والعلامات حتى 28 اكتوبر 2014

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن أيضاً علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل أيضاً قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيق اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

مت 24: 7 لأنه تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة وتكون مجاعات واوبئة وزلازل في اماكن

مت 24: 8 ولكن هذه كلها مبتدأ الازعاج

مت 24: 9 حينئذ يسلمونكم الى ضيق ويقتلونكم وتكونون مبغضين من جميع الامم لأجل اسمي

مت 24: 10 وحينئذ يعثر كثيرون ويسلمون بعضهم بعضا ويبغضون بعضهم بعضا

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون كثيرين

مت 24: 12 ولكثرة الاثم تبرد محبة الكثيرين

مت 24: 13 ولكن الذي يصبر الى المنتهى فهذا يخلص

مت 24: 14 ويكرز ببشارة الملكوت هذه في كل المسكونة شهادة لجميع الامم ثم ياتي المنتهى

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

المسيح لا يتنبأ ولا يتوقع بل يعرف

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

A monster solar flare erupted early Sunday (Oct. 19) from a huge sunspot that may just be getting warmed up.

The sun fired off an X-class solar flare — the most powerful type — that peaked at 1:01 a.m. EDT (5:01 GMT) Sunday. NASA's Solar Dynamics Observatory (SDO) spacecraft captured photos and video of the intense sun storm, which researchers classified as an X1.1 flare.

The flare erupted from a sunspot called AR (Active Region) 2192, which has since grown to become 78,000 miles (125,000 kilometers) wide, according to Spaceweather.com — almost as big as the planet Jupiter.

First solar storm from huge sunspot reaches Earth and knocks out satellites - and more could be on their way

- Solar radiation knocked out some radio communication on Earth yesterday
- It came from a giant sunspot seen on the surface of the sun recently
- Sunspot AR12192 is 14 times larger than Earth and almost as big as Jupiter
- The Met Office tells MailOnline it might be the largest sunspot in 25 years
- It is so big that it can be seen in images of the sun from Earth's surface
- This particular flare from the sunspot was brief but strong
- It follows three days of severe storms on the sun
- 'It would seem to be just a matter of time before another strong explosion occurs,' said spaceweather.com's Tony Phillips

A monster storm on the sun's surface has unleashed a solar flare in the direction of Earth - and there could be more to come.

The event temporarily blacked out a few radio communication systems before weakening.

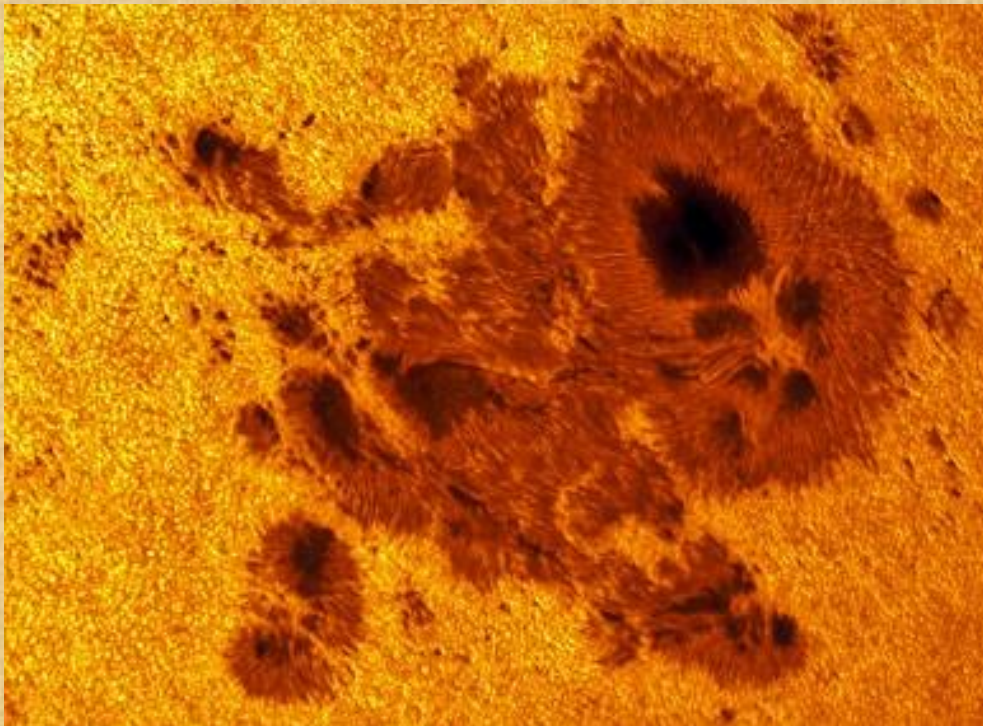

The storm came from a large group of sunspots and hit Earth between 10 am and 11 am EDT (2pm and 3pm BST) yesterday.

A comet from the farthest reaches of the solar system passed extremely close to Mars this weekend, giving astronomers a rare opportunity to study it.

