H5N6.

The infected area has been sealed off and sterilized with almost 69,000 poultry culled and safely disposed, the MOA said.

Bird flu, or avian influenza, is a contagious disease of animal origin caused by viruses that normally infect only birds and, less commonly, pigs. It can be fatal to humans.

The Office of Environmental Protection of the western Mexican state of Jalisco Sunday triggered an environmental contingency due to the presence of tens of tons of dead fish in the lagoon of Cajititlán.

"There are more (of which says the City). Just last Tuesday filled nine trucks, one of seven other four tons. This is critical," said Octavio Cortes, president of the fishermen's cooperative in the village of Cajititlán.

This is the fourth time so far this year a fish kill Cajititlán is recorded and in the town of Cuexcomatitlán, also located on the banks of the lagoon.

Melbourne, Florida (Florida Today) -- A virus killing bottlenose dolphins by the hundreds along the Atlantic seaboard has spread to the Indian River Lagoon, with foreboding consequences for dolphins that spend their lives here.

And the dead just keep washing up.

"We're basically on high alert, expecting a dolphin every day," said Megan Stolen, a research scientist at Hubbs-SeaWorld Research Institute.

In August alone, Hubbs researchers found 18 dead bottlenose dolphins: a dozen from the lagoon (eight of them calves), and the others along the beach and in the Halifax River.

On average, 26 dolphins wash up dead or strand in the lagoon region annually, Hubbs researchers say. Including beachside, about 70 dolphins die per year in the lagoon region. This year, 67 have already died, with 32 of those in the lagoon.

And many more may be on the way.

"Because we have this sort of smoking gun right now, that's where all of where our attention is going," Stolen said.

Past surveys by Hubbs have counted about 660 bottlenose dolphins that spend their lives almost exclusively in the lagoon.

Tens of thousands of dead fish wash ashore in Craven County

Posted: Sep 03, 2014 11:40 AM MDT
Updated: Sep 03, 2014 1:18 PM MDT
By WNCT STAFF - email

Tens of thousands of dead fish have washed ashore along the Neuse River in Craven County.

Travis Graves, the Lower Neuse Riverkeeper, tells 9 On Your Side the fish have been piling up on shore at Flanners Beach. He estimates the fish are dying near channel marker 11 and winds are pushing the fish over to the beach.

Graves has been in touch with the UNC Chapel Hill Marine Labs in Morehead City where they're monitoring oxygen levels in the water. He says just east of Flanners Beach is a salt wedge which has been shrinking because of the rain we've had in recent weeks. This has led to lower oxygen levels.

Graves said at this time there is no indication that infection is killing the fish. He's 90% confident the fish kill is due to lower dissolved oxygen in the water.

People should refrain from swimming at the beaches near the dead fish.

For the fishermen of the area is an ecological disaster.

Thousands of dead fish were found on the banks of the estuary Infiernillo in Mazatlan, Sinaloa, as reported fishermen, who complained that in this place waste and garbage are concentrated without any authority to monitor the area.

According to testimony, fish agonized for hours in view of everyone, so that early warning spread among fishermen and residents of Colonia Libertad, who live near the Juarez bridge.

For fishermen it is an ecological disaster and according to them, is the Municipal Board of Water and Sewerage Mazatlan (Jumapam) responsible for the fact, as discharged untreated into the estuary waters, affecting the fish causing mass mortality.

Sabaudia lake: Giuliani seeks guidance on the amount of fish removed

Let2 | September 6, 2014 | Comments 0

Fish kills in the lake, the property has collected 7 tonnes of carcasses, problem solved? We read between the lines but this Councillor Peter Giuliani has some doubts. quintals Seven, seem Pochini compared to the size of fish floating on the lake and also with respect to what can still be found on the banks, for example behind the visitor center of the National Park Circeo. Yesterday morning even local police officers visited the site on the banks of the lake for the note confirming the presence of many dead fish at the end of the paths of the park. So what?

