والعلامات حتى 21 اكتوبر 2014

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن ايضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترّب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترّب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشّر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لانه لا بد ان تكون هذه كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

مت 24: 7 لانه تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة وتكون مجاعات واوبئة وزلازل في اماكن

مت 24: 8 ولكن هذه كلها مبتدأ الازعاج

مت 24: 9 حينئذ يسلمونكم الى ضيق ويقتلونكم وتكونون مبغضين من جميع الامم لاجل اسمي

مت 24: 10 وحينئذ يعثر كثيرون ويسلمون بعضهم بعضا ويبغضون بعضهم بعضا

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون كثيرين

مت 24: 12 ولكثرة الاثم تبرد محبة الكثيرين

مت 24: 13 ولكن الذي يصبر الى المنتهى فهذا يخلص

مت 24: 14 ويكرز ببشارة الملكوت هذه في كل المسكونة شهادة لجميع الامم ثم يأتي المنتهى

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

المسيح لا يتنبأ ولا يتوقع بل يعرف

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

وايضا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

Bermuda: Two Tropical Cyclones In Less Than A Week? How Rare Is That?

By Jon Erdman | Published: Oct 15, 2014, 10:23 AM EDT | weather.com

Why So Many Storms?

Follow @wxjerdman 125k

Back-to-back tropical cyclones may pass very near or over Bermuda in less than a week's time.

Think about that for a moment.

Two or more tropical storm or hurricane strikes in one location during any single season is quite unusual outside of western Pacific hot spots such as the northern Philippines, southeast China, Japan or Guam.

, may experience this in a span of roughly five days this week.

Sunday morning, Oct. 12, battered the archipelago with wind gusts up to 120 mph, downing trees, power lines, knocking out power to roughly half of Bermuda and damaging the terminal roof at L.F.

Fay's high winds downed trees in Bermuda on Oct. 12, 2014. (Dr. Peter Neilley/The Weather Company)

Radioactivity spikes in No. 1 reactor well water

Jiji

PRINT SHARE

ARTICLE HISTORY | OCT 15, 2014

Tokyo Electric Power Co. said there has been a sharp spike in the radioactivity of water samples taken from an observation well built by the sea at the crippled Fukushima No. 1 nuclear power plant.

The samples, collected from the well on Monday, contained a record 251,000 becquerels of radioactive cesium per liter — 3.7 times the amount recorded in a sample collected last Thursday.

The observation well, located to the east of the damaged No. 2 reactor, is one of several installed close to the seawall in the plant's port. Monday's reading was the highest recorded in water samples from any of the wells.

The samples also contained 7.8 million becquerels per liter of radioactive beta particle-emitting substances, such as strontium-90, an almost fourfold increase from Thursday's level.

The amount of gamma ray-emitting substances, such as cobalt-60 and manganese-54, included in the samples was also at a record high.

The well is positioned close to an underground trench by the sea that is connected to the No. 2 reactor building.

Tokyo, Oct 15 (IANS/EFE) The level of radioactive contamination detected in the underground water of the damaged Fukushima nuclear plant has increased after torrential rain caused by a typhoon last week, the plant operator said Wednesday.

The level of radioactive cesium water from a well located on the coast and close to the plant amounted to 251,000 becquerels per litre, the highest recorded so far, according to samples taken by Tepco Electric Power Company (TEPCO) Oct 8 and 9, the state television channel NHK reported Wednesday.

The presence of the radioactive isotope is three times higher than what it was four days earlier, an increase that, according to the plant technicians, was due to excessive rainfall caused by Typhoon Phanfone Oct 6.

Rainwater seeped into the sub-soil and mixed with the contaminated fluid coming from the damaged reactors.

Plant managers are expected to take samples of groundwater in the area more often to analyse the evolution of the radiation, according to TEPCO.

For the moment, additional measures have been ruled out since the depth and scope of the contaminated water leaks are unknown, and TEPCO already has in place several measures to control the problem, such as the pumping of groundwater or walls to retain underground water.

4,000 take part in Mt Fuji eruption drill

NATIONAL OCT. 20, 2014 - 08:54AM JST (🔗) Recommend 434

People participate in a Mount Fuji evacuation drill in Gotemba, west of Tokyo on Sunday.
AFP

TOKYO — Nearly 4,000 people took part Sunday in a mass evacuation drill to test responses to a possible eruption of Japan's highest peak Mt Fuji, weeks after a nearby volcano blew its top and killed at least 56.

