اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن ایضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل ایضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

مت 24: 7 لأنه تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة وتكون مجاعات واوبئة وزلازل في اماكن

مت 24: 8 ولكن هذه كلها مبتدأ الازعاج

مت 24: 9 حينئذ يسلمونكم الى ضيق ويقتلونكم وتكونون مبغضين من جميع الامم لأجل اسمي

مت 24: 10 وحينئذ يعثر كثيرون ويسلمون بعضهم بعضا ويبغضون بعضهم بعضا

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون كثيرين

مت 24: 12 ولكثرة الاثم تبرد محبة الكثيرين

مت 24: 13 ولكن الذي يصبر الى المنتهى فهذا يخلص

مت 24: 14 ويكرز ببشارة الملكوت هذه في كل المسكونة شهادة لجميع الامم ثم ياتي المنتهى

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

المسيح لا يتنبأ ولا يتوقع بل يعرف

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

وايضا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.»

Mysterious Geminid meteor shower peaks this weekend

Not only is the Geminid meteor shower one of the most spectacular and reliable meteor showers of the year, with up to 120 meteors per hour — including the occasional fireball — it's also a bit of a mystery.

Peaking between 9 p.m. Saturday and the early morning hours Sunday, the Geminids are named for the constellation Gemini, the point from which the meteors seem to radiate.

The mystery about the Geminids is their origin.

All other meteor showers come from comet stuff: When the Earth passes through the debris trail left by a comet, tiny particles burn up in the atmosphere and become meteors, often called "shooting stars"; the Eta Aquarids, which peak in May, for example, and the Orionids, which peak in October, are formed by debris from Comet Halley.

A comet is made up of dust and ice; as it approaches the sun, solar heat turns ice on the surface into gas, which forms cloud known as a coma. Solar wind blows dust and gases in the direction away from the sun, thus forming the comet's tail.

But the Geminids come from a 3-mile-diameter object called 3200 Phaethon, which orbits the sun every 1.4 years and doesn't form a tail, so it's not a typical comet.

Some astronomers say it's a dying comet, shedding what's left of the debris on its surface each time it nears the sun; others say it's a "rock comet," an asteroid that comes so close to the sun the solar heat scorches debris from the rocky surface, thus creating a kind of gravel trail.

"It's either a comet late in life or a mysteriously outgassing solid body," said Heather Preston, planetarium director at the Calusa Nature Center and Planetarium. "Whatever it is, it's really cool, something different, not the standard, 'I'm a giant comet with a coma and a tail.'"

Twins can be close, and that goes for stars as well as people. In some cases, stars get so close that they merge--and new research by astronomers in Spain suggests that's just what's happening with the binary star system known as MY Camelopardalis.

Located in a small star cluster about 13,000 light-years from Earth, MY Cam is one of the biggest binary systems out there. One of its hot blue stars is 20 times more

Potentially hazardous asteroid surprises astronomers

14 hours ago by Tomasz Nowakowski, Astrowatch.net

"Watch therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour," could be still an actual description of our ability to predict asteroid threats to Earth. The sentence from the Bible (Matthew 25:13) sounds like a reminder of a vast number of more than 1,500 currently potentially hazardous objects, floating in space, meandering around in the Solar System. Some of them may be destined to pay our planet a close visit someday, unexpectedly, Chelyabinsk-style, as the one that hit Russia in February 2013, causing serious damages and injuring about 1,500 people. Who would have predicted that? Lately, one of the potentially hazardous asteroids, named 2014 UR116, created quite a buzz when various media reported that the 370 meters wide space rock may hit Earth. Its impact would cause an explosion 1,000 times greater than the Chelyabinsk meteor. But the discoverer of 2014 UR116, Vladimir Lipunov, a professor at Moscow State University, becalms the public. "This asteroid will not collide with Earth during the next 100 years," Lipunov told astrowatch.net.

HELP NOW

Potentially Hazardous Asteroids (PHAs) are space rocks larger than approximately 100 m that can come closer to Earth than 0.05 AU. Currently none of the known PHAs is on a collision course with our planet, although astronomers are finding new ones all the time.

Lipunov said it is difficult to calculate the orbit of big rocks like 2014 UR116 because their trajectories are constantly being changed by

Britain is preparing for more treacherous weather

As swathes of the UK cleaned up after yesterday's "weather bomb", forecasters said more mayhem was on the way. Coastal regions are on alert for further damaging gales, while parts of the North face heavy snowfalls as temperatures plummet.

CLICK HERE FOR MORE PICTURES OF THE UK'S WILD WEATHER

The wild weather follows yesterday's storm that whipped up 80mph-plus winds, knocking out power to thousands of homes and causing travel chaos. The North was hit hardest overnight before the wind and rain tracked southwards during the day.

In Scotland, 27,000 homes were left without power while trains and ferries were cancelled along the west coast. Waves topped 50ft, crashing over sea defences, leaving communities at risk of floods and forcing schools to close.

Tame tornadoes: Quietest 3 years for twisters on record

The U.S. experienced fewer tornadoes in the past three years than any similar span since accurate records began in the 1950s. Yet meteorologists aren't sure exactly why.

As this year comes to a close, about 150 fewer damaging tornadoes than average have hit the U.S., according to data from the Storm Prediction Center (SPC). Explanations for the decrease in twisters the past three years range from unusual cold to unusual heat, or just coincidence.

Despite the calmer than average years, deaths due to twisters remain near the average of 60 each year, with 68 killed in 2012, 55 in 2013 and 42 so far this year, according to the SPC. That pales in comparison with the 553 Americans killed by tornadoes in 2011.

