اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح وأيضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون ولكن ايضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعته

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

10: 21 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

11: 21 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج تضج

21: 26 والناس يغشى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات تتزعزع

21:27 حينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجیل متی 24

مت 24 : 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب وإخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

ثانيا لنؤمن

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمُ الآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

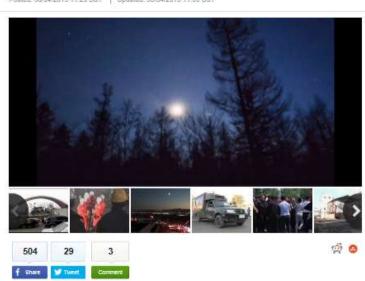

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَانْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسِكُمْ لأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَربُ».

Astronomers are on the hunt for any witnesses to a meteor that exploded over Northern Ireland with the force of an 'atomic bomb'.

According to the Irish Times, the fireball appeared in the night sky at around 10pm on Sunday 25 April - lighting huge swathes of both Northern Ireland and the north of England.

QUIET SUN: Everyone knows that high solar activity has a profound effect on the space around Earth. Less well known is that low solar activity can be equally transformative. This week, the sun is plunging into a quiet state with almost no sunspots. Only a few dark cores are peppering the face of the sun, and they are so small you might have trouble finding them in this April 30th image from the Solar Dynamics Observatory:

Almost no sunspots = almost no solar activity. The sun's X-ray output has flatlined, and NOAA forecasters estimate a scant 1% chance of strong flares in the next 24 hours. If the sunspot number continues to drop, the sun could become completely blank. The downturn is only temporary—a new batch of sunspots will probably appear by week's end--but it is significant. Spotless suns are a sign that Solar Max is ending. Stay tuned for ... quiet? Solar flare alerts: text, voice.

Dust from Sahara desert covers sections of the C'bean

Thursday, April 30, 2015 | 2:48 PM @ 5 Comments

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (CMC) - Dust particles from sand storms in the Sahara desert have blanketed sections of the Caribbean, affecting air quality in the region.

Each year, Saharan dust storms pass through the region, usually in the spring and

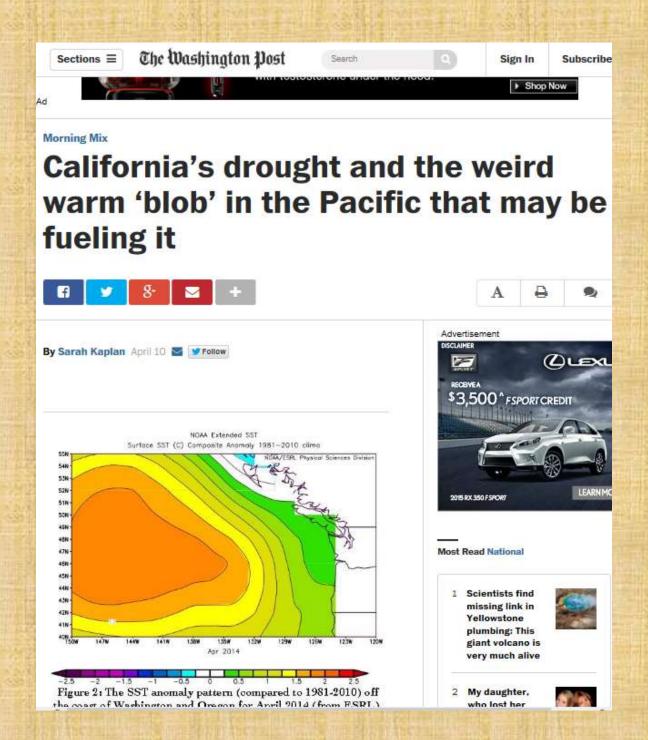

Meteorologist with the National Weather Service here, David Sanchez says the dust cloud is a significant event when it comes to the quality of dust in the air

"It's basically high pressure across the Atlantic and all levels of the atmosphere that brings the dust in".

The dust also raises the heat index, making the air feel quite hot. It is not just sticking around through the end of the week, it is going to get worse, Sanchez said.

The dust, which comes from the Sahara Desert, causes the skies around the region to be hazy, which reduces visibility and results in poor air quality.

The big doom-and-gloom news in the water world this week is that America's former largest reservoir, Lake Mead near Las Vegas on the Colorado River, hit a historic low on Sunday. The reservoir serves water to the states of Arizona, Nevada and California, providing sustenance to nearly 20 million people and crops that feed the nation.

Hawaii's Kilauea Volcano still inflating – lava lake close to overflowing

Posted on April 29, 2015

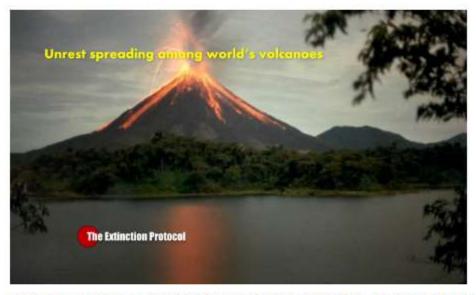

April 2015 – HAWAII – A lava lake on Hawaii's Big Island is mere feet from overflowing. On Tuesday morning, the lava's surface briefly reached the lake's rim, the highest it's been since the current eruption began in 2008. It has since returned to about 10 feet below the rim. "Magma is rising up into the lava lake from a magma chamber a mile or so beneath the summit of Kilauea volcano," research geologist Matthew Patrick told The Huffington Post. According to Patrick, an overflow is a definite possibility because Kilauea has been consistently inflating for the past week, meaning that magma keeps flowing into the lake from an underground chamber below. In the event of an overflow, the lava would stay within Halemaumau Crater, the larger crater in the floor of which the lava lake sits, so it would pose no safety threat. But visitors to Volcanoes National Park would get quite a display.