The 3,776-meter Fuji last erupted in 1707 but geologists have included it as one of 47 volcanoes in the Pacific Rim country believed to be at risk of eruption in the coming century.

Nearly 4,000 residents in 26 cities, towns and villages in Shizuoka, Yamanashi and Kanagawa prefectures around the mountain took part in the first-ever such drill, said a disaster management official for the Shizuoka prefectural government.

Mt Fuji is just 100 kilometers west of Tokyo.

In the city of Gotemba, about 800 people used their own cars to evacuate along designated routes because public transportation is scarce there, the official, Hayato Mochizuki, told AFP.

Elderly people in need of care were moved by bus. Firefighters, police and troops searched for people who could not evacuate in time, he said.

Eriko Yamatani, the state minister in charge of disaster management, and the governors of the three prefectures took part in a video conference to oversee the operation.

On Sept 27, Mt Ontake, some 120 kilometers Mt Fuji, erupted without warning—killing 56 people and leaving at least seven others missing in Japan's deadliest eruption for almost 90 years.

Mochizuki said the Mt Fuji exercise had been planned for three years.

"But because of the (Ontake) eruption, we are conducting the drill in a serious atmosphere."

'Don't eat hiyok,' says Fish & Wildlife

cherrie@mvariety.com - Variety News Staff

THE Division of Fish and Wildlife is discouraging the public from eating blue-banded surgeonfish commonly known as "hiyok" because it is "dangerous."

Acting Director for Fish and Wildlife Manny Pangelinan in an interview on Friday said the public should not eat hiyok until there is an official announcement that it is safe to consume.

Pangelinan said they have received the results of tests done by experts in Hawaii that revealed that fish-kill incidents on Tinian and Saipan in the past two months were caused by marine toxins.

SINGAPORE: A type of marine bacteria, Vibrio, has been detected in fish samples taken from Singapore's coastal fish farms.

While Vibrio is found naturally in tropical marine environments, humans can get infected by consuming undercooked seafood or exposing an open wound to sea water. Diarrhoea, vomiting and fever are some symptoms of the infection.

Experts say warm weather and rising sea surface temperatures have led to the rapid growth of marine micro-organisms, which release toxins that

BIRDS FALL DEAD FROM SKY IN BAPUNAGAR

Ahmedabad Mirror | Oct 18, 2014, 02:00 AM IST

It's a sight that would send shivers down most people's spines -- dead birds plummeting from above for no apparent reason. Nearly 50 crows and eagles were found dead around Lal Bahadur Shastri Stadium in Bapunagar on Friday morning. When they first realised what had happened, residents in the areas were, understandably, left baffled by the necrotic avian rain. They said it was like something out of a horror film.

"The birds would get up and try to fly, go out of control and crash again. It was just strange," they said. Concerned residents called the forest department as well as the animal help organizations. However, forest officials refused to come claiming this was not under their jurisdiction, said residents. Manoj Bhavsar of Jeevdaya Charitable Trust, one of the organizations that reached the spot, said, "We received a call saying they spotted 7-8 dead birds in the area. Soon, we got a couple of other calls that more birds have been found dead or in a weak condition.

The area where the birds were found had huge piles of garbage. It was stinking. "When we reached the spot, we saw seven crows lying together in one spot. Two of the birds were alive so we took them to the laboratory for treatment. However, they died on the way so we took them to the bird's laboratory at polytechnic college for postmortem examination," he said. Animal experts are trying to figure out what may have killed these birds. Bhavsar would not speculate on what exactly may have killed the birds, but he suspects they may have accidentally eaten something poisonous. "The real reason will be known only after the post-mortem report is out," he said. Experts say the dead birds are not toxic but members of the public that encounters a dead bird should use gloves when picking it up and wash their hands thoroughly after handling and disposing of it.

The Dallas County Commissioners Court is planning to call a special meeting for Thursday to discuss whether to request that Gov. Rick Perry declare a local emergency because of the Ebola crisis.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. at the County Administration Building, 411 Elm Street in Dallas.

According to state law, a declaration of emergency "activates the appropriate recovery and rehabilitation aspects of all applicable local or interjurisdictional emergency management plans and authorizes the furnishing of aid and assistance under the declaration."

In addition, the law says, "the county judge or mayor of a municipality may control ingress to and egress from a disaster area under the jurisdiction and authority of the county judge or mayor and control the movement of persons and the occupancy of premises in that area."