So far this year, just 348 EF-1 or stronger tornadoes have touched down across the country, marking the third-lowest number on record. An average year sees about 500 EF-1 or greater tornadoes. A total of 364 EF-1 or stronger tornadoes touched down in 2012 and 404 in 2013.

EF refers to the Enhanced Fujita Scale of tornado intensity, which runs from EF-0 to EF-5. Most twisters that cause damage and deaths are EF-1 or higher, with wind speeds of at least 86 mph.

Harold Brooks, a meteorologist with the National Severe Storms Laboratory in Norman, Okla., said there's no consistent reason for the three-year lull — the calmest stretch since a similar quiet period in the late 1980s — because weather patterns have varied significantly from year to year.

While 2012 tornado activity was likely suppressed by the warm, dry conditions in the spring, 2013 was on the cool side for much of the prime storm season before cranking up briefly in late May, especially in Oklahoma, SPC meteorologist Greg Carbin said.

The Department of Agriculture and Livestock Service (SEDAG) of Oruro reported the death of hundreds of fish from Lake Poopó that were found on its banks near the Antavi community.

The head of the SEDAG Agricultural Contingencies project, Paravicini Olson reported that the dead fish were found in an area of approximately 20 kilometers long and two meters wide and so far no loss was quantified.

"We were making evaluations and have clearly found a large carpet of dead between two species, smelt and Karachi fish," said the representative of SEDEGES the ATB network.

The strange death of these aquatic animals cause injury to more than 1,780 local families engaged in fishing for these species decreasing production in the coming years because the fish were within the age for procreation.

"We had a rough assessment, 30% and 70% silverside Karachi as they are in times of growth have found fish from five to 100-150 grams of average weight," he said.

Million fish die in Bolivian lake

La Paz, December 10 (PL) The government of Bolivia's Oruro department reported today the death of over three million fish in the lake Poopó, for reasons still unknown.

The director of the Department of Agriculture and Livestock Service of governance, Severo Choque, advanced three hypotheses about the death of fish, including the reduction of the water surface, which allegedly caused warming and lack of oxygen.

Likewise, also argued as a possible cause strong winds that rocked in recent weeks the lake and also fish, bird caused the death of the second-largest after Lake Titicaca.

Finally, he warned that the third hypothesis relates to toxic elements expressed in the only saltwater tank country.

The specialists as Crash, collected samples of water, soil and dead animals for analysis to determine the causes that led to this disaster.

Shock noted that fish kills began registering since late last month.

Poopó Lake is the largest of which only belong to Bolivia, because the Titicaca shares it with Peru.

Farmer Brian Rostgaard got himself something unusual experience when he Thursday afternoon during a storm heard what he described as hollow thud sounds.

It turned out to be nothing less than 24 barnacle geese that had fallen dead from the sky and had spread over a smaller area around Tønder.

Several of the birds had hit the roof of Brian Rost's barn and made large holes.

Not uncommon

How unusual it sounds, it's actually not uncommon especially migratory birds are in danger of losing his life in the air. Both storms and collisions with other migratory birds pose a threat to the birds.

New Year's Eve 2010 crashed 5,000 birds on the ground in the town of Beebe in Arkansas.

PANGKALANKERINCI, GORIAU.COM - At least thousands more fish tail was found dead floating along the Kampar River, starting from the village of Kuala Tolam, Stimulation and Sungai Ara Village, District Pelalawan. Not yet known, the exact cause of death of the fish.

From the information summarized by GoRiau.com, the death of the fish incident flow along the Kampar River, which crosses the village of Kuala Tolam, Stimulation and Sungai Ara village began on Wednesday (12/10/2014) then.

"To this day there is still a dead fish float, although the amount is not as much as yesterday. Kejadianya's been four days and we do not know what the exact cause flotation of these fish," said village chief stimuli, Khairat, Sunday (12/14/2014).

Described Khairat, from all kinds of fish were found floating dead in the Kampar River are the types of fish that lives at the bottom of the river.

"The fish that died this kind of fish that lives in the river or fishing grounds," he explained.

Khairat further mention, some basic types of fish found floating dead fish that include such Wajang, Senggarat, Tapa and fish Botot.

"This includes a very unusual occurrence. It has never been anything dead fish in this river, but not this bad," he said.

More or less the same thing delivered by Jefri, the village head Ara River. Jefri's knowledge, the number of dead fish floating in the Kampar River flow allegedly due to river water contaminated by waste.

"This could be the result of waste. Yes, if the computed-ditung, residents have been getting hundreds of pounds of fish were floating in the river," said Jefri.

According to him, the dead fish incident allegedly due to waste, because it does not usually happen in this peritiswa Ara River. The incident is the first time this has happened in their village.

UNITED NATIONS – While focus on the Ebola outbreak has faded in the U.S. and the death toll in Guinea and Liberia has eased, the virus is still “running ahead” of efforts to contain it in West Africa, says Dr. Margaret Chan, director general of the World Health Organization.

The number of Ebola deaths in Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone stands at 6,331, with more than 17,800 confirmed, probable and suspected cases.

Sierra Leone has become the new epicenter of the Ebola outbreak, with the WHO reporting 6,317 confirmed cases there, compared to 2,820 in Liberia and 2,035 in Guinea.

US military converting transport planes to carry wave of infected Ebola victims to the United States (NaturalNews) It seems in the age of Obama that the U.S. military is slowly making the transformation from the planet's most powerful fighting force to one giant charity provider.

