والعلامات حتى 24 مارس 2015

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن أيضاً علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل أيضاً قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقه اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقه لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

ثانيا لنؤمن

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَأَن تُوْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

NASA's Solar Dynamics Observatory, or SDO, captured this solar image on March 16, 2015, which clearly shows two dark patches, known as coronal holes. The larger coronal hole of the two, near the southern pole, covers an estimated 6- to 8-percent of the total solar surface. While that may not sound significant, it is one of the largest polar holes scientists have observed in decades. The smaller coronal hole, towards the opposite pole, is long and narrow. It covers about 3.8 billion square miles on the sun - only about 0.16-percent of the solar surface.

A 6.4-magnitude earthquake struck northern Chile today, and there was no immediate word of any injuries or damage.

The earthquake struck at 1:51 a.m. local time – at a depth of 75 miles – about 30 miles southeast of Putre, near Chile's border with Bolivia, according to the United States Geological Survey.

Chile is one of the world's most seismic countries and is prone to tsunamis because of the way the Nazca tectonic plate plunges beneath the South American plate, pushing the towering Andes cordillera ever higher.

Second volcano rumbles to life in Guatemala

AFP-JIJI

ARTICLE HISTORY | MAR 12, 2015

GUATEMALA CITY - Two of Guatemala's three active volcanoes have now rumbled to life, officials said Wednesday, one day after the Santiaguito volcano began belching smoke and showering nearby towns with ash.

Guatemala's Fuego volcano, in the southwest, over the past several weeks has spewed adjacent towns with soot, forcing the temporary closure last month of a neighboring airport.

Now the Santiaguito volcano in the west has awakened as well, emitting columns of ash 400 meters (1,300 feet) tall above its crater.

Santiaguito, whose peak soars to 2,500 meters above sea level, is located in western Quetzaltenango province.

The sleeping giant began to stir on Tuesday, but officials said that thus far, they have not had to evacuate populated areas nearby.

The 3,700-meter tall Fuego — whose name means fire in English — last month spewed out large columns of ash, prompting an orange alert and forcing nearby residents to wear protective masks.

Chile's Villarrica volcano spews ash in renewed activity

The Villarrica volcano near the resort of Pucon is a popular destination for climbers

The Villarrica volcano in southern Chile, which erupted on 3 March, has shown renewed activity.

Officials raised the alert in areas near the Villarrica to orange, the second highest, and cancelled classes for more than 5,600 pupils.

Thousands of people were evacuated earlier this month when it spewed ash and lava 1,000m (3,300ft) into the air.

The 2840m-high Villarrica is popular with hikers. Hundreds climb the peak each summer to peer inside the crater.

(Volcano Watch is a weekly article written by scientists at the U.S. Geological Survey's Hawaiian Volcano Observatory.)

Over the past few months, Mauna Loa, Hawai'i Island's largest volcano, has shown subtle signs of stirring from its 31-year-long slumber (its most recent eruption began on March 25, 1984). The U.S. Geological Survey's Hawaiian Volcano Observatory (HVO) has recorded numerous small earthquakes beneath Mauna Loa's summit and western flank, and has detected slight expansion across Moku'āweoweo, the volcano's summit caldera—signals that Mauna Loa should not be forgotten!

What can we expect as this great volcano reawakens and builds toward its next eruption?

There are more than 3,000 sinkholes on the banks of the Dead Sea -- and they're multiplying exponentially, according to environmentalists, as the body of water dries up.

"It's nature's revenge," said Gidon Bromberg, the Israeli Director at EcoPeace Middle East, an organization that brings together Jordanian, Palestinian and Israeli environmentalists to protect their shared environmental heritage.

"These sinkholes are a direct result of the inappropriate mismanagement of water resources in the region."

A farmer who lost 15 of his herd in January Kobamelo Rantsudu said so far close to 50 cattle have died. He said the most surprising thing is that the affected cattle do not show any signs or symptoms of any illness but they just die in a fresh state. He added that the cattle are released from the kraals to graze only to be found dead and scattered in the bushes.

"We informed the veterinary officials who drew blood samples from the dead cattle but informed us that they found nothing.

"We are now wondering how possible it is for the post-mortem to fail to identify the cause of the deaths," he said.

Rantsudu added that they were also advised to call veterinary officers immediately after another cow died so that they can conduct more tests but they still found nothing.

He however said that they (farmers) are even suspecting the water from the borehole that the cattle drink from. He said all the affected cattle have been drinking from the same spot and they die not far away from each other. He noted that the water from the said boreholes has turned bad. He added that farmers were initially advised to vaccinate for anthrax but the disease was initially ruled out and pasteurela was suspected.

"Officials are expected to come again for anthrax vaccination yet we have already vaccinated our cattle. "We just do not know what

Taiwan yesterday reported another nine outbreaks of highly pathogenic H5N8 and H5N2 avian influenza, forcing the destruction of more than 80,000 poultry.

In addition, US authorities said the H5N2 virus that cropped up on turkey farms in Missouri and Arkansas this week is a close match for the virus that struck in Minnesota last week and was found in a wild bird in Washington state in December.

Blake Facey / Flickr cc

Also, in a stroke of apparent catch-up reporting, South Korea today described 47 H5N8 outbreaks that all occurred last year, forcing the destruction of more than half a million poultry. Earlier this month South Korean authorities reported 65 H5N8 outbreaks that dated from September 2014 to January of this year.

Taiwan events

Taiwan, which has battled numerous H5N8 and H5N2 outbreaks this year, was hit by three H5N8 outbreaks in Yunlin and Pingtung counties, in the southern and southwestern parts of the island, according to a report authorities filed with the World Organization for Animal Health (OIE).

Of 30, 250 chickens and geese on the affected farms, 15,987 died of the infection, and the rest were destroyed to stifle any further spread, the report said. All three outbreaks started within the first 5 days of March.