An asteroid, only discovered on Saturday, will be passing uncomfortably close to Earth on Monday, Oct. 27, as reported in an article published by Science 2.0 on Oct. 26. The asteroid, designated as 2014 UF56 by NASA, is about the size of a small house and would do considerable damage if it struck the planet. Apparently, the chances of that happening are small, but, considering this object has only been known of for a few days, it's possible there hasn't been enough time to ensure it will pass safely.

The event is significant enough to warrant a live broadcast by The Virtual Telescope Project, which will be tracking the space rock's progress as it nears Earth, using remotely controlled telescopes situated all around the planet and connected online. The closest pass to the planet will occur about noon Pacific Time on Monday. The big question is, how sure is NASA that asteroid 2014 UF56 is harmless?

Considering the explosion of the meteor over Chelyabinsk, Russia in February, 2013, it's obvious that even such a relatively small space rock is capable of significant damage. And, that meteor was undiscovered by sky watchers charged with the task before it hit the atmosphere. What assurances are there that this latest asteroid, or any other, will not have a similar impact, or even worse?

Prior to the comet Siding Spring passing close to Mars last week (and causing a massive explosion in the planet's atmosphere) it was reported that the Australian observatory which originally discovered the comet is closing down. The closure leaves a gaping hole in the sky watch program, leaving the southern hemisphere largely unmonitored.

Officials in Indonesia warn Mt. Sinabung's volcanic eruption could continue almost indefinitely

Posted on October 22, 2014

October 2014 – INDONESIA - An observation team says that Mount Sinabung in Karo regency, North Sumatra, is likely to continue erupting for quite some time following an increase in seismic activity on Monday. As of 12 p.m. Monday, Mt. Sinabung had 148 temblors comprising 83 short-period quakes, 34 low-frequency and 31 mixed tremors. Observation team member Arif Cahyo said Mt. Sinabung's tectonic quakes showed that a large volume of magma was present, indicating that the volcano would continue to erupt for a long time. "We cannot determine how long Mt. Sinabung will continue to erupt, but if we observe the increase in seismic activity, it will definite be a long time," Arif told The Jakarta Post on Monday. Arif said that Mt. Sinabung was still erupting and emitting pyroclastic flows and volcanic ash sporadically. He said the volcano had emitted pyroclastic clouds twice on Sunday and three times on Monday. "Until Monday noon, the volcano discharged pyroclastic flows three times that drifted as far as 2,500 meters to the south, while volcanic ash drifted up to 1,500 meters to the east," said Arif, who voiced fear that Berastagi city would be covered by ash that had been drifting east for the past two days.

Lava From Hawaii Volcano Picks Up Speed As It Nears Town

AP | By CATHY BUSSEWITZ

Posted: 10/24/2014 4:12 pm EDT | Updated: 10/24/2014 7:59 pm EDT

HONOLULU (AP) - A growing lava stream threatening homes and inching closer to a rural road on Hawaii's Big Island oozed forward in fits and starts this week, frustrating some residents but giving officials a window of time to prepare.

The narrow, leading edge of the lava flow is now just 250 yards from the one-lane country road, which has been closed. Crews are working on an alternate route for remote communities in the Puna district in case the lava crosses a major thoroughfare.

The lava sped up over the past few days, advancing nearly 460 yards from Thursday morning to Friday, but it slowed again Friday morning, officials said.

Hawaii volcano lava prompts evacuation concerns

By BECKY BOHRER, Associated Press Updated 6:29 pm, Sunday, October 26, 2014

IMAGE 1 OF 9

This Oct. 25, 2014 photo provided by the U.S. Geological Survey shows a small shed being consumed by lava in a pasture between the Pahoa cemetery and Apa?a Street near the town of Pahoa on the Big Island of Hawaii. Dozens of residents in this rural area of Hawaii were placed on alert as flowing lava continued to advance. Authorities on Sunday, Oct. 26, 2014 said lava had advanced about 250 yards since Saturday morning and was moving at the rate of about 10 to 15 yards an hour, consistent with its advancement in recent days. The flow front passed through a predominantly Buddhist cemetery, covering grave sites in the mostly rural region of Puna, and was roughly a half-mile from Pahoa Village Road, the main street of Pahoa.

TOKYO (Reuters) - Japan warned on Friday that a volcano in southern Japan located roughly 64 km (40 miles) from a nuclear plant was showing signs of increased activity that could possibly lead to a small-scale eruption and warned people to stay away from the summit.

The warning comes nearly a month after another volcano, Mt Ontake, erupted suddenly when crowded with hikers, killing 57 people in Japan's worst volcanic disaster in nearly 90 years.

eruptions at a volcano in Iceland involve huge amounts of lava, so it's no surprise the Bardarbunga volcano lies directly over the hottest portion of the North Atlantic mantle plume, researchers say.

The volcano in central Iceland, which has been ejecting huge amounts of lava since Aug. 31, is evidence that such eruptions require extremely high mantle temperatures deep beneath the Earth's surface to generate such massive amounts of magma, scientists from the University of California

At least 4,877 people have died in the world's worst recorded outbreak of Ebola as of Oct. 19, the World Health Organization (WHO) said on Wednesday, but the true toll may be three times as much.