The declarations last up to seven days, and can be renewed by the Commissioners Court for longer than that. County officials didn't immediately return calls seeking an explanation. It's unclear what they will seek to do with the emergency declaration.

Ebola death toll rises to 4,447 – mortality rate for virus peaks at 70%

Posted on October 15, 2014

October 2014 – AFRICA - WHO assistant director-general Dr Bruce Aylward said the 70% death rate marked “a high mortality disease” in any circumstance. He added that the UN health agency is still focused on trying to isolate sick people and provide treatment as early as possible. Previously, the WHO had said the death rate was around 50%. The announcement came as an international member of the United Nations’ medical team who was infected with Ebola in Liberia has died despite “intensive medical procedures,” a German hospital said. The St Georg hospital in Leipzig said the 56-year-old man, who has not been named, died of the infection overnight. It released no further details. The man tested positive for Ebola on October 6 and arrived in Leipzig for treatment on October 9, where he was put into a special isolation unit. Responding to the escalating crisis the WHO said that there could be up to 10,000 new cases of Ebola per week within two months. Dr Aylward said if the response to the Ebola crisis is not stepped up within 60 days, “a lot more people will die” and there will be a huge effort required on the ground to deal with the spiraling number of cases. The official added that for the last four weeks, there have been about 1,000 new cases per week, though that figure includes suspected, confirmed and probable cases.

As the death toll from the world's worst-ever outbreak of the virus shot past 4,500, a glimmer of hope came from Senegal, which was declared Ebola-free by the World Health Organization.

The United States, meanwhile, named an "Ebola czar" to coordinate its response, after criticism of how a Texas hospital handled a Liberian victim, with two nurses who treated him now infected.

And a researcher at British pharmaceuticals giant GlaxoSmithKline said a vaccine may not be ready for commercial use until late 2016.

"We are losing the battle," World Bank chief Jim Yong Kim warned, blaming a lack of international solidarity in efforts to stem the epidemic.

"Certain countries are only worried about their own borders," he told reporters in Paris.

As of October 14, 4,555 people have died from Ebola out of a total of 9,216 cases registered in seven countries, the WHO says.

Most of the dead are in three West African nations at the centre of the outbreak: Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone.

Experts warn that the infection rate could hit 10,000 a week by early December.

TORONTO – Human testing of an experimental Canadian-made Ebola vaccine began Monday, with federal officials saying the drug could be shipped to West Africa within months if it proves successful.

The U.S. news media are giving little attention to one of the most significant and alarming current health stories – the World Health Organization has issued a global alert due to the outbreak in the U.S. of the debilitating Enterovirus D68.

GROCERY STORES FEAR HIM!

There has been speculation the polio-like Enterovirus, which mostly targets children, could have been carried into the U.S. by illegal-alien minors from Central America.

The WHO's alert for the Enterovirus 68, or EV-D68, in the U.S. was issued Sept. 17.

A global WHO alert for the virus is exceptionally rare and is the first of its kind associated with an outbreak in the U.S.

UN warns of Global Famine.

The global famine warning system is predicting a major food crisis if the Ebola outbreak continues to grow exponentially over the coming months, and the United Nations still hasn't reached over 750,000 people in need of food in West Africa as prices spiral and farms are abandoned. On the eve of World Food Day on Thursday, U.N. agencies and non-governmental organizations are scrambling to scale up efforts to avert widespread hunger. A Russian submarine has reportedly traveled to within a stone's throw to Stockholm, prompting an aggressive response from Sweden, including a mobilization of troops and ships.

It had been reported late this week that "foreign underwater activity" was taking place in the Stockholm archipelago, but the activity was not confirmed, and it was not officially linked to Russia. But reports later on Saturday seemed to confirm that it was Russia.

Sources say that more than 200 Swedish military personnel have been involved in the search for the sub. The search started when National Defense Radio Establishment reportedly detected radio communication in Russian, and the search narrowed the next day.

Sweden deploys troops over underwater threat

The Local | 18 Oct 2014, 09:30

UPDATED: Sweden's military has deployed planes and ships in the Stockholm Archipelago against what it says is a foreign threat in the waters, with the size of the operation unchanged overnight.

Sweden's Armed Forces say the alert is in response to "foreign underwater activity" in the Stockholm Archipelago.

The operation went on all night and will continue throughout Saturday according to the Armed Forces.

"This will continue until we consider that we are done," Jesper Tengroth, press officer for the Swedish military, told the TT news agency on Saturday.

