والعلامات حتى 8 سبتمبر 2015

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن أيضاً علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل أيضاً قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيق اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَأَن تُوْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

Tropical Storm Erika leaves 20 dead, as it plows through the Caribbean

Posted on September 2, 2015

September 2015 – DOMINICAN REPUBLIC – Dominica Prime Minister Roosevelt Skerrit said Friday at least 20 people had been killed by Tropical Storm Erika as it passed over his tiny Caribbean nation sowing a trail of "monumental" destruction. "The visual damage I saw today, I fear, may have set our development process back by 20 years," Skerrit said in an address to the nation, after surveying the island. "Of greatest concern however, is the loss of life. So far we have confirmed that at least 20 citizens have died, and some are missing," he said.

Skerrit reported that massive damage had been inflicted on key infrastructure facilities and roads, and that "hundreds of homes around the country have been destroyed or rendered unsafe to occupy." Highways had sustained widespread damage and bridges had been washed away, he said. "I have been assessing the damage all day. The extent of devastation is monumental. It is far worse than expected," he said.

Tropical storm Erika broke up as it raked across Cuba on Saturday, drenching the drought-parched island in heavy rain after killing at least 20 people on the Caribbean island of Dominica. The Miami-based National Hurricane Center later called off all coastal watches and warnings and said the storm had "dissipated" — a relief for a dozen Caribbean island nations stalked in recent days by Erika. But it did caution that Florida should keep an eye on "the remnants." The storm dumped heavy rains on the Dominican Republic and Haiti in recent days, but its deadliest impact was on the tiny island nation of Dominica, which is still recovering from the assault and where the death toll could yet climb.

At least 4 dead after Mexico hit by apocalyptic hailstorm

Posted on September 2, 2015

September 2015 – MEXICO – Authorities in Mexico State said Monday that at least four victims were killed when an unusually strong hailstorm hit the capital suburb. A 45-day baby and two homeless people were amongst the victims of Sunday night's storm, state government said in a press release. Gov. Eruviel Avila said the baby died in a car accident but the parents and another five-year child survived. The most affected towns in the region received 53 millimeters (2 inches) of precipitation in 50 minutes – an amount three times more than the municipalities' ability to drain.

By Monday afternoon, piles of hail were still blocking streets in the towns of Coacalco, Tultitlan and Ecatepec. Avila estimated that 100 houses suffered damages, and 35 trees and two billboards were also damaged by storm. The rising waters also carried vehicles and streetlights. State government has advised residents in the region to continue to be careful. More precipitation is forecast for Monday night. –Turkish Week

The Italian city of Naples was pounded with a storm of massive hailstones on Sunday, many of which were the size of fists. The huge chunks battered cars, smashed windows, and injured several people and animals.

The "baseball size hailstones" fell from thunderstorms at a speed of "at least 75 miles per hour," according to Jonathan Erdman, a senior meteorologist for the Weather Channel.

"It's no wonder you can see the magnitude of smashed windshields and structural damage," he added.

Video footage shows the gigantic hailstones pummeling a car windshield, shattering the glass.

Mount Lokon erupts – ash cloud closes airport

Posted on September 2, 2015

August 2015 – INDONESIA, Jakarta – Officials at a key North Sulawesi airport were forced to shut down operations on Sunday after a 1,580-meter volcano erupted on Saturday, sending ash into the skies and hampering visibility. Mount Lokon erupted on Saturday at around 11.50 p.m. local time and gushed volcanic ash across northern and northeastern areas of Sulawesi, forcing officials to close down Manado's Sam Ratulangi International Airport.

"We're closing down the airport until 1 p.m." Ilham Sakti, spokesman of state-owned airport operator Angkasa Pura I, which runs the Manado airport, was quoted as saying on Sunday by news portal Bisnis.com. Ash clouds were hampering visibility on runways and in the skies, Ilham said. Thousands of passengers were reportedly stuck at the airport due to the sudden closure, waiting for further information. In July, ash clouds from Mount Raung in eastern Java prompted multiple closures at Bali's Ngurah Rai International Airport. –

Ecuador dispels rumors of increased danger of Cotopaxi volcano

Posted on September 3, 2015

September 2015 – ECUADOR – A government spokesperson said Tuesday that the alert level at the Cotopaxi volcano in Ecuador remains at yellow and dispelled rumors circulating on social media that the danger level is being manipulated by political officials. “It is an act of irresponsibility and carelessness toward families at risk to spread messages that state that the national government is hiding information about the status of Cotopaxi,” said spokesperson Stefano Iannuzelli. An audio message with an unidentified woman’s voice has been circulating online that claims the alert level has been raised from yellow to orange but that President Rafael Correa is not allowing this information to be public. Iannuzelli stressed that this was categorically false. Cotopaxi has shown increased signs of volcanic activity, including spewing ash and smoke. In response, the government decreed a state of emergency. Cotopaxi is located a mere 50 kilometers from the capital of Quito.