"From a survey carried out by the Local Police of Sabaudia - says Giuliani - showed that, in the arm behind the office of The PNC, there are tons of dead fish on the banks and in the middle of the Lake of Paola .. Yet Mr.. Bazuro was very diligent to send a note in which he said that he had removed 7 quintals of fish. But it has not yet realized that there are others. Strange that an owner does not control his estate. Shall be the duty of the Administration invite the heirs to clean up the lake from the carcasses of fish now in an advanced state of decomposition. "

According to Giuliani then the council should provide another measure, after the first order to elicit a more thorough cleaning. It is not a failure then sferzatina environmental associations. "As strange as well - said Giuliani - that some environmentalists, to the organizers of themed events at the same site are silent on the subject. Yet we have seen them in action at the research and documentation of illegal dumps in hidden places. Here, however, which are not visible at all if they

Thousands of dead fish yesterday dawned on sand and the sea shore of San Gabriel, amid a stench that reached the housing area, beyond the road, causing alarm swimmers and neighbors. This morning, the beach had been cleaned and had a cleaner look than yesterday but there were still some pieces of dead fish and a strong odor remained. Despite that ban bath could be read on posters hanging by the council, many swimmers have not hesitated to cool off in the sea.

SEP 08 1 in 10 health-care workers treating Ebola gets infected

One in 10 health-care workers treating Ebola patients in West Africa is becoming infected with the disease, the World Health Organization announced in Geneva Friday in an international media teleconference at the conclusion of an emergency meeting on the outbreak. The WHO invited medical experts from around the world to the two-day meeting to discuss using experimental and alternative treatments to combat the Ebola crisis, which the U.N. has admitted is out of control. The WHO approved introducing experimental whole blood therapies and convalescent blood serums to treat the Ebola outbreak. The organization said the rush to introduce experimental drugs was "unprecedented" due to the severity of the West Africa outbreak and the need to short-circuit normal government regulatory processes that typically take years. At least 31 people in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) had died of the deadly Ebola virus, Congolese Health Minister Felix Kabange said Tuesday.

The outbreak started last month in the Equateur province, about 800 kilometers northeast of capital Kinshasa, prompting the authorities to seal off the affected area where more than 50 confirmed cases are currently receiving treatment, Kabange told a press conference with officials from the World Health Organization.

Nearly 200 others are under surveillance over suspicion that they might have contracted the virus, he noted.

The isolation of the worst affected area in the province, Boende Region, is expected to limit the spread of the outbreak, the minister said.

The U.N. had already allocated $1.5 million to help the country fight Ebola.

Though news on the Ebola virus has been muted since two American health care workers were admitted to U.S.-based facilities last month, the deadly contagion continues to spread. According to the World Health Organization more than 40% of all Ebola cases thus far have occurred in just the last three months, suggesting that the virus is continuing to build steam.

Physicist Alessandro Vespignani of Northeastern University in Boston is one of several researchers trying to figure out how far Ebola may spread and how many people around the world could be affected. Based on his findings, there will be 10,000 cases by September of this year and it only gets worse from there.

Despite knowing that he had symptoms of the Ebola virus, a Nigerian diplomat boards a plane in Liberia and flies from that small country to his nation's capital city of Lagos, a city with 21 million people. The man was fleeing a quarantine meant to contain the Ebola virus. Instead, his body — now a host for the disease — was transporting the highly contagious and deadly, single-strand virus to Nigeria's largest city.

Military Deployed to West Africa to help curb epidemic - outbreak morphing into a nightmare

Military teams should be sent to west Africa immediately if there is to be any hope of controlling the Ebola epidemic, doctors on the frontline told the United Nations on Tuesday, painting a stark picture of health workers dying, patients left without care and infectious bodies lying in the streets. The international president of Médecins sans Frontières (MSF), Dr. Joanne Liu, told member states that although alarm bells had been ringing for six months, the response had been too little, too late and no amount of vaccinations and new drugs would be able to prevent the escalating disaster. "In west Africa, cases and deaths continue to surge," she said. "Riots are breaking out. Isolation centers are overwhelmed. Health workers on the frontline are becoming infected and are dying in shocking numbers. Others have fled in fear, leaving people without care for even the most common illnesses. Entire health systems have crumbled." She said Ebola treatment centers had been reduced to places where people went to die alone. "It is impossible to keep up with the sheer number of infected people pouring into facilities. In Sierra Leone, infectious bodies are rotting in the streets," she said. "Rather than building new Ebola care centers in Liberia, we are forced to build crematoria." The World Health Organization estimated last week that 20,000 people in Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone have been infected over three months. Médecins sans Frontières has doubled its staff of volunteer doctors in the region but is unable to cope.

