والعلامات حتى 21 يوليه 2015

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن ایضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل ایضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقه اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقه لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَأَن تُوْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

A scientist who claims waning solar activity in the next 15 years will trigger what some are calling a mini ice age has revived talk about the effects of man-made versus natural disruptors to Earth's climate.

Valentina Zharkova, a professor of mathematics at Northumbria University in the United Kingdom, used a new model of the sun's solar cycle, which is the periodic change in solar radiation, sunspots and other solar activity

At the National Astronomy meeting in Llanduno, north Wales last week, Zharkova said that a series of solar phenomena will lead to a "Maunder Minimum," which refers to the seven decades, from 1645 to 1715, when the sun's surface ceased its heat-releasing magnetic storms and coincided with the Little Ice Age, a period of chillier temperatures, from around 1550 to 1850 in Europe, North America and Asia, according to NASA. MEXICO CITY
(Reuters) - Tropical storm Dolores formed off Mexico's Pacific coast on Sunday and could soon turn into a hurricane, the U.S. National Hurricane Center (NHC) said.

Dolores, located 165 miles (265 km) southwest of the popular tourist resort of Acapulco, is heading northwest at 10 miles per hour (16 kmh), the Miami-based NHC said.

Dolores is blowing maximum sustained winds of 45 miles per hour, it added.

Hurricane Blanca is About to Be Earth's Sixth Category 5 Hurricane of 2015

by Wochit 0:45 mins

Weather forecasters recognized early on that Hurricane Blanca would be a storm to watch due to its potential for rapid intensification. Forecasts predicted it would develop from a tropical storm on Tuesday to a major hurricane by Wednesday. Those forecasts may have been a bit conservative. Blanca is now a Category 4 storm, with maximum sustained winds of 130 miles per hour. It is forecast to intensify further into a Category 5 monster. This additional intensification may occur by Wednesday evening, as there is nothing to stop Blanca in the short run.

Storm forming off North Carolina has earmarks of cyclone

Published July 13, 2015 • FoxNews.com

A low-pressure system forming off North Carolina has a nearly 100 percent chance of turning into a cyclone, the U.S. National Hurricane Center said Monday.

The system poses no threat to the United States, according to MyFoxHurricane.com.

Earlier, the NHC reported that the area, about 450 miles east-northeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., had about a 40 percent chance of becoming a tropical cyclone.

The system "shows some signs of organization well east of the mid-Atlantic and Carolinas," according to MyFoxHurricane, which adds that there's only a "small window of opportunity to gain tropical characteristics before it accelerates out to sea."

There are no coastal watches or warnings in effect, the NHC public advisory stated.

Tropical Storm Nangka Crosses Southwestern Japan

7/16/2015 8:58:00 PM

As of Thursday afternoon, EDT, the center of Tropical Storm Nangka is located about 85 miles west-southwest of Osaka, Japan. Nangka is tracking towards the north-northwest at 13 mph with top sustained winds of 55-60 mph.

During the next 6-12 hours, Nangka will continue to weaken as it crosses southwestern Honshu to the southern Sea of Japan, bringing an end to torrential rain and high winds. From here, Nangka will, as a depression or marginal tropical storm, veer northeast to the northern mainland of Japan later Saturday into Sunday.

Meanwhile, much-weakened Tropical Storm Halola is centered about 350 miles west of Wake Island, or 1,050 miles east-northeast of Saipan. Halola is tracking towards the west at 22 mph

MAUNA KEA — It sounds unbelievable, but it really did snow this week in Hawaii, in the midst of a heat wave that has broken multiple records for July.

A light snow fell on Mauna Kea Friday morning. The summit of the dormant volcano is 13,796 feet above sea level.

The Star Advertiser reports that it is a rare event, but not unheard of, according to a local meteorologist.

Many areas of the state faced flooding from storms that dumped heavy rain across the region.

Hawaii is also in the middle of a record-breaking heat wave. The state has set high temperature records 20 times so far in July.

Maybe the photos of snow will make local residents feel a bit cooler.

(NaturalNews) In Detroit, the city is cutting off water to residents who are months delinquent on paying their bills. In California, water is being cut off by various levels of government because there is less and less of it to go around.

As reported by CBS Sacramento, some communities like the city of Mountain House are just days away from running out of water altogether – after the state cut off the only source of water residents there had.

That has led some locals to being sort of stockpiling drinking water just to have enough to live on, something most never

A tsunami alert for coastal areas near the Solomon Islands has been issued after a 7.5 magnitude earthquake hit the region.

The tremor struck around 75km west-north-west of the city of Lata at around 12:27pm today (AEST) at a shallow depth of 10km.

There is no word yet on damage or injuries.

The Pacific Tsunami Warning Centre issued the warning for a 300km-radius from the epicentre.

The Joint Australian Tsunami Warning Centre said there was no immediate tsunami threat to Australia.

Ash and cinders spewed Saturday from the Colima Volcano in western Mexico, prompting authorities to close the airport in the state capital of Colima and order the evacuation of a half dozen hamlets on the flanks of the peak.

At least 70 people were staying at a shelter by the late afternoon.

The volcano began erupting on Thursday and has become increasingly active, leading officials to issue orders to relocate people living nearby.

The vehicle was submerged in rushing water Saturday afternoon on Indian School.

The driver got out OK, but things only got worse for the SUV.

The Water Authority blamed the sinkhole on a broken water main. It's not clear what caused it, but if the authority is at fault, it would be responsible for the damage to the SUV.

Law enforcement authorities probe mass death of fish in central Latvian lake

RIGA, July 10 (Xinhua) -- Law enforcement authorities have started a criminal probe into the mass death of fish in a lake in the central Latvian municipality of Tukums, local media reported Friday.