The state of emergency allows the government to dedicate all the funds that would be necessary for relief and evacuation efforts. The government has already earmarked US$500 million in emergency funding to handle volcanic activity, in order to avoid the dissemination of false information that could cause panic, the decree also mandates that only the Coordinating Ministry of Security can issue information regarding volcanic activity. “The government clarifies, once again, that the only official spokesperson on this issue is the Coordinating Ministry of Security, an institution that works in coordination with the Geophysical Institute of the National Polytechnic School, the Secretariat of Risk Management and all relevant state bodies,” said Iannuzelli.

Avian flu virus detected in Chiayi, leads to duck cull

CHIAYI - More than 6,000 ducks on a poultry farm in Chiayi County in Southern Taiwan were culled because epidemic prevention authorities detected the H5N8 avian flu virus in dead ducks at the farm.

Revolutionary 777x Wings
Longer. More efficient. Novel. Changing how we fly.

An official from the Council of Agriculture said Sunday that some 200 ducks in the poultry farm were found dead over the past few days. To prevent the spread of the highly pathogenic avian influenza, the epidemic prevention authorities decided to cull all the ducks at the farm.

While none of the other 13 poultry farms within a one kilometer radius had been found to be contaminated by the bird flu virus, the Bureau of Animal and Plant Inspection and Quarantine is tracing the origin of the outbreak by checking poultry farms that raise hatchlings in the neighboring county of Yunlin.

Up to Aug. 28, 983 poultry farms around the island had sent specimens for examination. Samples from 951 poultry farms tested positive for the bird flu virus and all the birds in these farms were culled, according to the Council of Agriculture.

At least 18 types of fish have died in Qatar waters this summer, with rising water temperatures thought to be the cause.

Vast quantities of dead fish have washed up on beaches, raising concerns for the fishing trade, local media have reported.

Among the affected species are Sahri, Jesh, Safi and Rabib, according to Gulf Times.

It said researchers from Qatar University, in partnership with the Ministry of Environment, monitored the seas off Qatar and concluded that sea surface temperature was "relatively high", ranging between 35C and 36C.

In late August, there were reports of dead fish on Lake Koocanusa, a scene similar to one that occurred on the lake two years ago.

It's not entirely understood what is causing the death of thousands of kokanee salmon, but one fisheries biologist has a theory.

Mike Hensler, who works out of the Libby Field Station, said typically, this type of occurrence isn't uncommon in large lakes, especially when it comes to kokanee salmon.

"They are relatively fragile fish – canary in a coalmine type of thing," Hensler told The Free Press. "They are susceptible to dramatic changes more so than other fish are, and when we see these kinds of occurrences, it's usually associated with hot, calm weather followed by a fairly dramatic storm event."

The event in this recent occurrence was a heavy rainstorm that hit the area on Aug. 21.

Hensler said what he's seeing is dead and dying fish on top of the surface of the lake with enlarged gas bladders.

Hensler said the kokanee are limnetic fish, which means they're out in the middle of the lake most of the time, where other fish are not so they won't be in the zone where the die-offs are occurring.

"When we were able to sample them as they were dying to see what was happening internally, what we're finding was they had troubles with their GI track – with the digestive system – so they were sick," he said. "Now, how they got sick, we don't know because we never really found full stomachs, but they ingested something that's a gas."

Cesar farmers reported the death of 25 000 cattle in so far this year, following the severe drought affecting the department, which has led to declining food herds in the region.

The president of the Dairy Committee of Cesar, Carlos Eduardo Campo

Cuello said that producers are very concerned that the entire sector is affected by the long summer, which has impacted negatively also specialized dairy Cesar, whose production has fallen 70%.