UP orders culling of fowls after bird flu alert

Lucknow: March 18, 2015, DHNS:

The Uttar Pradesh government has directed culling of infected fowls after a bird flu alert in the state following the deaths of hundreds of hens reportedly owing to avian influenza in the Amethi district, about 150 km from here.

According to official sources here on Sunday, about 500 hens have died at several villages in Sukul Bazar area in Amethi in the past few days. "Tests proved that the birds died of highly pathogenic avian influenza," said the officials here.

The Centre had alerted the state about the outbreak, and asked it to take necessary measures, said the sources.

"All district magistrates and commissioners have been asked to take every possible step to check the spread of the disease. Infected birds must be culled immediately," said the officials. A control room has been set-up in the state capital for effective monitoring of the steps.

Sources said the deaths were reported initially from a few villages in the district in the first week of this month. "Within a short span of time, the number of dead fowls crossed 500," said the officials. This prompted the alert.

Change in conditions or predators probably behind fish kill

By Rob Morris on March 18, 2015

Hundreds of dead menhaden have washed up along the beach from Corolla to Avalon Pier, causing wide speculation about the cause of the kill, including whether it was related to unexplained rumblings this week.

Jill Paxson, an environmental specialist with the North Carolina Division of Water Resources, said Wednesday that state experts are sorting through reports of the kill.

Generally, she said, such die-offs are attributable to environmental factors such as an algae bloom causing oxygen levels to drop or sharp changes in water temperature.

It is doubtful that the fish are by-catch from trawlers, which discard species that they are not pursuing.

"Usually if it's bycatch, it's multiple species," Paxson said.

NIBONG TEBAL: Thousands of dead fish were found blanketing the surface of Sungai Kerian at Kampung Jajar, Jalan Trans Kerian.

Mohd Hafzi Mohd Jamaluddin, 20, a resident who stays near by the river, said the fish began floating to the surface of the river since Tuesday.

Speaking to reporters here today, he said the dead fish include catfish and mayong fish.

"There are more dead fish in the river today and it is causing an awful smell around our living area now. It is first time to see thousands dead fish at here," he said.

Village Security and Development Committees (JKKK) chairman Ahmad Furanji Shariff said residents in Kampung Jajar are suffering over the stench.

He said the water gate of the river was closed, hence all dead fish were trapped in the waters of the river.

"The smell is getting worse, so I hope the State Drainage and Irrigation Department, Environment Department or Fisheries Department can come forward and help us to settle this problem," he said, adding that the river might be polluted and all fish in the river were poisoned.

By Bryan Callahan. CREATED Mar 20, 2015

Las Vegas, NV (KTNV) -- Residents of the Desert Shores community are used to looking out their back doors over Lake Jacqueline and seeing beautiful birds and other wildlife.

But recently they say they've spotted a disturbing and mysterious change.

"There was old ones and young one and big ones and small ones," Daniel Bryan said.

What he is talking about is the dozens of dead fish he and other neighbors have seen while out enjoying the lake.

Farmers insist that there is no control of water uptake.

The lack of water in the lower river basin Ariguani, coupled with the severe drought in the region, leaving more than 1,500 dead livestock in the area of Bosconia, Cesar, on the border with the department of Magdalena, as established by a census of affected that made the farmers in the area themselves.

The situation is critical because the current main tributary, which was used for water supply in the area, still used by ranchers in the upper river to irrigate large areas of palm crops, rice and livestock.

This was stated by Mauricio Sierra, downstream user of Ariguani, who sent an SOS for environmental authorities to take drastic measures by the irrational use of water concession in the area.

"Here come officials of the regional autonomous corporations Cesar and Magdalena to make regulations, but once they go, again opened the floodgates capturing water in high percentages, although they are in a severe drought. In the lower part is there is no water for crops or animals, whereas up until used to irrigate pastures," he said.

"SIN bereaved ". Despite repeated calls from the community in the villages Puerto Lajas and San José de Ariguani, among other places, no sanctions are known by the environmental authorities. "Corporations seem to have no teeth to defend the river," said Sierra.

Hundreds of dead fish becoming a daily event near Geist Reservoir

Woman says she finds hundr

INDIANAPOLIS (WISH) — Some people living in the Geist Reservoir neighborhood are concerned after seeing dozens of dead fish popping up along the shore.

One neighbor says the problem started after the ice melted away. She says she comes across dead fish every winter but this year, it's been ten times worse.

"It's pretty disgusting," said Teresa Williams, concerned resident. "A lot of them are kind of bloody at the gills."

Teresa Williams has lived in the Bridge Water neighborhood for about 11 years. For the past week she says she's been waking up to an unpleasant sight in her backyard.

"I've been picking up dead fish everyday, most days over 100 fish a day," said Williams. "I think last year, I picked up 40 or 50 and the year before that similar amounts I always kind of count."

Harsh winter causing geese to starve to death

MIDDLETOWN, R.I. - Geese are starving to death across Rhode Island because of the extreme winter weather, and there's little anyone can do about it.

The sight of dead geese outside the Atlantic Beach Club in Middletown is unsettling.

"It's in areas that we expect to see birds -- but not dead. And they normally aren't pushed to the point where they're starving to death, which is basically what's happening," said Josh Beuth, a wildlife biologist.

According to the state, this beach is one of the hardest hit. At one point up to 20 geese were reported dead.

Rescue centers are struggling to cope with a mystery surge in the numbers of starving sea lion pups which have washed up on Californian shores since January.

More than 1,100 starving and sick pups have been rescued from California's beaches, as well as public bathrooms, behind buildings and along railroad tracks since the beginning of the year.

The number is almost five times higher than the 250 pups which would usually be expected in the key monitoring period between January and April - and no one knows why.

A team of scientists, in a groundbreaking analysis of data from hundreds of sources, has concluded that humans are on the verge of causing unprecedented damage to the oceans and the animals living in them.

"We may be sitting on a precipice of a major extinction event," said Douglas J. McCauley, an ecologist at the University of California, Santa Barbara, and an author of the new research, which was published on Thursday in the journal Science.