The investigation was started after four tons of dead fish were removed from Lake Dzirnavu, which has been polluted by sewage, said Julija Nikitina, a representative of the Latvian State Environmental Service.

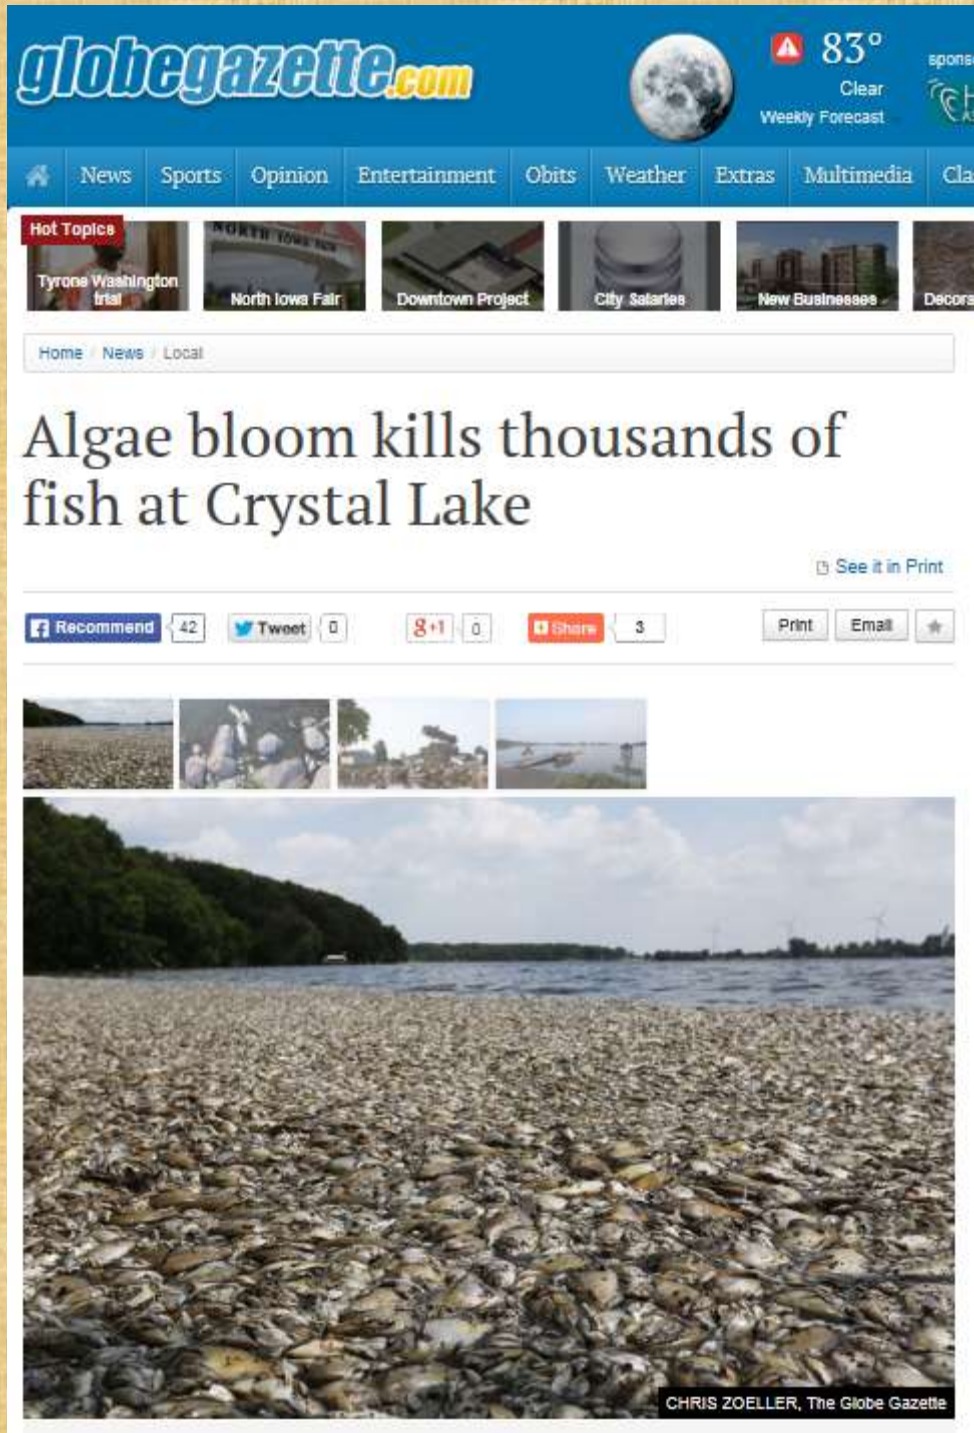

It is feared that the pollution might have killed even more fish as those that have been exposed to sewage and are suffocating will come to the surface later. The

Experts speculate on cause of massive fish deaths off Kwun Tong

Mass kill a mystery as clean-up continues and a putrid stench fills the air

Dead fish float near Kwun Tong Pier as algal blooms, global warming and tropical storms are among the suggested causes. Photo: Felix Wong

Thousands of dead fish were floating off the Kwun Tong Typhoon Shelter yesterday, stinking to high heaven and startling passers-by and nearby residents.

The unsightly scene recalls the thousands of dead fish drifting in waters between Peng Chau and Discovery Bay in April.

More than 1.4 million birds were destroyed across Nigeria to stamp out bird influenza that hit poultry farms early this year, according to Mohammed Ahmed, the Executive Director, National Veterinary Research Institute, Vom.

Mr. Ahmed told the News Agency of Nigeria in Vom on Sunday that 18 states were affected by the flu whose last case was reported on May 28.