He added: "We are now trying to verify the information we received yesterday, which in our assessment comes from trustworthy sources, and see whether it has any substance or not."

When asked if there were any new observations throughout the course of the night, Tengroth said, "Not that I know." He added that the size of the operation remained unchanged.

Defence Minister Peter Hultqvist said he was receiving regular updates from the Armed Forces, who had informed him the operation, involving around 200 troops, was "necessary and well-founded".

"I have full trust in their judgement," the TT news agency quoted him as saying on Friday.

Neither Hultqvist nor Foreign Minister Margot Walström would comment on the nature of the information they had received from the military.

Nine real technologies that will soon be inside you

Given the frenzy of interest following the announcement of the Apple Watch, you might think wearables will be the next really important shift in technology.

Not so.

Wearables will have their moment in the sun, but they're simply a transition technology.

Technology will move from existing outside our bodies to residing inside us.

That's the next big frontier.

9 Ominous Signals Coming From The Financial Markets That We Have Not Seen In Years

By Michael Snyder, on October 14th, 2014

Is the stock market about to crash? Hopefully not, and there definitely have been quite a few "false alarms" over the past few years. But without a doubt we have been living through one of the greatest financial bubbles in U.S. history, and the markets are absolutely primed for a full-blown crash. That doesn't mean that one will happen now, but we are starting to see some ominous things happen in the financial world that we have not seen happen in a very long time. So many of the same patterns that we witnessed just prior to the bursting of the dotcom bubble and just prior to the 2008 financial crisis are repeating themselves again. Hopefully we still have at least a little bit more time before stocks completely crash, because when this market does implode it is going to be a doozy.

The following are 9 ominous signals coming from the financial markets that we have not seen in years...

#1 By the time the markets closed on Monday, we had witnessed the biggest three day decline for U.S. stocks since 2011.

#2 On Monday, the S&P 500 moved below its 200 day moving average for the first time in about two years. The last time this happened after such an extended streak of success, the S&P 500 ended up declining by a total of 22 percent.

#3 This week the put-call ratio actually moved higher than it was at any point during the collapse of Lehman Brothers in 2008. This is an indication that there is a tremendous amount of fear on Wall Street right now.

Eurozone fears have returned with a vengeance as deepening deflation across Southern Europe and fresh turmoil in Greece set off wild moves on the European bond markets.

Yields on 10-year German Bund plummeted to an all-time low on 0.72pc on flight to safety, touching levels never seen before in any major European country in recorded history. "This is not going to stop until the European Central Bank steps up to the plate. If it does not act in the next

If A Few Ebola Cases Can Make The Stock Market Crash This Much, What Would A Full-Blown Pandemic Mean?

By Michael Snyder, on October 15th, 2014

Is Ebola going to cause another of the massive October stock market crashes that Wall Street is famous for? At one point on Wednesday, the Dow was down a staggering 460 points. It ultimately closed down just 173 points, but this was the fifth day in a row that the Dow has declined. And of course Ebola is one of the primary things that is being blamed for this stunning stock market drop. Since September 19th, we have seen the S&P 500 fall about 7 percent and the Nasdaq fall nearly 10 percent. The VIX (the most important measure of volatility on Wall Street) shot up an astounding 22 percent on Wednesday. So many of the ominous signs for the markets that I wrote about on Tuesday are now even worse. If a handful of Ebola cases in the United States can cause this much panic in the financial world, what would a full-blown pandemic look like?

Of course Ebola is not the only reason why stocks are declining. Just look at what is happening over in Europe. The European Stoxx 600 index is already down a whopping 11.4 percent from the high that it hit just 18 days ago. That is officially considered to be "correction" territory.

And Greece experienced a full-blown stock market collapse on Wednesday...

The stock market is down over 9% on Wednesday, which is about as big as crashes come.

And the banks are getting absolutely smashed.

ABERDEEN, S.D. — Coach-led prayers are no longer allowed at a high school in South Dakota after a prominent atheist activist organization sent a letter of complaint asking that the practice be discontinued.

Officials with the Aberdeen School District recently received a letter from the Madison, Wisconsin-based Freedom From Religion Foundation (FFRF) surrounding an anonymous complaint it received that Aberdeen High School Coach Mike Flakus and his assistant coaches were allegedly leading the school's football team in prayer before games.

"It is illegal for a public school to organize, sponsor or lead prayers at public school events," the letter, which included a photograph from a local newspaper, stated. "More notably, federal courts have specifically held public school coaches' participation in their team's prayer circles unconstitutional."