Typically, the lava surface is 100 to 200 feet below the rim of the crater lake and therefore can't be seen from the public viewing area around the volcano. Since the lava has risen, Patrick said, "its incandescent cracks and often vigorous spattering" can easily be seen from the overlook. An overflow would "likely provide an impressive scene for park visitors." While this is a notable development in the current eruption, it's not particularly unusual in the history of Kilauea, Patrick said. "In the 1800s and early 1900s, there was nearly

Posted on April 30, 2015

April 2015 – INDONESIA – PVMBG raised the alert level of Indonesia's Dempo volcano to 2 (waspada, "watch" on a scale of 1-4) because of increased seismic activity (mainly tremor and volcanic-tectonic earthquakes). It is recommended not to approach the crater within 1 km. The volcano's crater contains a large acid lake and a very active hydrothermal system. Phreatic or phreatomagmatic explosions could occur any time and would pose a significant risk. The last eruptions in 2006 and 2009 were both phreatic. –Volcano Discovery

GNS warning: Ruapehu is shaking like it did before the 2006 eruption

Published: 4:17PM Wednesday April 29, 2015 Source: ONE News

Mt Ruapehu's crater lake. - Source: ONE New

GNS Science is warning that intermittent tremors coming from Mt Ruapehu are at a level last seen during the 2006 eruption and 2007 lahar.

Volcanic tremors coming from Mt Ruapehu over the last 2-3 weeks were "moderate to strong", GNS said in a release, and were some of the strongest measured in the last eight years.

"The signals are similar to those in 2006 and 2007 but weaker than those recorded in 1994/1995."

It cautioned that, historically, a direct relationship between volcanic tremors and eruptions had not been established, but said it was a signal often present before, during or after enhanced volcanic unrest.

Mt Ruapehu remains at Volcanic Alert Level 1 (minor unrest) with the scale ranging from 0 to 5, and GNS Science continues to closely monitor the volcano through GeoNet.

The 2006 eruption sent a plume of water 200 metres into the air with waves of up to 6m hitting the walls of the crater lake.

Hundreds flee as Indonesia's Sinabung Volcano violently erupts again

Posted on April 30, 2015

April 2015 – INDONESIA – Mt. Sinabung erupted again on Tuesday night, forcing hundreds of residents to flee from Gurukinayan subdistrict, Payung district, Karo regency, North Sumatra, and damaging 14 homes, including four Karo customary houses. The Indonesian Volunteers Community (MRI) said that no fatalities had been reported from the houses that were ignited from the pyroclastic flows, but revealed that of the houses damaged, four were traditional Karo houses. "We checked the area this morning and there were no fatalities," MRI chairman Susanto Ginting told The Jakarta Post in Kabanjahe on Wednesday, Ginting said that volunteers had begun to enter Gurukinayan subdistrict around midnight, after the pyroclastic flow stopped, to help extinguish the fires and prevent them from spreading to other villages. The team of volunteers, he added, worked for over three hours to extinguish the fires. Susanto expressed concern that the Karo regency administration had been slow to act when the volcano erupted. No regency official, he claimed, had been seen in situ during Tuesday's eruption.

"They were all too fearful to go into the area," said Susanto, a resident of Gurukinayan. Susanto also said that a total of 812 families had been evacuated from Gurukinayan and were currently sheltering in makeshift shelters at a junction on Jl. Kabanjahe — Kutabuluh. The head of Karo Regency Disaster Mitigation Agency (BPBD), Subur Tambun, confirmed that a number of houses in Gurukinayan had been razed by fire following the eruption of Mt. Sinabung on Tuesday evening. Subur said that since his agency had not yet dared to enter the affected area, he could not confirm the number of houses lost to fire. "Areas hit by pyroclastic flows are categorized as a red zone. No one is allowed to enter," Subur claimed. Subur went on that the administration had provided money for affected families to rent houses. Separately, the head of the Mount Sinabung Observation Post, Armen Putra, said that following the eruption on Tuesday evening, the volcano had remained calm. "There were still eruptions, but of a low intensity and categorized as normal," said Armen, adding that the alert status of Mt. Sinabung was Siaga, the second-highest of the four statuses — normal, caution, alert, and danger.

Bulusan Volcano ejects steam and ash

By: InterAksyon.com May 1, 2015 2:18 PM

InterAksyon.com The online news portal of TV5

MANILA - The Philippine Institute of Volcanology and Seismology (Phivolcs), in its 1:30 p.m. advisory Friday, disclosed that Bulusan Volcano (12.7667°N, 124.0500°E) situated in Sorsogon Province, produced a steam and ash explosion which lasted for 5 minutes based on seismic records.

The volcanic activity was recorded at 8:09 a.m., although it may not have been observed visually due to thick rain clouds covering the summit.

"At around 10:30 a.m., when the crater became visible, strong to moderate, dirty white steaming was observed, reaching 200 meters high and drifting west-northwest coming from the northwest vent of the volcano," Phivolcs said.

Only five (5) volcanic earthquakes were detected during the past week by the Bulusan seismic network, but after the steam and ash explosion, the network recorded approximately 40 volcanic earthquakes.

Alert Level 0 status currently prevails over Bulusan Volcano, Phivolcs added.

However, local government units and the public are reminded that entry to the 4-kilometer radius Permanent Danger Zone (PDZ) remains strictly prohibited due to the possibility of sudden and hazardous steam-driven or phreatic eruptions.

Scientists confirm submarine volcanic eruption 300 miles off the coast of Washington State - massive 'quiet' lava burst

Posted on April 30, 2015

April 2015 - SEATTLE - More than 80 scientists from around the world gathered in Seattle last week to discuss a thrilling development: For the first time, seafloor instruments were providing a real-time look at the most active, submarine volcano off the Northwest coast — and all signs indicated it might erupt soon. But even the researchers most closely monitoring Axial Seamount were stunned by what happened next. Beginning Thursday, April 23 - the day after the workshop ended - the new sensors recorded 8,000 small earthquakes in a 24-hour period. The volcano's caldera, which had been swelling rapidly from an influx of magma, collapsed like a deflated balloon. "All the alarm bells were going off," said Oregon State University volcanologist Bill Chadwick, who along with a colleague predicted last year that the volcano would erupt in 2015. "It was very exciting."

Scientists are still debating whether to describe what transpired as an eruption, which means molten rock flowed onto the seafloor. No instruments were destroyed and there was no obvious temperature spike, so the magma might have oozed into subterranean fissures, forming what's called a dike. Chadwick is among those who suspect lava did burst out, probably north of where the new instruments are clustered. "This was a major event," he said. "A lot of magma moved, and that makes a lot of us think it had to erupt somewhere." The only way to find out for sure is to visit the site with a research vessel, which he and his colleagues will do this summer. But despite the ambiguity, the ability to monitor the submarine upheaval as it unfolded marks a major milestone for the United States' first underwater observatory. Operated by the University of Washington and completed last fall, the $200 million network includes 600 miles of coaxial cable on the seafloor that powers and delivers data from scores of seismometers, tilt meters, microbial samplers and other instruments.

earthquakes and erupting volcanoes are happening more frequently, that's because they are. Looking at global magnitude six (M6) or greater from 1980 to 1989 there was an average of 108.5 earthquakes per year, from 2000 to 2009 the planet averaged 160.9 earthquakes per year: that is a 38.9% increase of M6+ earthquakes in recent years.

The Costa Rica News (TCRN) - If it seems like

The conspiracy theorists have been sounding alarms for some time about this with fingers pointing to HAARP technology, geo-engineering, electromagnetic waves in the ionosphere, etc. Mainstream scientists simple say they are hand-picking data sets and that in reality our monitoring systems have become better as well as the fact that there is more media reporting so it only appears to be an increasing number of seismic events on the globe.

Shift: Volcanic eruptions becoming increasingly more aggressive and violent

Posted on April 28, 2015

April 2015 – GEOLOGY – We are beginning to witness more aggressive activity from the world's eruptive volcanic systems. Chile's Calbuco, Peru's Ubinas volcano, Indonesia's Mt. Sinabung volcano, Mexico's Colima volcano, and Costa Rica's Turrialba volcano are not the only volcanoes ejecting high altitude ash plumes in more powerful eruptions these days – the list of volcanoes across the globe now experiencing similar simultaneous activity is growing. Volcanic activity as documented for April 27, 2014:

Karymsky (Kamchatka): (27 Apr.) An explosion occurred this morning that was strong enough to produce an ash plume to approx. 10,000 ft (3 km) altitude (VAAC Tokyo).

Sakurajima (Kyushu, Japan): (27 Apr.) Strong activity continues from the volcano. This morning (14:24 local time), an explosion at the Showa crater sent a plume to 15,000 ft (4.5 km) altitude that drifted north.

Manam (Papua New Guinea): (27 Apr) Eruptive activity is taking place at the volcano. VAAC Darwin reported an ash plume to 8,000 ft from the volcano this morning. A pronounced SO2 plume can be seen on satellite data as well.

Dukono (Halmahera): (27 Apr) The volcano continues to produce significant ash emissions — a plume extending 20 nautical miles E was observed Saturday (Darwin VAAC).

Barren Island (Indian Ocean): (27 Apr) A pilot reported an ash plume rising to 10,000 ft from the volcano. Likely, eruptive activity which had produced a new lava flow in March is still going on or has resumed.

The holes continued to grow on Monday but engineers monitoring the site said the buildings had not begun to move.

In an attempt to stabilise the site and prevent further erosion, the owners of one of the unit blocks will arrange for two holes to be filled with concrete overnight, Parramatta council said on Monday evening.

New bird flu cases push Minnesota toll past 3 million

The Associated Press April 27, 2015 Updated 11 hours ago

ST. PAUL, MINN. - Health officials are confirming bird flu in 200,000 more turkeys in Minnesota, pushing the state's toll to more than 3 million birds since the outbreak began in March.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said it had confirmed bird flu in one flock in Chippewa County, three in Kandiyohi County and one in Redwood County. A second flock near the Redwood County flock was being destroyed as a precaution because it's so close to the stricken flock. The Chippewa case was that county's first.

The state's tally of birds killed or euthanized due to bird flu has passed 3.1 million, with 55 farms hit in 18 counties. Minnesota is the nation's top turkey-producing state, and also the hardest-hit from the outbreak. Gov. Mark Dayton has declared a peacetime state of emergency.

Chileans brace for volcano's impact on livestock, farming

The Associated Press April 28, 2015 Updated 20 hours ago

SANTIAGO, CHILE - The eruption of Chile's Calbuco volcano threatens to cause widespread and lasting economic damage, turning cattle pastures barren and choking fish with volcanic ash in one of the world's top salmon-producing countries.

Thousands of cattle and sheep in danger of dying have been evacuated in Los Lagos. The region produced about 950 million liters of milk last year worth about $346 million, said Ema Budinich of the National Agriculture Society.

"About 50 percent of Chile's milk production is located in Los Lagos, so this is affecting the whole industry," Budinich said Tuesday.

Emir Jadue of the Chamber of Commerce in the nearby city of Puerto Varas estimated the costs at about $600 million and a 50 percent drop in the region's hotel industry.

Official damage estimates are not available yet, but Eduardo Aguilera of the National Fishing Service says about 20 million fish have died.

Dead fish lie in a tank at a salmon farm, destroyed by volcanic mudflows from the Calbuco volcano, in an area along the Rio Blanco in Puerto Montt, Chile, Saturday, April 25, 2015. Authorities urged 2,000 people living near the volcano to evacuate Friday after potentially devastating mudflows of volcanic debris were detected in a nearby river, the result of two huge eruptions this week that sent ash across large swaths of southern South America LUIS HIDALGO — AP Photo

Residents of five villages in Sam Roi Yot district of Prachuap Khiri Khan have complained that a public creek they rely on heavily has became polluted, with many dead fish floating in it.

Local officials and soldiers on Wednesday examined the water at Huay Yang Khu creek in tambon Salalai of Sam Roi Yot district. They confirmed the presence of many dead fish of various species and sizes floating in the creek, which was dark and gave off a bad smell.

Iowa, the United States' top egg producer, has become the third state to declare a state of emergency over the growing bird flu outbreak, joining Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Animals, Ecology, Global economy, Health, Science, USA

At the time of Gov. Terry Branstad's Friday press conference, 16 million egg-laying chickens had tested positive for bird flu. The state of emergency is effective immediately and will continue until May 31 unless terminated sooner or extended by the governor.

Hungry sea lion pulls man holding fish off boat in California

(Reuters) - A man was injured on Sunday after he was pulled into the water by a sea lion that jumped from the water at a San Diego marina and grabbed a fish he was holding, authorities said.

The sea lion jumped onto the railing of a boat at the Hyatt Mission Bay Marina and snatched a fish being held by a man on the boat, said San Diego Fire Rescue spokesman Lee Swanson.

The man was pulled into the water for about 15 seconds, Swanson said, and was brought to a hospital where he was treated for cuts on his arm and hand.

Media, citing witnesses including lifeguards, reported the man was posing for a photo with the large fish when the incident occurred.

California sea lions, many of them pups, have been washing ashore stranded and hungry in record numbers in recent months.

(NaturalNews) The West Coast ecosystem is in a state of dire collapse. The Southern California sea lion population is dwindling to new lows as countless hungry and emaciated pups wash ashore. There's simply not enough food to go around for the mammals. Some believe the acidity of the waters is intensifying, not allowing certain species of fish to survive. The sudden decline in sardine biomass off the West coast is directly impacting larger animals in the food chain like the Southern California sea lions. A record number of these beautiful sea mammals have been rescued since 2013, when an unusual "mortality event" was declared. As the animals struggle to find

Dead Zones Recorded in Atlantic Ocean for First Time

Dead Zones in the Atlantic Ocean

Scientists are alarmed due to the fact that dead zones are showing up in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean - the first time its been documented. Matt Sampson has the details.

y Follow @MicheleWBerger

The Atlantic Ocean is teeming with life, but for the first time researchers have discovered dead zones in these waters — areas low in both oxygen and salinity - off the coast of Africa. Fish can't survive in the dead zones, and researchers don't yet fully understand how microorganisms will react.

This lack of a complete picture comes partially because the scientists stumbled upon this finding. Lead researcher Johannes Karstensen, of Germany's GEOMAR Helmholtz Centre for Ocean Research Kiel, and

A small quantity of radioactive water has leaked from a storage tank at Japan's tsunami-crippled Fukushima Daiichi nuclear power plant, Tokyo daily Asahi Shimbun reported Saturday.

A worker at the facility, located in northeastern Japan, found a wet patch measuring 20 sq. centimeters (3 sq. inches) under a storage tank for radiation-contaminated water on Friday morning, Tokyo Electric Power Co. the plant's operator, said.

Seventy microsieverts per hour of beta-ray-emitting radioactivity, far exceeding the recommended maximum exposure of 0.11 microsieverts per hour, were detected on the surface where the water had leaked.

Workers placed sandbags around the tank to prevent the radioactive water from spreading to other areas, the newspaper said.

The leak was detected on the same day that tests were launched in preparation for the eventual construction of a 1.5-kilometer-long (0.9-mile) frozen soil wall around the No. 1 to No. 4 reactor

China and Russia Navies to Hold First Mediterranean Joint Drills

The navies of China and Russia plan to hold joint drills in the Mediterranean Sea for the first time in mid-May, China's Defense Ministry announced Thursday, in the latest expansion of the growing informal partnership between the two militaries. The exercises also illustrate China's continued engagement with Russia at a time when Moscow has been shunned by much of the international community over its support for separatist rebels in Ukraine. The "Joint Sea 2015" exercises will feature nine surface ships, including three from China that are currently taking part in anti-piracy patrols off the coast of Somalia, ministry spokesman Geng Yansheng told a monthly news conference.

Russia Conducts Nuclear Bomber Flight Near Alaska

Two Bear H bombers intrude into air defense zone intruding aircraft.

Two Russian nuclear-capable bombers intruded into the U.S. air defense zone near Alaska last week in the latest saber rattling by Moscow, defense officials said.

The Tu-95 Bear H bombers flew into the Alaska zone on April 22. But unlike most earlier incursions, no U.S. interceptor jets were dispatched to shadow them, said defense officials familiar with the latest U.S.-Russian aerial encounter.

Navy Capt. Jeff Davis, a spokesman for the U.S. Northern Command and North American Aerospace Defense Command (NORAD), declined to confirm the incursion. But he said no jets were dispatched last week to intercept

The incident was the first Russian bomber incursion of a U.S. or Canadian air defense zone this year. Officials said it likely signals the start of Russia's long-range aviation spring training cycle. Further aerial incursions are expected.

Last year, U.S. and Canadian jets intercepted Russian bombers on at least six occasions, and intruding Russian long-range aircraft were detected on 10 occasions, Davis said.

Despite remaining in international airspace, "we believe that if the Russian military filed flight plans and self-identified-by 'squawking and talking'-the overall safety of flight would be enhanced," Davis said.

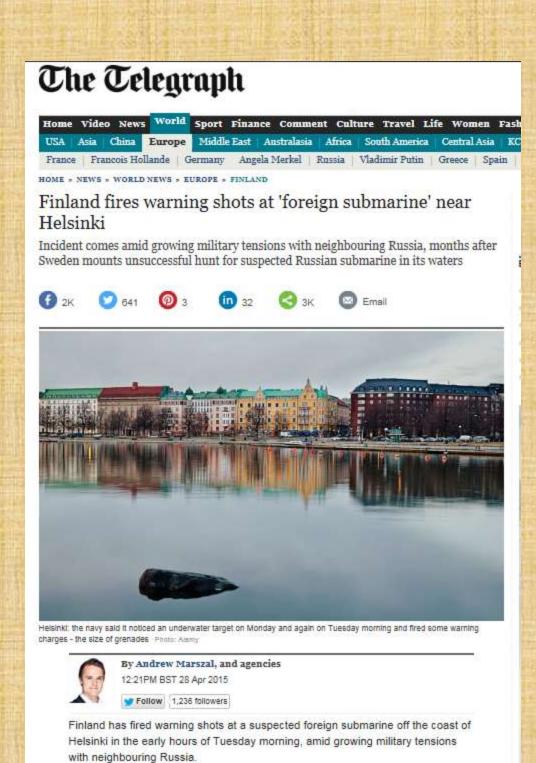

"And it could also reduce the number of times we scrambled fighter jets to intercept the aircraft, thereby reducing the potential for miscalculation."

Davis said the increase in flights near North America coincided with Russia's incursion into the Ukraine and Crimea.

"These flights often enter the U.S. or Canadian [air defense identification zone], but have not entered U.S. or Canadian sovereign airspace," he said, adding that the flights are legal since the ADIZ is not sovereign airspace.

Last year's intercepts included the following encounters, according to NORAD:

U.S. Sends Destroyer After Iran Detains Ship

FAR FROM THE MADDING CROWD WASHINGTON — The United States Navy sent a destroyer toward the Persian Gulf on Tuesday after Iran took control of a Marshall Islands-flagged cargo ship it accused of trespassing in territorial waters, American military officials said.

The ship, the Maersk Tigris, with 24 crew members, was intercepted by Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps patrol boats on Tuesday morning while traveling through the Strait of Hormuz, a Pentagon official said. The Iranian forces fired shots across the ship's bow, the official said, after its captain declined an order by the forces to divert farther into Iranian waters.

The official said the ship was traveling through "an internationally recognized maritime route." After being fired on, it issued a distress call, prompting the United States Navy to direct a destroyer, the Farragut, to the area and to put aircraft on standby to monitor the situation.

The episode threatened fragile negotiations over reining in Iran's nuclear ambitions, but American officials were quick to play down its significance, correcting initial reports out of Iran that it had seized a United States ship. The Marshall Islands, in the Pacific, have been independent of the United States since 1986 but have a "free association" relationship with the country.

The US is mulling a drastic change to its approach to the two-state solution, and not in favor of Israel, a top US State Department official confirmed.

Speaking to a gathering of Reform Jewish leaders near Washington, DC on Monday, Undersecretary of State for Political Affairs Wendy Sherman warned that the emerging coalition government in Israel would have serious implications for Washington's support in the international arena.

Israel is not in a pleasant situation. Every day, her arch enemy Iran draws closer to refining enough uranium to build 100s of nuclear weapons.

Every day the Iranian program becomes more difficult to dislodge – as the uranium is concentrated, the number of centrifuges required to complete the process decreases, allowing the remaining refining operation to be moved to smaller and more covert facilities.

America, ostensibly Israel's ally, is rumoured to have ordered US warships to shoot down Israeli aircraft, should a strike on Iran appear to be in progress. According to Israeli newspapers, President Obama thwarted a planned 2014 Israeli attack against Iranian nuclear facilities, by threatening to shoot down the Israeli bombers.

by KURT NIMMO | INFOWARS.COM | MAY 1, 2015

Florida Senator Marco Rubio has followed up Senator Tom Cotton's Iran baiting with a warning: the current deal with Iran on its nuclear program will result in war.

Rubio said the current deal will prompt Israel to attack Iran. "I would argue that a bad deal almost guarantees war, because Israel is not going to abide by any deal that they believe puts them and their existence in danger," he told the National Review Institute Ideas Summit.

Rubio, who recently announced a bid for the presidency, said Iran will "exploit any loophole in a deal that it can find" and use the arrangement to attack the West.

"We'll blow up a bomb in one of their cities. We'll blow up their embassies in Latin America. We'll kill Americans. We're going to punish them - a stronger Iran,7 he told conservative scholars and donors attending the summit.

Iran would have enough enriched uranium within three months to be able to make up to eight nuclear weapons if negotiations with the international community blow up, Vice President Joe Biden said late Thursday, noting that "the path has already been paved" for that outcome.

Biden's remarks at a dinner for the Washington Institute for Near East Policy played off concerns by critics, including Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, that the Obama administration is negotiating an agreement that paves the path for Iran to get a nuclear weapon.

It's Official: Police Were Ordered To Stand Down And Let The Baltimore Riots Rage Out Of Control

By Michael Snyder, on April 30th, 2015

We now have official confirmation that the rioting in Baltimore on Monday was purposely allowed to spiral out of control. Up until now, there had been some unconfirmed reports that police in Baltimore had been ordered to "stand down" during the riots, but nobody had been willing to come forward and go on the record. Now that has all changed. Michael Lewis is the Sheriff of Wicomico County, Maryland and what he has to say is absolutely jaw dropping. When he saw what was happening in Baltimore, he gathered up some of his fellow officers and drove down to the city to help. But when he got there, he says that all of the police were being ordered not to take any action and to let the rioters destroy property. Lewis made this astounding claim during a discussion on a Baltimore radio station...

> A Maryland sheriff who traveled to Baltimore to help law enforcement stop Monday's riots told 105.7 The Fan that he was stunned when officers alerted him of the orders to stand down.

Lewis says that he never heard the mayor give any particular orders, but he is very clear about the fact that the police were being instructed to "stand down" and to "let them destroy property"....

In Every City In America There Are People Ready To Riot, Loot And Set Things On Fire

By Michael Snyder, on April 27th, 2015

The city of Baltimore has been transformed into an "absolute war zone", and the governor of Maryland has declared a state of emergency as the rioting in "Charm City" continues to escalate. The funeral for Freddie Gray has unleashed a firestorm of violence, and none of it is going to do anyone any good. To their credit, some of the leaders of the African-American community are standing up and loudly condemning the violence. They know that smashing cars, throwing rocks at police and looting stores is not going to solve anything. But just like we saw in Ferguson, there are lots of people out there that are ready to riot, loot and set things on fire at the drop of a hat - all they need is an opportunity. The social decay that has been eating away at the foundations of our society for generations is now manifesting in some very ugly ways. We have raised an entire generation of young people in a "value free" environment, and now we are getting to experience some of the consequences of our foolishness. And what we are witnessing in Baltimore right now is just the start. Eventually, we are going to see scenes like this all over the nation.

Thanks to social media, the violence that we saw in Baltimore on Monday is being broadcast to the entire planet. The whole world is getting a really good look at what the decline of America looks like. The following is how the New York Times described what took place...

Protesters in Philadelphia block access to a highway Thursday night

Thousands of protesters took to the streets in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Thursday evening, pushing their way through police lines and blocking access to a major highway.

Philly joined a growing list of cities on edge after 100 cops were injured, businesses looted and burned, cars destroyed and bystanders were pummeled in Baltimore Tuesday night, resulting in Maryland calling out the National Guard to restore a degree of calm.

Earlier in the day, crowds gathered for a "Philly is Baltimore" rally outside city hall and moved toward Rittenhouse Square. Protesters later surrounded a police car and stopped a bus, according to Philly.com.

BALTIMORE RACE RIOTS ARE INTENTIONAL DISTRACTION FROM SUPREME COURT SAMESEX MARRIAGE HEARINGS

Geoffrey Grider | April 28, 2015 | 15 Comments

THE SUPREME COURT STRUGGLED TUESDAY WITH WHETHER THEY SHOULD FORCE STATES TO RECOGNIZE SAME-SEX MARRIAGES, WITH JUSTICES WHOSE VIEWS COULD DETERMINE THE OUTCOME OF THAT CHALLENGE SUGGESTING THEY WERE RELUCTANT TO UPEND SUCH A LONG-ESTABLISHED INSTITUTION.

Do you think that even for a moment, in your wildest dreams, that the current race riots in Baltimore "just happened" out of the blue? Do you want to know why they are happening right now? Because today, the US Supreme Court begins hearings on deciding if same-sex marriage will become legal in all 50 states. You didn't know that, did you? Of course not. The media is trumpeting nothing but race riots and burning buildings, with the sole purpose of keeping your attention away from the real issue being decided right now in Washington.

Large Hadron Collider — Mysterious Object Detected In Tube

The Large Hadron Collider will begin smashing protons again in June, according to Albert De Roeck, a physicist at CERN. The LHC, the largest machine ever constructed, completed a massive $149 million upgrade in April. The upgrade—two years in the making—will allow the LHC to generate far higher energy, which scientists believe will help them unravel ever greater mysteries about the universe and its origins.

One concern De Roeck discussed is an "unidentified lying object" that could disrupt the accelerator's beam. Phys.org says physicists believe it's something

Is the internet on the brink of collapse? The web could reach its limit in just eight years, warn engineers

- Internet speeds have increased by 50-fold in the last decade alone
- Optical fibres have reached capacity and cannot transfer any more light

The internet is heading towards a 'capacity crunch' as it fails to keep up with our demand for ever faster data, scientists have warned.

Leading engineers, physicists and telecoms firms have been summoned to a meeting at London's Royal Society later this month, to discuss what can be done to avert a web crisis.

The boom of internet television, streaming services and ever-more powerful computers has increased the strain on our communications infrastructure.

POPE FRANCIS CALLING FOR GLOBAL WEALTH REDISTRIBUTION TO STOP GLOBAL WARMING

Geoffrey Grider | May 3, 2015 | 20 Comments

POPE FRANCIS IS ABOUT TO RELEASE HIS ENCYCLICAL ABOUT GLOBAL WARMING AND IS EXPECTED TO ADVOCATE FOR CUTTING THE FOSSIL FUEL USE THAT HE AND OTHERS BLAME FOR TEMPERATURE RISES.

"And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet." Revelation 16:13 (KJV)

EDITOR'S NOTE: If your perception of Pope Francis is of a sweet, little old man who likes to mumble prayers in Italian and kiss babies on the cheek, get that thought out of your head immediately. Pope Francis is a shrewd, savvy, highly-motivated political player who is throwing the full weight of the Vatican with it's 1.3 billion followers behind a Marxist globalist agenda to usher in the New World Order. This pope is the game-changer who just may actually be the False Prophet mentioned in the book of Revelation. And is it any surprise that we see George Soros connected to the Pope's push? Seriously.

A Vatican declaration authored by the Pontifical Academy of Sciences (PAS) and others who attended a meeting Tuesday on global warming. The document from participants of the meeting pushes for ditching market economies to fight global warming and environmental degradation.

"Fossil fuel exploitation has also taken a huge toll on human well being," the PAS document reads.

"Market forces alone, bereft of ethical values, cannot solve the intertwined crises of poverty, exclusion, and the environment," the document adds. "The move to a sustainable world will not be cost-free for all: the options we face are not 'win-win.'"

Puerto Rico – U.S.'s 'Greece' – is hurtling to default

By Ellie Ismailidou

Government could run out of cash in 3 months

A severe liquidity crisis that threatens to shut down Puerto Rico's government is making life difficult for U.S. municipal bond investors.

The island territory has been labeled "America's Greece." Its $73 billion in bonds trading in the U.S. municipal-bond market carry junk ratings and are trading at record-high yields.

In a letter last week, the island's Government Development Bank said the government would likely shut down in three months, unless lawmakers agree on a financing deal that would see the island double its sales tax in an effort to balance its budget and allow it to sell $2.9 billion in new bonds.

As noted by GovtSlaves.info, the bank sent

As noted by GovtSlaves.info, the bank sent some of its larger depositors a letter that said it would charge them a "balance sheet utilization fee" of 1 percent annually on deposits in excess of the money they require for operations. Hillary Clinton claims to be Christian. Barack Obama claims to be a Christian. And I am claiming to a brain surgeon! Any takers?

You see just saying, "I am brain surgeon," doesn't mean I can perform brain surgery. I would need to back it up with a diploma and years of training. In the same way, no American will get elected president claiming, "The Bible is outdated, it's just a bunch of stories. I am humanistic socialist at heart!" Sure the left will have no problem with that, but you can't win without independents. So the candidates claim to be Christian—despite having very unchristian positions.

However in a day where anti-biblical behavior is celebrated, where Bruce Jenner is called a hero (not for winning the decathlon, but for identifying as a woman), it is only a matter of time before politicians began to boldly speak against the Bible.

Hillary Clinton is testing the waters. It is one thing to take anti-biblical positions, but to publicly call Americans to forsake the Bible is too much. Giving an address at the Women in the World Summit

Glenn Beck: Hillary Clinton Believes Religious Liberty 'Doesn't Exist in America Anymore'

Glenn Beck on Wednesday said Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton believes religious liberty "doesn't exist in America anymore if it goes against the collective knowledge."

"[She] has gone further than any politician I've ever heard in my lifetime," Beck said on his radio program.

"And as usual, there is so little coverage of it except here. I'm actually not sure how many people know of it.

And if the American people know about it, I don't even know if they care anymore."

Beck said Hillary Clinton's statement at the 2015 Women in the World Summit that "deep-seated cultural codes, religious beliefs and structural biases have to be changed" so that women can have access to reproductive health care is a "phenomenal statement that needs to be paid attention to by all Americans."

"The principle that was blatantly attacked is, in fact, the bedrock principle on which this country was founded," Beck said heatedly. "You cannot violate my conscience. If I happen to believe something deeply, religiously, that's my business. I'm not in your business; don't be in my business."

KENNEWICK, Wash. — After recently shutting down the fundraising page for persecuted Christian bakers in Oregon, the popular crowdfunding site GoFundMe has now removed a page for a Christian florist who is at risk of losing her business, home and/or life savings for declining to use her services for a same-sex "wedding."

The removal of the fundraising effort for Arlene's Flowers came just 48 hours after the site had taken down the page for Sweet Cakes by Melissa, which had been ordered to pay $135,000 in "emotional damages" to two lesbian women that filed a complaint after the owners stated that they could not assist with their ceremony.

As previously reported, Baronelle Stutzman of Arlene's Flowers in Richland was leveled with a lawsuit in March 2012 by State Attorney General Bob Ferguson, who claimed that she had violated the law by offering a referral rather than servicing the event herself.

Todd Steifel, president of Openly Secular, told the Associated Press that he believes there is a stigma against atheists in America.

"People have been raised being told that atheists are evil and they eat babies and they can't be trusted," he said.

The inclusion, which passed unanimously, now provides protections to atheists in employment and housing, as well as public accommodations, alongside protections for sex, race, religion, national origin or ancestry, age, handicap/disabled, marital status, citizenship status, gender identity and political beliefs.

THE SHOCKING REAL REASON OBAMA IS PUSHING SO HARD FOR LEGALIZED SAME-SEX MARRIAGE

Geri Ungurean | May 1, 2015 | 28 Comments

WELL, WE KNEW IT, BUT WE NEVER THOUGHT THAT OBAMA'S SIDE WOULD BLATANTLY ADMIT IT. SAME SEX MARRIAGE IS NOT SO MUCH ABOUT EQUALITY FOR HOMOSEXUALS— IT IS ABOUT SILENCING DISSENTERS. IT'S ALL CALCULATED.

"Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil: that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!" Isaiah 5:20 (KJV)

This is what the courts will use to ultimately shut us down and incarcerate us. They are using the Christian bakeries and other businesses to show that we are not being "tolerant" as they would have us be. But they knew what our reaction would be. They counted on it.

"The biggest news from Tuesday's Supreme Court arguments isn't news at all to conservatives: Same-sex "marriage" is a threat to religious freedom. For once, that revelation didn't come from one of the lawyers on our side but from the Obama administration's own attorney. In a rare moment of candor, Solicitor General Donald Verrilli sent a clear signal on where this debate is headed, and it isn't to the marriage altar.

رسالة معلمنا بطرس الرسول الثانية 2

7 وَأَنْقَذَ لُوطًا الْبَارُ، مَغْلُوبًا مِنْ سِيرَةِ الأَرْدِيَاءِ فِي الدَّعَارَةِ.

8 إِذْ كَانَ الْبَارُ، بِالنَّظْرِ وَالسَّمْعِ وَهُوَ سَاكِنٌ بَيْنَهُمْ، يُعَذِّبُ يَوْمًا فَيَوْمًا نَفْسَهُ الْبَارَّةَ بِالأَفْعَالِ الأَثِيمَةِ.

والمسيح وضعها كعلامة على اقتراب مجيؤه

انجيل لوقا 17

29 وَلِكِنَّ الْيَوْمَ الَّذِي فِيهِ خَرَجَ لُوطٌ مِنْ سَدُومَ، أَمْطَرَ نَارًا وَكِبْرِيتًا مِنَ السَّمَاءِ فَأَهْلَكَ الْجَمِيعَ. 30 هكذَا يَكُونُ فِي الْيَوْمِ الَّذِي فِيهِ يُظْهَرُ ابْنُ الإِنْسَانِ.

فالاضطهاد يزيد والاضطراب يزيد والزلازل والاوبئة والفساد الأخلاقي يزيد والالحاد يزيد

فلهذا أقول المسيح اقترب ميعاد مجيؤه لا احدد مواعيد بل ارفض من يحدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب شيئين