He said 800 suspicions were diagnosed in the institute's laboratory out of which 500 tested positive to the disease.

Caught in a fisherman's net, three leatherback turtles never made it alive to T&T's shores to nest.

On Sunday afternoon, Nature Seekers conservationists found one dead turtle washed up on Matura Beach; then on Monday they discovered two more turtles dead on the beach.

Dennis Sammy, managing director of Nature Seekers, told T&T Guardian that three dead turtles on the beach was not an unusual occurrence. He said typically more turtles wash up during the nesting season, but because of the seaweed hindering the fishermen from going out to sea, many turtles were spared.

Sammy said the country must work on improving the hatching rate and decreasing the death rate of the turtles. While he maintained that fishermen going out to sea were not at fault for the deaths of the turtles because it was accidental, he said there must be a better way to improve the conservation of the turtles in the sea.

In Wood Buffalo park, more dead bison found; suspected

Officials say there's no risk to visitors to the park

More dead bison have been found in Wood Buffalo National Park, and park staff suspect the cause could be an anthrax outbreak.

Fourteen bison were found dead at Sweetgrass Prairie, in the centre of the park, during an aerial search on the weekend. Another animal showing signs of death from anthrax was found on the park's Parsons Lake Road.

"Parsons Lake Road was already closed, but we put a caution tape at both sides of the road where you can enter the area and that carcass will be burned," says Tim Gauthier, a Parks Canada spokesperson.

Burning the carcasses is the one sure way of killing off anthrax spores, Gauthier added.

Officials worried by mysterious deaths of sturgeon

SPOKANE, Wash. - The mysterious deaths of dozens of giant sturgeon in the Columbia River near the Tri-Cities is prompting state officials to consider closing catch-and-release fishing of the species.

Paul Hoffarth of the state Department of Fish and Wildlife says people have reported finding more than 80 dead sturgeon on the river from the Hanford Reach to Boardman, Oregon.

The Spokesman-Review reported all the fish were in the large category, ranging from 5 feet to 8.5 feet long.

Hoffarth says theories for the sturgeon deaths include the possibility that the sockeye salmon they're eating could be diseased from migrating upstream in the Columbia's unusually warm water.

He says another theory suggests the sturgeon are stressed by the combination of dramatically lower flows with higher-than-normal July water temperatures.

A senior Iranian commander says the country is to unveil missile defense systems with the technology to counter electronic warfare and equipped with mid-range and long-range radars.

Missile systems capable of thwarting electronic warfare threats and new mid-range and long-range radars will be connected to Iran's integrated air defense network on September 1, said Brigadier General Farzad Esmaili, the commander of Iran's Khatam al-Anbiya Air Defense Base, on Saturday.

The senior Iranian commander added that the missile and radar defense systems will keep under surveillance significant areas of land in the south and southeastern part of Iran.

Netanyahu calls Iran nuclear agreement a 'bad mistake of historic proportions'

Ex-Israeli PM: Deal allows Iran to become real nuclear power

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said Tuesday that a nuclear deal between Iran and six world powers, led by the United States, was "a bad mistake of historic proportions."

Netanyahu gave his thoughts on the agreement prior to the start of a meeting with Dutch Foreign Minister Bert Koenders in Jerusalem and vowed to continue efforts to block Tehran from obtaining a nuclear weapon.

"Iran is going to receive a sure path to nuclear weapons. Many of the restrictions that were supposed to prevent it from getting there will be lifted," Netanyahu said. "Iran will get a jackpot, a cash bonanza of hundreds of billions of dollars, which will enable it to continue to pursue its aggression and terror in the region and in the world."

"One cannot prevent an agreement when the negotiators are willing to make more and more concessions to those who, even during the talks, keep chanting: 'Death to America,'" Netanyahu

Netanyahu Warns: Deal Or No Deal, We Won't Let Iran Go Nuclear

Speaking to Knesset, PM Binyamin Netanyahu says it appears P5+1 have made their minds up already - and so has Israel.

As talk continues of an imminent deal between Iran and world powers - one which reportedly would see Tehran receive all of its demands - Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu has added his voice to a growing number of senior Israeli officials warning that regardless of the outcome, Israel is not bound by the deal.

"Even over the weekend, as Iran continued to receive more and more concessions at the negotiating table, Iranian President Rouhani led a march of hatred in the streets of Tehran in which the masses cried, 'Death to America! Death to Israel!'" Netanyahu said, describing Iran's recent "Al Quds (Jerusalem) Day" in an address to the Knesset Monday.

"If the concessions continued even after these unequivocal calls for the destruction of those conducting the negotiations, it seems that there are those who are ready to make an agreement at any price - and this bad agreement is unavoidable," the prime minister acknowledged.

He noted that Israel was never under any illusions that it could control the outcome of the negotiations, despite Jerusalem's intensive efforts to explain its opposition to the looming agreement and lobby against major concessions - but that didn't mean Israel would stand by and allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons.

Iran's supreme leader mocks Obama with letter warning some of the 'other' countries that signed his nuke deal 'are not trustworthy'

Just eight minutes after President Barack Obama wrapped up a White House press conference he called on Wednesday to defend a day-old nuclear deal with Iran, the Islamic republic's supreme leader used Twitter to tweak him. In a short letter to Obama that he posted on Twitter, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei wrote that it's partner nations like China and Russia who should be watched carefully – not Iran – to make sure they honor the terms of the landmark bargain.

THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER WORLD POWERS WILL HELP TO TEACH IRAN HOW TO THWART AND DETECT THREATS TO ITS NUCLEAR PROGRAM, ACCORDING TO THE PARAMETERS OF A DEAL REACHED TUESDAY TO REIN IN IRAN'S CONTESTED NUCLEAR PROGRAM.