"The Cesar produced a million liters of milk, about, and now barely reaches about 300,000 liters a day," he said.

The deaths of cattle are added to the figures for losses in other sectors such as corn, rice and rural employment, whose production has fallen by more than 60%, while and are more than 18 thousand unemployed in the country .

The extent of the phenomenon of the child until next year: In addition to the losses caused by the summer, one more concern to farmers adds.

RODEO BEACH, Calif. (KGO) -- An alarming number of dead or dying sea birds are washing up on Bay Area beaches and bird rescue centers say they're being inundated with a particular species. ABC7 News traveled to the Marin headlands where many of them are washing up.

Beach goer Holly Barbarisi recently found 20 dead murre sea birds along Rodeo Beach on the Marin headlands. She also found one alive flapping in the surf.

Dead fish Thursday in Venice Beach.

The Government of Gandia, through the Department of Land Management Head, study what could have happened to this Thursday morning appeared a hundred dead fish on the beach in Venice, near the mouth of the river Serpis.

The councilor responsible for the area, Xavi Rodenas, asked the manager of the local sewage daily analysis of recent weeks to rule concerned problem spills of this plant.

Similarly, the company that manages the municipal water technicians has moved to the area, which has been sampled and sent to the laboratories of Valencia for study. It is expected that the results come five days. You will want to check whether it is an illegal stroke to trace the source and initiate timely reporting.

Study finds over 90 per cent of seabirds have consumed plastic

Posted on September 2, 2015

September 2015 – POLLUTION – Majority of the world seabird species have plastic in their gut and 99 per cent will have gobbled down plastic by 2050, according to a new study. Researchers assessed how widespread the threat of plastic is for the world's seabirds, including albatrosses, shearwaters and penguins, and found the majority of seabird species have plastic in their gut. Based on analysis of published studies since the early 1960s, the researchers found that plastic is increasingly common in seabird's stomachs. In 1960, plastic was found in the stomach of less than 5 per cent of individual seabirds, rising to 80 per cent by 2010. The researchers predict that plastic ingestion will affect 99 per cent of the world's seabird species by 2050, based on current trends.

The scientists estimate that over 90 per cent of all seabirds alive today have eaten plastic of some kind. This includes bags, bottle caps, and plastic fibers from synthetic clothes, which have washed out into the ocean from urban rivers, sewers and waste deposits. Birds mistake the brightly colored items for food, or swallow them by accident, and this causes gut impaction, weight loss and sometimes even death. "For the first time, we have a global prediction of how wide-reaching plastic impacts may be on marine species – and the results are striking," senior research scientist at Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization (CSIRO) Oceans and Atmosphere Dr Chris Wilcox said.

It started in late May. When geocologist Steffen Zuther and his colleagues arrived in central Kazakhstan to monitor the calving of one herd of saigas, a critically endangered, steppe-dwelling antelope, veterinarians in the area had already reported dead animals on the ground.

"But since there happened to be die-offs of limited extent during the last years, at first we were not really alarmed," Zuther, the international coordinator of the Altyn Dala Conservation Initiative, told Live Science.

But within four days, the entire herd — 60,000 saiga — had died. As veterinarians and conservationists tried to stem the die-off, they also got word of similar population crashes in other herds across Kazakhstan. By early June, the mass dying was over.

In May 2015, nearly half of all the saigas, a critically endangered antelope that roams the steppe of Kazakhstan, died off. Albert Salemgareyev (NaturalNews) Hawaii is known for its amazing biodiversity, but in recent years it has also become known as the "extinction capital of the world." A groundbreaking study has just been published that focused on the ecosystem's invertebrates as well as its bird and mammal populations in an effort to determine just how quickly species are disappearing across the whole spectrum of indigenous fauna.

The results of the research indicated that the loss of species to extinction has been far more serious than previously thought. In fact, Hawaii's wildlife diversity is being decimated so quickly that scientists now believe that we are seeing the beginnings of a "sixth mass extinction" cycle across the globe.

The extinction crisis in Hawai'i, which has even been labeled as the "extinction capital of the world" has been the research focus of the international team of scientists from the Pacific Biosciences Research Center (PBRC) of the University of Hawai'i at Manoa, the Bishop Museum in Honolulu, Howard University in Washington DC, and the French National Museum of Natural History in Paris.