But there is still time to avert catastrophe, Dr. McCauley and his colleagues also found. Compared with the continents, the oceans are mostly intact, still wild enough to bounce back to ecological health.

"We're lucky in many ways," said Malin L. Pinsky, a marine biologist at Rutgers University and another author of the new report. "The impacts are accelerating, but they're not so bad we can't reverse them."

UN tally of Ebola deaths passes 10,000, most in West Africa

GENEVA — The World Health Organization marked a grim milestone Thursday in the biggest-ever Ebola outbreak, estimating that the virus had killed over 10,000 people, mostly in the West African nations of Guinea,

Guinea Ebola cases rise, three doctors infected

CONAKRY/DAKAR - Guinea has suffered a setback in its fight against Ebola with a rash of new cases, including three doctors infected by the virus, with officials blaming weak surveillance and a failure to follow safety procedures.

The outbreak, which began in eastern Guinea more than a year ago and has killed over 10,000 people in the three West African countries worst hit, had appeared to be on the wane, but Guinea has seen cases rise for three consecutive weeks, according to World Health Organization data.

A government health report from the weekend showed there were 21 new cases in a single day, a spike from the recent daily average of eight.

President Alpha Conde said on Tuesday that everything must be done to end the outbreak by mid-April, ahead of a meeting with donors scheduled around that date.

Ending Ebola could reboot Guinea's mining-dependent economy that has been hammered by the outbreak which has scared investors, he said.

"With Ebola, it is easier to go from 100 cases to 10 cases than from 10 cases of to zero. To end it, we need ten times more effort than when the outbreak was at its height," he said.

New infections

A big source of concern is a chain of new infections that can be linked back to a woman who died of Ebola and was not buried safely, according to Fatoumata Lejeune-Kaba, spokeswoman for the UN's Ebola emergency response mission UNMEER.

"It's a major setback .... It's due to individual behaviors. That is having a devastating effect on the community. People are simply not practicing the safety rules that we have been talking about for a year," she told Reuters.

Of the other two countries worst hit, Sierra Leone has also seen a spate of new cases while Liberia has no known cases at present and is waiting to be declared free of the disease.

The new cases in Guinea are in the capital and the southwestern town of Forecariah but if the situation is not brought under control they could spread across borders, said Lejeune-Kaba.

Ebola: Sierra Leone announces 3-day lockdown of 2.5 million people

By Elsa Buchanan

March 19, 2015 12:10 GMT

Despite a small drop in new cases, transmission remains "widespread" in Sierra Leone, according to the World Health Organisation. REUTERS

Sierra Leone will confine around 2.5 million people to their homes across the capital and in the north in a three-day shutdown aimed at stemming the Ebola epidemic, it revealed on 19 March.

"The lockdown will be conducted from March 27 to March 29 and will be like the one we conducted in September last year," said Palo Conteh, head of the country's National Ebola Response Centre.

Sierra Leone has just 0.01 doctors per thousand people. A scarcity of ambulances and health centres has complicated the Ebola response measures.

Meanwhile, health officials say two more American aid workers arrived in the United States on to be monitored for Ebola.

Liberia Investigates How Latest Ebola Patient Got Infected

MONROVIA, Liberia — Mar 21, 2015, 2:20 PM ET

By JONATHAN PAYE-LAYLEH Associated Press

Liberian officials were investigating Saturday how the country's latest Ebola patient became infected, after weeks with no cases of the disease in the country.

Liberia has seen the most deaths in the Ebola outbreak, with more than 4,200 of the more than 10,000 dead across West Africa. Since Liberia discharged its last case on March 5, it was counting down the 42 days that a country must wait in order to be declared Ebola-free.

But on Friday, officials said a new patient tested positive. In a worrying sign, she doesn't seem to be linked to any of the people on an Ebola contacts list and says she has not traveled recently to the neighboring infected countries of Sierra Leone and Guinea, said Dr. Francis Kateh, acting head of the Liberia Ebola Case Management Team.

He said authorities were considering the possibility that she had a visitor from outside Liberia who infected her or that she had sex with a survivor. The Ebola virus can be found in the semen of survivors for up to three months, and health authorities recommend that survivors abstain from sex during that period.

"The key thing is, if there is any transmission out there, how can we break this transmission?" he said.

President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf is calling the investigation team every half-hour or so to check in, he said.

Authorities are still compiling a list of people who came into contact with the patient, said Elizabeth Hamann of the International Rescue Committee, which is helping to manage the hospital where the woman first sought care. Contacts of people who are sick with Ebola must be monitored for symptoms.

MONROVIA (AFP) - The people of Monrovia's Peace Island ghetto, refugees of civil war who found themselves suddenly overwhelmed and outmanoeuvred by the deadly Ebola epidemic, are used to life under siege.

Yet with Liberia emerging from the worst outbreak in history a year to the day since Ebola was first identified in west Africa, the slum-dwellers are facing an even deadlier threat -- the measles virus.

Experts say Liberia and its neighbours Guinea and Sierra Leone are ripe for an outbreak that could infect hundreds of thousands, dwarfing the carnage wrought by Ebola.

Death once again stalks impoverished communities like Peace Island, a cramped spit of land surrounded by swamp where 30,000 people sought refuge behind the abandoned Ministry of Defence after Liberia's 1989-2003 civil wars.

Alongside swine flu which has claimed over 1,800 lives this year alone, India has now reported an outbreak of the highly pathogenic H5N1 bird flu virus in a village in the northern state of Uttar Pradesh.

According to the World Organization for Animal Health (OIE), nearly 190 birds died of the virus in a village in Amethi district in the ongoing outbreak reported early this month.

H5N1 had caused two outbreaks of a highly contagious bird flu virus in the southern state of Kerala late last year, leading to the culling of more than 200,000 birds.

Four years after the multiple explosions and melt-downs at Fukushima, it seems the scary stories have only just begun to surface.