EDITOR'S NOTE: However bad you might have thought Obama's nuclear deal with Iran was, it just got ten times worse. Today it was revealed that Obama has pledged the United States military to protect Iranian nuclear facilities against air strikes from Israel and any other nation like Saudi Arabia that wants to stop them from getting a nuclear weapon. The United States and its partners have just become the international protectors of the Iranian nuclear program.

Under the terms of a deal that provides Iran billions of dollars in sanctions relief, the United States and global powers will cooperate to help teach Iran how to manage its nuclear infrastructure, which will largely remain in tact under the deal.

After Obama's Nuke Deal, What Happens If Israel Attacks Iran?

By Eric Pianin
July 16, 2015 6:15 AM

In urging congressional Republicans and Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu to reconsider their strong opposition to a new international agreement to block Iran's development of a nuclear weapon in return for lifting economic sanctions, President Obama on Wednesday argued opponents of the deal have offered no alternative to diplomacy except going to war in the Middle East.

"Israel has legitimate concerns about its security regarding Iran," Obama said at a White House

How the Dominoes Will Fall After ISIS Takes Damascus

 THEFISCALTIMES By Riyadh Mohammed 14 hours ago

For more than four years, the Assad regime in Syria has resisted its people's cry to be freed from dictatorship.

During the last several weeks, the Assad regime has shown signs of vulnerability punctuated by a weakened relationship with Iran. Iranian advisers who had supported Assad for years are now consumed with supporting the Iraqi government in its war against ISIS and the Houthis in Yemen in their war against a Saudi-led coalition of Arab nations. Iran's economy has been damaged severely after a decade of international sanctions and Iran cannot support the Syrian regime financially forever. Hezbollah, the best trained force fighting for the regime, has lost about a thousand of its best fighters in Syria, the very fighters desperately needed to fight ISIS and al-Qaeda in Lebanon.

For these reasons, Syrian government forces have suffered a series of defeats over the last weeks. The Assad regime now controls no more than 35 percent of the country, leaving the rest to ISIS, the Kurds and the other rebel groups like al-Nusra front. Aleppo, Syria's largest city is almost surrounded completely by the rebels. The Syrian Kurds have increased the territories they control in the north to include most of the border areas with Tur-

ISIS Has Fired Chemical Mortar Shells, Evidence Indicates

A 120-millimeter mortar shell struck fortifications at a Kurdish military position near the Mosul Dam in June, arms experts said, sickening several Kurdish fighters who were nearby.

The Islamic State appears to have manufactured rudimentary chemical warfare shells and attacked Kurdish positions in Iraq and Syria with them as many as three times in recent weeks, according to field investigators, Kurdish officials and a Western ordnance disposal technician who examined the incidents and recovered one of the shells.

The development, which the investigators said involved toxic industrial or agricultural chemicals repurposed as weapons, signaled a potential escalation of the group's capabilities, though it was not entirely without precedent.

The Syrian opposition group, Jaysh al-Islam has executed 18 alleged Islamic State militants. A video emerged of the rebel organization imitating many of the jihadist group's own execution recordings, including similar sound effects and visuals.

The clip, which was just under 20 minutes long, showed fighters from Jaysh al-Islam (Army of Islam) wearing orange prison attire, that victims of Islamic State (IS, formerly ISIS) are often executed in.

ISRAELI AIR FORCE STRIKES TARGETS IN GAZA AFTER HAMAS ROCKET ATTACK

THE ISRAELI AIR FORCE STRUCK TERRORIST INFRASTRUCTURE IN THE GAZA STRIP ON THURSDAY MORNING, IN RESPONSE TO A ROCKET THAT WAS FIRED ON ISRAEL A FEW HOURS EARLIER.

The IDF spokesperson's office released a statement saying that the IDF viewed with severity the rocket attack on Israel and that it would not tolerate attempts to harm Israeli citizens. The IDF said that Hamas was responsible for the attack.

A rocket was launched from Gaza towards Israel early Thursday morning causing rocket alert sirens to sound near Ashkelon in the Lakhish Regional Council and in communities in the Gaza envelope.

British combat pilots covertly embedded in American and Canadian coalition forces have been bombing targets in Syria without democratic sanction, a Freedom of Information (FoI) request has revealed.

Ministry of Defence (MoD) documents obtained by UK human rights group Reprieve on Thursday indicate that British air forces have been involved in military airstrikes over Syria for quite some time.

A re-established and self declared Israeli Sanhedrin, the religious High Court composed of 71 sages, has declared that it is putting Pope Francis on trial unless he retracts his statement that the Jews have no right to the land of Israel or to Jerusalem.

In February 2013, the Vatican officially recognized the "State of Palestine" but more significantly, the Vatican signed a treaty in June with "Palestine" in which the Holy See switched its diplomatic relations from the Palestinian Liberation Organization to the "State of Palestine". This treaty is the first legal document negotiated between the Holy See and the Palestinian state and as such, constitutes an official recognition.

The trial and judgment will be on September 20th, 2015. If Pope Francis chooses to ignore the summons, he will be judged in absentia.

The Sanhedrin sent a letter to Pope Francis in reaction to the Vatican's recent support of the Palestinian Authority's unilateral moves to declare themselves a nation, reported the Hebrew magazine Matzav Haruach on June 24.