As most Americans know, the president has ordered thousands of U.S. troops to Ebola-plagued West Africa, a move that critics have said not only misappropriates American military personnel but also put their lives needlessly at risk -- though so far, no reports of American servicemen or women being sickened by Ebola have surfaced.

Now, it appears as though the U.S. Air Force

(NaturalNews) Unvaccinated children are supposedly the cause, according to state health officials, of a recent whooping cough outbreak that occurred in the posh Cape Cod area of Massachusetts. But as reported by CBS Boston, all of the children affected by the outbreak were already vaccinated, proving once again that vaccines don't really work.

Some 15 children at Falmouth High School reportedly came down with the respiratory illness, which also goes by the name pertussis, sparking a wave of panic about a corresponding increase in vaccine exemptions. But as usual, nobody affected by the outbreak was unvaccinated, and no matter how hard the media tries to spin the (NaturalNews) A sudden and sharp increase in the number of multiple sclerosis (MS) cases diagnosed in France back in the mid-1990s appears to have its roots in a mass vaccination campaign for hepatitis B that was launched by the World Health Organization (WHO), according to new epidemiological data published in the journal Immunologic Research.

In accordance with WHO recommendations, France implemented a campaign in 1992 promoting hepatitis B vaccines, for which 20 million French adults – or roughly one-third of the country – agreed to be vaccinated between the years of 1994 and 1997. By 1998, however, massive spikes in MS cases began to dominate headlines in the French

DEC 14 Fukushima Disaster Far From Over

Growth of Water Storage Tank Farm at the Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Station

A lot of ink was consumed by media after the Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Station disaster in March 2011, and then everything got quiet. With most of the media silent about the cleanup, the public may think the worst is over and the operating company TEPCO (Tokyo Electric Power Co.) is cleaning up the site. Nothing could be further from the truth. Once the remediation efforts began on the irradiated plant site, it quickly became clear the contaminated water being stored at Fukushima was going to be the largest component to the mediation efforts. Water from the devastated reactor cooling system was leaking out into the ocean, allowing it to spread into the immediate vicinity and around the world through ocean currents. Added to this, rainwater runoff coming from the surrounding mountains flowed through the devastated site, picking up radioactive material on its way to the ocean.

Russia's military forces continue to widen its presence in the Arctic region and the Black Sea. Former Soviet Union president Mikhail Gorbachev has once again called for a dialogue between Russia and the United States to prevent a "dangerous freeze" in relations between the two countries. Gorbachev's policy had a significant role in putting an end to the first Cold War. He warned of catastrophic consequences if U.S.-Russia tensions were not diffused.

He added that the world may not survive through these days as one country might be provoked or lose a nerve. Gorbachev suggested that both Russian and U.S. leaders hold talks with a broad agenda.

He said leaders should not be afraid of "losing face" or think about someone winning in propaganda. Gorbachev encouraged leaders to think about the future. The rift between United States and Russia continues as the Pentagon threatens Russia with releasing nuclear missiles in lieu of the Moscow's violation. Putin and his administration have been in hot water since its move against Ukraine and other activities in the Baltic region. The US government appears unforgiving of the region's moves as it threatens Russia with nuclear missiles and new sanctions.

China has developed a new close-in weapon system, or CIWS, called Type 1130, which has the firing power of 10,000 rounds per minute, portal Want China Times said, citing Russia media sources. The particular CIWS model, recently spotted being installed on a PLA Type 054A frigate, can reportedly destroy 90 percent of hypersonic missiles even travelling four times the speed of sound.

CIWS, a point-defense weapon, is used to detect and counter short-range incoming missiles as well as enemy aircraft. It is typically mounted on warships.

The Type 1130's Gatling-type gun, according to Want China Times, possesses a 30 mm caliber. Its number of barrels were 11. Compared to its seven-barreled Type 730 predecessor, which only has one magazine of 250 rounds, Type 1130 carries two magazines. Each reportedly contains 640 rounds. The improved design and technology thus will enable China to fire more than 10,000 rounds per minute, with a chance of hit rate placed at 90 percent against Mach 4 missiles.

Meteor? Military test? Apparent sonic boom shakes parts of Florida

TAMPA (FOX 13) - People all over the state are scratching their heads after some kind of apparent sonic boom shook the skies above them.

There were various reports of a loud boom this afternoon from all over Florida.

FOX 13 viewers have called, tweeted and posted on our Facebook page, mostly from counties in our northern viewing area.

But people further north heard it, too. So what caused it?

The most likely answer comes from the Gilchrist County Sheriff's Office, west of Gainesville. They posted this on their Facebook page:

"Confirmation has been received by The Gilchrist County Emergency Management, that the loud 'booms' heard today is a 'Weapons Systems Test' 150 miles off the coast of Florida in the Gulf of Mexico. Tests will continue today and cease over the weekend and then resume Monday morning. The 'Weapons Systems Test' is a joint operation between the UNITED STATES NAVY AND AIR FORCE."

That explanation would line up with another apparent sonic boom that happened earlier in the week. On Wednesday, officials at Eglin Air Force Base reported testing there.

"There was a scheduled mission for a ground detonation of a live munition on Eglin range B-71 [near Hurlburt Field]," Sara Vidoni, a public affairs specialist at the base, told the Northwest Florida Daily News.

There is, though, one other intriguing possibility: a meteor. WCJB-TV in Gainesville quotes James Albury, with Santa Fe College's Kika Silva Planetarium. He says the boom could have been a "fireball entering the atmosphere."