At least 9,936 cases of the disease had been recorded, according to the WHO, but the actual numbers may be three times higher.

The WHO has said real numbers of cases are believed to be much higher than reported: by a factor of 1.5 in Guinea, 2 in Sierra Leone and 2.5 in Liberia, while the death rate is thought to be about 70 percent of all cases. That would suggest a toll of almost 15,000.

Less than a week after two west African countries successfully rid themselves of Ebola, another has announced its first case of the disease. In a television address on Thursday, Mali's health minister, Ousmane Kone, revealed that a two-year-old girl has tested positive for the virus.

The girl was hospitalized yesterday in Kayes, a town in western Mali. A health official told Reuters that relatives brought her into the country from neighboring

A well known and highly respected doctor has come forth with claims that the U.S. government has been intentionally concealing cases of Ebola in the United States.

Dr. James Lawrenzi made the comments on Thursday while appearing as a guest on the Alex Jones show. Jones, the host of a nationally broadcast radio talk show, Infowars, has been an outspoken critic of the way in which the Ebola health crisis has been handled by the Obama administration. ## Something Horrifically Bad Is Coming - FEMA Camps, Disappearing Ebola Patients, Portable Incinerators And The Number 33

By Susan Duclos

As news of Ebola in the US explodes with stories coming out fast and furiously, we see a couple of alarming alerts over at Steve Quayle's website, which brings up questions of new reports on "disappearing" Ebola patients, where they are being taken, what is happening to those that die, why at the 53 minute mark in the NY Ebola presser (found here) did government officials refuse to answer questions about protocol for dead bodies that are infected with Ebola (calling it "bad karma"), previous reports of "smokey trucks (portable incinerators), and the odd occurrence of the number 33 continuously popping up in headlines dealing with Ebola.

Steve and Tom, I was just thinking about the Smokey Trucks that had been reported a few years back. Steve I am sure you remember doing a couple of shows when your contacts warned of them up on the Canadian border.

Well the two stories of the some hospitals contemplating not treating Ebola Patients and the stories of folk "disappearing" who were suspected of having it, coupled with the lies of how many are infected in America brought that back to mind. I just posted this comment on the story of the hospitals refusing to treat patients. I just wonder if the Smokey Trucks are in operation right now???

Obama Care at its best? I wonder if that clause is written into the loving health care reform? What they will do is ship you off to a FEMA camp and incinerate you. There are reports of people being "Disappeared" already!! Also years back there were reports of Portable Incinerators called "Smokey Trucks" around the Canadian borders.

Hummmm!!!

OCT 22 US troops deployed to Africa will not be given Hazmat suits

Soldiers from the 101st Airborne Division deployed to Ebola hotspots in West Africa to battle the deadly disease will not receive full protective Hazmat suits for their mission. Instead, the troops will be given only masks and gloves to protect them from the potentially fatal virus, General David Rodriguez said at a Pentagon briefing. The Kentucky-based Army division is being sent to Liberia to help coordinate the response to the epidemic, and will primarily be building hospitals and treatment and training centers. More Below

Major General David Rodriguez, the commander of US troops in Africa, claimed that the soldiers would not need full protective hazmat suits as they would not be coming into direct contact with anyone infected with Ebola. Washington Post reports.

He said: "They don't need the whole suit - at least - because they're not going to be in contact with any of the people."

MOSCOW, October 21 (RIA Novosti) - US President Barack Obama said Russian policy is one of the three main reasons Americans should worry about, along with the Ebola virus and the Islamic State terrorist group.

"But people are still anxious. And they're anxious for three reasons: one, internationally, we're seeing a tumultuous time in the Middle East... The Ebola crisis... The situation in Ukraine and Russia's aggression - that has concerned people. So you have this sense of uncertainty overseas," Obama stated Monday.

Earlier, such statements by Obama were met with sharp criticism from Moscow.

For the first time, Barack Obama used the comparison of Russia with terrorists and the Ebola virus in the September speech at the UN General Assembly.

Canadian Parliament shooter believed to be Islam convert from Quebec

Canadian authorities late Wednesday identified the shooter in a brazen attack on the Parliament complex in Ottawa that left a soldier dead as Michael Zehaf-Bibeau, 32, Fox News has confirmed. The shooting, which triggered a lockdown of the nation's capital, came just two days after a terror attack in Quebec. A government official told Fox that investigators believe Zehaf-Bibeau, who was killed at the scene, had changed his name from Joseph Michael Hall. U.S. agencies also have been advised he was believed to be a convert to Islam from Quebec. Counter terrorism investigators are reviewing his social media traffic and profile, with a focus on any link to the attack on two soldiers in Quebec Monday. The Toronto Globe and Mail said sources had told the paper Zehaf-Bibeau was recently designated a "high-risk traveler" by the Canadian government and his passport had been seized. More

CNN anchor Anderson Cooper and correspondents discussed a disturbing hatchet attack by 32-year-old Zale Thompson on two NYPD officers Thursday and the potential that Thompson may have been "radicalized" by Islamic State propaganda after a review of his social media accounts.