The letter stated:

"Because the Vatican recognized the organization known as the Palestinian Authority as a nation, and has begun to refer to it as a nation in its documents. His honor has named the head of said authority as an 'Angel of Peace', as was explained by a spokesman for the Vatican, that his intention was to encourage Abu Mazen to advance towards peace. These actions, to our great dismay, are consistent with a long series of actions and stances that are as in the days of the Roman Catholic Religion, that swore to persecute Israel because we refused to accept their Messiah as the Messiah of Israel, and to renounce our faith. The recent announcements and actions of the Vatican are a rebuke to the Jewish Nation and to the Bible, which you use to interpret the prophecies, as if God has abandoned his original Nation of Israel. Reality has proven the opposite to be true."

New data from the U.S. Census Bureau—published in recognition of “World Population Day,” which was July 11—predicts that 1.24 million new immigrants will enter the United States in 2015.

The Census Bureau published the new data in its International Data Base, which contains population estimates and projections up to the year 2050. The figure from the Census Bureau is a calculation of net migration—meaning the total number of immigrants who will arrive in the United States in 2015 would actually be larger than 1.24 million, but this

The FBI failed to stop another terror attack, this time in Chattanooga, and the pressure building on the bureau from President Obama's reckless immigration policies may be reaching a boiling point, say security experts.

And the problem goes far beyond a loose border, where some 400,000 illegal aliens enter each year.

It's also the ease with which someone from a hostile Middle Eastern country can get a visa.

Under current U.S. immigration policy, an ISIS terrorist doesn't need to hop a fence or swim a river to reach America. He can enter the U.S. legally as a student, as a skilled guest-worker, as a refugee, as an entrepreneur, or as a tourist – and fly here in the comfort of a jumbo jet.

According to U.S. Census data, the U.S. welcomes about 100,000 Muslim immigrants legally each year. This represents the fastest growing segment of immigrants coming to America.

While some may enter with questionable backgrounds, the chances are greater that they will get radicalized after they arrive.

Take the case of Chattanooga terrorist Youssef Mohammad Abdulazeez.

He arrived with his parents from Kuwait in 1996 at the age of 6. He attended U.S. schools, and by all accounts was a fully assimilated U.S. naturalized citizen.

The United States government refuses to acknowledge the Islamic threat confronting the nation and U.S. leaders and citizens turn a blind eye to the danger to their own peril because what is often termed as radical Islam is actually the religion's purest form.

PRESIDENT OBAMA ISSUED A STATEMENT YESTERDAY URGING AMERICANS TO RESPECT THE RELIGION OF ISLAM BEFORE HE EVEN COMMENTED ON A TERROR ATTACK BY AN ISLAMIC EXTREMIST IN CHATTANOOGA WHICH KILLED FOUR MARINES, PROMPTING WIDESPREAD ANGER.

The White House tweeted out a statement wishing Muslims "Eid Mubarak!" as Ramadan came to a close, adding that, "the holiday is a reminder to every American of the importance of respecting those of all faiths and beliefs."

"From my family to yours, Eid Mubarak!"

The statement was tweeted hours after the Chattanooga shooting and after it had been established that the culprit was 24-year-old Mohammad Youssef Abdulazez, a Kuwaiti Muslim

The Pentagon will immediately begin issuing new building access cards for non-Common Access Card users and will require iris and fingerprint images taken of each applicant.

The aim is to group individuals who go to the Pentagon into the new Pentagon Facilities

Alternative Credential, or PFAC, or CAC card categories, Pentagon spokesman Lt. Col. Tom Crosson told Military Times on Wednesday.

Officials plan to have all badges switched to the new access card by Labor Day, according to a release from the Pentagon's media operations office.

Crosson said that CAC card holders no longer will need another building access card, making the system more efficient.

The PFAC card looks very much like a Global Entry card, which is issued through an application process under U.S. Customs and Border Protection to frequent travelers who wish to receive expedited clearance.

To receive one, individuals will be required to have images taken of their irises and fingerprints of their index fingers, spokeswoman Jacqueline Yost said.

In 2012, the Pentagon Force Protection Agency began testing the system at the Mark Center in Alexandria, Virginia. What US leaders have never understood about Iran

A key part of President Obama's legacy will be the fed's unprecedented collection of sensitive data on Americans by race. The government is prying into our most personal information at the most local levels, all for the purpose of "racial and economic justice."

Unbeknown to most Americans, Obama's racial bean counters are furiously mining data on their health, home loans, credit cards, places of work, neighborhoods, even how their kids are disciplined in school — all to document "inequalities" between minorities and whites.

This Orwellian-style stockpile of statistics includes a vast and permanent network of discrimination databases, which Obama already is using to make "disparate impact" cases against: banks that don't make enough prime loans to minorities; schools that

Society To Collapse By 2040 Due To Catastrophic Food Shortages, Environmental Disaster

New scientific models supported by the British government's Foreign Office show that if we don't change course, in less than three decades industrial civilization will essentially collapse due to catastrophic food shortages, triggered by a combination of climate change, water scarcity, energy crisis, and political instability that are fueled by war.

By Nafeez Ahmed Follow @nafeezahmed | June 22, 2015

Before you panic, the good news is that the scientists behind the model don't believe it's predictive. The model does not account for the reality that people will react to escalating crises by changing behavior and policies.

But even so, it's a sobering wake-up call, which shows that business-as-usual guarantees the end-of-the-world-as-we-know-it: our current way of life is not sustainable.

The new models are being developed at Anglia Ruskin University's Global Sustainability Institute (GSI), through a project called the 'Global Resource Observatory' (GRO).

The GRO is chiefly funded by the Dawe Charitable Trust, but its partners include the British government's Foreign & Commonwealth Office (FCO); British bank, Lloyds of London; the Aldersgate Group, the environment coalition of leaders from business, politics and civil society; the Institute and Faculty of Actuaries; Africa Development Bank, Asian Development Bank, and the University of Wisconsin.

This week, Lloyds released a report for the insurance industry assessing the risk of a near-term "acute disruption to the global food supply." Research for the project was led by Anglia Ruskin University's GSI, and based on its GRO modelling initiative.