Given that Japan's authoritarian regime of Shinzo Abe has cracked down on the information flow from Fukushima with a repressive state secrets act, we cannot know for certain what's happening at the site.

According to the New York Times, a sample of powdered tea imported from the Japanese prefecture of Chiba, just southeast of Tokyo, contained traces of radioactive cesium 137. Photo credit: Shutterstock

Some of it is human-made but very diffused, born out of the atomic and nuclear testing of the mid-20th century. Some of it is created naturally: radon gas seeping from marble floors, for instance, or the increased dose of cosmic rays that airline passengers get during a flight.

Few people think about these exposures. But since Japan's Fukushima Daiichi nuclear power plant disaster in March 2011, there's been worldwide

Just How Close To A Nuclear War Did We Come? Of Course Our Government Is SILENT About This

22 Mar 15

Just how close to “Nuclear War” did we come as President Vladimir Putin spent 11 days in a bunker and military moves were taking place around the world. How war-ready is America? How prepared are the individual families? Are you prepared for ANYTHING?

For the past decade and a half, Russian President Vladimir Putin has rarely been absent from newsreels. Small wonder, then, that 11 days without a verified sighting of him has sparked conspiracy theories to rival those about the moon landings.

Putin met Kyrgyz President Almazbek Atambayev in St Petersburg on Monday, and appeared before media just before 1300 local time (0600 ET). What would normally be a straightforward, regular meeting, accompanied by a handshake photocall, gained huge significance as the world’s media attempted to get a look at the President.

It’s not as if Putin hasn’t been busy. He was the star of a documentary aired on Russian television on Sunday night, to mark the anniversary of the annexation of Crimea last year. In it he said for the first time that Russia was prepared to put nuclear weapons on standby over the conflict — an extremely worrying thought for the West. MORE

Russia's Air Force is deploying an unspecified number of strategic nuclear-capable supersonic bombers to Crimea, according to a source. The major drills also include deployment of tactical Iskander ballistic missiles to the Kaliningrad exclave in Europe.

Several Tu-22M3 (NATO designation 'Backfire') variable-sweep wing, long-range strategic and maritime strike rocket aircraft are due to arrive to Crimea as part of global training exercises for the Russian military in the European part of the country.

In the future, a fleet of heavy transport aircraft will reportedly be capable of moving a strategic unit of 400 Armata tanks, with ammunition, to anywhere in the world.

And probably at hypersonic speed, enabling Russia to mount a global military response.

According to a new design specification from the Military-Industrial Commission in Moscow, a transport aircraft, dubbed PAK TA, will fly at supersonic speeds (up to 2,000 km/h) and will boast an impressively high payload of up to 200 tons. It will also have a range of at least 7,000 kilometers.

The PAK TA program envisages 80 new cargo aircraft to be built by 2024. This means in a decade Russia's Central Command will be able to place a battle-ready armored army anywhere, Expert Online reports, citing a source in the military who attended the closed meeting.

US to train 750 Ukraine troops as Russian aggression continues

By Lucas Tomlinson · Published March 20, 2015 · FoxNews.com

NOW PLAYING

Dormant Cold War between US, Russia heating up?

With Russian aggression in eastern Ukraine continuing, the White House announced Wednesday the U.S. will begin training 750 Ukraine troops.

The news came after a phone call between Vice President Joe Biden and Ukrainian President Petro Poroshenko and coincided with Russians celebrating the first anniversary of their country's annexation of Crimea.

"Soldiers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade based in Vicenza, Italy, will conduct the National Guard training mission at the International Peacekeeping and Security Center, in Yavoriv, which is in western Ukraine, near the border with Poland," Pentagon spokeswoman Eileen Lainez said.

Another defense official told Fox News 290 U.S. paratroopers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade will begin training 750 Ukrainian soldiers in late April.

The U.S. training exercise had been put on hold for fear of antagonizing Russian President Vladimir Putin. Originally, the plan involved a larger number of US soldiers going to Ukraine.

Japan Rising

Tokyo building forces to counter China

BY: Bill Gertz Follow @BillGertz

March 16, 2015 5:00 am

TOKYO—Japan is building up its military forces and strengthening alliances to counter threats from China as the country emerges from decades of isolationism following its defeat in World War II.

Japanese Vice Defense Minister Kenji Harada characterized the security situation in East Asia as increasingly "severe" and warned that tensions with China over control of Japan's Senkaku Islands in the East China Sea have reached menacing proportions.

"It is extremely dangerous," Harada said in an interview of China's attempts to enforce an air defense zone covering the islands located west of Okinawa.

Dubbing the Japan military buildup "integrated mobile defense," Harada said, "we have to respond to the situation seamlessly and very readily."

Chinese ships and aircraft have stepped up intrusions into airspace and waters around the islands since the air defense zone was set up in 2013 covering the islands. Japanese F-15 warplanes have made frequent intercepts of Chinese aircraft.

In addition to military brinkmanship with Japan over the islands, Harada said China is engaging in "information war," including the frequent use of state-run media to falsely portray Japan as reverting to World War II militarism.

"We recognize that China is currently taking not just physical measures but also the non-physical measures, namely the three warfares," he said.

The term "three warfares" was coined in a Pentagon study made public last year. The study identified China's use of what it termed legal warfare, psychological warfare, and media warfare as surrogates for kinetic conflict against enemies, including in maritime disputes.

U.S. Confirms North Korean Sub Missiles

China building new multi-warhead ICBM

BY: Bill Gertz Follow @BillGertz

March 19, 2015 6:15 pm

The commander of the U.S. Strategic Command, in charge of U.S. nuclear missile forces, confirmed on Thursday that North Korea is developing a submarine-launched ballistic missile (SLBM).

Adm. Cecil D. Haney, the commander, also told Congress that China is developing a new multi-warhead, road-mobile missile.

The four-star admiral made the comments in prepared testimony for the Senate Armed Services Committee. The testimony was disclosed Thursday.