It asked that the district put an end to the coaches' participation in pre-game prayers.

"Aberdeen School District must take immediate action to ensure that coaches do not lead, organize, encourage or participate in prayers with their teams," the correspondence continued. "The coaches' apparent organizing and obvious participation in a team prayer constitutes an unconstitutional government endorsement of religion."

In response, Superintendent Becky Guffin replied by advising that an investigation had been conducted as requested, and that coaches were instructed not to pray with the team.

"We have completed an exhaustive investigation, and we were unable to identify any further violations of this constitutional requirement," she wrote in the short reply. "All members of the administrative leadership team and coaching staff have received follow-up correspondence which instructs them not to organize, encourage, or participate in student prayer at any event sponsored by the district."

A few days ago President Obama, in an interview he gave France's Canal+ TV Channel, said that the American people need to be better educated about Islam, since US could and should be regarded as a Muslim country. He said that the number of Muslims residing in the US makes it "one of the biggest Muslim nations".

In reality the US has one of the smallest percentages of Muslims of any Western country. The number of Muslims in the US is approximately 4.5 million, 1.5% of the population, one

Georgia School Board Unanimously Votes to Remove Scripture From Sculpture

DANIELSVILLE, Ga. — A school board in Georgia has voted unanimously to remove two Scriptures from a sculpture that sits outside of the field house at a local high school after a prominent humanist and atheist organization asserted that the use of the verses violated the U.S. Constitution.

The Madison County School Board voted Tuesday night following a nearly two hour hearing over the matter that drew approximately 150-200 area residents, many of whom were present to support the monument's inclusion of the Bible verses. Three citizens spoke to the board to represent those who believed the sculpture should not be altered to appease those who take issue with the citation of Scripture.

As previously reported, the Wisconsin-based Freedom from Religion Foundation (FFRF) and the Washington, D.C.-based American Humanist Association (AHA) recently both sent letters to officials with the district in regard to a monument that had been erected at Madison County High School.

In addition to the school logo and the slogan "Home of the Red Raiders," the sculpture at issue contains two Bible verses: "If God be for us, who can be against us?" from Romans 8:31 and "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me" from Philippians 4:13. The monument was paid for by private funds, but the identity of the sponsor has not been revealed.

HOMESCHOOL CURRICULUM

calverteducatio...

FFRF and AHA contended that because the sculpture is placed on public school property, the inclusion of Scripture on the monument is a violation of the "separation of church and state" because it suggests that the school prefers Christianity over other religions—or Godlessness.

"The Bible verses on this monument violate this basic constitutional prohibition by creating the appearance that the school, and by extension the district, prefer religion to non-religion and Christianity to all other religions," wrote FFRF attorney Andrew Seidel in his letter to the district.

Monica Miller of AHA requested that the district "cover up the monument" until the Scriptures were removed, and Seidel likewise asked that officials "remove the Bible quotes from the monument and any other religious messages posted on district property."

VATICAN CITY — Pope Francis on Sunday, as he beatified Pope Paul VI who implemented the Second Vatican Council's vast changes, called on the church to adapt to "changing conditions of society."

His remarks took on added meaning as the bishops ended a two-week conference by rejecting landmark wording that would soften the church's stance toward homosexuality and divorce.

"God is not afraid of new things," Francis pointedly said during the beatification Mass.

USA TODAY
Catholic bishops reject welcome to gays in sign of split

Whether the document issued Saturday by the bishops is viewed as a setback for the pope, the conference did show the church can discuss difficult topics — such as the role of gays, lesbians and divorced Catholics. It also exposed a wide rift between conservative and liberal-minded leaders.

"The bishops did what Francis asked them to do, which was to talk about these topics in an open way with no issues left off the table," said Robert Mickens, a veteran Vatican commentator with Global Pulse magazine, which focuses on Catholic affairs. "The plan was to take the bishop's pulse on these issues, and in the end that's what happened, and it accurately showed a split between reformers and conservatives."

An interim document issued last week by the bishops halfway through their synod included wording that welcomed the "gifts and qualities" of gay Catholics and called on pastors to "avoid any language or behavior" that could discriminate against divorced Catholics.

Reverend Billy Graham, arguably the most well-known and respected evangelical preacher of the last 50 years, said in a recently published commentary that America was "founded by men who believed in prayer" and that prayer can turn "the tide of history," adding that while "America is just as wicked as Sodom and Gomorrah" and deserves "the judgment of God," this judgment can be lessened through prayer.