September 2014 – AFRICA – Sometimes the artifice of writing — metaphors, historical comparisons, the just-so quote — fails. The Ebola outbreak in West Africa demands directness: We are about to witness a human catastrophe that could destroy large portions of a continent and pose a global threat. And the response of the world, including the United States, is feeble, irresponsible and disrespectful of nature's lethal perils. American health officials and nonprofit groups are bringing back the same report from the region. In Liberia, the rate of new infections has probably already moved from a linear to an exponential curve. The same may be true within the next week or so for Sierra Leone and Guinea. The normal countermeasures for an infectious disease — isolation, case investigation, contact tracing — are increasingly irrelevant given the rate of increase. Local health care infrastructure, which barely existed in the first place, is overwhelmed. People have lost faith in the large clinics, where 50 percent to 60 percent of patients who enter do not leave alive. And those in need of emergency care for other conditions — such as heart attacks or complicated births — are often frightened of clinics and hospitals, and are dying without treatment.

A respiratory illness sweeping through parts of the U.S. has landed in Colorado, sickening hundreds of children, according to local doctors.

The disease hasn't been officially identified but officials suspect a rare respiratory virus called human enterovirus 68. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the virus is related to the rhinovirus, which causes the common cold.

According to Mark Pallansch, director of the Division of Viral Diseases at the CDC, similar cases to the ones in Colorado have been cropping up across the U.S. At least 10 states -- Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Iowa, Colorado, Ohio, Oklahoma, North Carolina, and Georgia -- have reported

Navy destroyer enters Black Sea as tensions ratchet up in Ukraine

By Phillip Swartz - The Washington Times - Wednesday,

Responding to turmoil in Ukraine, the U.S. Navy announced Wednesday that a guided missile destroyer had entered the Black Sea.

The USS Ross "serves to demonstrate the U.S. commitment to strengthening the collective defense of NATO allies and partners in the region," the Navy said in a press release.

"The U.S. Navy maintains an enduring commitment to forward-presence throughout the region and will have forces readily available if a crisis were to arise," the press release said, adding that the mission supports U.S. national security interests in the Black Sea.

Putin Threatens Nuclear War Over Ukraine

Raising the spectre of nuclear war over Ukraine, Russia's Vladimir Putin is playing a new, and dangerous, game.

On Friday, as Russian Federation tanks and troops poured across the border into eastern Ukraine, Vladimir Putin talked about his country's most destructive weaponry. "I want to remind you that Russia is one of the most powerful nuclear nations," he said. "This is a reality, not just words." Russia, he told listeners, is "strengthening our nuclear deterrence forces."

That same day, Putin used a term for eastern Ukraine meaning "New Russia." So when he refers to repelling "any aggression against Russia" and speaks of "nuclear deterrence," as he did on Friday, the Russian president is really warning us he will use nukes to protect his grab of Ukrainian territory.

Russia 'abducts' Estonian officer after Obama says US will defend Estonia

On Friday morning, less than 48 hours after President Obama delivered a speech in Estonia warning that Russian aggression against Estonia could trigger war with the US and NATO, Russian security forces have seized an officer with Estonia's state security bureau at gunpoint and taken him into Russia. Estonia says the officer was kidnapped (or "abducted") on Estonian soil and taken across by force. Moscow says the Estonian officer was on Russian soil and detained with a gun, 5,000 euros and "materials that have the character of an intelligence mission." Nearby Estonian police radios were reportedly jammed during the incident. The incident comes at a moment when Europe and the US are extremely concerned that Russia might attempt military action against Estonia as it has against Ukraine. Just on Wednesday, the United States publicly committed to Estonia's military defense, meaning that a Russian invasion of Estonia would trigger war between Russia and the US, a prospect so dangerous that the world managed to avoid it throughout even the Cold War. A new package of sanctions against Russia has been adopted by the EU. Previous reports said the "further restrictive measures" were aimed at targeting three major oil companies, as well as the defense sector.