Invertebrates (insects, snails, spiders etc.) form the majority of the species of Hawai'i's uniquely spectacular diverse and unique biota. The true level of the catastrophic extinction event was now assessed for the first time, by the research team of international scientist.

The research focused on the most diverse group of Hawaiian land snails, the Amastriidae family, of which 325 species are found only on the island of Hawai'i. The scientists found that the rate of extinction could have been equal to 14% of the fauna per decade, as only 15 of these species could still be found alive.

U.S. intelligence ships, aircraft, and satellites are closely watching a Russian military vessel in the Atlantic that has been sailing near a U.S. nuclear missile submarine base and underwater transit routes, according to Pentagon officials.

The Russian research ship Yantar has been tracked from the northern Atlantic near Canada since late August as it makes its way south toward Cuba.

Defense officials familiar with reports on the Russian ship say the Yantar is believed to be gathering intelligence on underwater sensors and other equipment used by U.S. nuclear submarines based at Kings Bay, Georgia. The submarines, their transit lanes, and training areas stretch from the coastal base through the Atlantic to Europe.

Intelligence analysts believe the ship, one of Russia's newest military research vessels commissioned earlier this year, is part of a larger strategic intelligence-gathering operation against U.S. nuclear missile submarines and other targets.

One official, who spoke on condition of anonymity due to the sensitivity of the information, said the ship is a concern because it is equipped with deep-sea surveillance craft and cable-cutting equipment.

Ukraine is hosting naval military exercise in the Black Sea with NATO forces, involving 2,500 troops and some 150 military vehicles, from warships and helicopters to armored cars.

The host nation of Sea Breeze 2015 has deployed 1,000 troops, nine warships and eight aircraft for the drill. The US has sent 1,000 troops as well as five warships, two submarines and six aircraft.

Donald Trump: Nuclear deal calls for US to defend Iran against Israeli attack

By JPOST.COM
STAFF
09/03/2015

"If Israel attacks Iran according to that deal, I believe... that we have to fight with Iran against Israel," Republican presidential candidate tells CNN.

In a telephone interview with CNN Tuesday, Republican presidential hopeful Donald Trump said that under the auspices of the Iran nuclear agreement, if Israel were to attack the Islamic Republic, the United States would have to come to the Tehran's aid.

Trump has vocally opposed the deal since announcing his run for president, saying that the United States "should have doubled up the sanctions for another couple of months" and that the 24-day notice Iran receives before sites can be inspected is unacceptable.

But Trump added an unconventional twist to the opposition argument, suggesting that under the terms of the deal the United States was required to fight alongside Iran if Israel were to attack.

"You know, there is something in the Iran deal that people I don't think really understand or know about," the real estate mogul said. "And nobody is ever to explain it that if somebody attacks Iran, we have to come to their defense."

Trump added, "And I'm saying this - that includes Israel? And most people say, yes. So, if Israel attacks Iran according to that deal, I believe... that we have to fight with Iran against Israel."

In one of its annexes, the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action calls for cooperation by Western powers with Iran on nuclear safety "as appropriate." Such cooperation may include training and workshops for Iran to ward against sabotage of its declared, legal civilian nuclear facilities.

Nowhere in the agreement, however, is the United States or any other party required to come to the defense of Iran should the country be attacked.

According to Western diplomats, a Russian expeditionary force has already arrived in Syria and set up camp in an Assad-controlled airbase. The base is said to be in area surrounding Damascus, and will serve, for all intents and purposes, as a Russian forward operating base.

In the coming weeks thousands of Russian military personnel are set to touch down in Syria, including advisors, instructors, logistics personnel, technical personnel, members of the aerial protection division, and the pilots who will operate the aircraft.

Despite strong denials from Moscow, Russian airborne troops are preparing to land in Syria to fight Islamic State forces. The surprise attack on Monday, Aug. 31, by ISIS forces on the Qadam district of southern Damascus, in which they took over parts of the district - and brought ISIS forces the closest that any Syrian anti-Assad group has ever been to the center of the Syrian capital - is expected to accelerate the Russian military intervention.

Moscow is certainly not ready to endanger the position of President Bashar Assad or his rule in Damascus, and views it as a red line that cannot be crossed. If Russia intervenes militarily in this way, Russia will be the first country from outside the Middle East to send ground forces into the Syrian civil war.

DEBKAfile's military sources report that discussions by the Russo-Syrian Military Commission, which was established last month in Moscow to coordinate the intervention, accelerated during the last few days.