New study deconstructs hype around GM Bt cotton; shows widespread problems with the technology

An important new paper by respected researchers deconstructs the false hype around Bt insecticidal cotton in India. The study shows that:

- * Bt cotton, introduced in 2002 to control bollworm and other pests, is grown on more than 90% of the cotton area
- * By 2013 insecticide use was high – back to 2000 levels (before the introduction of Bt cotton)
- * Yields have plateaued nationally, and farmer suicides have increased in some areas
- * Pink bollworm causes damage in irrigated cotton, but not in rainfed cotton unless infested from irrigated fields. Therefore use of Bt cotton seed and insecticide in rainfed cotton is questionable
- * Bt cotton may be economic in irrigated cotton, whereas costs of Bt seed and insecticide increase the risk of farmer bankruptcy in low-yield rainfed cotton

(NaturalNews) There has been a debate raging about GMOs for a long time now. On one side of the debate is the idea that genetic engineering is progress for humanity, and it is a natural extension of more traditional breeding techniques. The other side believes genetically modified foods are unsafe for human consumption and harmful to the environment.

Biotech companies claim that genetic modification yields more precise control over artificial selection. Studies funded by the industry consistently demonstrate safety, but only over the short term. For years Monsanto, Dow, Syngenta, and other

Brain Implants No Bigger than Dust Particles On the Way

Wednesday, June 24, 2015

A new concept of a brain-computer interface has been proposed by engineering researchers at University of California Berkeley, utilizing what they term as 'neural-dust', tiny machines that would be implanted in the brain to help facilitate the collection of neurological data.

The tiny components would be powered by piezoelectric materials, of which produce an electric current when compressed, activated by ultrasound waves generated by a transmitter placed on the scalp. The implanted components would have a simple CMOS sensor that would measure the electrical activity being generated by the neurons around it, and re-transmit that back to the sensors on the scalp.

A system like this would solve the issue of inter-cranial implants that would otherwise require replacing when their power supply runs out. The biggest challenge is implanting "dust" in the cortex, however, the authors of the study suggest that this will be possible. The particles would be attached to the tips of a fine wire array and dipped into the cortex where they would become embedded. Once implanted, the dust would last a lifetime.

Dust would be able to collect data on brain function and possibly to influence brain activity in many different ways. It is also possible that information could be transmitted directly into the brain using such a system.

New brain implants are so microscopic, you won't even know that you've been implanted

But did you know that some people, and even entire cultures, seem to be immune to diseases we are dying from today? All possible with this little-known nutrient. Click here for more info.

(NaturalNews) The cult of "science" has a fetish for trying to amalgamate humanity with machine. And its latest endeavor in this pursuit has taken the form of an emerging brain implant technology that would render humans part flesh, part computer.

Researchers from the University of California, Berkeley (UCB), have come up with a concept they've dubbed "neural dust" that they say can be implanted into people's brains for data collection purposes. And the technology is reportedly so small that humans wouldn't even know it was inside their heads.

Human rights groups have condemned Saudi Arabia after the beheading of five foreigners this week. Experts warn 2015 will mark a dramatic increase in public executions, as 80 people have already been killed, compared to 88 in the whole of 2014.

Despite mounting international criticism from foreign governments and human rights campaigners, Saudi Arabia has shown no willingness to end public executions. On Monday, a group of five men, sentenced to death for murder and theft, were publicly beheaded.

Amnesty International says there is no evidence the latest "alarming spike" in executions in Saudi Arabia is in any way related to the battle against terrorism in general or the Islamic State militant group in particular.

Three beheadings in a single day on Tuesday (one for rape and two for murder) raised the total so far this year to 38, about three times the number over the same period in 2014, according to an AFP tally.

"It would... be a stretch to say that this is an attempt to deter violence," because almost half of this year's executions were for drug-related non-violent crimes, Amnesty's Saudi Arabia researcher Sevag Kechichian told the agency.

China is the number one threat to the global economy, analysts say, with an over-inflated "triple bubble" threatening to drag global gross domestic product below 2 per cent.

"If house prices fall by 15 per cent or more, then we think that we are likely to get a hard landing and the authorities risk running out of fiscal firepower."

The Bankruptcy Of The Planet Accelerates – 24 Nations Are Currently Facing A Debt Crisis

By Michael Snyder, on July 16th, 2015

There has been so much attention on Greece in recent weeks, but the truth is that Greece represents only a very tiny fraction of an unprecedented global debt bomb which threatens to explode at any moment. As you are about to see, there are 24 nations that are currently facing a full-blown debt crisis, and there are 14 more that are rapidly heading toward one. Right now, the debt to GDP ratio for the entire planet is up to an all-time record high of 286 percent, and globally there is approximately 200 TRILLION dollars of debt on the books. That breaks down to about $28,000 of debt for every man, woman and child on the entire planet. And since close to half of the population of the world lives on less than 10 dollars a day, there is no way that all of this debt can ever be repaid. The only "solution" under our current system is to kick the can down the road for as long as we can until this colossal debt pyramid finally collapses in upon itself.

As we are seeing in Greece, you can eventually accumulate so much debt that there is literally no way out. The other European nations are attempting to find a way to give Greece a third bailout, but that is like paying one credit card with another credit card because virtually everyone in Europe is absolutely drowning in debt.

Even if some "permanent solution" could be crafted for Greece, that would only solve a very small fraction of the overall problem that we are facing. The nations of the world have never been in this much debt before, and it gets worse with each passing day.

According to a new report from the Jubilee Debt Campaign, there are currently 24 countries in the world that are facing a full-blown debt crisis...