According to a Monday statement by the president of the European Council, Herman Van Rompuy, the new package was adopted through written procedure, "deepening the targeted measures of 31 July."

"The sanctions aim at promoting a change of course in Russia's actions destabilizing eastern Ukraine," the statement reads.

Although it was previously reported that the new sanctions could come into force by Tuesday, the final EU decision did not specify the date when they will be applied, only saying it "will take place in the next few days," leaving time "for an assessment of the implementation of the cease-fire agreement [in Ukraine]."

"Depending on the situation on the ground, the EU stands ready to review the agreed sanctions in whole or in part," Van Rompuy's statement reads.

Over the weekend, some EU diplomats told Reuters that the sanctions could be lifted if

Russian Strategic Bombers Near Canada Practice Cruise Missile Strikes on US

Nuclear launch rehearsal conducted in North Atlantic

In this photo released by the U.S. Navy, an F/A-18 Hornet from aboard the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, escorts a Russian Tupolev 95 Bear long rang bomber aircraft on Feb. 9, 2008 / AP

Two Russian strategic bombers conducted practice cruise missile attacks on the United States during a training mission last week that defense officials say appeared timed to the NATO summit in Wales.

The Russian Tu-95 Bear bombers were tracked flying a route across the northern Atlantic near Iceland, Greenland, and Canada's northeast.

Analysis of the flight indicated the aircraft were conducting practice runs to a pre-determined "launch box"—an optimum point for firing nuclear-armed cruise missiles at U.S. targets, said defense officials familiar with intelligence reports.

Disclosure of the nuclear bombing practice comes as a Russian general last week called for Moscow to change its doctrine to include preemptive nuclear strikes on the United States and NATO.

Gen. Yuri Yakubov, a senior Defense Ministry official, was quoted by the state-run Interfax news agency as saying that Russia's 2010 military doctrine should be revised to identify the United States and the NATO alliance as enemies, and clearly outline the conditions for a preemptive nuclear strike against them.

Yakubov said among other needed doctrinal changes, "it is necessary to hash out the conditions under which Russia could carry out a preemptive strike with the Russian Strategic Rocket Forces"—Moscow's nuclear forces.

The practice bombing runs are the latest in a series of incidents involving threatening Russian bomber flights near the United States. Analysts say the bomber flights are nuclear saber-rattling by Moscow as a result of heightened tensions over the crisis in Ukraine.

A spokesman for the U.S. Northern Command and North American Aerospace Defense Command declined to comment on the bomber flights in the North Atlantic.

Al-Qaeda Declares New Branch in India

Al-Qaeda leader Ayman al-Zawahiri on Wednesday announced the formation of an Indian branch of his terrorist group, Reuters reported. The Al-Qaeda leader declared the new branch would spread Islamic rule and "raise the flag of jihad" across the subcontinent. In a 55-minute video posted online, Zawahiri also renewed a longstanding vow of loyalty to Afghan Taliban leader Mullah Omar, in an apparent snub to the Islamic State group. Zawahiri described the formation of "Al-Qaeda in the Indian Subcontinent" as a glad tidings for Muslims "in Burma, Bangladesh, Assam, Gujarat, Ahmedabad, and Kashmir" and said the new wing would rescue Muslims there from injustice and oppression. Counter-terrorism experts say Al-Qaeda's aging leaders are struggling to compete for recruits with Islamic State, which has galvanized young followers around the world by carving out tracts of territory across the Iraq-Syria border.

Islamic State leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi calls himself a "caliph" or head of state and has demanded the loyalty of all Muslims. The group fell out with Zawahiri in 2013 over its expansion into Syria, where Baghdadi's followers have carried out beheadings, crucifixions, and mass executions. According to Reuters, Zawahiri's statement on Wednesday warned Al-Qaeda's new wing against oppressing local populations – another complaint leveled against Islamic State by critics in Iraq and Syria. "If you said that you are doing jihad to defend the sanctities of the Muslims, then you must not transgress against them or their money or honor, and not even transgress your mujahideen brothers by word and action," he said. "Discord is a curse and torment, and disgrace for the believers and glory for the disbelievers," Zawahiri said. "If you say that by your jihad you do not want but the pleasure of Allah, then you must not race for governance and leadership at the first opportunity."