Our intelligence sources point out that the concerted activities of the commission are taking place amid the nearly complete paralysis of the US Central Command-Forward-Jordan (CCFJ), where operations against the rebels in southern Syria, including those holding positions across from Israel's Golan, are coordinated. Officers from Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Qatar and Israel are attached to the CCFJ. Most of the operations of the CCFJ have been halted due to a conflict that erupted between the Syrian rebels and the U.S. Central Command, CENTCOM. The US military is opposed to the rebels cooperating with Al-Qaeda-linked groups, such as the Al-Nusra front, while the rebels claim that this cannot be avoided if they are to defeat the forces of Bashar Assad and Hizballah.

Russian Boots on the Ground in Syria?

As Obama prevaricates, Russia has no compunctions about backing its Syrian allies - and seems to even be sending troops to the front lines.

While the Obama administration continues to prevaricate over its strategy in Syria, it appears Russia is feeling rather less inhibited in its intervention.

The Kremlin has been a staunch ally of the Assad regime since the Syrian uprising began in 2011, and has been very open in its support. Moscow has provided invaluable assistance against the rebels seeking to oust the embattled dictator, sending arms, acting as a diplomatic shield (including helping the White House climb down from threats to intervene in 2013) and even sending military advisers to help train and direct Assad's overstretched forces.

But now it seems an increasingly ambitious Russian administration has begun deploying boots on the ground, at least in the front line around the Assad regime's strongholds in Latakia, which have in recent months been threatened by an advancing Islamist rebel alliance calling itself the "Army of Conquest."

Evidence of Russian soldiers actively fighting alongside Syrian army and pro-government militia forces was most recently revealed by Daily Beast journalist Michael Weiss, who also pointed to credible reports the Kremlin is preparing to send pilots to carry out bombing mission alongside their Syrian counterparts, targeting both ISIS and Syrian rebels.

Russia building a military base with up to 1000 personnel and on verge of deploying thousands to support Assad

future, military, russia, syria, united states, War

Russia is building a military base in Syrian president Bashar al-Assad's heartland, according to American intelligence officials, in the clearest indication yet of deepening Russian support for the embattled regime of Bashar al-Assad.

The anonymous officials say Russia has set up an air traffic control tower and transported prefabricated housing units for up to 1,000 personnel to an airfield serving the Syrian port city of Latakia.

Russia has also requested the rights to fly over neighbouring countries with military cargo aircraft during September, according to the reports.

The claims, which will raise fears that Russia is planning to expand its role in the country's civil war, will ratchet up tensions between Moscow and Washington over the future of Syria and its brutal ruler.

Mr Obama on Friday met King Salman of Saudi Arabia to repeat their demand that any lasting settlement in Syria would require an end to the Assad regime.

It leaves the US and Russia implacably opposed in their visions for Syria.

The Islamic State terror group has issued a "safety contract" that Christians living in the captured Syrian town of Qaryatian must follow, which includes 11 specific commandments, if they want to live.

"The meeting showed images of a lot of Christians abducted from the city of al-Quaryatayn, in what is believed to be a cultural center. It also stipulated 13 items to give security to the Christians in the city," Jamil Diarbakerli, director of the Assyrian Monitor for Human Rights, told International Christian Concern.

The Islamic State group forced Christian men in a Syrian town to pay a sharia-mandated tax known as jizya and abide by a long list of restrictions, according to new photos posted by the Islamist group.

In addition to the tax which was calibrated by income level, the jihadists forced the Christians to sign a contract pledging an array of curbs on their faith and self-defense, including promising they will not own guns, build churches, display crosses, worship in public or ring church bells.

The photos show dozens of men gathered for the signing in Qaryatain, a town that once had a Christian population of thousands. They sat in a theater, apparently waiting their turn, as a man joined a militant

These were the 11 articles of the contract, as translated by MEMRI:

1. Christians may not build churches, monasteries, or hermitages in the city or in the surrounding areas.
2. They may not show the cross or any of their books in the Muslims' streets or markets, and may not use amplifiers when worshiping or during prayer.
3. They may not make Muslims hear the reciting of their books or the sounds of church bells, which must be rung only inside their churches.
4. They may not carry out any act of aggression against ISIS, such as giving refuge to spies and wanted men. If they come to know of any plot against Muslims, they must report it.
5. They must not perform religious rituals in public.
6. They must respect Muslims and not criticize their religion.
7. Wealthy Christians must pay an annual jizya of four gold dinars; middle-class Christians must pay two gold dinars, and the poor must pay one. Christians must disclose their income, and may split the jizya into two payments.