Russia Baltic military actions 'unprecedented' - Poland

Video shot by Dutch F-16 pilots for Nato's Baltic Air Policing mission on 8 December shows the apparent interception of Russian military aircraft.

Poland says the level of Russian naval and air force activity in the Baltic Sea region has been "unprecedented" this week.

Defence Minister Tomasz Siemoniak said most of the activity was in international waters and airspace and Sweden was the country most affected.

Nato partners of the Baltic states, including the UK, have military jets on an air policing mission in the region, monitoring the Russian planes.

Fighting in Ukraine has raised tension.

Mr Siemoniak said Russia was "not preparing to attack" but it was testing Nato defences, which "does not serve to build good relationships and trust".

Pentagon Considering Deployment of Nuclear Missiles in Europe

Option considered in response to Russian INF treaty breach

The Pentagon is considering the re-deployment of nuclear cruise missiles in Europe in response to a new Russian cruise missile that the United States has charged violates a 1987 nuclear treaty, a senior Pentagon official told Congress on Wednesday.

Brian P. McKeon, deputy undersecretary of defense for policy, said U.S. cruise missile deployments are among a range of options being considered if Russia fails to return to compliance with the Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces (INF) treaty.

McKeon did not provide details of the military options being studied but said they ranged from "reactive defense, to counterforce, to counter value defense measures."

"We don't have ground-launched cruise missiles in Europe now obviously because they're prohibited by the treaty," McKeon said. "But that would obviously be one option to explore."

The testimony came during a joint hearing on Russian treaty violations. The hearing brought together members of the House Armed Services subcommittee on strategic forces, and the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on terrorism, nonproliferation and trade.

The Air Force deployed nuclear-tipped BGM-109G ground-launched cruise missiles in Europe beginning in 1983 and removed and destroyed all but a handful by 1992 under the terms of the INF treaty. Six remaining missiles are preserved as museum pieces.

"The pilot project involves SMP Bank and Rossiya Bank, those for which the story is very critical and important. These are quite large banks," the head of the Russian National payment system (NPS) Vladimir Komlev said in an interview with Rossiya 24 TV.

The move comes as a part of Russia's ambitious initiative to move away from the Western dominance of its financial markets. Last month the Russian Central Bank said it would have its own international inter-bank payment system, an alternative to the global SWIFT network up and running by May 2015.

Gazprombank, Rosbank, Alfa Bank and Ural Bank for Reconstruction and Development are among eight other banks to join the pilot project. They were selected based on the size of business, location and technology platform, Komlev said.

Defense Threat: China conducts its third test in a year of a hypersonic glide vehicle designed to evade our missile and other defense systems, including the Aegis defense system guarding our carrier battle groups.

As we downsize our military, scale back weapons procurement and development, China proceeds at top speed towards weapons designed to counter our once-huge technical advantage and qualitative superiority. Case in point is the third flight test of a hypersonic glide vehicle (HGV), dubbed the WU-14 by the Pentagon, following earlier tests on Jan. 9 and Aug. 7 of this year.

The U.S. Navy is particularly concerned, as an HGV would be a potent weapon against U.S. carrier battle groups in the western Pacific.

A Chinese anti-ship ballistic missile — the road-mobile DF-21D, called a "carrier killer" by some — already poses a potent threat, but it is countered by our extraordinarily capable sea-based Aegis missile defense.

In February 2008, the Aegis missile cruiser Lake Erie shot down a National Reconnaissance Office 2.5-ton spy satellite before it could strike the Earth with its deadly hydrazine fuel tank nearly full.

"The beauty of the HGV (hypersonic glide vehicle) is that it can perform hypersonic precision strikes while maintaining a relatively low altitude and flat trajectory, making it far less vulnerable to missile defenses," says Rick Fisher, a China military affairs expert with the China's almost impossible-to-detect stealth JIN class submarines armed with nuclear JL-2 ballistic missiles are already prepared to conduct initial patrols with the missiles by the end of this year, an annual report submitted by the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission to Congress in November revealed.

This meant that China's stealthiest submarines are ready to launch nuclear missiles targeting the U.S., with the latter perhaps already late to outmaneuver it. "For the first time in history, China's nuclear arsenal will be invulnerable to a first strike," Nicolas Giacometti, an independent strategist who has written analysis for The Diplomat and the Center for Strategic and International Studies, told Bloomberg News. "It's the last leap toward China's assured nuclear-retaliation capability."

An incident involving a slew of Chinese military aircraft, including bombers, trying to transgress Japan's air space has been reported. The incident happened on Dec 6 and it is said that the aircraft were capable of posing a threat to Guam military base of the U.S. army. The Chinese provocation was in the area between Japan's Okinawa's island and Miyako island. The incident came up amidst some recent warmth in China-Japan relations after the APEC summit in Beijing.

Chinese military commentator Li Xiaojian said the jets were heading to the Western Pacific to take part in a big naval and air combat exercise, in which Chinese naval ships also participated. The show was an assertion by China that it has the joint combat capability for conjoining naval and air power.

A senior official of the Japan's defense ministry explained that the incident involved a Chinese Y9 intelligence gathering plane, two Y8, early warning planes and two H6 bombers. They flew southwards over the East China and headed towards the vicinity of the main

Smoke billows behind an Islamic State group sign / AP

An alleged weapons maker for the Islamic State (IS) claimed that a "radioactive device" has been smuggled into an undisclosed location in Europe, according to an intelligence brief released Monday by the SITE Intelligence Group.