(CNN) -- A video that shows the beheading of American Steven Sotloff was delivered as a "second message to America" to halt airstrikes in Iraq, following through on a threat to kill the journalist.

In the video posted Tuesday online, Sotloff says -- in a message surely scripted by his captors -- that he is "paying the price" for U.S. military intervention.

ISIL takes hostage 100 kids in Iraq's Nineveh Province

ISIL Takfiri terrorists have taken hostage at least 100 Shia and Izadi children at an orphanage near the troubled northern Iraqi city of Mosul.

Local residents say the militants kidnapped the children after they captured the cities of Talafar in June and Shingal in August.

Witnesses say the ISIL terrorists have abducted large numbers of girls and women and brutally killed hundreds of people in recent months.

U.S. and Iraqi authorities have jointly ramped up their efforts to prevent terrorists from acquiring nuclear and radioactive materials as concerns mount that Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL or ISIS) is seeking to recover these sensitive materials and use them in a terror attack.

ISIL now controls about half of Iraq, potentially giving it access to some low-level radioactive and radiological materials, according to a State Department official.

The threat has been deemed "critical" by the U.S. State Department, which announced on Wednesday that it had inked a new deal with Baghdad to ramp up joint efforts to detect and recover sensitive nuclear materials before ISIL and other terrorist entities can get to them.

While the United States currently has no evidence that ISIL has yet to locate these types of materials, there are concerns that lawless areas under the group's control could be used as a new smuggling route by rogue actors.

"The signing and donation of radiation detection equipment reflect the common conviction of the U.S. and Iraqi governments that nuclear smuggling and nuclear and radiological terrorism are critical and ongoing global threats that require a coordinated, global response," the State Department said in a statement. "Iraq's central location and the challenging security environment it faces reinforce the urgency with which these problems must be addressed."

The United States, which started working on the agreement in 2012, is now providing the Iraqi government with radiation detection and identification equipment, according to the State Department. These tools are expected to help Iraqi authorities "locate, identify, characterize, and recover orphaned or disused radioactive sources in Iraq thereby reducing the risk of terrorists acquiring these dangerous materials."

The concern is that sensitive materials could be smuggled outside of Iraq and potentially used by extremists.

The Washington watchdog organization that earlier reported the presence of ISIS factions in Mexico, just across the border from Texas, now says there appears to be a "clear and present threat" to the state, because of the increased security efforts being implemented at a key military installation

In a report Thursday, Judicial Watch said its military sources believe that the increase in security "indicates that [the Army post] is a target."

"It's a significant issue when this is done," retired Army Lt. Gen. Jerry Boykin said of the higher security measures at Fort Bliss in El Paso, Texas – which is just across the border from Juarez, Mexico

"That means they're getting a threat stream. Fort Bliss had to have a clear and present threat," said the former Delta Force commander who also spent four years as Deputy Undersecretary of Defense for Intelligence.

While the West plans a coordinated attack on ISIS, Syrian forces have already launched airstrikes, attacking targets of the Islamic extremist group. More than 50 were killed. At the same time, the Kurdish forces in North Iraq have succeeded in warding off ISIS from the area of Mosul.

Although the US has refused to confirm the possibility of cooperating with Iran against ISIS militants, Iran has stated that they are prepared to work with the US to eradicate the threat of ISIS in Iraq. ISIS is also reported to have ordered rockets launched from the Sinai peninsula into Israel.

Robots will soon make bankers — and many more jobs now done by humans — totally redundant, expert says

When Dave Coplin talks about robot takeovers, he says people instantly think of The Terminator. But it's really the bankers who are in trouble.

Robots will be running the City within 10 years, rendering investment bankers, analysts and even quants redundant, it has been claimed.