"What is truly concerning police are his social media postings—Facebook, YouTube, et cetera—which has raised suspicions that this random attack that you see in the surveillance video right there is tied to recent calls by radical groups including ISIS for random attacks like this on law enforcement," CNN correspondent Jim Sciutto said.

Sciutto said witnesses indicated that Thompson appeared to be stalking the two police officers, one of whom is in critical condition after the attack.

Sweden May Use Military Force Against Alleged Submarine: Armed Forces Chief

Commander of the Swedish Armed Forces Sverker Goranson

STOCKHOLM, October 21 (RIA Novosti) - Sweden may resort to the use of force against the alleged foreign submarine in the Stockholm archipelago, Commander of the Swedish Armed Forces Sverker Goranson said on Tuesday.

"If someone is in Swedish internal waters. . . I find it entirely appropriate to also use military force," Goranson is quoted as saying by the Svenska Dagbladet newspaper.

He noted, however, that if a watercraft is found, Swedish forces would try to move it up to the surface without causing damage.

Goranson again stated that it is "likely that there is or has been underwater activity in Stockholm's archipelago", but refrained from elaborating due to operational security reasons.

Swedish forces first launched a major operation off the coast of Stockholm on Friday after receiving information, reportedly from a civilian, about the presence of an

Polish plans defense shift toward its eastern border due to Ukraine conflict

By MONIKA SCISLOWSKA
Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland is planning a major realignment of its military structure because of the conflict in neighboring Ukraine, the country's defense minister said Monday, a move that could shift thousands of troops to its eastern border.

"The geopolitical situation has changed. We have the biggest crisis of security since the Cold War and we must draw conclusions from that," Polish Defense Minister Tomasz Siemoniak told The Associated Press.

Although Poland joined NATO in 1999, most of its 120,000-member army is based along the country's western border, as a relic of its former status as a Soviet Bloc member.

That is going to change, Siemoniak said, adding that at least three military bases in the east will increase from the current 30 percent of capacity to almost 90 percent by the end of 2017. That's a potential increase of thousands of troops, although Siemoniak wouldn't specify a precise overall figure.

Up to 400 jobs would be filled in the air defense unit in Siedlce alone by 2017, he said.

"I believe that what happened to the east of Poland does not represent a threat to us for the next months, or two or three or five years. It is a need to draw conclusions for the decades to come," he added in explaining the large scope of the plans.

The announcement follows a visit by U.S. President Barack Obama to Estonia last month in which he urged NATO members to do more to assist Ukraine.

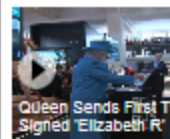

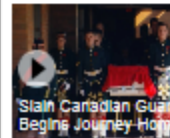

There was no immediate reaction in Moscow to the planned Polish military moves. The Russian government may be reluctant to criticize Poland since Russia had insisted on the right to position its forces as it wishes within its own country when confronted by the West over the deployment of Russian troops along the Ukrainian border.

Charles Heyman, editor of the Armed Forces of the United Kingdom publication, said Poland's eastward movement is "part and parcel" of a larger NATO re-deployment.

"We'll see other NATO nations probably stationing troops in Poland on a permanent basis as well," he said. "Not large numbers, but maybe a small NATO brigade of 2,500 that would be rotated every six months."

China seeks stronger military ties with Iran

China's defense minister said Thursday the world's most populous country is "ready to enhance" military ties with Iran. Iran is under severe international sanctions over its nuclear program, which much of the world believes is intended to develop nuclear weapons. Chinese Defense Minister Chang Wanquan was meeting in Beijing with Iranian Rear Admiral Habibollah Sayyari, commander of Iran's navy. Wanquan told his Iranian counterpart the two countries have had "good cooperation on mutual visits, personnel training and other fields in recent years," China's official Xinhua news agency reported, according to Reuters. Sayyari said Iran was "ready to enhance bilateral exchanges to push forward cooperation between the two armed forces, especially in naval cooperation." More

China deployed more than 1,200 troops and scrambled fighter jets in response to an unauthorised flight near Beijing airport by what turned out to be a mapping drone, state-run media reported on Thursday.

Three men were being prosecuted over the incident, the China Daily said.

It cited prosecutors as saying that 1,226 military personnel, 123 military vehicles, 26 radar technicians, two fighter jets and two helicopters were sent into action after the aircraft was spotted on radar screens.

Police arrested two men as they flew the drone and a third confessed later, according to the paper, which is published by the government. All three men worked for an aviation technology company, the report said, and the 2.3-metre-long (7.5ft) drone was intended to be used for survey and mapping purposes.

US General: North Korea Can Miniaturize Nuke Warheads

The top U.S. military officer in Korea says that Pyongyang can place a nuclear warhead on a ballistic missile.

North Korea has the ability to miniaturize nuclear warheads, the top U.S. military commander in Korea said on Friday.

On Friday General Curtis Scaparrotti, the commander of U.S. Forces Korea, briefed reporters at the Pentagon in Washington, DC. During the press conference, Scaparrotti was asked if North Korea had the capability to marry a miniaturized nuclear warhead to a ballistic missile.