Why Greece Is The Precursor To The Next Global Debt Crisis

The Eurozone fantasy will be one of the early casualties

by Charles Hugh Smith

The one undeniable truth about the debt drama in Greece is that each of the conventional narratives—financial, political and historical—has some claim of legitimacy.

For example, spendthrift Greeks shunned fiscal discipline: here's an account from 2011 that lays out the gory details: The Big Fat Greek Gravy Train: A special investigation into the EU-funded culture of greed, tax evasion and scandalous waste.

Or how about: Greek reformers want to fix the core structural problems but are being stymied by tyrannical European Union/Troika leaders: The Greek Debt Crisis and Crashing Markets.

Rather than get entangled in the arguments over which of the conventional narratives is the core narrative—a hopeless misadventure, given that each narrative has some validity—let's start with the facts that are supported by data or public records.

Greek PM Tsipras faces party revolt over bailout

BRUSSELS/ATHENS | BY PAUL TAYLOR AND RENEE MALTEZOU

Greece's leftwing Prime Minister Alexis Tsipras faces a showdown with rebels in his own party on Tuesday furious at his capitulation to German demands for one of the most sweeping austerity packages ever demanded of a euro zone government.

Just hours after a deal that saw Greece surrender much of its sovereignty to outside supervision in return for agreeing to talks on an 86 billion euro ($95 billion) bailout, doubts were already emerging about whether Tsipras would be able to hold his government together.

3 Big Reasons Why The 'Greek Debt Deal' Is Really A German Trap

By Michael Snyder, on July 13th, 2015

g+1 Share Tweet Pinterest Email ShareThis

Greece is saved? All over the planet, news headlines are boldly proclaiming that a "deal" has been reached which will give Greece the money that it needs and keep it in the eurozone. But as you will see below, this is not true at all. Yesterday, when I wrote that "there never was going to be any deal", I was not exaggerating. This "deal" was not drafted with the intention of "saving Greece". As I explained in my previous article, these negotiations were all about setting up Greece for eviction from the euro. You see, the truth is that Greece desperately wants to stay in the euro, but Germany (and allies such as Finland) want Greece out. Since Germany can't simply order Greece to leave the euro, they need some sort of legal framework which will make it possible, and that is what this new "deal" provides. As I am about to explain, there are all kinds of conditions that must be satisfied and hurdles that must be crossed before Greece ever sees a single penny. If there is a single hiccup along the way, and this is what the Germans are counting on, Greece will be ejected from the eurozone. This "deal" has been designed to fail so that the Germans can get what they have wanted all along. I think that three very famous words from Admiral Ackbar sum up the situation very well: "It's a trap!"

So why is this "Greek debt deal" really a German trap?

Vandals Deface More Than a Dozen Christian Billboards at Park in Montana

— 15 July, 2015

Police are investigating after more than a dozen Christian billboards have been vandalized over the past two months in a park in Montana. The "God's Ten Commandments Park" was created on a 10-acre plot of land in Columbia Falls last summer and features numerous billboards proclaiming Christian messages for all to read. "God's Ten Commandments are like signposts, along the road of life, to guide us on the road so as to complete the course and finish the race," the website for the park reads. Owner Phillip Klevmoen, a horse rancher, also creates signs for others to post out of their desire to be a witness for Christ. "We want this to go forward throughout the nation."

San Francisco police are accused of intimidating and threatening to arrest a man who was holding up a "John 3:16" sign in front of AT&T Park prior to a Dodgers-Giants baseball game.

The man, Gino Emmerich, has hired attorneys with the Rutherford Institute to take his case. They filed suit in late June against the city, county, its police department and the four officers who allegedly tried to squelch his First Amendment rights.

The American Center for Law & Justice (ACLJ), which represents the family of American Pastor Saeed Abedini, said the agreement reached between the United States and Iran is "unconscionable" because it leaves Pastor Saeed, a U.S. citizen, behind—imprisoned in Iran because of his Christian faith.

"It is unconscionable that the Obama Administration would sign a deal with Iran without securing the freedom of Pastor Saeed who has been imprisoned for nearly three years simply because of his Christian faith," said Jay Sekulow, Chief Counsel of the ACLJ. "President Obama told the Abedini family face-to-face that he considered the release of Pastor Saeed a 'top priority.' How could that be a 'top priority' when a deal is reached and Pastor Saeed is left behind? What happened today makes a bad deal even worse. We will now focus our attention on convincing Congress to reject this deal."

Naghmeh Abedini, the wife of American Pastor Saeed, is deeply disappointed with today's outcome.

The tables are turning in America. Even though our nation was founded upon Christian principles and values, Christianity is now increasingly repressed in the wake of mounting secularism and anti-Christian sentiment.

One group that is gaining attention and momentum is Satanists. Though the label has come to broadly cover those who actively worship Satan by name, to those who focus on man's pursuit of self-gratification among all else, to those who simply see "Satanism" as a rebuke of Christianity, Satanists' political and cultural pull seem to be growing at the same time that everyone from Hollywood to the mainstream media to our own government is giving Christianity the old heave-ho.

Public colleges and universities are taking the gloves off when it comes to Christian students on their campuses. Gone are the days of surreptitious slights against Christians; now it is open season on faith. Blatant, in-your-face anti-Christian discrimination is the new norm.

Christians students now face their applications being rejected because they let it slip out that they are a person of faith, receiving failing grades for daring to allow their religious beliefs to outweigh the omniscience of the educational elites, or being outright expelled for having the audacity to live in accordance with their faith.

Judge Orders School District to Stop Promoting Christianity, Fines Officials $7500 for Contempt

FLOWOOD, Miss. — A federal judge in Mississippi has ordered a school district in the Bible Belt to stop promoting Christianity during school events and fined officials $7500 for being in “contempt” by continuing to do so in spite of an agreement reached two years ago with a humanist organization.