Artificial intelligence is about to outpace human ability, according to Dave Coplin, a senior Microsoft executive. Computers will not only be able to undertake complex mathematical equations but draw logical, nuanced conclusions, reducing the need for human interference, he said.

Hacker breached HealthCare.gov insurance site

A hacker broke into part of the HealthCare.gov insurance enrollment website in July and uploaded malicious software, according to federal officials. Investigators found no evidence that consumers' personal data was taken in the breach, federal officials said. The hacker appears only to have accessed a server used to test code for HealthCare.gov. The Department of Health and Human Services discovered the attack last week. An HHS official said the attack appears to mark the first successful intrusion into the website, where millions of Americans bought insurance starting last year under the Affordable Care Act. It raised concerns among federal officials because of how easily the intruder gained access and how much damage could have occurred. "Our review indicates that the server did not contain consumer personal information; data was not transmitted outside the agency, and the website was not specifically targeted," the Department of Health and Human Services said in a written statement. "We have taken measures to further strengthen security." The attack comes as the federal government and insurance companies prepare for open enrollment, which begins Nov. 15. It is likely to be seized on by Republican lawmakers, who oppose the law, in fall campaigns as another sign of the health law's flaws. HealthCare.gov suffered from crippling technology problems when it launched in October, though the government has since improved the site. Taken with recent data thefts from J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., Home Depot Inc., and celebrities' iPhones, the HealthCare.gov hack further underscores that large organizations haven't yet mastered how to secure the troves of data they collect from consumers. Market Watch

The elusive 'God particle' discovered by scientists in 2012 has the potential to destroy the universe, Professor Stephen Hawking has warned.

At very high energy levels, the Higgs boson could cause space and time suddenly collapse - and 'we wouldn't see it coming', the former Cambridge professor of mathematics says.

The God particle, which gives shape and size to everything that exists, could cause a 'catastrophic vacuum delay' if scientists were to put it under extreme stress.

Retired Israeli President Shimon Peres has proposed a new global peace initiative to Pope Francis: A "United Nations of Religions," given that most wars today have religious, not nationalistic, undercurrents.

The Vatican said Peres pitched the initiative during a 45-minute audience Thursday in the Apostolic Palace. The two men last met when Francis invited the then-Israeli president and Palestinian leader Mahmoud Abbas to pray for peace together in the Vatican gardens on June 8.

A few weeks later, war broke out in the Gaza Strip.

Peres told the Catholic publication Famiglia Cristiana that the U.N. is ill-suited to handle today's conflicts and that a "U.N. of Religions" is the best way to fight terrorists who kill in the name of God.

Francis promised the Vatican's attention to the proposal.

Most People Don't Believe It, But We Are Right On Schedule For The Next Financial Crash

By Michael Snyder, on September 4th, 2014

People have such short memories. Even though we are repeating so many of the same patterns that we witnessed in 2000-2001 and 2007-2008, most people do not think that another financial crash is coming. In fact, with the stock market setting record high after record high lately, I have been taking quite a bit of criticism for my relentless warnings about the coming financial storm. Many of the comments go something like this: "Snyder you are a moron! Nothing you say ever comes true. The stock market is going to keep on rocking and Obama is going to lead this country back to greatness. I hope that you choke on all of your doom and gloom." Of course these critics never offer any hard evidence that I have been wrong about anything. They just assume that since the stock market has soared to unprecedented heights that all of us "bears" must have been wrong.

But the truth is that what we are observing right now is classic bubble behavior. The stock market crashes of 1929, 1987 and 2008 were all preceded by irrational market rallies in the spring or summer. The financial markets have become completely divorced from economic reality, and such a state of affairs never lasts forever. It is just a matter of time before a correction comes.

But every time there is a bubble, most people end up getting caught up in all of the euphoria. And it is happening again. In fact, CNBC has just reported that bearishness among market newsletter writers is the lowest that it has been since 1987. But of course we all remember what happened back in 1987...

Record 92,269,000 Not in Labor Force; Participation Rate Matches 36-Year Low

(CNSNews.com) - A record 92,269,000 Americans 16 and older did not participate in the labor force in August, as the labor force participation rate matched a 36-year low of 62.8 percent, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The labor force participation rate has been as low as 62.8 percent in six of the last twelve months, but prior to last October had not fallen that low since 1978.