"A Radioactive Device has entered somewhere in Europe," according Twitter user Muslim-Al-Britani, who claims to be a freelance jihadist weapons maker now working alongside IS (also known as ISIL or ISIS), according to tweets captured and disseminated by SITE.

BREAKING NEWS# WARNING A Radioactive Device has entered somewhere in Europe.

The claim by Al-Britani comes just days after reports emerged that IS could have in its possession a dirty bomb, the elements of which were obtained via earlier IS raids on a university research facility in Mosul that contained uranium. Al-Britani is also responsible for the flurry of reports on the dirty bomb.

Al-Britani, who has disseminated on his Twitter feed "weapon instructions and manuals," claimed on Nov. 23 that the "Islamic State does have a dirty bomb. We found some radioactive material from Mosul university," according to the tweets reproduced by SITE.

Jon Donnison: Footage showed people fleeing the building

A gunman is holding staff and customers hostage at a cafe in Sydney, Australia.

The Lindt cafe in the city centre is surrounded by armed police. Officers have made contact with the gunman.

Five people have been seen running from the building. It is not clear how many remain inside. A black Islamic flag has been displayed at the window.

Prime Minister Tony Abbott said it was "profoundly shocking" that people were being "held hostage by an armed person claiming political motivation".

He was speaking after chairing a meeting of the national security committee in Canberra.

The moment police stormed the cafe

Two people died, along with an Islamist gunman, after commandos stormed a cafe in Sydney, Australia, to bring to an end a 16-hour siege.

Local media have named those who died as Lindt cafe manager Tori Johnson, 34 and lawyer Katrina Dawson, 38.

Four people were injured, including a policeman hit by shotgun pellets.

Central Sydney was put in lockdown as the gunman, identified as an Iranian refugee, seized dozens of hostages early on Monday.

Facebook's Upcoming Artificial Intelligence Will 'Mediate' Your Online Activity

If you were nervous about Google's artificial intelligence, just wait.

The last time you posted a Facebook status, you were probably thinking, "Wow, I really wish I had an intelligent robot to make sure this post won't come back around to haunt me." No? Too bad.

Facebook is building an artificial intelligence program that will serve as a social media assistant—kind of like Clippy, the obnoxious Microsoft Office bot, only more intelligent and invasive. A Wired profile of the head of the Facebook AI lab, Yann LeCun, says the new program will "mediate your interaction with your friends" and do things like shame you from posting pictures of illicit activities.

IT'S NOW ILLEGAL IN ILLINOIS TO FILM COPS

Or any government officials, for that matter

by STEVE WATSON | INFOWARS.COM | DECEMBER 10, 2014

An amendment to a Senate bill in Illinois has been overwhelmingly passed to ensure that recording police officers and government officials is now a felony.

The Amendment to Senate Bill 1342 was stealthily introduced on the back of an unrelated piece of legislation last week. It essentially reestablishes a completely unconstitutional eavesdropping law that was previously overturned by The Supreme Court in March for being too draconian.

The amendment has stripped away safeguards to free speech rights from the original legislation and instituted a blanket ban on recording officials in public. It was passed by both the Illinois House and the Senate, with huge majorities, within two days of its introduction.

A post at watchdog website IllinoisPolicy.org notes that the bill is designed to prevent people from documenting interactions with cops on their cell phones by making it a class 3 felony to "eavesdrop" on city and state officials including police officers, police, an attorney general, an assistant attorney general, a state's attorney, an assistant state's attorney or a judge.

The new amendment legislates its way around the "reasonable expectation of privacy" standard in law by refraining from defining it, and merely states that recording any "oral communication between 2 or more persons" is now illegal.

A class 3 felony is punishable by a prison sentence of two to four years. The bill also outlines that it is now a class 4 felony to record a private citizen in such circumstances. The crime is punishable by one to three years in prison.

Joe Biden on Creating a "New World Order"

"The affirmative task we have now is to actually create a new world order."

— Vice President Joe Biden, April 5, 2013

"Out of these troubled times, our fifth objective — a new world order — can emerge."

— President George H. W. Bush, September 11, 1990

"We saw deterioration where there should have been positive movement toward a new world order."

— Mikhail Gorbachev, October 19, 2011

"I think that his [Obama's] task will be to develop an overall strategy for America in this period, when really a 'new world order' can be created. It's a great opportunity."

— Henry Kissinger, January 5, 2009

Last Friday, on April 5, in his address to the 38th Annual Conference of the Export-Import Bank of the United States in Washington, D.C., Vice President Joe Biden (shown) asserted that "the affirmative task we have now is to actually create a new world order." (See his remarks in the video below.)

Whenever globalist-minded politicians, bankers, academics, and corporate executives start talking about a "new world order," sensible folks take alarm. That is because it has become obvious over the past few decades that in elite, globalist circles this phrase has been, and is, code for "global governance" and, eventually, world government. And, of course, as surely as night follows day, the "progressive" media hacks in the MSM and alternative media are always quick to ridicule anyone that points out this obvious fact.

Thus did Gawker.com on April 7 rush to satirize NWO concern in its post, "Conspiracy-Theorist Christmas Comes Early as Biden Uses Term 'New World Order'"; (NaturalNews) Technology is the archetypal golden calf of the modern age. Everything that naturally exists in a purely analog and resonant state is being artificially mechanized, computerized, digitized and hybridized (think half-human, half-robot on this one). And with this gradual suffocation of the living, breathing fabric of our world comes the ominous threat of eventual human extinction, as the very essence of humanity is systematically uprooted in favor of a wholly synthetic and programmed existence.