8. They may not own guns.
9. They may not engage in commercial activity involving pigs or alcohol with Muslims or in Muslim markets, and may not drink alcohol in public.
10. They may maintain their own cemeteries.
11. They must abide by ISIS dress code and commerce guidelines.

A senior researcher in Iraq has claimed that "90 per cent" of the militias fighting in the country "are Iranian." Dr Yahya El-Kubaisi, of the Iraqi Centre for Strategic Studies, made his claim at a conference in Amman and pointed out that Iran "is one of the parties involved in the Iraqi crisis."

In a paper delivered on Sunday during the "Jordan in a Changing Regional Environment – Scenarios of Next Stage" conference, El-Kubaisi added that Iraq is suffering from "corruption in the judiciary and among those who dominate the executive."

Just weeks after a massive blast in Tianjin port killed 158 in China, another explosion at a chemical plant killed at least one person, local media reported. The blast occurred Monday night in Dongying city, in the eastern province of Shandong.

The explosion occurred at the Diao Kou Xiang Bin Yuan Chemical Co., AFP reported citing a news website run by the local government. The blaze was extinguished about five hours later and "people in charge of the company" were detained by police, the website said.

The blast was so massive it could be seen and heard from a great distance. According to People's Daily, the blast happened at around 11:30pm local time (3:30pm GMT).

General Assembly hands over draft global sustainability agenda to UN Member States

1 September 2015 – The United Nations General Assembly today approved a resolution sending the draft '2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development' to Member States for adoption later this month, bringing the international community "to the cusp of decisions that can help realize the... dream of a world of peace and dignity for all," according to Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon.

"Today is the start of a new era. We have travelled a long way together to reach this turning point," declared Mr. Ban, recounting the path the international community has taken over the 15 years since the adoption of the landmark Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) towards crafting a set of new, post-2015 sustainability goals that will aim to ensure the long-term well-being of our planet and its people.

With world leaders expected to adopt the text at a 25-27 September summit in New York, the UN chief said Agenda 2030 aims high, seeking to put people at the centre of development; foster human well-being, prosperity, peace and justice on a healthy planet and pursue respect for the human rights of all people and gender equality.

"It speaks to all people in all countries, and calls for action from everyone everywhere. It aims to inspire and create genuine partnerships among all countries and actors," said Mr. Ban, underscoring that the Agenda prioritizes the vulnerable and marginalized, vowing to leave no one behind, marking a paradigm shift that would complete the unfinished business of the MDGs and lift the level of ambition and tackle emerging issues and challenges.

In The Month Of September 2015 We Officially Enter The Danger Zone

By Michael Snyder, on August 31st, 2015

Is September 2015 going to be one of the most important months in modern American history? When I issued my first ever "red alert" for the last six months of 2015 back in June, I was particularly concerned with the months of September through December, and not just for economic reasons. All of the intel that I have received is absolutely screaming that big trouble is ahead. So enjoy these last few days of relative peace and quiet. I mean that sincerely. In fact, that is exactly what I have been doing – over the past week I have not posted many articles because I was spending time with family, friends and preparing for the national call to prayer on September 18th and 19th. But now as we enter the chaotic month of September 2015 I have a feeling that there is going to be plenty for me to write about.

At this time last month, I declared that we were entering "the pivotal month of August 2015", and that is exactly what it turned out to be. August was the worst month overall for stocks in three years, and it was the worst month of August for U.S. financial markets in 17 years.

Throughout history, there have only been 11 times when the S&P 500 has declined by more than five percent during the month of August. When that has happened, the stock market has almost always fallen in September as well...

Chinese stocks in red despite crackdown

Home > Others > Business

Mon Aug 31,

Chinese stock markets in China have lost nearly 40 percent of their value since mid-June.

Chinese stock markets remain jittery as regulators cracked down on speculators which China blames for the unprecedented crash in the country's stock markets since mid June.

Both main indexes fell more than 4 percent at one point on Monday before recovering losses in the afternoon.