"Even though America is just as wicked as Sodom and Gomorrah ever were, and as deserving of the judgment of God, God would spare us if we were earnestly praying, with hearts that had been cleansed and washed by the blood of Christ," said Rev. Graham in his commentary for Decision magazine, published by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

City Threatens to Arrest Ministers Who Refuse to Perform Same-Sex Weddings

Two Christian ministers who own an Idaho wedding chapel were told they had to either perform same-sex weddings or face jail time and up to $1,000 in daily fines, according to a lawsuit filed Friday in federal court. Alliance Defending Freedom is representing Donald and Evelyn Knapp, two ordained ministers who own the Hitching Post Wedding Chapel in Coeur d'Alene. "Right now they are at risk of being prosecuted," attorney Jeremy Tedesco told me. "The threat of enforcement is more than just credible." The wedding chapel is registered as a "religious corporation" limited to performing "one-man-one-woman marriages as defined by the Holy Bible." However, the chapel is also a for-profit business and city officials said that means the owners must comply with the local nondiscrimination ordinance. That ordinance, passed in 2013, prohibits discrimination based on sexual orientation and it applies to housing, employment and public accommodation. City Attorney Warren Wilson told The Spokesman-Review in May that the Hitching Post Wedding Chapel likely would be required to follow the ordinance. "I would think that the Hitching Post would probably be considered a place of public accommodation that would be subject to the ordinance," he said. More

Ted Cruz Tells Brody File: "Real Risk" Of Pastors Being Jailed For Preaching Against Homosexuality

In an exclusive interview with The Brody File, Senator Ted Cruz says pastors being hauled off to jail by the government for preaching against homosexuality is a "real risk" in the future. "I think that is a real risk," Cruz tells me. "Some in the media ridicule that threat saying there is no danger of the government coming after pastors. That is the usual response." But he adds: "The specter of government trying to determine if what pastors preach from the pulpit meets with the policy views or political correctness of the governing authorities, that prospect is real and happening now."

The Brody File traveled to Houston Texas Thursday to interview Cruz after his press conference in defense of Houston pastors. They are under a severe religious liberty attack by city officials. The Mayor and the City Council are trying to subpoena the sermons of these pastors because of their supposed outspokenness on homosexuality and a controversial LGBT ordinance. The pastors are refusing to give in. More Brody File analysis on Ted Cruz and evangelicals here.

فالاضطهاد يزيد والاضطراب يزيد والزلازل والابوثة والفساد الأخلاقي يزيد والاحاد يزيد

فهذا أقول المسيح اقترب ميعاد مجيؤه لا احدد مواعيد بل ارفض من يحدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب شيئين

الأول نصلي ونستعد ونعد زيت لمصابيحنا لاستقبال العريس بالصلاة والصوم وخدمة أبناء الله
وتنقية القلب والاستعداد بلبس العرس.

أفسس 6: 15 وَحَازِنِينَ أَرْجُلَكُمْ بِاسْتِغْدَادٍ إِنِّجِيلِ السَّلَامِ .

رسالة بولس الرسول الي أهل رومية 13

13: 11 هذا وأنكم عارفون الوقت انها الان ساعة لنستيقظ من النوم فان خلاصنا الان أقرب مما كان حين امنا

13: 12 قد تنهى الليل وتقارب النهار فلنخلع اعمال الظلمة ونلبس اسلحة النور

13: 13 لنسلك بلباية كما في النهار لا بالبطر والسكر لا بالمضاجع والعهر لا بالخصام والحسد

13: 14 بل البسوا الرب يسوع المسيح ولا تصنعوا تدبيرا للجسد لأجل الشهوات

احترس ان لم تتمسك بالمسيح من الان قد لا تستطيع في المستقبل القريب بسبب الظلام.

الثاني لا نخاف

بطرس الأولى 3: 14

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوْا،

بل نفرح

رسالة بولس الرسول إلى أهل فيلبي 4: 4

إَفْرَحُوا فِي الرَّبِّ كُلَّ حِينٍ، وَأَقُولُ أَيْضًا: اْفْرَحُوا.

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان يريد أن نفقد سلامنا ولا ننال أكاليل.

وأيضاً استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك 150 ألف شخص يموتوا في اليوم الواحد

انت لا تعرف متى ستكون منهم

المسيح اقترب فاصنعوا ثمار تليق بالتوبة واستعدوا لاستقبال العريس.

والمجد لله دائماً