As previously reported, the American Humanist Association (AHA) first took issue with the Northwest Rankin High School in Flowood, Mississippi after a representative of Pinelake Baptist Church participated in a student-organized assembly that included a video dealing with teen problems, such as premarital sex, drugs, cutting, suicide and other issues.

The two individuals featured in the film explained that they were able to overcome their struggles through the power of Jesus Christ. The presenter also spoke to students about the hope that is found in Christ, and led students in prayer.

AHA sent a letter to district officials demanding under threat of lawsuit that such events be discontinued.

“It has hard to imagine a more blatant violation of the Establishment Clause than the one complained of herein,” it stated. “The law prohibiting this type of endorsement and coercion is well-settled. As such, not only will the school, in its official capacity, be liable for this constitutional infringement pursuant to 42 U.S.C.A. § 1983, but the school officials responsible for the event will be personally liable too, in their individual capacities.”

While AHA contended that the assembly was mandatory for all students, the district stated that the event was rather organized and hosted by students who desired to offer the presentation to their classmates.

AHA moved forward with filing the suit on behalf of a student who attends Northwest Rankin High School, and the district agreed to settle with AHA, signing a consent decree not promote any religion during school events.

Washington (CNN)—New Mexico Pastor Steve Smothermon says he is ready to go to jail to protect his religious freedom. And he is not the only one.

Smothermon is one of more than 50,000 people who have signed a pledge to engage in social disobedience if the U.S. Supreme Court issues a ruling this month that would legalize same sex marriage across the country.

"We want to help people, but we are not going to be forced by the government and society or the politically correct to say we are going to believe in it," said Smothermon, senior pastor of Legacy Church in Albuquerque. "If they said, 'Listen pastor, we are going to put you in jail if you don't honor this.' I am going to say, 'Then put me in jail.' "

The destruction of the American family is more likely a cause than a consequence of the gay-rights movement. But what began with easy divorce and widespread cohabitation may be brought to total meltdown with same-sex "marriage" and the idea that gender is "fluid."

Government schools have already been indoctrinating children in the "new normal" with books like "Heather Has Two Mommies."

Radical cultural revolution hides behind corruption of the language. The word "parent," for example, didn't used to require the adjective "biological." In biology, each of the two parents contributes half of their offspring's DNA. It was the parental surrogates that needed an adjective, such as "adoptive" or "foster."

Biologically, two mothers is an absurdity (although modern science is trying to create a hybrid mother out of one woman's cell nucleus transplanted into another woman's cytoplasm). But having no daddy in the home is tragically common. And in 2012, 40.7 percent of all American births and 72.2 percent of births to non-Hispanic blacks occurred out of wedlock.

One purpose of matrimony is to establish paternity, although even with illegitimacy and divorce, the identity of the baby's father is usually known and recorded.

Now that the Supreme Court has ruled that state governments across the nation must issue and recognize same-sex marriages, some Christian colleges have begun to capitulate to the mounting pressure and change their policies regarding homosexuality.

Hope College—a Reformed Church in America (RCA)-affiliated school in Holland, Michigan—has announced that it will begin to extend benefits to same-sex spouses of its employees. Michigan, one of 14 states whose ban on same-sex marriage was still intact when the Supreme Court ruled on June 26, did not legally recognize those spousal relationships until the high court's decision.

SAN FRANCISCO — Google aired a powerful commercial on national television about the emotional journey of a transgender man moments before Caitlyn Jenner made her first major public appearance to receive the Arthur Ashe Award for Courage during the annual ESPY Awards.

The 2 1/2-minute spot was first released on YouTube last month to celebrate gay pride. By running it on national television Wednesday night Google says it was sending a message about the importance of acceptance and equality in the business world.

More Americans who have wrestled with gender identity are transitioning openly, but often with trepidation that they will face intolerance, even discrimination. Google is looking to touch hearts and change minds with the heartening story of 26-year-old Jake Nothnagel, who grew up feeling he was a boy trapped in a girl's body. The commercial is a rare glimpse into gender transition, from testosterone doses to a medical procedure to more closely align his body with his gender identity.

"The video had more than 1 million views on YouTube, and we thought: 'We are in the middle of this conversation around the transgender community. Clearly we struck a nerve. And we want to be able to continue to have this conversation,'" Google's vice president of marketing Arjan Dijk said in an interview. "Not that many big brands have very publicly supported and endorsed the transgender community. It's a role we want to play as a brand."

The spot is one of the longest to air on ABC and the longest ever to air during the ESPY awards.

"We really wanted to give people the time to understand and appreciate the story," said Dijk, who is executive sponsor of Google's LGBT group, the Gayglers.

HOLLAND, Mich. — Officials at a Christian college in Michigan state that they will now extend "marriage" benefits to their homosexual employees following the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling declaring that all 50 states must legalize same-sex nuptials.

Hope College in Holland, Mich. recently announced its decision to the college community.

"In employment policy and practice, Hope College has always followed the state's legal definition of marriage," Hope College President John Knapp wrote in a statement. "Spouses are eligible for benefits, so long as their marriage is legally recognized the state of Michigan."

But the college says that its beliefs about homosexuality being a violation of God's law have not changed, and it will not allow its chapel to be used for same-sex ceremonies.

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

بطرس الأولى 3: 14

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوْا،

بل نؤمن

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.»

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان يريد أن نفقد سلامنا ولا ننال أكاليل.

وأیضا استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك 150 ألف شخص يموتوا في اليوم الواحد

المسيح اقترب فاصنعوا ثمار تليق بالتوبة واستعدوا لاستقبال العريس.