The comments were the first official U.S. government confirmation that North Korea is working on a new underwater missile capability and comes as the regime in Pyongyang has tested nuclear weapons and claims to have miniaturized a weapon to fit on top of a missile.

The North Korean SLBM was first disclosed by the Free Beacon Aug. 26 amid skepticism that the communist state had the technical expertise to build a missile capable of being fired from a submerged submarine.

U.S. intelligence agencies detected the first flight test of what the Pentagon is calling the KN-11 SLBM in February. It was considered a significant advancement for North Korea's program to build a nuclear-capable missile that can be fired from a submarine.

Haney testified on the Stratcom's fiscal 2016 budget request and outlined what he called the "complex and dangerous global security environment."

"Nations around the world continue to execute long-term military modernization programs, including capabilities that pose an existential threat to the United States," Haney said, adding that military forces of nations and groups are "improving across all domains."

On North Korea, Haney said Pyongyang is continuing work to advance its nuclear weapons capabilities and claims to have "a miniaturized warhead capable of delivery by ballistic missile."

"At the same time, North Korea continues to advance its ballistic missile capability, including the development of a new road-mobile ballistic missile and a submarine-launched ballistic missile, and [to] develop its offensive cyber capabilities," he said.

The February test of the KN-11 followed a land-based ejection test in November from a static launcher at North Korea's Sinpo South Shipyard, located on the southeastern coast about 100 miles from the Demilitarized Zone separating North Korea from rival South Korea.

Documents disclosed by Wikileaks revealed that North Korea obtained a SS-N-6 submarine-launched ballistic missile from Russia several years ago. That missile was adapted into Pyongyang's Musudan intermediate-range ballistic missile.

US Intel Report Drops Iran From Terror Threat List

3.16.2015 | News | Bradford Thomas | 141

The most recent unclassified version of the Worldwide Threat Assessment of the US Intelligence Communities removed Iran and its proxy group Hezbollah from the list of terror threats.

The report, published Feb 26, 2015, was delivered to the US Senate by National Intelligence director James Clapper. Despite Iran and Hezbollah being included for years as terror threats, the unclassified report conspicuously dropped them from its list amid the administration's ongoing negotiations with Iran.

The assessment cited Iran's efforts to combat Sunni extremists, most notably those affiliated with the Islamic State, and the nation's "intentions" to "dampen sectarianism, build responsive partners, and deescalate tensions with Saudi Arabia." The Iran-funded Shiite Lebanese terror organization Hezbollah has been working against ISIS in Syria and Iraq. The report did warn, however, that some Iranian security leaders were "pursuing policies with negative secondary consequences for regional stability and potentially for Iran" and the nation's aggressive support of Shia communities was "fueling growing fears and sectarian responses."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sen. Tom Cotton and 46 other GOP Senators did a bold, brave thing by exposing Obama's duplicity to Iran's leaders in the current Iran nuclear talks. Now they are branded being branded as "traitors" by the Liberal Left. It would seem that Anti-Americanism is the new patriotism in the Obama era.

Normally, I don't like to get overly involved in the specifics of congressional matters. However, these courageous congressmen who are taking the full vitriol of liberal Democrats, mainstream press and liberal, pajama-boy social media types need to know that they are supported in what is perhaps the most dangerous threat the world has faced since the Cuban missile crisis –if Iran gets nuclear weapons and the capability to deliver them (which, they apparently already have).

GOD IS IN CONTROL, BUT HE EXPECTS US TO MAKE HIS VOICE HEARD, ESPECIALLY IN THESE CRUCIAL DAYS INVOLVING ISRAEL, I BELIEVE.

My own newspaper in Little Rock apparently refuses to print the following opinion piece I sent them, but instead printed many articles in opposition to Tom Cotton's and the others' letters opposing the terrible deal being made with Iran. This, despite Arkansas, in the mid-term elections, demonstrating that it is the most conservative state in the union. Thus, I know the paper has received an overwhelming number of op-ed pieces favoring the courageous senators, but has refused to print them.

Possible Proof for Noah's Flood Found at Bottom of Atlantic Ocean

Scientists exploring the Atlantic Ocean have discovered mysterious metallic nodules on the ocean floor that may provide telltale evidence of the Great Flood.

Last month, a German research team announced the discovery of dense clusters of manganese nodules on the ocean floor. Using a mesh net intended to scoop up marine life, the researchers accidentally brought up balls of manganese ore from over three miles below the water's surface.

According to LiveScience, some of the round manganese nodules were as large as bowling balls. Underwater cameras revealed that the ocean floor was littered with the metallic nodules, many of which resemble pancakes. Though similar nodules have been discovered on many ocean floor locations, experts say this is the largest patch of manganese nodules ever found in the Atlantic.

Where did the ball formations come from? The researchers are not quite sure.

"I was surprised, because this is generally not the place you think of for manganese nodules," said the German expedition's chief scientist, Colin Devey.

According to secular models, underwater manganese nodules form very slowly, gradually adding new layers over millions of years. However, scientists admit that the origin of the balls remains a mystery.

Dr. Jake Hebert, a physicist with the Institute for Creation Research, believes the nodules did not form over millions of years. Rather, he says, the formations likely formed very quickly.

"These metallic pellets provide strong evidence that most seafloor sediments were deposited rapidly, not slowly and gradually over millions of years," Hebert wrote in an article this month. "Are these nodules evidence of the Genesis Flood?"

Hebert points out apparent flaws in the methods secular scientists use to date the nodules.

A mythical metal said by ancient Greeks to be found in the lost city of Atlantis has been recovered from a ship that sunk 2,600 years ago off the coast of Sicily.

Marine archaeologists found 39 ingots of what they believe is 'orichalcum' on the sandy seabed among the wreck of a trading vessel that sank 1,000 feet off the coast of the town of Gela, in southern Sicily.

The wreck is the fifth ancient ship to be recovered off the coast of the town.

Speaking during his weekly radio phone-in, Clegg described Netanyahu's election pledge as "extremely worrying."