“Personally I think that they certainly have had the expertise in the past,” Scaparrotti said. He added, “They’ve had the right connections, and so I believe have the capability to have miniaturized a device at this point, and they have the technology to potentially actually deliver what they say they have.”

He later clarified that he doesn’t believe North Korea has actually placed a nuclear warhead on a missile yet, and stressed that his assessment of Pyongyang’s capabilities was based on his personal opinion rather than on hard evidence.

“I don’t know that they do. What I’m saying is, is that I think given their technological capabilities, the time that they been working on this, that they probably have the capabilities to put this together. I don’t believe that they have. I don’t know that they have at this point.”

Scaparrotti noted that North Korea has “proliferation relationships” with Pakistan and Iran, either of whom might have helped it in developing the capability to miniaturize nuclear warheads so they can fit on ballistic missiles.

North Korea has conducted three nuclear tests since 2006 but it has yet to demonstrate the capability to miniaturize a nuclear warhead. In recent years, the question of whether North Korea this capability has been hotly debated in the United States and the Asia-Pacific.

North Korea itself claimed that its February 2013 nuclear test was of a “miniaturized and lighter nuclear device.” In April of last year, the U.S. Defense Intelligence Agency– the Pentagon’s intelligence shop– assessed with “moderate confidence” that North Korea has acquired this capability. Other U.S. intelligence agencies, as well as South Korean ones would not corroborate this at the time, and President Barack Obama himself also directly refuted the

Adviser to Iranian president mocks Obama's 'humiliating' presidency (UPDATED)

The Iranian president's senior advisor has called President Barack Obama "the weakest of U.S. presidents" and described the U.S. leader's tenure in office as "humiliating," according to a translation of the highly candid comments provided to the Free Beacon.

The comments by Ali Younesi, senior advisor to Iranian President Hassan Rouhani, come as Iran continues to buck U.S. attempts to woo it into the international coalition currently battling the Islamic State (IS, ISIL, or ISIS).

And with the deadline quickly approaching on talks between the U.S. and Iran over its contested nuclear program, Younesi's denigrating views of Obama could be a sign that the regime in Tehran has no intent of conceding to America's demands.

"Obama is the weakest of U.S. presidents, he had humiliating defeats in the region. Under him the Islamic awakening happened," Younesi said in a Farsi language interview with Iran's semi-official Fars News Agency.

"Americans witnessed their greatest defeats in Obama's era: Terrorism expanded, [the] U.S. had huge defeats under Obama [and] that is why they want to compromise with Iran," Younesi said.

The criticism of Obama echoes comments made recently by other world leaders and even former members of the president's own staff, such as Former Defense Secretary Robert Gates.

Younesi, a former minister of intelligence in the country, also had some harsh comments about U.S. conservatives and the state of Israel.

"Conservatives are war mongers, they cannot tolerate powers like Iran," he said. "If conservatives were in power they would go

Violence continued in Jerusalem Thursday, a day after an Arab terrorist killed an infant when he plowed into a crowd of Jews waiting for a train. Arabs threw rocks at Israeli drivers and police in Arab neighborhoods of Jerusalem, and attacked children at a kindergarten in the Maale Hazeitim neighborhood on the Mt. Enough is enough, said Jerusalem Mayor Nir Barkat Thursday.

Barkat toured areas on the "seam zone," the neighborhoods along Road 60 that cuts a swathe between the mostly Jewish neighborhoods of Maalot Dafna, Meah Shearim, and downtown Jerusalem to the west, and the largely Arab sections Silwan, Beit Hanina, and the streets outside the Old City to the east. Barkat, accompanied by officers of the special Yassam police security unit, toured the French Hill Issawiya neighborhoods, both near Hebrew University.

"We must restore quiet to Jerusalem," Barkat declared. "I have been saying for months that the situation here is intolerable, and we must act decisively to stop the violence. It is clearer than ever that we must place police inside Arab neighborhoods to prevent unrest, with a large presence and well-equipped forces, acting to restore order to the city."

ROME – The Roman Catholic Pontiff Francis addressed an audience at the Pontifical Academy of Sciences on Monday, during which he reaffirmed long-held Catholic beliefs that evolution is not “inconsistent” with Creation.

“When we read about Creation in Genesis, we run the risk of imagining God was a magician, with a magic wand able to do everything. But that is not so,” he told those gathered for a discussion on “Evolving Concepts of Nature.” “He created human beings and let them develop according to the internal laws that he gave to each one so they would reach their fulfillment.”

“God is not a divine being or a magician, but the Creator who brought everything to life,” Francis continued. “The Big Bang, which today we hold to be the origin of the world, does not contradict the intervention of the divine creator but, rather, requires it. ... Evolution in nature is not inconsistent with the notion of creation, because evolution requires the creation of beings that evolve.”

Giovanni Bignami, a professor and president of Italy’s National Institute for Astrophysics, praised the Pope’s statements to reporters, opining that he had buried the “pseudo theories” of Creationists.

Kindergarten

Grade 3

“The pope’s statement is significant,” he told the news outlet Adnkronos. “We are the direct descendants from the big bang that created the universe. Evolution came from Creation.”

As previously reported, earlier this month, Guy Consolmagno with the Vatican Observatory told Australia’s Fairfax Media that young earth creation beliefs are nearly tantamount to blasphemy.

“It’s almost blasphemous theology,” Consolmagno alleged, according to the Brisbane Times. “It’s certainly not the tradition of Catholicism and never has been and it misunderstands what the Bible is and it misunderstands what science is.”

The Big Bang, which scientists believe led to the formation of the universe some 13.8 billion years ago, was all part of God's plan, Pope Francis has declared.

The Pope said the scientific account of the beginning of the universe and the development of life through evolution are compatible with the Catholic Church's vision of creation.

He told a meeting of the Vatican's Pontifical Academy for Sciences: 'The Big Bang, which today we hold to be the origin of the world, does not contradict the intervention of the divine creator but, rather, requires it.'

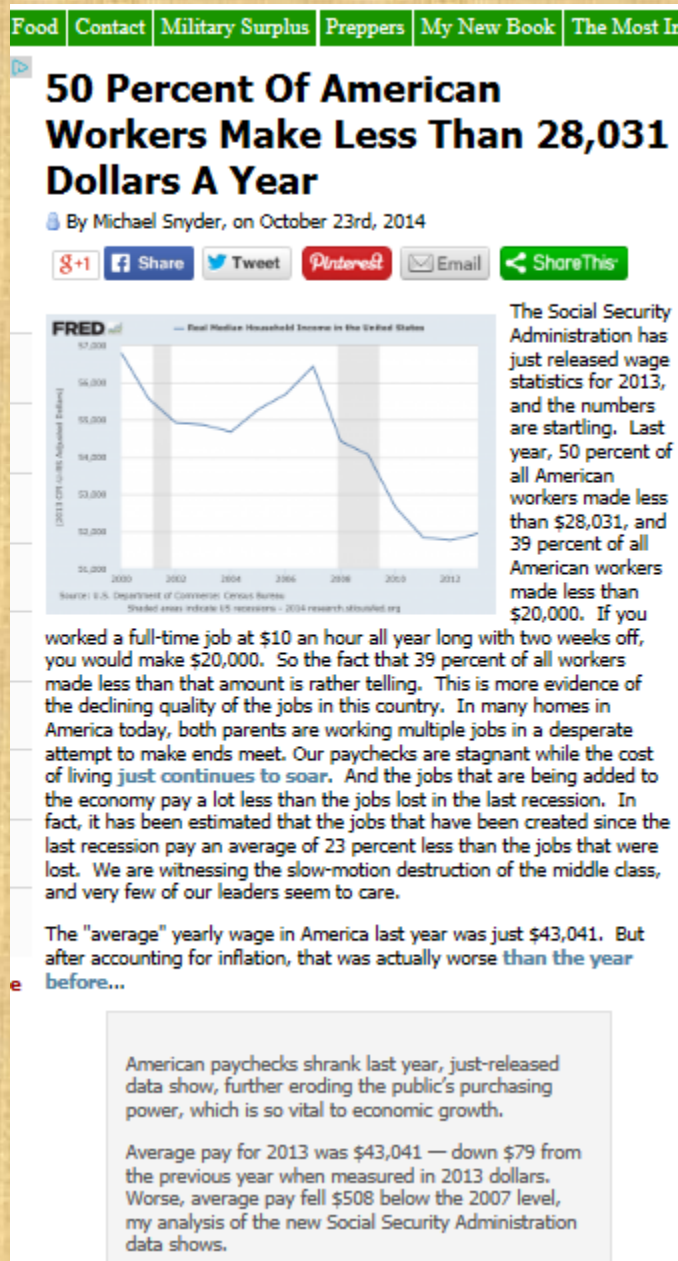

But he said Christians should reject the idea that world came into being by chance. Likewise,

Saudi Arabia's Crude Oil Supply Said to Fall in September

By Wael Mahdi and Anthony DiPaola | Oct 23, 2014 10:07 AM CT | 584 Comments Email Print

The amount of oil Saudi Arabia supplied to markets fell last month, according to a person familiar with the country's oil policy. Its production climbed.

The world's biggest crude exporter supplied 9.86 million barrels a day last month, a reduction of 828,000 barrels daily from August, according to the person, who asked not to be identified, citing policy. The supply figure excludes what's stored. Saudi Arabia produced about 100,000 barrels a day more than in August, the person said.

Crude collapsed into a bear market this month as Saudi Arabia and other producers deepened price discounts for their oil, amid speculation they're competing for market share in Asia. Global supplies are rising as the U.S. pumps the most in almost three decades and Russia's output nears a post-Soviet record. Brent, the global oil benchmark, rose more than 1 percent immediately after the person's comments.

"If this was an intentional cut by Saudi Arabia, I'd expect them to have cut the actual amount of oil produced and not just the supply to market," Richard Mallinson, a London-based analyst at Energy Aspects Ltd., said by phone. "More is being read into the fluctuations than should be. I don't see anything in these latest numbers to indicate a unilateral production cut."

Cut Calls

Angola, Libya and Venezuela have all said OPEC needs to take action on prices, with the Latin American nation's President Nicolas Maduro calling for an emergency meeting in a televised address Oct. 17. Global markets are oversupplied by about 1 million barrels a day and OPEC needs to reduce collective output by at least 500,000 barrels a day, Libya's OPEC governor Samir Kamal said by e-mail yesterday, adding that his comments reflected

Pastors Flood Houston Mayor's Office With Sermons

Houston Mayor Annise Parker has become a lightning rod for criticism that she is trying to quell dissent against her pro-gay agenda by trying to intimidate pastors. (Facebook)

You've no doubt heard of the classic Star Wars movie, The Empire Strikes Back. Well, it's time for a new movie and it's just starting. It's called, The Pastors Strike Back.

Fresh off the stunning attack on religious liberty down in Houston where pastors were told by Houston's Mayor to hand over their sermons, there is now an effort underway by pastors across America to VOLUNTARILY send Bibles and their sermons to the mayor of Houston.

Mike Huckabee called for it and so has influential Christian author Eric Metaxas. Metaxas tells The Brody File, "Never in our history has religious freedom been so brazenly defied. A bold red line has been crossed. The Houston mayor's inexcusable demand to see the sermons of pastors is an outrageous and shocking affront to all Americans and to liberty itself. If the American church does not rise up and stand against this, there is no American church."

Revere religion

REVERE, Mass. (WHDH) - Some parents in Revere were angry when they learned students were being taught about Islam and the Muslim religion.

"No religion should be taught at school. In their paper it says Allah is their only God. That's insulting to me as a Christian who believes in just Jesus only," said Anthony Giannino.

A section of the textbook describing the beliefs of Muslims says, "I bear witness that there is no God but Allah."

This painting has hung in the office of Kenneth Cooper Middle School for 18 years, and it's going to stay there. (Putnam County School District)

A middle school in Oklahoma is being threatened with legal action unless it removes a painting that depicts two children praying, which has hung at the school for more than 18 years.

To its credit, the Putnam County School District has flatly refused to remove the artwork. District officials said no one had ever complained about until a letter was received from the secularist Freedom From Religion Foundation (FFRF), which is based in Wisconsin.

Even though school officials insist that no specific religion or message is promoted through the print that hangs in Kenneth Cooper Middle School, the FFRF claims the painting discriminates against children who choose not to pray, according to a report Wednesday on onenewsnow.com.

"It is our information and understanding that in the Kenneth Cooper Middle School office hangs a religious poster with an image entitled, 'Faith in America' by Donald Zolan," stated FFRF staff

Blasphemous Books and Materials to be distributed to FL Public Schools

The Freedom From Religion Foundation, an atheist group, is planning to hand out in several Florida public high schools a pamphlet that features an illustration on its cover depicting a humanized Bible sexually assaulting a young woman. The pamphlet is entitled: "An X-Rated Book: Sex and Obscenity in the Bible." The front cover of the small purple booklet is illustrated with a cartoon Bible—which has arms, legs, face and drooling mouth—sexually assaulting a screaming woman as she tries to escape its grasp. According to a news release posted on its website, FFRF plans to distribute the pamphlet, along with several other brochures and a few books, in 11 public high schools in Orange County, Florida, in January. Orange County is in central part of the state and includes the city of Orlando.

An Alabama school district has landed itself in atheists activists' crosshairs after a high school football coach allowed players to be baptized on the field following a practice session earlier this month.

After a "concerned citizen" reached out to the Freedom From Religion Foundation to complain about the incident, the group sent a letter to officials at Russellville City Schools in Russellville, Alabama, citing "unconstitutional religious activity" and asking the district to investigate.

The atheist organization contends that it is illegal for public schools to host or promote religious activities, claiming that both the head coach, Mark Heaton, and the so-called team chaplain, Tanner Hall, had both subsequently publicized the October 2 baptisms on their social media accounts.

A tweet dated October 3 on an account attributed to Heaton reads, "Three baptized after practice Thursday. Building the Kingdom!!" and it includes accompanying pictures.

Iranian Pastor Sentenced to Six Years in Prison for Spreading Christianity

TEHRAN, Iran – An Iranian pastor has been sentenced to six years in prison for spreading Christianity in the nation, an act that is believed to be seen by the government as a threat to the Iranian regime.

As previously reported, Behnam Irani, who leads the 300-member Church of Iran in Karaj, was initially detained in 2006 while holding a Bible study and sentenced to prison five years later for “action against the state.”

In June, he was interrogated on five occasions for four hours each. Authorities then added 18 new charges against the 41-year-old pastor, including Mofsed fel-Arz or “spreading corruption on Earth,” which carries the death penalty. Another translation of the charge is “enemies of God on Earth.”

However, earlier this month, the charges were reduced and Irani instead faced accusations of “action against national security” and “creating a network to overthrow the system,” which are stated to be catchalls to criminalize anyone deemed a threat to the government. On Sunday, Irani was declared guilty by Judge Asel Al-Hosseyn, and two other leaders with the Church of Iran, Abdolreza Ali-Haghejad and Reza Rabbani, were sentenced as well.