Congress reaffirms indefinite detention of Americans under NDAA

The US House of Representatives approved an annual defense spending bill early Thursday after rejecting a proposed amendment that would have prevented the United States government from indefinitely detaining American citizens.

An amendment introduced in the House on Wednesday this week asked that Congress repeal a controversial provision placed in the National Defense Authorization Act of 2012 that has ever since provided the executive branch with the power to arrest and detain indefinitely any US citizen thought to be affiliated with Al-Qaeda or associated organizations.

"This amendment would eliminate indefinite detention in the United States and its territories," Rep. Adam Smith (D-Washington), a co-author of the failed amendment, said during floor debate on Wednesday, "So basically anybody that we captured, who we suspected of terrorist activity, would no longer be subject to indefinite detention, as is now, currently, the law."

We Just Witnessed The Worst Week For Global Financial Markets In 3 Years

By Michael Snyder, on December 14th, 2014

g+ Share Tweet Pinterest Email Share This

Is this the start of the next major financial crisis? The nightmarish collapse of the price of oil is creating panic in financial markets all over the planet. On June 16th, U.S. oil was trading at a price of $107.52. Since then, it has fallen by almost 50 dollars in less than 6 months. This has only happened one other time in our history. In the summer of 2008, the price of oil utterly collapsed and we all remember what happened after that. Well, the same patterns that we witnessed back in 2008 are happening again. As the price of oil crashed in 2008, so did prices for a whole host of other commodities. That is happening again. Once commodities started crashing, the market for junk bonds started to implode. That is also happening again. Finally, toward the end of 2008, we witnessed a horrifying stock market crash. Could we be on the verge of another major one? Last week was the worst week for the Dow in more than three years, and stock markets all over the world are crashing right now. Bad financial news continues to roll in from the four corners of the globe on an almost hourly basis. Have we finally reached the "tipping point" that so many have been warning about?

What we witnessed last week is being described as "a bloodbath" that was truly global in scope. The following is how Zero Hedge summarized the carnage...

Oil closes below $60, 1st time since July 2009

AP By The Associated Press 14 hours ago

The price of oil fell below $60 for the first time since July 2009 on Thursday and ended trading in New York at $59.95.

Benchmark U.S. crude oil dropped 99 cents, or 1.6 percent. Oil has fallen steadily for nearly six months, and is down 44 percent since reaching a high for the year of $107.26 in late June.

Anyone That Believes That Collapsing Oil Prices Are Good For The Economy Is Crazy

By Michael Snyder, on December 8th, 2014

g+1 Share Tweet Pinterest Email ShareThis

Are much lower oil prices good news for the U.S. economy? Only if you like collapsing capital expenditures, rising unemployment and a potential financial implosion on Wall Street. Yes, lower gasoline prices are good news for the middle class. I certainly would rather pay two dollars for a gallon of gas than four dollars. But in order to have money to fill up your vehicle you have got to have an income first. And since the last recession, the energy sector has been the number one creator of good jobs in the U.S. economy by far. Barack Obama loves to stand up and take credit for the fact that the employment picture in this country has been improving slightly, but without the energy industry boom, unemployment would be through the roof. And now that the "energy boom" is rapidly becoming an "energy bust", what will happen to the struggling U.S. economy as we head into 2015?

At the start of this article I mentioned that much lower oil prices would result in "collapsing capital expenditures".

If you do not know what a "capital expenditure" is, the following is a definition that comes from Investopedia...

Global stock markets continued to tumble on Friday, pushing the FTSE 100 to its worst weekly fall in more than three years. Since Monday, £112bn has been wiped off the value of Britain's leading companies.

Investors headed for the exits amid growing fears about the Chinese economy, the tumbling price of oil, and the prospect of another eurozone crisis prompted by political uncertainty in Greece.

The FTSE 100 finished at 6300.63 on Friday, its lowest level since 20 October. The index was down 161 points on the day and 442 points, or 6.8%, on the week.

It was the biggest weekly decline in percentage terms since August 2011, when recession fears and worries about America's debts stalked the

The Canadian dollar is taking spill with falling oil prices, and traded at a new low of 86.58 cents against the US dollar Friday. Canada has the world's third largest proven oil reserves, and relies on oil and gas exports for 30 percent of GDP.

The 'Loonie', as the currency is called in Canada, hit a 5-year low in October, and continues to sink along with oil prices, which have lost more than 43 percent from their June peak. Brent crude, the global benchmark, was trading at $62.95 per barrel at 13:15 MSK. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude futures slipped to $59.

The Canadian currency hit a high of $1.05 against the dollar in summer 2011, but has been stuck in a 5-year lull as investors sell off crude oil in the market.

"Roughly speaking, if we start to think about oil prices below $50 a barrel for any significant period of time, you're talking in all likelihood of a US dollar getting up to the CAN$1.20 to CAN$1.25 range," Shaun Osborne, chief currency strategist at TD Securities is quoted by Reuters as saying.

Two Oahu churches have filed an appeal of a trial court's decision to keep a baseless lawsuit filed by two atheists alive. Alliance Defending Freedom attorneys and an ADF-allied attorney represent the churches, One Love Ministries and Calvary Chapel Oahu.

In May, the court dismissed the most critical aspects of the atheists' lawsuit, which falsely accuses the churches of defrauding the government simply for paying agreed-upon rent to the public schools in which they meet. The court later reconsidered that dismissal and allowed the atheists' case to proceed. The court also allowed the churches to appeal.