The Liberal Democrat leader said he hoped the "desperate attempt" to win votes was "breathless rhetoric."

However, he warned if Netanyahu, leader of the right-wing Likud party, carried out his threats, then the British Parliament would have "no choice" but to officially recognize Palestine.

The Likud Party won a surprise victory on Wednesday, claiming 30 seats in the 120-seat parliament, the Knesset.

The White House on Thursday pointedly raised the prospect of withdrawing crucial diplomatic cover for Israel at the United Nations, following Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu's decisive election victory.

"Steps that the United States has taken at the United Nations had been predicated on this idea that the two-state solution is the best outcome," said spokesman Josh Earnest.

The US holds veto power at the UN Security Council and has blocked anti-Israel resolutions recognizing the Palestinian Authority (PA) as a state from being passed in the past. Such unilateral moves for international recognition are a breach of the 1993 Oslo Accords that formed the PA.

The Islamic State is doing something none of their Islamic terrorist predecessors have done successfully: use social media savvy to attract thousands of Western recruits.

Now, from London to Paris to Minneapolis, young jihadis are leaving the comforts of the West to answer the call of ISIS.

According to CBN News Terrorism Analyst Erick Stakelbeck, ISIS has even larger aims.

Stakelbeck is author of the new book, ISIS Exposed: Beheadings, Slavery and the Hellish Reality of Radical Islam.

In it he describes how ISIS is calling on its legions of followers in the West to rise up and conduct attacks right here in America and turn the United States and Europe into a war zone.

"If you want to know what makes ISIS tick, Erick Stakelbeck is your man," American TV host and conservative political commentator Sean Hannity said of the book.

End-times prophecy watchers are marveling over a news report out of Jerusalem this week that the Altar of the Lord has been reconstructed by the Temple Institute.

We have the

The Institute, based in the Old City of Jerusalem, announced it has finished building an altar that is essentially "ready for use" in sacrificial services.

The altar is the most ambitious project to date toward the goal of rebuilding the Jewish Temple. The massive outdoor altar, which took several years to build, can be operational at little more than a moment's notice, reported the Israeli magazine Matzav Haruach.

The altar is the last major component needed for the long-obstructed sacrifices to resume in a future Jewish temple.

SCIENTISTS conducting a mindbending experiment at the Large Hadron Collider next week hope to connect with a PARALLEL UNIVERSE outside of our own.

Collision course: Large Hadron Collider could discover parallel universe

The staggeringly complex LHC 'atom smasher' at the CERN centre in Geneva, Switzerland, will be fired up to its highest energy levels ever in a bid to detect - or even create - miniature black holes.

If successful a completely new universe will be revealed - rewriting not only the physics books but the philosophy books too.

It is even possible that gravity from our own universe may 'leak' into this parallel universe, scientists at the LHC say.

The experiment is sure to inflame alarmist critics of the LHC, many of whom initially warned the high energy particle collider

Finding the 'God' particle could destroy the universe, warns Stephen Hawking

The elusive 'God particle' discovered by scientists in 2012 has the potential to destroy the universe, Professor Stephen Hawking has warned.

At very high energy levels, the Higgs boson could cause space and time suddenly collapse - and 'we wouldn't see it coming', the former Cambridge professor of mathematics says.

The God particle, which gives shape and size to everything that exists, could cause a 'catastrophic vacuum delay' if scientists were to put it under extreme stress.

10 Charts Which Show We Are Much Worse Off Than Just Before The Last Economic Crisis

By Michael Snyder, on March 18th, 2015

g+ Share Tweet Pinterest Email ShareThis

10 CHARTS Which Show We Are Much Worse Off Than Before The Last Economic CRISIS

If you believe that ignorance is bliss, you might not want to read this article. I am going to dispel the notion that there has been any sort of "economic recovery", and I am going to show that we are much worse off than we were just prior to the last economic crisis. If you go back to 2007, people were feeling really good about things. Houses were being flipped like crazy, the stock market was booming and unemployment was relatively low. But then the financial crisis of 2008 struck, and for a while it felt like the world was coming to an end. Of course it didn't come to an end – it was just the first wave of our problems. The waves that come next are going to be the ones that really wipe us out. Unfortunately, because we have experienced a few years of relative stability, many Americans have become convinced that Barack Obama, Janet Yellen and the rest of the folks in Washington D.C. have fixed whatever problems caused the last crisis. Even though all of the numbers are screaming otherwise, there are millions upon millions of people out there that truly believe that everything is going to be okay somehow. We never seem to learn from the past, and when this next economic downturn strikes it is going to do an astonishing amount of damage because we are already in a significantly weakened state from the last one.

For each of the charts that I am about to share with you, I want you to focus on the last shaded gray bar on each chart which represents the last recession. As you will see, our economic problems are significantly worse than they were just before the financial crisis of 2008. That means that we are far less equipped to handle a major economic crisis than we were the last time.

#1 The National Debt

Just prior to the last recession, the U.S. national debt was a bit above 9 trillion dollars. Since that time, it has nearly doubled. So does that make us better off or worse off? The answer, of course, is obvious. And even though Barack Obama promises that "deficits are under control", more than a trillion dollars was added to the national debt in fiscal year 2014. What we are doing to future generations by burdening them with so much debt is beyond criminal. And so what does Barack Obama want to do now? He wants to ramp up government spending and increase the debt even faster. This is something that I covered in my previous article entitled "Barack Obama Says That What America Really Needs Is Lots More Debt".

Texas Principal to No Longer Quote Bible Over Intercom Following Atheist Complaint

WHITE OAK, Texas – A Texas principal who quotes Scripture over the intercom during the morning announcements will no longer do so after a prominent atheist activist group sent a letter of complaint about the matter.

As previously reported, according to KETK-TV, an anonymous student at White Oak High School recently contacted atheist blogger Hemant Mehta after recording Principal Dan Noll quoting from the Bible during the announcements. The practice reportedly goes back to the 1970's according to former alumni.

"He who leads upright along an evil path will fall into his own trap, but the blameless will receive a good inheritance," Noll read from the book of Proverbs in one of the announcements. "The Lord detests the sacrifice of the wicked, but the prayer of the upright pleases him."

Mehta then contacted the Wisconsin-based Freedom from Religion Foundation (FFRF) about the matter, which in turn sent a letter to the district, asking that it order Noll to cease and desist the practice.

Superintendent Michael Gilbert stated last week that he didn't believe that FFRF should be given any media attention, and advised that Noll would not be punished for quoting Scripture during the announcements.

School Board Unanimously Votes Not to Restore Ten Commandments Plaque Following Removal

MARION, Ohio – A school board in Ohio has voted unanimously not to restore a nearly 60-year-old plaque of the Ten Commandments that was removed from a local high school last year following a complaint.

The Marion City Schools Board agreed on Monday to indefinitely “loan” the plaque to the Marion County Historical Society for display instead of its customary location at Harding High School.

The Ten Commandments display had been donated to the school by the class of 1956, and has been subsequently hanging in the hallway for decades next to the Preamble to the United States Constitution. But last year, an anonymous parent complained that the plaque violated the “separation of church and state” and threatened to call the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) about the matter.

Harding Principal Kirk Koennecke decided to take down the plaque, which was then relocated to the office of Superintendent Gary Barber. However, the removal generated controversy and a number of students began to petition the board to put the display back up.

“Taking down the Ten Commandments has caused more problems than leaving them up,” said Harding Herald Editor Cheyenne Abrams in December.

Barber reached an agreement with students and parents to discuss a compromise as to where the plaque would be displayed next. But some continued to fight to keep it at Harding High School, stating that it was “a slap in the face” to the class of 1956.

This week, a number of area residents spoke up in support of the plaque prior to the board’s vote.

College Ministry Kicked off Campus for Requiring Leaders to Be Christian

TURLOCK, Calif. – A Christian campus organization has lost recognition from its university and been accused of “religious discrimination” for not allowing non-Christians to hold leadership positions in the group.

Chi Alpha is a national student ministry organization with a presence in over 300 college campuses across the United States. According to the group’s website, Chi Alpha exists to “reconcile students to Christ, equipping them through Spirit-filled communities of prayer, worship, fellowship, discipleship and mission to transform the university, the marketplace and the world.”

On September 11, 2014, Chi Alpha’s chapter at California State University-Stanislaus was informed by the university that the group would no longer be recognized as a campus organization. The school accused the organization of religious discrimination and abruptly severed ties with the Christian group.

In a letter mailed last week to Cal State Stanislaus, Chi Alpha’s National Director, E. Scott Martin, explained that the Christian group was effectively “exiled from campus.”

CIBC Aventura®

“Within twenty-four hours, university personnel locked Chi Alpha students out of their reserved meeting space and forced them to hold their meetings off campus—in effect our Chi Alpha chapter was exiled from campus,” Martin wrote. “The harm from these incidents is ongoing, as it continues to affect Chi Alpha’s student members to this day.”

Chi Alpha was allegedly kicked off the Cal State Stanislaus campus because, although any student can become a member of the group, its leaders must affirm the organization’s Christian beliefs. University officials claim that this requirement violates the school’s non-discrimination policy.

A Church of England vicar has come under fire for allowing a Muslim prayer service to be held in his church.

Rev. Canon Giles Goddard joined in the "Inclusive Mosque" event at St John's church, Waterloo, by reading part of Psalm 139 and giving thanks to "the God that we love, Allah."

The service included a traditional Islamic call to prayer, and was attended by dozens of Muslims.

Rev. Goddard defended the move, saying: "We are offering a place for people to pray so it made absolutely perfect sense."

He claimed: "It is the same God, we share a tradition."

But evangelical C of E ministers have warned that the service is an affront to Christians around the world

Presbyterians Approve Gay Marriage in Church Constitution

NEW YORK — Mar 17, 2015, 9:33 PM ET

The Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) approved redefining marriage in the church constitution Tuesday to include a "commitment between two people," becoming the largest Protestant group to formally recognize gay marriage as Christian and allow same-sex weddings in every congregation.

The new definition was endorsed last year by the church General Assembly, or top legislative body, but required approval from a majority of the denomination's 171 regional districts, or presbyteries. The critical 86th "yes" vote came Tuesday night from the Presbytery of the Palisades in New Jersey.

After all regional bodies vote and top Presbyterian leaders officially accept the results, the change will take effect June 21. The denomination has nearly 1.8 million members and about 10,000 congregations.

"So many families headed by LGBTQ couples have been waiting for decades to enter this space created for their families within their church communities," said the Rev. Robin White, a leader of More Light Presbyterians, which advocates for gay acceptance within the church.

So far, 41 presbyteries have rejected the redefinition, which includes a provision that no clergy would be compelled to preside at a gay marriage or host such a ceremony on church property. The vote in one presbytery was tied, according to a tally by the Covenant Network of Presbyterians, a pro-gay group that works to keep Presbyterians united despite theological differences.

Last year, the church had allowed ministers to preside at gay weddings if local church leaders approved in states where the unions were legally recognized. The new wording for the church Book of Order, which authorizes same-sex marriages churchwide, will read, "Marriage involves a unique commitment between two people, traditionally a man and a woman, to love and support each other for the rest of their lives."

American Baptist College has come under fire for inviting a married lesbian to speak. (Facebook)

American Baptist College (ABC) sees the protests for an upcoming lesbian speaker, but a spokesperson says they are shocked it's even an issue.

ABC Vice President for Administration, Finance and Legal Affairs Richard E. Jackson says Bishop Yvette Flunder, a married lesbian, will be speaking on social justice, and anyone not in agreement with her comments is out of line on Christian doctrine of serving the needy.