“The Iranians are chess players,” Jason DeMars of Present Truth Ministries told Morning Star News. “They always pride themselves that they play chess, so I believe they were bringing these higher-level crimes in order to make it more digestible that they gave a six-year sentence, and also to test the waters on how the international community would respond to these type of charges.”

“It is possible that they just wanted to threaten with the death sentence to make a long-term prison term more acceptable to the international public,” added church member Firouz Khandjani to Boz News. “However, for Irani six more years in prison mean a death sentence as he is very ill.”

Officials say someone drove their car into monument Thursday night, smashing it to pieces. The suspect reportedly made vague threats at the Oklahoma City Federal Building today and was taken into custody. His name has not yet been released.

The suspect has been identified as Michael Tate Reed Jr., 29. He is from Roland and was taken to Oklahoma County mental facility for an emergency order of detention and a mental evaluation.

The suspect said Satan told him to do it, Secret Service officials said. He also reportedly said he would kill President Obama and spit on a photo of Obama. The suspect also allegedly admitted that he urinated on the Ten Commandments monument before running it over.

One of Britain's top Catholic cardinals has hope that next year's synod will result in a more open and welcoming church for gay and lesbian Catholics.

Cardinal Vincent Nichols, the archbishop of Westminster, said that he was initially disappointed with the first draft of a document summarizing synod proceedings.

The interim document, or relatio, stated that "homosexuals have gifts and qualities to offer the Christian community," and asked whether the church was capable of "welcoming" them. Although his peers ultimately voted against that language, Nichols actually said that the text didn't go "far enough."

"There were three key words as far as I was concerned ... 'respect', 'welcome' and 'value,'" Nichols said during a BBC Radio 4 interview. "I was looking for those words and they weren't there and so I didn't think that was a good paragraph."

However, Nichols claimed he couldn't remember how he cast his vote.

U. S. District Court Judge Juan M. Pérez-Giménez (Wikimedia)

U. S. District Court Judge Juan M. Pérez-Giménez upheld the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico's definition of marriage as a union of "a man and a woman" and "husband and wife."

Judge Pérez-Giménez, who was appointed by President Jimmy Carter, ruled that the Supreme Court's own 1972 dismissal of a Minnesota case claiming a constitutional "right" of same-sex couples to "marry," Baker v. Nelson, constitutes a binding precedent that can only be overridden by the Supreme Court itself, not by the district or circuit courts.

FRC President Tony Perkins made the following comments:

"Judge Pérez-Giménez serves as a model of judicial restraint in the face of an epidemic of federal judges legislating from the bench on the issue of marriage. It is time for other courts to follow his example, and the Supreme Court shouldn't allow activist lower courts to redefine states' marriage laws.

"Judge Pérez-Giménez not only rejected the constitutional arguments for redefining marriage, but succinctly made the case for natural marriage, noting that 'the very survival of the political order depends (CNSNews.com) – Rev. David Welch, one of five pastors who were subpoenaed by the City of Houston to turn over all sermons and other documents and communications related to homosexuality and gender identity, said Wednesday that the move represents a much broader agenda of the city's lesbian mayor and other gay rights activists.

"This is the result of our allowing these critical institutions to fall into the hands of those who are of an opposite world view who are intentionally and systematically deconstructing God's created order," said Welch, executive director of the Texas Pastor Council.

"The ungodly abuse of power and, frankly, just evil abuse of that ... steals the freedom and ultimately the moral framework of the culture and ultimately attacks the minds and hearts of our children," Welch said during

Top United Methodist Council Affirms Reinstatement of Minister Who Officiated Same-Sex 'Wedding'

MEMPHIS – Citing procedural errors, a top United Methodist judicial council has affirmed the reinstatement of a Pennsylvania minister who was defrocked last year after he refused to neither repent for officiating a same-sex “marriage” or to relinquish his ministerial license over his rebellion against Church law.

As previously reported, Frank Schaefer, 51, who oversees Zion United Methodist Church of Iona in Lebanon, was found guilty in November of “conducting a ceremony that celebrates same-sex unions” and “disobedience to order and discipline of the Methodist Church.” In 2007, he traveled to Massachusetts to officiate a ceremony between his son Tim and Tim’s homosexual partner.

The United Methodist Book of Discipline outlines that “the practice of homosexuality is incompatible with Christian teaching” and that “self-avowed practicing homosexuals” may not be ordained as ministers in the denomination. It also forbids ministers from hosting or participating in “ceremonies that celebrate homosexual unions.”

Schaefer said that he knew what he was doing was against church law, but chose to proceed with the ceremony anyway.

“The love for my son took over the fear of losing my job with the United Methodist Church,” Schaefer told the Lebanon Daily News. “It was a tough decision in some sense, but I just knew I had to make it. I had to follow my heart.”

5 FOODS YOU MUST NOT EAT:

However, some in Schaefer’s church was not so supportive when they learned that their shepherd had officiated over the ceremony. One member, Jon Boger, filed a complaint with the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference just before the statute of limitations ran out, and Schaefer was ordered to stand trial.

During his church trial, Schaefer told a jury of thirteen United Methodist ministers that he would continue to advocate for homosexuality and wore a rainbow stole as a sign of his support.