BLS employment statistics are based on the civilian noninstitutional population, which consists of all people 16 or older who were not in the military or an institution such as a prison, mental hospital or nursing home.

In August, the civilian noninstitutional population was 248,229,000 according to BLS. Of that 248,229,000, 155,959,000—or 62.8 percent—participated in the labor force, meaning they either had a job or had actively sought one in the last four weeks.

Japan says economy contracts 7.1%.

Japan's economy contracted at a larger than earlier estimated annual rate of 7.1 percent in April-June, as companies and households slashed spending following a tax hike. The revised data released Monday show business investment fell more than twice as much as estimated before, or 5.1 percent, while private residential spending sank 10.4 percent, in annual terms. The earlier estimate showed the economy contracting 6.8 percent. The recovery of the world's third-largest economy has slowed following the increase in the sales tax to 8 percent from 5 percent on April 1. "Theoretically, there should be no impact from the consumption tax increase on corporate spending or long-term corporate planning, but a large number of Japanese corporations seemed to see a large impact from the hike on final demand," said Junko Nishioka, an economist at RBS Japan Securities in Tokyo.

"Over 100 militants dressed in military uniforms swarmed the predominantly Christian village just as Sunday church services were beginning on June 1," VOM reports.

"The rebels opened fire on the village and went after people with their machetes."

Boko Haram became internationally known after it staged a mass kidnapping of over 250 Nigerian school girls in April. The majority of the girls are still missing. Last month, the group publicly aligned itself with the Islamic State in Iraq and Syria (ISIS).

A Woman has reportedly been found beheaded in a back garden in north London, and detectives are investigating whether her murder was inspired by footage of IS beheadings in Syria, according to UK reports. Locals last night claimed the arrested man had converted to Islam last year, The Telegraph UK reports. The media report comes after police initially ruled out the murder had links to terrorism. Police discovered the body of Palmira Silva, 82, in the suburb of Edmonton after being alerted at midday yesterday by local residents who said a man with a knife was attacking a cat or dog. They would not confirm reports she had been beheaded, nor some media descriptions that the act was carried out with a machete. That's the assessment offered by the former environment and urban planning minister in Turkey speaking to a gathering sponsored by the Islamist Justice and Development Party (AKP).

"Christianity is no longer a religion. It's a culture now. But that is not what a religion is like. A religion teaches; it is a form of life that gives one peace and happiness. That is what they want to turn [Islam] into as well," said the minister Erdogan Bayraktar according to a report posted Wednesday in Turkey's Hurriyet Daily News.

"There are 2.5 billion Christians in the world," noted Bayraktar.

Former chaplain Troy Schmidt lost his job because a Florida school district no longer allowed chaplains to be part of its football program. (Fox News)

As students returned to one school in Florida, there was a glaring omission. Books, desks and classrooms remain unchanged, and the cafeteria menu is virtually the same. But chaplains for the Olympia High School football team in Orange County, Florida, are no more. Instead, they've been replaced with "life coaches" after the school caved in to pressure from an anti-religion group.

American Family Association says the school's move to rename the chaplains is indicative of the actions being taken in American schools every day to systematically remove God and faith from education, and thereby, short-change students of their constitutional rights and religious liberties.

"This Florida school is just one of many examples of unconstitutional and un-American restrictions on the free exercise of religion in American public schools," said AFA President Tim Wildmon. "These schools are not protecting their students from anything—faith-sharing, 'proselytizing' or otherwise—but instead, they are stripping students' constitutional rights from them, depriving them of the opportunity to receive faith-based guidance at a time in their lives when they need it most."