"The only thing these churches have done is serve the schools and bring great benefit to their surrounding communities. They don't deserve to be dragged through court any longer by two people who are seeking financial gain by attacking these congregations," said ADF Senior Legal Counsel Erik Stanley. "The trial court's initial instinct to gut this lawsuit of its substance was correct. We will now ask the appeals court to definitively dismiss this baseless complaint."

LAKE WORTH, Fla. – An atheist recently led a Florida commission meeting in “prayer” to a variety of entities from across the spectrum of religions, invoking the names of Mother Earth, Allah, Zeus, Satan and Krishna in addition to Jesus.

As Preston Smith stepped to the podium to deliver the invocation on Dec. 2, a number of commissioners stepped out of the room so they would not be participants in what was about to take place. Mayor Pam Triolo also left the room as well, but told local television station WPTV that she did not do so because Smith is an atheist, but rather because he had mocked Scripture on Twitter earlier this year and did not wish to hear what he might say next.

“Free speech works both ways,” Triolo told the outlet. “You can say what you want and I can choose to leave.”

As Smith observed the mayor and three commissioners leave the room, he commented, “Duly noted,” and then proceeded with his statements.

Army Chaplain Claims He's Been Punished for Sharing How His Faith Helped Him Through Depression During Suicide Prevention Training

A U.S. Army chaplain claiming that he was unfairly punished after he shared his faith during a suicide prevention training is fighting back, demanding through a conservative legal firm representing him that a commander rescind a letter of concern that was issued over the incident.

The Liberty Institute is asking that Army Airborne and Ranger Training Brigade Commander, Colonel David G. Fivecoat withdraw his claims against Captain Joe Lawhorn, which were issued on Thanksgiving Day .

"You provided a two-sided handout that listed Army resources on one side and a biblical approach to handling depression on the other side," the letter read in part, according to conservative commentator

Todd Starnes. "This made it impossible for those in attendance to receive the resource information without also receiving the biblical information."

The debate surrounds the contents of a suicide prevention training that was held November 20, during which Lawhorn reportedly handed out a faith-based document, shared how he used the Bible to combat the depression he once suffered and recited scripture.

One of the soldiers in attendance at the University of North Georgia event was offended by the mention of the Christian faith and subsequently reported the chaplain to the Military Association of Atheists and Freethinkers, according to a press release.

UNIVERSITY BANS CHRISTMAS ON CAMPUS TO 'RESPECT DIVERSITY,' BUT STUDENTS AREN'T BUYING IT!

They call this respect?

by CARMINE SABIA | BIZPAC REVIEW | DECEMBER 12, 2014

They call this respect?

The University of Maine has banned Christmas and Hanukkah decorations from the campus, according to Campus Reform.

Here's the insulting email, from the university's Auxiliary Services Department:

IS YOUR BODY IN NEED OF AN OIL CHANGE?

"Just wanted to remind everyone that Aux Services is not to decorate any public areas with Christmas or any other religious themed decorations. Winter holiday decorations are fine but we need to not display any decoration that could be perceived as religious. This includes xmas trees, wreaths, xmas presents, menorahs, candy canes, etc. What is allowed [are] winter themes, snowmen, plain trees without presents underneath,

Hindu radicals are amping up their religious cleansing in parts of India. (Mission India)

Hindu radicals in India are intensifying their religious purification practices, amping up cleansing, reconversion and converting Christian churches in the state of Uttar Pradesh to turn it into a Christian-free zone. The brutal religious cleansing attacks that have engulfed the Christian community have left many Christians feeling like they are facing a life and death struggle in the world's largest democracy.

Radically right-wing Hindu organizations such as Dharma Jagran Vibhag, Shuddhikaran (Cleansing) Movement and Religious Awakening have increased their reconversion campaign to turn India into a Hindu nation by carrying out numerous attacks on Christian communities. Mr. Rajeshwar Singh, a leader within the Religious Awakening, said in a newspaper interview that, "On Dec. 23, the martyrdom day of Swami Shradhanand (the leader of the 19th century re-conversion movement), we will convert Muslims to Hinduism in at least 50 locations in west UP," Singh claimed. "On Dec. 25, the day when Christians convert people to their religion, this year, we will do the reverse—by converting them back to Hinduism.

New Jersey Town Agrees to Pay Millions to Buy Land for Muslims to Build Mosque

BRIDGEWATER, N.J. – A New Jersey town has agreed to pay $2.75 million to purchase land for a proposed mosque in order to settle a lawsuit that was filed by Muslims who were prohibited from opening a mosque in another area of the township.

According to the settlement between Bridgewater officials and the Al Falah Center, the mosque will be built between Routes 202-206 and 287 on a 15-acre strip of land, and the township's insurance will also pay $5 million in damages and attorney's costs. The total settlement will amount to $7.75 million dollars.

In 2011, the township planning board rejected a proposal for a former inn to be converted into a mosque, as it pointed to a newly-approved ordinance that only allowed houses of worship, along with schools and country clubs, to be built on major roadways because of traffic concerns and in order to "preserve the residential character of its various neighborhoods." The township rejected the notion that it refused the proposal simply because it involved a mosque.

But those behind the Al Falah Center then filed a federal lawsuit against the town of Bridgewater in an effort to force officials to permit the renovation of the building into a mosque and Islamic community center. The complaint asserted that the ordinance was discriminatory and violated both their First and Fourteenth Amendment rights under the United State Constitution, as well as the federal Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act.

Last fall, U.S. District Judge Michael Shipp, appointed to the bench by Barack Obama, barred the ordinance from being enforced and ordered the township to reconsider the application. He also ruled that he found "anti-Muslim prejudice within the community, including Internet postings and e-mail correspondence," which Shipp believed may have contributed to the denial, and said that the township "rendered it nearly impossible for Al Falah and its individual members to adhere to the tenets of their religion."

TEMPE, AZ – A biology teacher who describes himself as ‘an open-minded skeptic’ purportedly showed a slide in one of his classes that mocks Jesus and describes biblical creation as ‘magic.’

Christofer Bang is a lecturer at Arizona State University who teaches biology and ecology courses. According to his academic profile page, his areas of “expertise” include ecology, evolution and plant biology.

According to news reports last week, Bang mocked biblical creation and Christianity during a lecture in his biology class. A student who wished to remain anonymous shared information on Bang’s lecture with Campus Reform.

According to the student, Bang began his lecture by showing a slide titled “Evolution vs. Creationism.” The slide featured two cartoons—one depicting Charles Darwin with the words “genetics,” “adaption,” and “natural selection,” along with images of an ape-like creature gradually evolving into a man. The other cartoon showed a caricature of Jesus creating a man, with the words “zap!” and “magic!”

Bang reportedly showed the evolution vs. creation slide in his BIO 100 class, which covers basic principles of biology. The student who anonymously captured

Bowing to pressure by secularist groups outside the state, Kentucky officials announced late Wednesday a decision to deny the Ark Encounter theme park an opportunity to participate in a popular tax rebate incentive program offered by the state's tourism office.

By letter on Dec. 10, state officials told the theme park's developer, Answers in Genesis (AiG), that the only way AiG could participate in the rebate program is if AiG would agree to two conditions: 1) waive its right to include a religious preference in hiring, and 2) affirm that it will tolerate no "proselytizing" at the theme park.

AiG has countered that the state's new conditions are unlawful because it is well-established under both federal law (Title VII) and state law (KRS § 344.090) that religious organizations and entities like AiG are specifically permitted to utilize a religious preference in their hiring. Moreover, the government cannot show hostility toward religion or discriminate against persons or organizations who express religious Headlines such as "State OKs transgender policy," "Court backs transgender teen" and "Pentagon cozies up to transgender troops" are becoming more common as the next battle over rights based on "sexual orientation" builds.

And the fight nowhere has been more intense than in schools, where boys who believe they are girls are seeking the right to use facilities designated for the opposite sex.

But now schools are being warned that accommodating the demands of transgender students could make them vulnerable to lawsuits.

"Granting students access to opposite-sex changing areas could subject schools to tort liability for violating students' and parents' rights," warns the Alliance Defending Freedom, a nonprofit legal group

Identity
Gender Identity: how you, in your head, think about yourself. It's the chemistry that compares you (e.g., hormonal levels) and how you interpret what that means.
Spectrum: Woman ← Genderqueer → Man

Orientation
Gender Expression: how you demonstrate your gender (based on traditional gender roles) through the ways you act, dress, behave, and interact.
Spectrum: Feminine ← Androgynous → Masculine

Sex
Biological Sex: refers to the objectively measurable organs, hormones, and chromosomes.
Female = vagina, ovaries, XX chromosomes; Male = penis, testes, XY chromosomes; Intersex = a combination of the two.
Spectrum: Female ← Intersex → Male

Sexual Orientation

Students at Acalanes High School in Northern California were given this gender identity chart in a sex ed class conducted by the local Planned Parenthood chapter.

Students at one northern California high school are learning more than just the birds and the bees.

Along with local area groups, some parents are irate that their children's sex ed class at Acalanes High School in Lafayette is being taught by employees of Planned Parenthood

فالاضطهاد يزيد والاضطراب يزيد والزلازل والابوئة والفساد الأخلاقي يزيد والاحاد يزيد

فهذا أقول المسيح اقترب ميعاد مجيؤه لا احدد مواعيد بل ارفض من يحدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب

الأول نصلي ونستعد ونعد زيت لمصابيحنا لاستقبال العريس بالصلاة والصوم وخدمة أبناء الله
وتنقية القلب والاستعداد بلبس العرس.

أفسس 6: 15

وَحَادِيثَ أَرْجُلِكُمْ بِاسْتِعْدَادِ إِنجِيلِ السَّلَامِ .

رسالة بولس الرسول الي أهل رومية 13

13: 11 هذا وأنكم عارفون الوقت انها الان ساعة لنستيقظ من النوم فان خلاصنا الان أقرب مما

كان حين امنا

13: 12 قد تناهى الليل وتقارب النهار فلنخلع اعمال الظلمة ونلبس اسلحة النور

13: 13 لنسلك بلياقة كما في النهار لا بالبطر والسكر لا بالمضاجع والعهر لا بالخصام والحسد

13: 14 بل البسوا الرب يسوع المسيح ولا تصنعوا تدبيرا للجسد لأجل الشهوات

احترس ان لم تتمسك بالمسيح من الان قد لا تستطيع في المستقبل القريب بسبب الظلام.

بطرس الأولى 3: 14

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوْا،

بل نفرح

رسالة بولس الرسول إلى أهل فيلبي 4: 4

إَفْرَحُوا فِي الرَّبِّ كُلَّ حِينٍ، وَأَقُولُ أَيْضًا: اْفْرَحُوا.

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان يريد أن نفقد سلامنا ولا ننال أكاليل.

وأيضاً استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك 150 ألف شخص يموتوا في اليوم الواحد

المسيح اقترب فاصنعوا ثمار تليق بالتوبة واستعدوا لاستقبال العريس.