The blue-chip CSI300 index ended up 0.7 percent at 3,366.54 points. But the Shanghai Composite Index SSEC shed 0.8 percent to 3,207.07.

Both indexes plunged nearly 12 percent for the month. This has been the third straight monthly decline for the Chinese stock markets.

The number of women out of the U.S. labor force reached another record high in August, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The BLS reported Friday that 56,253,000 women, ages 16 and older, were not participating in the workforce in August. That's up 44,000 from July, when 56,209,000 women were neither employed nor had made a specific effort to find work in the four weeks prior.

The trend for women is similar to the national figures. The month of August saw a record number of men and women out of the labor force, exceeding 94 million for the first time.

Russian President Vladimir Putin has drafted a bill that aims to eliminate the US dollar and the euro from trade between CIS countries.

This means the creation of a single financial market between Russia, Armenia, Belarus, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and other countries of the former Soviet Union.

"This would help expand the use of national currencies in foreign trade payments and financial services and thus create preconditions for greater liquidity of domestic currency markets", said a statement from Kremlin.

The bill would also help to facilitate trade in the region and help to achieve macro-economic stability.

Russia Vows 'Boomerang' Retaliation as U.S. Widens Sanctions

by Henry Meyer

September 2, 2015 — 7:35 AM MDT Updated on September 2, 2015 — 10:29 AM MDT

Russia said it will retaliate after the U.S. widened sanctions by targeting more companies, including subsidiaries of state oil producer OAO Rosneft and entities controlled by an ally of President Vladimir Putin.

"In this case, we are operating on a principle of reciprocity," Putin's spokesman, Dmitry Peskov, said on a conference call with reporters on Wednesday. The Russian Foreign Ministry earlier said the U.S. is contradicting its stated intention of cooperating on major international crises such as Syria.

Russia's relations with the U.S. and the European Union plummeted to their lowest since the Cold War following Putin's annexation of Crimea after Kremlin-backed Ukrainian President Viktor Yanukovich was ousted from office last year. The U.S. and the EU have limited some Russian companies' access to borrowing and barred technology transfers to energy producers in response to Putin's support for a separatist insurgency in eastern Ukraine.

The Elite Have Prepared For The Coming Collapse – Have You?

By Michael Snyder, on September 6th, 2015

Why are the global elite buying extremely remote compounds that come with their own private airstrips in the middle of nowhere on the other side of the planet? And why did they start dumping stocks like crazy earlier this year? Do they know something that the rest of us don't? The things that I am about to share with you are quite alarming. It appears that the global elite have a really good idea of what is coming, and they have already taken substantial steps to prepare for it. Sadly, most of the general population is absolutely clueless about the financial collapse that is about to take place, and thus most of them will be completely blindsided by it.

As I discussed the other day, the only way that you make money in the stock market is if you get out in time. The elite understand this very well, and that is why they have been dumping stocks for months. This is something that has even been reported in the mainstream news. For example, this comes from a CNBC article that was published on June 16th...

EXCLUSIVE: New York 2015 - FOUR THOUSAND sleeping on streets, 80 homeless encampments in the city and beggars making $75 a day as arrests for panhandling and street drinking plummet

- Police in city say up to 4,000 people are sleeping on the streets and that there are at least 80 homeless encampments - a quarter of them so permanent they have furniture
- Ultra-liberal mayor Bill de Blasio under fire from his tough predecessor Rudolph Giuliani for failing to clear the problem
- Daily Mail Online has spoken to homeless beggars who say they can make $70 a day - as much as an eight-hour day on city's minimum wage
- Arrests for crimes like aggressive panhandling, exposure and public urination have collapsed
- Many homeless are taking cheap drugs, with heroin going for just $10 a bag and one expert saying: 'There's an epidemic.'

By SHEKHAR BHATIA FOR DAILYMAL.COM

They are sleeping in front of the Empire State building, sprawled in front of the doors of Macy's, and panhandling outside Grand Central. New York is in the grip of a homeless epidemic so bad that it has raised fears of the city slipping back into the disorder of the 1970s and 1980s. The city's police chief this week said that as many as 4,000 people are now sleeping rough in the city, in a crisis which even the city's mayor has finally acknowledged after months of denials.

Police officers have identified 80 separate homeless encampments in the city, 20 of which are so entrenched that they have their own names. Its former mayor Rudolph Giuliani has spoken scathingly of how his successor is failing to keep order.

