والعلامات حتى 10 مارس 2015

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن أيضاً علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل أيضاً قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

مت 24: 7 لأنه تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة وتكون مجاعات واوبئة وزلازل في اماكن

مت 24: 8 ولكن هذه كلها مبتدأ الازجاج

مت 24: 9 حينئذ يسلمونكم الى ضيق ويقتلونكم وتكونون مبغضين من جميع الامم لأجل اسمي

مت 24: 10 وحينئذ يعثر كثيرون ويسلمون بعضهم بعضا ويبغضون بعضهم بعضا

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون كثيرين

مت 24: 12 ولكثرة الاثم تبرد محبة الكثيرين

مت 24: 13 ولكن الذي يصبر الى المنتهى فهذا يخلص

مت 24: 14 ويكرز ببشارة الملكوت هذه في كل المسكونة شهادة لجميع الامم ثم ياتي المنتهى

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

المسيح لا يتنبأ ولا يتوقع بل يعرف

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

وايضا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

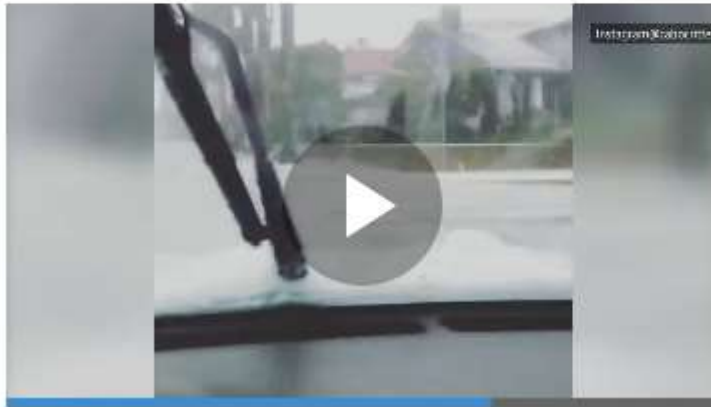

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَانْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.»

DAR ES SALAAM, March 4 (Reuters) - Flash floods have killed at least 38 people in north-western Tanzania after strong winds and hail battered villages, the president's office said on Wednesday.

At least another 82 people have been injured in the floods that occurred in Shinyanga region on Tuesday night.

"The floods, which occurred after hail and strong winds, have affected some 3,500 people," Jakaya Kikwete's office said in a statement.

Gravel roads and houses were destroyed, the president's office said.

Local media quoted police saying the floods had also destroyed food crops in the agricultural region located about 1,000 km from the commercial capital Dar es Salaam.

Several parts of Tanzania have been hit by flash floods at the start of the long rains season that run from March to May. (Reporting by Fumbuka Ng'wanakilala; Editing by George Obulutsa/James Macharia)

CHENNAI: The washing ashore of three sperm whales in the last three days has taken fishermen and marine researchers along the east coast by surprise.

While the first dead whale was found near Puducherry on Friday, a second carcass was located at Alambaraikuppam near Marakkanam on Saturday with the third being found at Uyyalikuppam near Kalpakkam on Sunday.

The stranded whale at Uyyalikuppam was a male measuring 50 feet in length and weighing nearly 4 tonnes. The carcass found on Saturday at Alambaraikuppam was that of a female sperm whale which measured 35 feet and weighed nearly 3 tonnes. Both died of injuries suffered on the tail after getting entangled in large nets near the sea surface, said researchers.

Supraja Dharini of TREE Foundation, who visited Uyyalikuppam village, said the flipper of the dead whale was 52 inches long and 30 inches wide, the short dorsal fin was two feet wide -- measurements which indicate that it was full grown adult male. The carcass, which bore superficial injuries, had begun to decompose badly when washed ashore. Oil globules were found all over the dorsal side of the body, she said.

Hungarian farm culls 100,000 ducks after H5N8 bird flu detected

Like Share 1 Tweet 4

BUDAPEST, March 2 (Xinhua) -- A total of 100,000 ducks was carried out at a poultry farm in Fuzesgyarmat, a town in southeastern Hungary, after bird flu was discovered there, wire service MTI reported on Monday.

This flu, type H5N8, is not known to have infected humans.

National chief veterinarian Lajos Bognar told MTI that the bird flu was found on only a single farm in Bekes County, albeit at all four of its sites. All birds on the farm, more than 100,000 ducks, were culled over the weekend and disinfection would take most of the week, Bognar said.

A 3 km-deep protected area and a 10 sq km area of observation have been set up around the farm. Animals on all farms within 3 km are undergoing thorough and repeated testing, and all poultry shipments from a 10 km area have been restricted.

It is believed that migrating birds coming north in the spring are responsible for spreading the virus.

The national bureau for Food Chain Safety reported that Japan, Singapore and South Korea have halted imports of poultry and eggs from Hungary, and South Africa and Hong Kong have introduced restrictions.

Beach Peba dawned with lots of dead turtles

The Peba Beach in the city of distant Piaçabuçu Maceio, 135 km one of the postcards of Alagoas presents on the morning of Tuesday, 03 a lot of dead sea turtles. The location near the mouth of the São Francisco River with a large area of continuous beach is used for spawning of sea turtles.

The problem requires the presence and IBAMA action to study the causes of mortality of sea turtles that is related to the large amount of garbage mainly peti bottles and plastic bags left by bathers on weekends.

Plastic bags as useful shopping days in the supermarket can be the main reason for the increased mortality of sea turtles that come to Alagoas coast. In the last three months, more than twenty animals were found stranded on the beaches of Maceio and 90% of them had as cause of death observed ingesting household waste.

The turtles, which are spawning from are the main targets of this pollution that reaches the seas. When they reached the coast to leave their eggs, they end up confusing the plastic with jellyfish, their favorite food. The problem is that the plastic takes 200 years to decompose in nature and is not digested by the animal that dies by suffocation or starvation (stop feeding) that feels constant satiety.

COA introduces new poultry farming regulations as bird flu spreads

Taipei, March 4 (CNA) The Council of Agriculture said Wednesday that with effect from September, it will be mandatory for poultry to be raised in enclosed spaces, as part of an effort to stop the spread of an avian flu virus that has decimated Taiwan's poultry farms.

The regulation is being imposed to prevent contact with migratory birds, which will begin arriving in Taiwan in September, said Chang Su-san (張淑賢), director-general of the COA's Bureau of Animal and Plant Health Inspection and Quarantine (BAPHIQ).

The agricultural industry must adopt more modern techniques, such as the use of enclosed facilities on poultry farms, to stop the spread of the bird flu virus, Chang said.

Avian flu outbreak reported in Mekong delta province

The Department of Preventive Medicine, a part of the Ministry of Health, yesterday announced an outbreak of A/H5N1 avian flu in a farm at Dai Hai commune, in Ke Sach District of the Mekong delta province of Soc Trang.

The provincial Department of Animal Health liaised with the local government to bury 1,100 two month-old chickens which infected with the dangerous avian flu virus in the farm and implement measures against the disease as per the regulation.

The Department of Preventive Medicine said that A/H5N1 avian flu is the virus causing avian flu amongst chicken in Asia since 2003 and is plaguing other nations. From 2003 to January 2015, around 777 cases of bird flu were reported in 16 nations and 428 people succumbed to the disease (or accounting for 55.1 percent).

Accordingly, the Department of Preventive Medicine warned people not to eat dead poultry; farms must be disinfected and people have to wear protective clothes when contacting with poultry to reduce the risk of transmission.

When a person experiences a symptom of chest pain and breathing problem, he/she has to go to a nearby medical clinic for examination and treatment

South Korea and Taiwan have destroyed more than 2.7 million poultry in recent weeks and months in efforts to halt highly pathogenic avian influenza (HPAI) outbreaks of the H5N8 and H5N2 varieties, according to reports posted yesterday by the World Organization for Animal Health (OIE).

Raahid H / Flickr cc

In addition, South Vietnam has reported another H5N1 avian flu outbreak, and low-pathogenicity avian flu (LPAI) H7N7 recently struck a turkey farm in Germany, according to media and OIE reports.

The latest outbreaks prolong a string of avian flu episodes that have surfaced this winter in Asia, Europe, North America, and Africa. Last week the World Health Organization said the diversity and geographic extent of recent avian flu outbreaks are greater than at any time since the debut of modern surveillance methods.

South Korea cites 65 H5N8 outbreaks

A South Korean report posted by the OIE yesterday describes 65 H5N8 outbreaks dating all the way from late last September to late January and involving about 2.6 million poultry. The report profiles 22 stand-alone outbreaks and "outbreak clusters" including from 2 to 13 individual incidents.

The Municipality of Montevideo (IMM) up 20 tons of dead fish on Thursday and will continue with the cleanup on the shores of Montevideo, he told The Observer director of the Division of Cleanliness IM, Andrés Martirena.

On Thursday morning appeared in the Montevideo coast hundreds of dead fish floating in the water. The situation drew the attention of the authorities of the National Directorate of Aquatic Resources (Dinara), who sent a group of technicians who ran the promenade from the center to the Arroyo Carrasco and a significant amount of spice known as Lacha was observed.

"Since yesterday being cleaned beaches with machinery, we collect some 20 tons of rotting fish from Pajas Blancas to Paso Carrasco," said Martirena.

Officials: 'Highly pathogenic' bird flu killed 15,000 Minnesota turkeys

Big News Network (UPI) Friday 6th March, 2015

ST. PAUL, Minn. -- Federal agriculture officials have issued warnings after a deadly strain of the bird flu decimated a turkey flock in Minnesota.

The United States Department of Agriculture said a "highly pathogenic" strain of the avian influenza killed 15,000 turkeys in Pope County, Minn. It's the same type of flu that's been infecting wild birds in the Pacific Northwest recently.

The H5N2 strain is considered deadly to fowl, but low risk to humans.

Massive Prawn Deaths Put Farmers in a Spot

By Express News Service | Published: 06th March 2015 06:00 AM Last Updated: 06th March 2015 04:30 AM

ALAPPUZHA: Prawn farmers in Aroor constituency have landed in trouble after prawns in their fields were found dead in large numbers this week. However, the exact reason for the death of prawns has not been determined. The prawns were found dead in fields at Pallithode, Valiyathadam, Kochuvavakad and western parts of Thuravoor. Udayabhanu, a farmer from Pattanakkad panchayat, said that he had suffered a loss of more than Rs 10 lakh. He had deposited 1.75 lakh seedlings in his 12 acre paddy field.

Satheesan, another prawn farmer said, the prawns afflicted with the unknown disease are 70 -days-old.

"We were about to conduct the harvesting of the prawns. But, we are in trouble now as majority of our prawns have started to die out in large numbers. Though news about the prawn's mass death has come out, no authorities concerned have come forward and tried to understand our situation," he said.

The chemical waste dumping from the various industrial units are believed to be the main reason for the sudden death of prawns.

According to Kerala University of Fisheries and Ocean Studies Vice-Chancellor B Madhusoodana Kurup, when the industrial waste reaches the fields through canals, the level of oxygen will come down drastically resulting in the death of prawns.

In a rough estimate of loss prepared by the farmers in the Kari land in Thuravoor, Ezhupunna and other panchayats in the Cherthala taluk shows that more than Rs 50 lakh loss was incurred due to the death of prawns.

SINGAPORE: Up to 600 tonnes of fish belonging to 55 farms have been lost to algal bloom in recent days, said the Agri-food and Veterinary Authority on Thursday (Mar 5).

Issuing its first comments on the algal bloom since last Saturday, the authority said last year's plankton bloom cost 53 farms about 500 tonnes of fish.

The AVA also said it would help the affected fish farmers - who operate off Pasir Ris in the East Johor Strait - to recover and restart their operations, and enhance their resilience to environmental challenges.

A massive pipi bed in Whangarei harbour is dying and there are fears the change could destabilise the harbour - and Marsden Point itself, Radio NZ reports.

The volume of pipis on Mair Bank has slumped from 10,000 tonnes to less than 100 tonnes, sparking fears the massive sandbank, which protects the harbour entrance, will disappear.

The sandbank, shaped similar to a shark's tooth, lies just off Marsden Point. Locals previously waded out at low tide to scoop up the daily limit of 150 of the shellfish in a couple of minutes. But no more.

NIWA fisheries scientist, James Williams, said the decline had been drastic. Over the last four to five years the pipi population has collapsed.

He said the bank had been eroding from the south and gaining height, coinciding with an apparent absence of juvenile pipi.

"There was a huge biomass there of pipi, everywhere pretty much on the bank and sub-tidally of about 10,000 tonnes and that's been reduced to less than 100 tonnes

Gulf of Mexico Turns Deadly for Dolphins

Dolphins are dying in great numbers in the northern Gulf of Mexico.

Since February 2010, 1,308 dead or dying marine mammals — mostly bottlenose dolphins, including juveniles or aborted fetuses — have washed ashore on beaches and wetlands from Texas to Florida, or have been discovered floating in the Gulf's murky waters.

In some months, the numbers of stranded dolphins in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama have exceeded past averages by three and a half to four times. In Louisiana, the 2010 and 2011 figures were the highest ever recorded.

A scientific explanation has so far proved elusive. "The Gulf is not a controlled laboratory where you can have a perfectly pathogen-free animal and expose it to one agent and measure the effect," said Dr. Stephanie Venn-Watson, director of the translational medicine and research program at the National Marine Mammal Foundation.

Many critics suspect the BP Deepwater Horizon disaster in April 2010, and scientific evidence is building. According to an analysis that Dr. Venn-Watson and her colleagues published Feb. 11 in PLOS One, bottlenose dolphin deaths from January 2010 to June 2013 fell into four distinct clusters, indicating that there are likely multiple factors at play.

Nearly one million children in U.S. potentially misdiagnosed with ADHD, study finds

Date: August 17, 2010

Source: Michigan State University

Summary: Nearly one million children in the United States are potentially misdiagnosed with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder simply because they are the youngest -- and most immature -- in their kindergarten class, according to new research.

ADHD is the most commonly diagnosed behavioral disorder for kids in the United States, with at least 4.5 million diagnoses among children under age 18, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. However, there are no neurological markers for ADHD (such as a blood test), and experts disagree on its prevalence, fueling intense public debate about whether ADHD is under-diagnosed or over-diagnosed, Elder said.

U.S. Military Declining From Superpower To Regional Power, No Longer Able To Fight Two Simultaneous Conflicts

February 26, 2015 | Rowan Scarborough

Share this article

The U.S. military is shedding so many troops and weapons it is only "marginally able" to defend the nation and falls short of the Obama administration's national security strategy, according to a new report by The Heritage Foundation on Tuesday.

"The U.S. military itself is aging. It's shrinking in size," said Dakota Wood, a Heritage analyst. "And it's quickly becoming problematic in terms of being able to address more than one major conflict."

President Obama's latest strategy is to size the armed forces so that the four military branches have sufficient troops, ships, tanks and aircraft to win a large war, while simultaneously acting to "deny the objectives of — or impose unacceptable costs on — another aggressor in another region."

In other words, the Quadrennial Defense Review says the military can essentially fight two major conflicts at once. It could defeat an invasion of South Korea by the North, for example, and stop Russia from invading Western Europe or Iran from conquering a Persian Gulf state.

But Heritage's "2015 Index of U.S. Military Strength" took a look, in detail, at units and weapons, region by region, and came to a different conclusion.

"The U.S. military is rapidly approaching a one-war-capable force," said Mr. Wood, a former Marine Corps officer and strategic planner. "So it is able to handle a major war and then having just a bit of residual capability to handle other minor crises that might pop up. ... But it is a far cry from being a two-war force."

British Army could be slashed to smallest number in 250 years

According to a new report coming out of Britain it appears that the United States isn't the only Nation dramatically cutting their Military Force, According to reports the British Army could be reduced to just 50,000 soldiers – its smallest size in 250 years – a report has warned. This report indicates that troop numbers are already being slashed from 102,000 to 82,000, but a report from the Royal United Services Institute suggests this number could be cut yet again by a further 30,000. The report says the cuts could be made after the election as part of a continuing austerity drive and because of a lack of commitment from any of the major parties to protect defence spending. FULL REPORT

While Obama Guts The U.S. Military, Russia Prepares For War

By Michael Snyder, on March 4th, 2015

g+ Share Tweet Pinterest Email ShareThis

The Russian military and the U.S. military are going in two very different directions. Military spending in Russia is increasing by a whopping 33 percent this year alone, and the Russians are feverishly preparing as if a major war with the United States is inevitable. But despite the fact that the conflict in Ukraine has raised tensions with Russia to Cold War levels, the Obama administration is still acting as if we were living in a "post-Cold War" era. Even while the Russians are arming themselves to the teeth, the U.S. military is being gutted. In fact, the U.S. Army is in the process of being cut down to the smallest size that we have seen since the end of World War II, and the U.S. Navy is already the smallest that it has been since World War I. There is very little political debate about this gutting of our military at the moment, but someday we may look back and bitterly regret not being more prepared.

No matter what your view of U.S. foreign policy is, we should all be able to agree that the U.S. Constitution mandates that it is the job of the federal government to protect this nation. Sadly, according to one recent report the cutbacks that are happening right now have left the U.S. military only "marginally able" to defend this country...

The US military has become so depleted by cuts that it has been left only 'marginally able' to defend the nation.

Decreases in the number of soldiers and naval ships have led to armed forces falling short of President Obama's national security strategy, a report by The Heritage Foundation claimed.

Yes, we are spending far more on our military than anyone else on the planet is. But a tremendous amount of that is pure waste.

When it comes to the things that really matter for national defense, corners are being cut. For example, as I mentioned above, the U.S. Army is in the process of being reduced to the smallest size that it has been since World War II...

The field-type exercises of the air defense forces will be taking place until April 10 in twelve military firing ranges, located in Russia's South, the North Caucasus and Crimean Federal Districts, as well as at Russian military bases in Abkhazia, South Ossetia and Armenia.

"Over 2,000 troops have been involved into the battle drills, and over 500 items of weaponry and military hardware are being used," Interfax quoted a statement of the Southern Military District.

President of the European Commission Calls for creation of EU Army to defend against Russia

According to reports from the Financial Times the president of the European Commission has called for the creation of an EU army in order to show Russia "that we are serious about defending European values". In an interview with German newspaper Die Welt, Jean-Claude Juncker, who leads the EU's executive arm, said an EU army would let the continent "react credibly to threats to peace in a member state or a neighbour of the EU". This clearly indicates the seriousness of the further escalating situation with Russia and Europe! The report further indicates that the EU is divided on how to deal with an increasingly forthright Russia, which has been accused by Nato and the US of supplying rebel fighters in eastern Ukraine with military equipment and intelligence in the conflict

One plane was diverted and another delayed to avoid two Russian bombers that flew through Irish-controlled airspace without warning in February, the Irish Aviation Authority (IAA) said on Tuesday.

The disruption is believed to have occurred during the same February 18 incident in which British RAF Typhoon fighters were scrambled to escort two Russian bear bombers identified flying close to British airspace.

Putin's Dead Soldiers Are Evidence of His Deceit

Many Russian soldiers are dying in the fighting in Ukraine, according to the deputy secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. This blunt declaration makes it increasingly difficult for Russian President Vladimir Putin's government to maintain the claim that the Kremlin has no involvement in the ongoing conflict on its border.

China developing new DF-31 for multiple warheads: US official

China appears to be developing a new variant of the solid-fuel, road-mobile DF-31 intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) capable of carrying multiple warheads.

The claim was made by US admiral Cecil D Haney during a session of the US House of Representatives' Armed Services Committee on Feb. 26, according to a recent report from the UK-based Jane's Defence Weekly.

During his testimony, Haney said that images of a Chinese transporter erector launcher suggest that the People's Liberation Army is "enhancing existing silo-based ICBMs, conducting flight tests of a new mobile missile and developing a follow-on mobile system capable of carrying multiple warheads."

In one of the longest-running armed conflicts anywhere in the world, North Korea and South Korea have been at war for five decades. Moreover, there is no sign of a let up in the tensions between the two countries and the situation even threatens to spill over into a global war.

In fact, in an unusual speech at the U.N.-backed Conference on Disarmament in Geneva on Tuesday, North Korean Foreign Minister Ri Su Yong claimed that his country had the resources to deter an “ever-increasing nuclear threat” by the U.S., up to and including a pre-emptive strike.

As the US and its allies continue to discuss limiting Iran's nuclear program with Tehran, the Iranian military on Sunday announced that it had developed a new long-range cruise missile with a range of some 2,000 kilometers (1,200 miles) – putting Israel well within its reach, Israeli sources said. The missile, called the "Soumar," features "different characteristics in terms of range and pinpoint accuracy in comparison with the previous products," Iranian Defense Minister Hossein Dehqan said at the unveiling of the missile Sunday.

The missile, Dehqan said, was developed based on the needs of the Iranian Armed Forces, and is "a crucial step towards increasing the country's defense and deterrence might."

On Saturday, an Iranian military official said that the country would be unveiling yet another missile system will be unveiled on April 18, when the country marks National Army Day. That system, called the Talaash-3, is based on the Russian S-200 missile system, the official said.

Ayatollah Tells Air Force: We Enriched Uranium 20%; Commanders: 'Death to America, 'Death to England,' 'Death to Israel'

(CNSNews.com) - In a speech delivered last month to commanders and other personnel in the Iranian Air Force, whom he described as "officials who have very sensitive occupations," Grand Ayatollah Ali Khamenei—Iran's Supreme Leader and commander in chief—boasted that Iran had enriched uranium to the 20-percent level.

At the same time, the Supreme Leader noted that his government had agreed to shut down its production of 20-percent enriched uranium "for a while" in its effort to reach a deal with United States and other foreign powers that would include lifting the sanctions now imposed on his country.

In response to Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu's opposition to the nuclear deal he warns threatens Israel's very existence, US President Barack Obama's administration has reportedly cut American intelligence cooperation with Israel.

At the moment, while Israel is cooperating with various countries in terms of intelligence on Iran's nuclear program, the cooperation with the United States has stopped according to the report.

In closed conversations senior sources in the White House have expressed concerns that Netanyahu will reveal details Obama has kept secret from the nuclear deal being sealed with Iran, according to the news channel.

While US Secretary of State John Kerry has claimed Israel isn't familiar with the details of the plan, that claim was undermined when Kerry on Monday asked Netanyahu not to reveal certain details in his Congress speech Tuesday.

From Rembrandt's "Haman Recognizes His Fate"

Christian supporters of Israel see Tuesday's address to Congress by Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu as more than just a political speech.

They're calling it a "wake-up call," and a "warning," one that appears eerily similar to another from 2,500 years ago in which the Jewish people found themselves in grave danger.

With the Feast of Purim and Netanyahu's speech converging in the same week, there are lessons to be drawn from history, they say.

Purim celebrates Queen Esther's brave intervention to stop a plot that, if allowed to go forward, would have led to a genocide against the Jews.

But is the biblical story of Esther replaying thousands of years later?

The threat Israel faces today does include some of the same national players, the same dates and the same stakes, according to Bible scholars and Christian friends of Israel.

Hamas 'working to double its arsenal of rockets for next war with Israel'

A senior commander of Hamas' military wing said on Monday that while his organization has no interest at the moment in fighting Israel, the Gaza-based Islamist group wants to double its arsenal of rockets and missiles in anticipation of the next round of fighting.

Marwan Issa told a gathering in Gaza City that Hamas continues to manufacture rockets and forge alliances with whoever can assist its cause.

The remarks were reported by Israel Radio.

At a meeting in Cairo in early February, Russian President Vladimir Putin and Egyptian President Abdel Fattah el-Sisi, Russia and Egypt concluded a preliminary agreement on the construction of the first nuclear power plant in Egypt.

According to a project development agreement signed by Sergei Kiriyenko, the head of Russian atomic energy agency Rosatom, and Egypt's Minister of Electricity and Renewable Energy Mohamed Shaker, Rosatom will construct four latest-generation nuclear power plant units that include enhanced safety systems developed after the disaster at Japan's Fukushima nuclear power plant.

All the necessary agreements and contracts are expected to be signed before the end of the year.

Scientists Can Now Read Your Memories

Researchers have mapped rats' memories, and humans could be next.

Scientists may have cracked the code of memories by successfully tracing how they are imprinted on the brain. An experiment charted the nerve cell changes that occurred within rats' brains as they made decisions—a process that could prove life changing if replicated in humans.

“For decades scientists have been trying to map memories in the brain. This study shows that scientists can begin to pinpoint the precise synapses where certain memories form and learning occurs,” explained James Gnadt, a program director at the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke.

A professor says that he has located a structure in Nazareth that many have traditionally believed was Jesus' childhood home — and he says that an Irish monk's seventh century text about the house matches its location and description.

That text, written by Adomnan in 670 A.D. and titled, "De Locus Sanctis," apparently gives some clues as to where the structure believed to be Jesus' home was located in Israel, according to the Daily Mail.

British archaeologist and Reading University professor Ken Dark says that the document — which recounts a Frankish bishop's apparent journey to the region centuries ago — describes the home as residing below a church and between two tombs.

This Microchip Will Deliver Drugs in Your Body by Remote Control

Written by VICTORIA TURK

February 4, 2015 // 02:00 PM EST

Biomedical engineer Robert Langer has pioneered controlled release drug delivery methods and basically invented tissue engineering (making body parts in the lab). His next trick: an implantable microchip that can deliver drugs by wireless signal.

The chips Langer and his team are working on are around two centimetres squared and contain up to 1,000 tiny "wells" you can put different drugs in, each with a little cover. As the covers are removed, the drug is released. You could put 1,000 doses of the same drug in to be released over time, or different ones. "You can also literally have pharmacy on a chip if the drugs are potent enough," he told me in a phone interview.

(Washington, D.C.) – First Lady Michelle Obama will unveil a proposal Monday that she hopes will ease tensions and work to counteract an ever growing Islamophobia gripping the nation. In an effort to strengthen relations and help build mutual trust with our two million Muslim Americans citizens, Michelle Obama is set to propose national "Hug a Muslim Day".

The proposed new federal holiday would eliminate and replace Columbus Day, first observed as a state holiday in 1906, and became federal in 1937. From now on, every second Monday in October would be recognized and observed as national, "Hug a Muslim Day."

The proposed new federal holiday is already drawing mixed reactions from Americans, and conservatives warn this is just another step in the Obama

Franklin Graham: Muslims Who 'Hate Israel And Hate Christians' Run The White House

SUBMITTED BY Brian Tashman on Monday, 3/2/2015 6:05 pm

Franklin Graham wants everyone to know that the White House has been "infiltrated by Muslims," even though he can't name a single one. The right-wing pastor seems upset that any Muslims are allowed to serve in the U.S. government at all, telling Pat Robertson's son, Gordon, on the Christian Broadcasting Network last week that Muslims are now running the show and will begin to persecute Christians in America, with Obama's help.

"We're going to see persecution, I believe, in this country because our president is very sympathetic to Islam and the reason I say that, Gordon, is because his father was a Muslim, gave him a Muslim name, Barack Hussein Obama," he said. "His mother married another Muslim man, they moved to Indonesia, he went to Indonesian schools. So, growing up his frame of reference and his influence as a young man was Islam. It wasn't Christianity, it was Islam."

"There are Muslims that have access to him in the White House, our foreign policy has a lot of influence now from Muslims. We see the Prime Minister of Israel being snubbed by the president and by the White House and by the Democrats and it's because of the influence of Islam. They hate Israel and they hate Christians, and so the storm is coming," Graham said.

Later in the program, Graham also lamented that the Bush administration "allowed Muslims to come into various governmental agencies," warning that "you now have radical Islamists that are advising various levels of government and it's going to get worse."

Take it to the limit: the U.S. Treasury building in Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON (MarketWatch) — The Treasury Department will exhaust its capacity to borrow in October or November if the debt limit isn't raised, the Congressional Budget Office estimated Tuesday.

The non-partisan CBO had previously estimated that "extraordinary measures" Treasury could use to continue borrowing would last until September or October.

China Has Announced Plans For A 'World Currency'

By Michael Snyder, on March 4th, 2015

g+ Share Tweet Pinterest Email ShareThis

The Chinese do not plan to live in a world dominated by the U.S. dollar for much longer. Chinese leaders have been calling for the U.S. dollar to be replaced as the primary global reserve currency for a long time, but up until now they have never been very specific about what they would put in place of it. Many have assumed that the Chinese simply wanted some new international currency to be created. But what if that is not what the Chinese had in mind? What if they have always wanted their own currency to become the single most dominant currency on the entire planet? What you are about to see is rather startling, but it shouldn't be a surprise. When it comes to economics and finance, the Chinese have always been playing chess while the western world has been playing checkers. Sadly, we have gotten to the point where checkmate is on the horizon.

On Wednesday, I came across an excellent article by Simon Black. What he had to say in that article just about floored me...

When I arrived to Bangkok the other day, coming down the motorway from the airport I saw a huge billboard—and it floored me.

The billboard was from the Bank of China. It said: "RMB: New Choice: The World Currency"

Given that the Bank of China is more than 70% owned by the government of the People's Republic of China, I find this very significant.

It means that China is literally advertising its currency overseas, and it's making sure that everyone landing at one of the world's busiest airports sees it. They know that the future belongs to them and they're flaunting it.

داعش مرة أخرى تهاجم القرى المسيحية في شمال سورية

Attacks come just weeks after the Islamic State kidnapped 220 Assyrian Christians from the same area.

Islamic State militants strategically targeted Assyrian Christian villages in northeastern Syria in a series of brutal attacks on Saturday, causing clashes with Kurdish militia in the area.

Most of the fighting occurred on the northern banks of the river as ISIS attempted to capture Tal Talmr, a crossroad 35 km from the city of Hassakeh. By capturing the crossroad, ISIS would have a direct corridor to the eastern border of Iraq.

The popular department store Marks & Spencer ignited controversy when it banned words such as "Jesus" and "Christ" from its flower service, but apparently had no problem with "Allah" and "jihad."

Now, the British-based multinational chain has responded to customers who complained about the double-standard, and is allowing Jesus back.

According to Christian Today, the store initially blocked the Christian words to avoid their misuse, hoping to avoid any perceived offensiveness.

Obscenities and the word "gay" was also on the banned list.

A company spokesman told Christian Today: "We apologize for any offense caused, it was certainly never our intention. We have revised the words included on the automatic phrase checker which is in place to prevent the use and misuse of certain words."

An Islamic worship event at the Oklahoma capitol was disrupted by a woman who began reciting the Lord's Prayer before being hustled away from the scene by police.

Video of the incident Friday was posted by M. Scott Carter of Oklahoma Watch, a nonprofit, investigative-journalism group. Carter said Muslims had come to the statehouse to help educate people about Islam and to encourage Muslims to be active.

Protesters held signs, including one that said, "Every real Muslim is a jihadist."

Carter reported the woman, who was not arrested, interrupted the event by reciting the "Lord's Prayer" while a Muslim led the audience in the Islamic call to prayer. She was escorted from the building by highway patrol officers.

Oklahoma Watch said the Texas woman was identified as Christine Weick, who previously interrupted similar events in Austin, Texas, and at the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C.

NEW YORK -- The nation's largest public school system will observe the two most important Muslim holidays starting next fall, a policy change hailed Wednesday by Islamic leaders in New York City.

Under the new policy, the city's 1.1 million-pupil public school system will close on Sept. 24 for Eid al-Adha, which is also known as the Festival of Sacrifice. The holiday of Eid al-Fitr, marking the end of Ramadan, will be observed during summer school in 2016.

"Hundreds of thousands of Muslim families will no longer have to choose between honoring the most sacred days on their calendar or attending school," Mayor Bill de Blasio said in his

NEW: School chief: Muslim families shouldn't have to weigh school vs. religious observances

Bill de Blasio had pledged to change the school calendar during his mayoral campaign

New York City's public schools already observe Jewish and Christian holidays

(CNN)—New York City public schools will now observe two Muslim holidays, officials announced Wednesday, making the district -- the nation's biggest -- one of the few to put Islamic holy days on its calendar.

Under the change announced by New York Mayor Bill de Blasio and city Schools Chancellor Carmen Farina, there will be no class for Eid al-Adha, also known as the Festival of Sacrifice, starting next September 24. Another Muslim holiday, Eid al-Fitr -- a festival marking the end of the holy month of Ramadan -- will become a holiday for those in summer school starting in 2016.

"This is a common-sense change," de Blasio said Wednesday, "and one that recognizes our growing Muslim community and honors its contributions to our city."

The decision affects some 1 million students in New York City. While it's not known exactly how many of them are Muslim, City Council Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito said that almost 1 million of the more than 8 million people in the city's five boroughs practice Islam and a 2009 Columbia University study found that roughly 10% of New York City public school students are Muslim.

The move isn't a surprise, given de Blasio's campaign pledge to alter the school calendar with Muslim families in mind.

"Muslim students and their families who observe Eid al-Fitr and Eid al-Adha shouldn't have to choose between an instructional day and their religious obligations," said Farina. "This new addition will also enable a teachable moment in the classroom for our students to learn about religious tolerance and the societal contributions of various cultures."

A small, Christian college in South Carolina said on Friday it had not banned gay students or homosexuality from its campus under its controversial new "Statement on Human Sexuality," which calls the practice sinful.

Erskine College has received scrutiny for its board of trustees' decision last week, characterized by some media outlets as a ban on homosexuality. It comes as many religious organizations seek to respond to the national debate over gay rights and same-sex marriage.

The college, affiliated with the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, held that sexual intimacy is only appropriate between a man and woman who are married.

Bibles that Translate “The Father” as “Allah”

The most astonishing example of the global inroads being made by Muslim blasphemy codes may well be found in a deepening controversy over the Bible translations for many Muslim cultures by Wycliffe, the Summer Institute of Linguistics (SIL), and some other Bible translators.

Ostensibly to placate Muslim sensibilities, they removed the words “Father,” “Son,” and “Son of God” to describe the Trinitarian nature of God in the New Testament, using instead, at least for the Arabic and Turkish copies, the terms “Allah,” and “Messiah.” The Christian Post provides an example from Matthew 28:19: “Instead of ‘baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit,’ [the text] becomes ‘Cleanse them by water in the name of Allah, his Messiah and his Holy Spirit.’”

This is not a new controversy among scholars of Christian missionary work (Christianity Today wrote a cover story, “The Son and the Crescent,” about it a year ago) but, over the past few weeks, it has inspired mounting protests on Christian websites and a petition to the translators is now posted for signatures by a consortium of Christian missionaries and leaders.

Google, Facebook, Microsoft, Apple, Coca-Cola Among 379 Companies to File Brief Supporting of Gay Marriage

An Apple employee waves a rainbow flag before marching in the San Francisco Gay Pride Festival in California, June 29, 2014. Thousands of Apple employees donned specially designed T shirts at the festival and marched in unison. This year's turnout was largest in the company's history, several Apple employees told Reuters.

Google, Facebook, Microsoft, Apple, and Coca-Cola are among 379 companies that filed a friend-of-the-court brief with the U.S. Supreme Court in support of same-sex marriage. The brief asks the high court to overturn a lower court's ban on gay marriage in Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The brief, filed by law firm Morgan Lewis on Thursday, argues that state law that prohibits same-sex marriage hampers the

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF THE COMING ANTICHRIST REVEALED

EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the most interesting aspects of the Georgia Guidestones, to me, is that their number one commandment is to "maintain the world population at 500 million people". Is it a coincidence then that the richest man on the face of the earth, Bill Gates, number one priority is population control through the use of mandated vaccinations? The rabbit hole deepens...

In 1980, a very strange stone formation was erected in a city in Georgia. It has been called the Stonehenge of America. Its name is the Georgia Guidestones.

"The Georgia Guidestones is a granite monument erected in 1980 in Elbert County, Georgia, in the United States. A set of ten guidelines is inscribed on the structure in eight modern languages, and a shorter message is inscribed at the top of the structure in four ancient language scripts: Babylonian, Classical Greek, Sanskrit, and Egyptian hieroglyphs.

California Republicans Betray Party Values With New Gay Rights Wing

The Log Cabin Republicans, established to fight a proposed statewide ballot measure to ban gays and lesbians from teaching in California public schools, has long been at odds with mainstream Republican opposition to same-sex marriage and related issues. (Facebook)

California Republicans broke from their own platform on Sunday and voted overwhelmingly at their state party convention to give official recognition to a gay rights wing of the GOP that has long been marginalized.

Endorsement of the Log Cabin Republicans as a charter volunteer organization within the nation's largest Republican statewide party apparatus marked a turning point of sorts for California Republicans on a key chunk of their social policy agenda.

Delegates to the California Republican Party voted 861-293 in favor of the move during the party's three-day annual convention in Sacramento, the state capital, a party spokeswoman said.