"I think that the first thing that we would have people to understand is that Bishop Flunder will be focusing most of her remarks and comments while at American Baptist College on the innovative nature of the ministry that she (Flunder) conducts that addresses the rights and needs of persons with HIV and AIDS," Jackson says. "And I think that is completely compatible and consistent with the belief and philosophy of Christian people and Christian institutions to care for the least of us in any given society."

The Nashville-based college promotes tolerance over moral absolutes, according to One News, and Jackson says he believes higher education institutes should be free of "biblical constraints."

Blood moon seen through church steeple

WASHINGTON – The “blood moons” phenomenon, which has touched off controversy about the end of the world, just got even more contentious with charges an American mega-pastor is hijacking the discovery of the anomaly in a movie debuting in theaters nationwide Monday.

The blood moons tetrad is a mysterious astronomical occurrence discovered by a Seattle-area pastor who postulated beginning in 2008 that it might portend spiritually significant developments for Israel and the rest of the world because of its appearance on the biblical “feast” days of Passover and Tabernacles.

But, in a new movie called “Four Blood Moons,” San Antonio mega-pastor John Hagee, author of a New York Times bestselling book about the “blood moons phenomenon,” claims he is the discoverer.

In the film, based on Hagee’s book of the same name, the pastor best known for his vigorous defense of the nation of Israel makes the statement early in the new film, previewed by WND staff.

“The thing that compelled me to write the ‘Four Blood Moons’ was when I discovered the scientific fact NASA was pointing out that it happened in 1492 and it happened in 1948 and it happened in 1981 and it happened in 2015.”

Landmark gay rights case will challenge homophobic laws in Trinidad & Tobago and Belize

The battle of "Gay Rights" has now come to the Caribbean! According to report by the Independent, A gay rights activist will challenge the governments of two Caribbean nations to overturn a law that prevents gay people from entering their countries. The current immigration laws in Trinidad & Tobago and Belize bar "undesirable" persons from entering – a list that includes homosexuals, prostitutes and other marginalised groups. In both countries same-sex sexual activity between men is illegal. In Belize it has been criminalised since 2003 and is punishable by up to 10 years imprisonment. In Trinidad the penalty is 25 years for "buggery offences" and five years for other sexual acts. Despite these sentences, both the anti-buggery laws and those preventing LGBT entry are often unenforced. The case has been brought by Maurice Tomlinson, who will be in court on 17 and 18 March. Tomlinson is a prominent Jamaican LGBT and HIV activist and has taken his case to the Caribbean Court of Justice (CCJ). He hopes that a CCJ ruling will declare the laws a violation of his right to freedom of movement in CARICOM, requiring the governments to change them. He contests that the laws restrict his freedom of movement and breach his rights as a Caribbean Community and Common Market (CARICOM) national. Both governments dispute his submission. FULL REPORT

COLUMBUS, Ohio – Two lesbian women in Ohio have filed a complaint with their local Chamber of Commerce after a Christian videographer declined to record their commitment ceremony, and now the chamber is vowing to revise its policies to prohibit members from turning down orders related to homosexuality.

Jenn Moffitt and Jerra Kincely sent an email to the business Next Door Stories last month out of their search to find a videographer to record their commitment ceremony. But as owner Courtney Schmackers is a Christian, she politely advised the women that she could not accommodate their request.

“Unfortunately at this time I do not offer services for same-sex weddings,” she replied, “but thank you for your inquiry!”

Same-sex “marriage” is not legal in Ohio, and there are no local prohibitions against declining a particular business order for conscience reasons.

Genetic research is advancing to the day when gay couples could fulfill their dreams of having children related to them both.

I've helped many same-sex couples over the years have children of their own through assisted reproductive procedures. Egg donation and surrogacy allow two gay men to have children genetically related to one partner and the egg donor, but not to both. It's the same dynamic for lesbians and sperm donors. I've been asked many times by countless same-sex couples over the years: "can we make a baby that's a combination of both of us?"

It's a question that I've considered from a scientific and medical perspective for a long time. Advances in genetic research keep getting us closer to the day when the answer to that question is "yes."

فالاضطهاد يزيد والاضطراب يزيد والزلازل والابوئة والفساد الأخلاقي يزيد والاحاد يزيد

فلهذا أقول المسيح اقترب ميعاد مجيؤه لا احدد مواعيد بل ارفض من يحدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب
شيئين

الأول نصلي ونستعد ونعد زيت لمصابيحنا لاستقبال العريس بالصلاة والصوم وخدمة أبناء الله
وتنقية القلب والاستعداد بلبس العرس.

أفسس 6: 15

وَحَاذِينَ أَرْجُلَكُمْ بِاسْتِعْدَادٍ إِنِّجِيلِ السَّلَامِ .

رسالة بولس الرسول الي أهل رومية 13

13: 11 هذا وأنكم عارفون الوقت انها الان ساعة لنستيقظ من النوم فان خلاصنا الان أقرب مما

كان حين امنا

13: 12 قد تناهى الليل وتقارب النهار فلنخلع اعمال الظلمة ونلبس اسلحة النور

13: 13 لنسلك بلباقة كما في النهار لا بالبطر والسكر لا بالمضاجع والعهر لا بالخصام والحسد

13: 14 بل البسوا الرب يسوع المسيح ولا تصنعوا تدبيرا للجسد لأجل الشهوات

احترس ان لم تتمسك بالمسيح من الان قد لا تستطيع في المستقبل القريب بسبب الظلام.

الثاني لا نخاف

بطرس الأولى 3: 14

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوْا،

بل نفرح

رسالة بولس الرسول إلى أهل فيلبي 4: 4

افرحوا في الرَّبِّ كُلَّ حِينٍ، وَأَقُولُ أَيْضًا: افرحوا.

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان يريد أن نفقد سلامنا ولا ننال أكاليل.

وأيضاً استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك 150 ألف شخص يموتوا في اليوم الواحد

انت لا تعرف متى ستكون منهم

المسيح اقترب فاصنعوا ثمار تليق بالتوبة واستعدوا لاستقبال العريس.

والمجد لله دائما