The incident at the Florida school came to light when one former chaplain, Troy Schmidt, who also serves as a local pastor in Florida, reported to Fox News that he was told that "Orange County Public Schools is

3 Columbus, IN churches vandalized with Islamic Writing

Columbus Police said they've never had anything like it – three churches vandalized in the same night. Someone spray painted them on the outside. It's the words used, though, that have some people asking if this was more than a prank. "It was just one word. It said 'Infidels!'" Father Doug Marcotte said of what was spray painted on Saint Bartholomew's Catholic Church in Columbus overnight Saturday. Parishioners saw that, along with the word "Qur'an 3:151" on their way into mass Sunday morning. "It's certainly not a warm and fuzzy verse. It talks about the infidels, their refuge being the fire," explained Father Marcotte. Specifically, that passage of the Qur'an reads: "We will cast terror into the hearts of those who disbelieve for what they have associated with Allah of which He had not sent down [any] authority. And their refuge will be the Fire, and wretched is the residence of the wrongdoers." More

'Even If I Am Going to Hell': Bill Nye 'the Science Guy' Defends Evolutionary Beliefs

In the latest issue of a widely-circulated science magazine, Bill Nye 'the Science Guy' defiantly defends his evolutionary beliefs and says that even if he ends up 'going to Hell,' it still won't prove that the earth is young.

As previously reported, Nye debated Answers in Genesis (AiG) president Ken Ham earlier this year in a historic creation/evolution debate that was viewed by millions. Two months after the debate, Nye attacked Ham's biblical creation beliefs in an opinion column published by Skeptical Inquirer magazine.

"I held strongly to the view that [the debate] was an opportunity to expose the well-intending Ken Ham and the support he receives from his followers as being bad for Kentucky, bad for science education, bad for the U.S., and thereby bad for humankind," Nye wrote in the Skeptical Inquirer column. "I do not feel I'm exaggerating when I express it this strongly."

In the column, Nye asserted that his evolutionary beliefs are founded on "elementary science and common sense."

"I did my best to slam Ken Ham with a great many scientific and common sense arguments," Nye boasted. "I believed he wouldn't have the time or the focus to address many of them."

Now, several months after the Skeptical Inquirer commentary, another magazine is spotlighting Nye's anti-creation views. In a front page story titled "Bill Nye Fights Back," the September issue of Popular Science describes Nye's evolutionary beliefs and his perspective on the February debate with Ham.

"Let's say that I am, through my actions, doomed, and that I will go to Hell," Nye told Popular Science. "Even if I am going to Hell, that still doesn't mean the Earth is 6,000 years old. The facts just don't reconcile."

The Popular Science article, subtitled "How a mild-mannered children's celebrity plans to save science in America—or go down swinging," features images of "the Science Guy" throwing punches at the camera. Nye says his goal in debating Ham earlier this year was simple: "I want[ed] to destroy him."

والفساد الأخلاقي يزيد والاحاد يزيد

فلهذا أقول المسيح اقترب ميعاد مجيؤه لا احدد مواعيد

بل ارفض من يحدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب شيئين

الأول نصلي ونستعد ونعد زيت لمصابيحنا لاستقبال

العريس بالصلاة والصوم وخدمة أبناء الله وتنقية القلب

والاستعداد بلبس العرس.

أفسس 6: 15 وَحَازِنَ أَرْجُلَكُمْ بِاسْتِعْدَادِ إِنْجِيلِ السَّلَامِ .

رسالة بولس الرسول الي أهل رومية 13

13: 11 هذا وأنكم عارفون الوقت انها الان ساعة

لنستيقظ من النوم فان خلاصنا الان أقرب مما كان حين

امنا

13: 12 قد تناهى الليل وتقارب النهار فلنخلع اعمال

الظلمة ونلبس اسلحة النور

13: 13 لنسلك بلياقة كما في النهار لا بالبطر والسكر

لا بالمضاجع والعهر لا بالخصام والحسد

13: 14 بل البسوا الرب يسوع المسيح ولا تصنعوا تدبيراً

للجسد لأجل الشهوات

احترس ان لم تتمسك بالمسيح من الان قد لا تستطيع
في المستقبل القريب بسبب الظلام.

الثاني لا نخاف

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا
تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوْا،

بل نفرح

إَفْرَحُوا فِي الرَّبِّ كُلَّ حِينٍ، وَأَقُولُ أَيْضًا: اَفْرَحُوا.

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان

وأيضاً استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك
