والعلامات حتى 16 يونية 2015

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن أيضاً علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل أيضاً قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيق اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَأَن تُوْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

علامات في السماء

These were the apocalyptic scenes in Tbilisi today where lions, bears, wolves and a hippo were among dozens of animals on the loose in the streets - which church leaders say is a punishment from God for melting down the monastery's bells.

The capital of Georgia has been placed on lock-down after the flooding destroyed enclosures at the city's zoo - allowing a host of dangerous animals to escape and roam the streets.

The head of the Georgian Orthodox Church blamed the floods on the 'sin' of Communists who he said built the zoo using money raised from churches and melting down their bells.

Widespread Flood Threat Expected for Plains Through Midweek

 AccuWeather.com Published June 14, 2015

The benign and drier weather pattern that was in place for the first part of June across the Plains has been replaced with a continuous flow of moisture into the region.

This weekend kicked off the start of a very wet period for the southern part of the country, with Daily Downpours Aggravating Flooding in Texas, Louisiana.

The National Weather Service in Houston, Texas received 6.71 inches of rain on Saturday, which was the highest 24 hour rainfall total received at the office that year. The second highest was 3.91 inches, which fell on March 21.

Many cities in the southern Plains received between 200-300 percent of normal rainfall during the month of May and were hit again with several rounds of rain and thunderstorms over the weekend. The ground in these regions is already very saturated, making additional rainfall nearly impossible to be absorbed into the soil.

This week looks to hold more of the same, with thunderstorms and periods of very heavy rainfall a near guarantee for many locations from eastern Texas through Oklahoma and into Kansas and Missouri.

Farmers Are Pumping So Much Groundwater It's Making California Sink

What happens when your water supply runs dry? You go underground. In some parts of California, drought-plagued farmers are digging groundwater wells that plunge deeper and deeper into the earth, siphoning away the water of their neighbors, and causing the ground to collapse—potentially destroying the soil for good.

A story in the New York Times' drought series explores how groundwater used to be a last resort—a backup resource to tap only if things got tough. After a few dry years, farmers have needed to start drilling. But one of the biggest issues within California's larger water data problems is that up until last year there was no groundwater regulation at all. Even now it will take a few years for the limited legislation to go into effect. This is exceptionally problematic during a drought, says Jay Famiglietti, senior water scientist at the NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where scientists have been measuring the groundwater depletion by

California orders large water cuts for farmers

Published June 13, 2015 · FoxNews.com

California cutting back on water use amid historic drought

California regulators ordered farmers and others who hold some of the state's strongest water rights Friday to stop pumping from three major waterways in one of the country's prime farm regions.

The order involving record cuts by senior water rights holders in the Sacramento, San Joaquin and delta watersheds followed mandatory water curtailment earlier this year to cities and towns and to farmers with less iron-clad water rights.

The targeted waterways provide water to farms and cities in the agricultural-rich Central Valley and beyond.

Economists and agriculture experts say growing of some crops will shift in the short-term to regions with more water, so the water cuts are expected to have little immediate impact on food prices.

The order applies to 114 entities that have claims dating back to 1914 or earlier. It will force thousands of water users in the state to tap groundwater, buy water at rising costs, use previously stored water or go dry.

Kamchatka's Zhupanovsky volcano spews ash 6 km above sea level

Posted on June 9, 2015

June 2015 – KAMCHATKA – Zhupanovsky Volcano in Russia's Far Eastern Kamchatka Territory has spewed ash to a height of six kilometers above sea level, the Kamchatka Volcanic Eruption Response Team (KVERT) of the Institute of Volcanology of the Russian Academy of Sciences told TASS on Tuesday. "The ash column reached six kilometers above sea level. The plume of ash has been taken by the wind to a distance of 30 kilometers in the southerly direction," a KVERT spokesman said.

The volcano poses no threat to populated localities. Nonetheless, it has been assigned an orange aviation color code. It is not ruled out that the volcano may spew more ash up to eight kilometres high. Zhupanovsky Volcano, which takes its name from a river of the same name flowing in its vicinity, is located in eastern Kamchatka, some 70 kilometers north of the Kamchatka capital, Petropavlovsk-Kamchatsky. Zhupanovsky is one of the least studied volcanoes in the region despite its proximity to a large city. It is a complex volcano composed of four overlapping cones aligned on a roughly east-west oriented axis, with the highest cone reaching 2,958 meters high, and the lowest one being 2,505 meters high. The giant mount has been active since October 2013. –Panorama

Hundreds of carp carcasses have been found in and along Clear Lake, a sign that the deadly koi herpes virus may once more be infecting the lake.

In 2008, hundreds of thousands of carp died from the disease in Clear Lake. Last year, thousands of carp died in Lake Mendocino. The virus was suspected, but could not be confirmed in that case.

Lake County officials estimated the number of dead fish found so far in Clear Lake to be in "the low hundreds."

More Nebraska Chickens Will Be Killed to Contain Bird Flu

By: Associated Press

Home / Headlines List / Article

LINCOLN, Neb— No new cases of bird flu were found in Nebraska over the past week, but state officials say 900,000 more chickens will be slaughtered to limit the spread of the disease.

The Nebraska Agriculture Department said Tuesday the company that owns several farms where bird flu has been found agreed to kill the chickens on two other farms it owns in Dixon County as a precaution.

Including the new farms, nearly 5 million chickens are being destroyed on farms in northeast Nebraska to help control the bird flu.

Another farm in nearby Knox County with 3 million chickens remains under quarantine, but tests have not confirmed the presence of bird flu.

It is they who discovered Friday, thousands of dead fish, and even today they are struggling to estimate the extent of the carnage: 10,000 certainly more fish, all washed up on the beach.

LANSING, MI — A "highly pathogenic" bird flu virus that is spreading across North America has reached Michigan, officials confirmed on Monday.

H5N2 avian influenza was detected in free-ranging Canada geese in Macomb County, according to the Michigan departments of Natural Resources and Agriculture and Rural Development.

Free-ranging geese in Macomb County, like the one seen in this file photo, have contracted H5N2 avian influenza, Michigan officials confirmed Monday.

"While this is disappointing news that the H5N2 virus has been found in Michigan's free-ranging bird population, it was not unexpected given avian influenza has been found in a number of our neighboring states and Ontario," MDARD Director Jamie Clover Adams said in a statement.

Bird flu in Arizona? 4 AZ facilities quarantined, egg prices on rise

PHOENIX (KPHO/KTVK) - Bird flu might have found its way to Arizona.

The Department of Agriculture is investigating the state's first potential cases of avian influenza.

And consumers are already feeling the impact in the form of rising egg prices. Friday, we found that cartons holding a dozen eggs were priced about a dollar more than usual. However, there does not seem to be a shortage of eggs.

The birds in question -- 13 quail and chickens and about 40 quail and partridge eggs -- were shipped from Iowa, which is one of several states where bird flu has been confirmed. It was first detected there in April and has affected more than 30.7 million birds so far. Iowa has the most reported bird flu detections -- 74, as of this writing -- and the largest number of affected birds in the U.S.

According to the Department of Agriculture birds at the Iowa facility became sick a short time after the Arizona-bound shipment left the site. The initial test results were positive for H5 avian influenza.

The Iowa birds and eggs went to properties in Pinal, Mohave, Santa Cruz and Yavapai counties. Those facilities are under quarantine. The birds will be tested for bird flu, but the result could take up to six days.

June 10, 2015

A major worry about the Middle East respiratory syndrome (MERS) outbreak is coming true: The disease is spreading to other regions as people who visited Samsung Medical Center move from Seoul not knowing that they're infected.

Samsung, one of Korea's biggest and best hospitals, accepts patients from every corner of the country. The Ministry of Health and Welfare is worrying about possible fourth-generation infections, although none have been reported.

The health authority announced nine more MERS cases on Tuesday, raising the total number of patients to 95, and reported one more fatality, Patient No. 47, the country's seventh victim. Nine MERS patients, Patients No. 12, 23, 24, 28, 42, 58, 74, 81 and 83, are in critical condition.

The Ministry of Health and Welfare Thursday sealed off two hospitals for the first time in the outbreak of Middle East respiratory syndrome (MERS) to prevent the kind of mass infections that came out of Pyeongtaek St. Mary's Hospital and Samsung Medical Center.

Mediheal Medical Center in Seoul and Changwon SK Hospital in Changwon, South Gyeongsang, have been sealed off from the world. Patients and staff can't leave and no one can enter or visit the facilities.

Each of the staff gave care to patients who were considered highly infectious.

China Conducts Fourth Test of Strategic Nuclear Delivery Vehicle

China this week conducted the fourth successful test of a new hypersonic vehicle which is capable of delivering nuclear strikes and may be able to render US anti-missile defense systems "obsolete."

The test of the Wu-14 hypersonic strike vehicle was carried out Sunday, launched atop a ballistic missile fired from a test facility in western China, the Washington Free Beacon reported.

The Chinese Defense Ministry confirmed the fourth test of a hypersonic nuclear delivery vehicle, which the US called an "extreme maneuver," amid rising tensions between the two powers in the South China Sea.

Arms, China, Missile defense, USA

The test of the hypersonic glide vehicle, which the US has dubbed the "WU-14", was carried out on June 7 and is the missile's fourth test in 18 months.

"The scheduled scientific research and experiments in our territory is normal, and those tests are not targeted at any country and specific goals," the ministry said in response to a report published on Thursday by the Free Beacon.

The strategic strike weapon is extremely advanced and can travel at 10 times the speed of sound, or 12,231.01kph.

US missile defenses can only counter ballistic missiles and warheads that have predictable trajectories. The Wu-14 is capable of maneuvering during flight while travelling at the edge of space, and so is extremely difficult to shoot down.

ISIS, the jihadist group in Syria, Iraq and Libya, has claimed it could purchase a nuclear device and transport same to the United States, through a network of countries including Nigeria, up to Mexico.

ISIS also described the Nigerian Army as "an exhausted and smashed national army that is now in a virtual state of collapse".

Who rises if Assad falls?

That question, which has bedeviled U.S. experts on the Middle East, may need updating to read: Who rises when Assad falls?

For the war is going badly for Bashar Assad, whose family has ruled Syria since Richard Nixon was president.

Assad's situation seems more imperiled than at any time in this four-year civil-sectarian war that has cost the lives of some 220,000 soldiers, rebels and civilians, and made refugees of millions more.

Last month, ISIS captured Palmyra in central Syria, as it was taking Ramadi in Iraq. A coalition, at the heart of which is the al-Qaida-linked Nusra Front, seized Idlib province in northern Syria and is moving toward the coast and Latakia.

Half of Syria has been lost to ISIS, the Nusra front, and other jihadist and rebel groups. All of Syria's border crossings with Iraq have been lost to ISIS. All of the border crossing with Turkey, excluding Kobani, have been lost to ISIS or rebels linked to al-Qaida. Syria's border with Lebanon is becoming a war zone.

BENGHAZI, Libya (AP) — Al-Qaida-linked militants in eastern Libya declared holy war — or jihad — on the local Islamic State affiliate after one of their senior leaders was killed Wednesday by masked gunmen, which set off clashes between the rival groups that left 11 people dead on both sides, including a top militant commander.

Iranian Rev Guards ready to intervene in Syria to save Assad. Soleimani: Expect major events in Syria

Tehran is believed to be preparing to dispatch a substantial Revolutionary Guards (IRGC) special operations unit to Syria to tackle the separate rebel and ISIS advances closing in on the Assad regime, Western and Arab intelligence sources report. They say the Syrian army is already setting aside an area in northern Syria for the Iranian troops to take up position.

If this happens, DEBKAfile's military sources note that it would be the Revolutionary Guards first direct intervention in the nearly five-year Syrian war. Up until now, Tehran has carefully avoided putting Iranian boots on the ground in both Syria and Iraq. The only place where Iranian forces are directly engaged in battle is at Iraq's main refinery town of Baiji, where small infantry and artillery units have been trying - without success thus far - to dislodge ISIS forces from the refinery complex.

In the other Syrian and Iraqi war arenas - and elsewhere - Tehran follows the practice of using local Shiite militias as surrogates to fight its wars, providing them with training and arms. The Guards have also brought Shiite militias over from Pakistan and Afghanistan.

That Tehran is about to change course to save Bashar Assad was indicated in a surprise statement Tuesday, June 2 by Gen. Qassem Soleimani, supreme commander of Iranian forces fighting outside the country. After urgent consultations in Damascus with President Assad and his military chiefs, the Iranian general said enigmatically that "major developments" are to be expected in Syria "in the next few days."

Another source quotes him more fully as saying: "In the next few days, the world will be pleasantly surprised [by the arrangements] we [the IRGC] working with Syrian military commanders are currently preparing."

DEBKAfile, which Sunday, May 31, exclusively disclosed Soleimani's post-haste arrival in Damascus, now reports from its military sources that Hizballah military chiefs were summoned to Damascus to attend those consultations. On his way to the Syrian capital, those sources also reveal that the Iranian general stopped over at the Anbar warfront in western Iraq near the Syrian border.

The IRGC expeditionary force, according to Gulf sources, will have to initial objectives to recover Jisr al-Shughour in northwestern Syria and Palmyra. The first has been taken over by Syrian rebels of the Army of Conquest, a band of Sunni militias sponsored by the United States, Saudi Arabia, Turkey and Qatar; the second was captured by the Islamic State last month.

The recovery of the two cities and their return to Syrian government control would deflect the immediate threats posed by opposition and Islamist forces to the highways from Homs to Damascus and the Mediterranean port of Latakia. This, in turn, would relieve the Assad regime of much of the military pressure threatening its survival.

Saudis ready to go Nuclear

Since its creation 85 years ago, Saudi Arabia has acquired a reputation as a country that tries to avoid confrontation with its neighbours at all costs. During the long war between Iran and Iraq during the 1980s the Saudis desperately sought to preserve their neutrality, even if Riyadh's sympathies lay with its fellow Sunni co-religionists in Iraq rather than the Shi'ite Muslim hardliners running Iran.

Highly Suspicious: Saudi 'Civil Defense' Trucks On Texas Highway - Las Vegas Convoy Had Blackhawk Escort - Mysterious 2015 Wal Mart Evacuations

By Stefan Stanford - All News Pipeline - Live Free Or Die

A very concerned All News Pipeline reader just sent us the pictures seen above showing a pair of Saudi Arabian 'Civil Defense' trucks on a flatbed trailer deep in the heart of Texas. According to our reader, he saw three flatbeds, each of them with two of these vehicles upon them, just the latest strange sightings of foreign military vehicles on American soil and in 'Jade Helm 15' Texas at that. These were seen traveling southbound on I-45 just north of Houston, Texas.

Foreign militaries on US soil, however, aren't the only highly suspicious events we've been watching unfold in America as for some reason, MANY Wal Marts across the country, specifically in the south and the midwest, have been being evacuated for hours at a time, and to some people who are paying attention, these evacuations just don't make a whole lot of sense. The 1st video below from Hollywood Joe Tussing adds more mystery to the mix as a massive barge of military vehicles is unloaded in Texas while a Las Vegas military convoy has a blackhawk chopper escort. His warning shortly after the 50 second mark that martial law signs were spotted making their way to Texas has not been confirmed by All News Pipeline.

Between the years of 2008 to 2014, Wal Mart stores across the nation were evacuated a total of approx 16 times according to the interesting new 2nd video below from Professor Doom1; during the first 5 months and 10 days of 2015 alone, Wal Mart evacuations have occurred AT LEAST 30 times across the nation as proven in this 1st video and the story links at the bottom of the page for those who want to check these out themselves. This is not a 'conspiracy theory', all of these Wal Marts needing several hour evacuations as outlined by Doom, but a coincidence, or so it seems.

OBAMA SECRETLY SUPPORTING MUSLIM BROTHERHOOD

Group chosen as key vehicle for so-called political reform in Middle East

Published: 4 days ago

(WASHINGTON TIMES) President Obama and his administration continue to support the global Islamist militant group known the Muslim Brotherhood. A White House strategy document regards the group as a moderate alternative to more violent Islamist groups like al Qaeda and the Islamic State.

The policy of backing the Muslim Brotherhood is outlined in a secret directive called Presidential Study Directive-11, or PSD-11. The directive was produced in 2011 and outlines administration support for political reform in the Middle East and North Africa, according to officials familiar with the classified study.

Efforts to force the administration to release the directive or portions of it under the Freedom of Information Act have been unsuccessful.

The messages reportedly proclaimed "YOU'VE BEEN HACKED" and added "YOUR COMMANDERS ADMIT THEY ARE TRAINING THE PEOPLE THEY HAVE SENT YOU TO DIE FIGHTING."

It's not clear yet whether the Army or the hackers shut down the website.

Self-defense in the UK Is Illegal

British citizens seeking advice on what's legal to use for self-defense found some answers at www.askthe.police.uk, a website sponsored and operated by the government's Police National Legal Database.

Question 589: Are there any legal self-defence products that I can buy?

Answer: The only fully legal self-defence product ... is a rape alarm.

There may be other products, according to the website, but they haven't been fully tested and "if you purchase one you must be aware ... there is always the possibility that you will arrested and detained until the product, its contents and legality, can be verified."

Unlock 6, 5s, 5c, 5 & 4s

The Easiest Unlock for Dummies! 100% Safe. Step-by-Step Support.

In an effort to reduce any anxiety, the website goes on to point out that any product a British citizen purchases, other than a rape alarm, "must not be a product which is made to cause a person injury. Possession of such a product in public (and in private in specific circumstances) is against the law."

It offers some suggestions, along with a disclaimer. A British citizen may use a squirt bottle filled with a safe but brightly colored dye that may help police find and apprehend a criminal after the attack has been successfully completed. But, says the website, a citizen "should be aware that even a seemingly safe product ... would become an offensive weapon [if] it would be used in a way that is intended to cause injury."

And, the disclaimer: "The above advice is given in good faith. You must make your own decision and this website cannot be held responsible for the consequences of the possession, use or misuse of any self defence product," with the exception, of course, of a rape alarm.

This is not someone's idea of a bad joke, or a parody. Readers may verify the veracity on their own by going here: <https://www.askthe.police.uk/content/Q589.htm>

Why Is The EU Forcing European Nations To Adopt 'Bail-In' Legislation By The End Of The Summer?

By Michael Snyder, on June 5th, 2015

Are they expecting something to happen? As you will read about below, the European Union says that any nation within the EU that does not enact "bail-in" legislation within the next two months will face legal action. The countries that are being threatened in this manner include Italy and France. If you fast forward two months from this moment, that puts us in early August. So clearly the European Union wants everything to be squared away by the end of the summer. Is there a reason for this? Are they anticipating that something really bad will happen in September or thereafter? Why such a rush?

We all remember what happened when major banks were "bailed out" during the last financial crisis. A tremendous amount of taxpayer money was given to the big banks to help prop them up so they wouldn't fail. This greatly upset a lot of people.

(CNSNews.com)— Between January and March of 2015, a record 1,336 Americans renounced their U.S. citizenship, according to a quarterly report by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that was published in The Federal Register.

The list includes long-term permanent residents who are considered American citizens under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPPA), the IRS noted. The previous record was 1,130 in the second quarter of 2013, according to Treasury Department data.

A record total of 3,415 Americans renounced their citizenship last year, according to the “Quarterly Publication of Individuals Who Have Chosen To Expatriate.”

In a survey conducted by the University of Kent between December 2014 and January 2015, 1,546 U.S. citizens and former citizens were asked why they no longer wanted to be Americans. Survey participants stated that high taxes were the primary reason for renouncing their citizenship. But the survey also found that contrary to popular belief, income was not a key factor in their decision.

“Of those who have renounced or relinquished US citizenship (142 of the total respondents), nearly half (43%) have annual pre-tax household incomes of under $100,000 (USD). There is, similarly, very little difference in renunciation intention between those with lower incomes and those with higher

Cash-Strapped Kansas Moves to Limit ATM Withdrawals for Residents on Welfare

Kansas puts a $25 withdrawal limit on public-assistance cash cards.

by Tim Jones

Kansas is in trouble. After slashing income taxes in 2012, the state faces a revenue gap of more than $400 million. Republican Governor Sam Brownback and state legislators are debating how to make up the shortfall. So far they've agreed on one way to control how state money is spent. Starting in July, people on the dole will be limited to a single ATM withdrawal of no more than $25 per day. The law also prohibits spending public-assistance cash at movie theaters, swimming pools, and video arcades. Nail salons and tattoo parlors are out, too.

If the foundation of the financial system is debt... and that debt is backstopped by assets that the Big Banks can value well above their true values (remember, the banks want their collateral to maintain or increase in value)... then the “pricing” of the financial system will be elevated significantly above reality.

Put simply, a false “floor” was put under asset prices via fraud and funny money.

Consider the case of Coal.

In the US, Coal has become a political hot button. Consequently it is very easy to forget just how important the commodity is to global energy demand. Coal accounts for 40% of global electrical generation. It might be the single most economically sensitive commodity on the planet.

GREEK SHARES FALL SHARPLY AFTER IMF PULLS OUT OF TALKS

BY ELENA BECATOROS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Stark warnings to Greece over its stalled bailout talks hit Greek shares hard Friday, with the main Athens index down 4 percent within an hour of opening.

The drop comes a day after the International Monetary Fund pulled its negotiators out of the talks in Brussels, saying there had been no progress and that major differences remained in key issues.

The move contrasted with optimism expressed by the Greek side that a deal is possible by the end of the month. Greece's 240 billion-euro ($270 billion) bailout expires June 30, at which point the country will lose access to the rescue loans it desperately needs to repay debts and avoid a default that could force it out of the euro.

The news also weighed on European markets, with most indexes in the region down. Germany's DAX, for example, was 0.4 percent lower. The euro has also fallen sharply, trading 0.7 percent lower at $1.1169.

The debate over gay marriage is approaching a critical juncture this summer. At the end of the month, the Supreme Court will rule on Obergefell v. Hodges, which asks whether same-sex couples have a constitutional right to marry.

This will be the second time in just over two years that a landmark ruling is expected on same-sex marriage. In 2013, the Supreme Court ruled in [United States v. Poll: Most Americans expect Supreme Court to OK gay marriage

Associated Press

NEW YORK (June 11, 2015) — Nearly two-thirds of Americans expect the Supreme Court to legalize same-sex marriage nationwide when it rules on the issue within the next few weeks, according to a new poll.

Only 25 percent expect the high court to leave existing state bans on gay marriage intact, while 65 percent expect the bans to be overturned, according to the poll conducted by the nonpartisan Public Religion Research Institute. Its nationwide survey of 1,009 adults was conducted from June 3 to June 7.

Mirroring the findings of several other recent national polls, the new survey found 55 percent of Americans in favor of allowing gay and lesbian couples to marry legally, and 37 percent opposed.

Among those who oppose same-sex marriage, 72 percent say the decision about its legality should be made at the state level. Among those who favor same-sex marriage, 59 percent say the issue should be decided at the national level. At the moment, same-sex marriages are allowed in 36 states.

The survey found sharp divisions over same-sex marriage along religious lines. Majorities of religiously unaffiliated Americans (79 percent), white mainline Protestants (60 percent) and Catholics (58 percent) favor allowing gay and lesbian couples to marry. But gay marriage was supported by only 29 percent of white evangelical Protestants and 35 percent of nonwhite Protestants.

TEL AVIV SHUTS DOWN ENTIRE CITY FOR ANNUAL GAY PRIDE PARADE IN ISRAEL

TEL AVIV EXPECTS SOME 180,000 PEOPLE TO MARCH IN FRIDAY'S ANNUAL GAY PRIDE PARADE, THE NATION'S LARGEST AND OLDEST GAY PRIDE EVENT.

"But the men of Sodom were wicked and sinners before the LORD exceedingly." Genesis 13:13 (KJV)

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the Bible, God destroyed the twin cities of Sodom and Gomorrah because of their homosexual activity. Israel was regathered physically officially on May 14, 1948, but they have not yet had their spiritual restoration. This will come during what the Prophet Jeremiah calls the "time of Jacob's trouble". Jesus, in Matthew 24, calls this time the Great Tribulation. Pray for Israel and the Jewish people for the coming time of refinement in the fiery trial that the God of Abraham has prepared for them.*

"Alas! for that day is great, so that none is like it: it is even the time of Jacob's trouble; but he shall be saved out of it." Jeremiah 30:7 (KJV)

The parade, now in its 17th year, began at 11 a.m. local time as participants gathered at the city's Meir Park. At noon, marchers are slated to begin walking down some of the city's busiest thoroughfares, ending at Charles Clore Park on the Mediterranean beach. The event is scheduled to end at 4 p.m.

The Pentagon Queer Pride event kicked off with the National Anthem, sung by the Rock Creek Singers, who are with the Gay Men's Chorus.

"For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet."

Obama pushes equal treatment in military 01:09

(CNN)—Secretary of Defense Ash Carter announced Tuesday morning that there would be some big changes to the Military Equal Opportunity policy to reflect gay and lesbian servicemen and women.

The Department of Defense has updated the Military Equal Opportunity policy so sexual orientation will for the first time be included and will ensure everyone -- no matter the race, religion, color, sex, age and national origin -- be treated equally to maintain a more inclusive environment.

"The Department of Defense has made a lasting commitment to living the values we defend -- to treating everyone equally -- because we need to be a meritocracy," Carter said during the LGBT Pride Month Ceremony at the Pentagon auditorium. "We need to focus relentlessly on our mission, which means the thing that matters most about

Todd Starnes: Army: We Can Provide Honor Guards For Gay Pride Parade, But Not Church Service

Gay Marriage: Evidence That the Nation Is in the Biblically Foretold Age of Apostasy

By James Taylor | June 10, 2015 | 5:30 PM EDT

Dozens of books have been written in recent years by liberal theologians in an attempt to demonstrate that homosexuality, homosexual relationships, and homosexual marriage are fully consistent with Biblical Christianity. I have grown weary of reading that King David was a homosexual because he loved Jonathan, or that Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed because of a lack of hospitality, or – my personal favorite – that the Bible never actually addresses the issue of homosexual behavior.

I would suggest that the fact that some of such foolishness comes from persons who once professed to be Christians is yet further evidence of the fact that the nation – indeed the world – is well along in the Biblically-foretold age of apostasy. During such a period, we are warned about the prevalence of false teachers. How can we tell whether a teacher is false? Who can we rely on? But for the fact that we have the Word of God, we would be adrift on such matters.

One ubiquitous question asked among Christians for a decade has been: What Would Jesus Do? A recent article by Dave Daubenmire thoughtfully addressed the topic: Would Jesus Officiate at a Same Sex Marriage? His article discusses how we can know, for certain, the answer to this question

ACLU Seeks to Force Christian Adoption Agencies to Place Children with Homosexuals

LANSING, Mich. — After the governor of Michigan signed a bill into law this week allowing private adoption agencies to decline certain adoptions on religious grounds, the ACLU has vowed to file suit to force agencies to place children with homosexuals.

Republican Gov. Rick Snyder signed HB 4188, HB 4189, and HB 4190 on Thursday, bills that reportedly codify existing state law allowing private adoption agencies with state contracts to decline certain prospects due to their sincerely-held religious beliefs. However, those that decline must provide referrals to other agencies that may provide assistance.

The bills had passed both the House and Senate on Wednesday, and moved to Snyder's desk for signing.

In addition to protecting the consciences of faith-based adoption agencies, the bills prohibit the government from punishing or taking any "adverse action" against the agencies for acting in accordance with their convictions. The legislation does not mention homosexuals nor any specific class, people group, or other parameter.

"This is about making sure we get the largest number of kids in forever families," Snyder told the Associated Press. "The more opportunities and organizations we have that are doing a good job of placing people in loving families, isn't that better for all of us?"

But following the signing, the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) of Michigan vowed to file a lawsuit to challenge the legislation before it officially goes into effect. According to MLive.com, because the state's largest adoption agencies are Christian, the ACLU believes that discrimination could occur in turning away Muslims and homosexuals.

"As a country, we outlawed separate but equal 50 years ago, and what this law does is, it enacts separate criteria for people," staff attorney Brooke Tucker told reporters. "If you are a Christian, you have a whole range of options available to you from these faith-based agencies. If you're Muslim, if you're Jewish, if you're a same sex couple, you don't."

Iraq: Despite Thousands Fleeing ISIS, Churches Are Full Of New Believers

June 11, 2015 | Carey Lodge

Hundreds of thousands of Christians have been forced to flee Iraq as Islamic State continues to tighten its grip, but still people are turning to Jesus, a church leader has told Christian Today.

Rev Sami Dagher, president and founder of all Alliance churches in Lebanon, has churches all across the Middle East, including 22 in Syria, six in Lebanon, and three in Iraq – one each in Dahuk, Irbil, and Baghdad. He also has two Bible schools, one in Beirut and another in the Nuba Mountains in Sudan, and is just starting a church in Cairo.

Having been working and leading churches in Iraq since 1990, Dagher has seen significant changes in the region. He lived there under the reign of Saddam Hussein, and was once able to give a Bible to the dictator, who sent a gold watch in return and a letter thanking Dagher for his gift. At that time, it was illegal to open churches, so Dagher started one congregation under the pretence of it being a nursery, and encouraged Christians to eat together when they met, so if they got caught praying by the police they could say they were just thanking God for the food.

Since ISIS began gaining influence in Iraq, life has got even worse for Christians and swathes have been forced to convert to Islam, leave their homes or risk being killed. Many are now refugees in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan, but there are also believed to be around 2.8 million internally displaced Iraqis, some in makeshift camps but many living in abandoned schools and other buildings. Dagher's ministry has partnered with Samaritan's Purse to provide food, aid and shelter to some of those most in need in places such as Irbil and Dahuk.

According to the BBC's Lyse Doucet in Baghdad last September, ISIS militants were closing in on the city, and the Foundation for Relief and Reconciliation in the Middle East then reported that jihadists were "less than 2km away". However, it has as so far remained free from ISIS control.