AMHERST, N.Y. — Police in New York are investigating after a firebomb was thrown inside of a door at a non-denominational church on Saturday.

The incident occurred early Saturday morning at approximately 5:30 a.m. as a yet unidentified suspect threw a Molotov cocktail threw a glass door at the Chapel at Crosspoint in Getzville. The explosive then started a fire in the vestibule, which set off the sprinkler system and flooded the entryway.

The Getzville Fire Department and the Amherst Police Department responded to the four-alarm incident, according to assistant Police Chief Charles Cohen.

"The fire inspectors office determined up to $10,000 in water damage," he said.

Police are now looking at surveillance footage from both the church and area businesses to obtain clues as to who might have thrown the explosive at the church. Officials are also considering whether the act can be considered a hate crime.

Since Nigerian President Muhammadu Buhari took office 100 days ago, more than 1,000 Christians and Muslims have been slaughtered by the Islamic terrorist group Boko Haram, which also displaced nearly 2.1 million Nigerians within the nation's borders.

Even though Buhari promised to eradicate Nigeria of the jihadist organization, its terrorists have stepped up their concerted attacks throughout the country.

In the six northeastern Nigerian states of Bauchi, Borno, Gombe, Yobe, Taraba and Adamawa, plus the central states of Abuja and Nassarawa, the number of displaced Nigerians has recently escalated to 2.1 million, according to the International Organization for Migration.

"The increase ... can be attributed to the intensification of attacks carried out by the insurgents, as well as to improved access to previously inaccessible areas of Borno state, where the IDP population is now well over 1.6 million," IOM released in a statement, The Christian Post \(CP\) reports.

Since 2009, Boko Haram has focused its attacks on Christians and moderate Muslims, while simultaneously raiding areas in bordering nations. According to a CNN report, just under 30 people were mercilessly killed Thursday in northern Cameroon as the jihadists besieged an infirmary and marketplace there.

Asking a Baptist preacher to baptize is like asking Colonel Sanders if he wants a bucket of chicken. Somebody's going to get dunked.

So when a football coach in Villa Rica, Georgia asked to be baptized on the high school football field—the local First Baptist Church obliged.

At the end of the school day somebody hauled out an old feeding trough, plopped it in the end zone near the field house and filled it with water.

A crowd of about 75 folks, black and white, young and old, gathered in the sweltering August heat to watch the coach take the Baptist plunge.

In the latest example of social madness, Rickey Hall, the vice chancellor for diversity and inclusion at the University of Tennessee-Knoxville, is calling on all students to use gender inclusive pronouns like "ze, hir, zir, xe, xem and xyr" in order to make the campus "welcoming and inclusive for all."

On another front, Bruce "Caitlyn" Jenner has said that he would like to date a man so that he could be treated like a woman. But his suggestion was rebuffed by interviewer and friend Jenny Boylan who replied, "Caitlyn Jenner, you are a normal woman right now, today. You don't need a man to make you a woman."

Seriously? Bruce Jenner, with male voice and taking hormones to overcome his maleness is "a normal woman right now, today"?

One elementary school had decided to do away with boys' and girls' bathrooms. There will now just be bathrooms.

Miraloma Elementary in San Francisco, California is busy doing away with its gender assigned bathrooms and making them gender neutral for their young students.

Principal Sam Bass said the change was in part due to eight students who do not fit into traditional gender norms - and range from tomboys to transgender.

The school began removing the circles, triangles and stick-figure signs from restrooms at the start of this school year, according to SF Gate.

Supreme Court rules against Kentucky clerk in gay marriage case

BREAKING NEWS: The Supreme Court on Monday ruled against the Kentucky county clerk who has refused to issue same-sex marriage licenses, and the clerk will arrive at work Tuesday morning to face her moment of truth. Rowan County Clerk Kim Davis will have to choose whether to issue marriage licenses, defying her Christian conviction, or continue to refuse them, defying a federal judge who could pummel her with fines or order that she be hauled off to jail.

EDITOR'S NOTE: America in 2015 has officially become a post-Christian society, led by the treasonous activities of our post-American president, Barack Hussein Obama. The massive paradigm shift towards the full-throated embrace of same-sex culture will be the main legacy that Obama will leave behind. ASHLAND, Ky. — Five of six deputies in the office of Kentucky county clerk Kim Davis found in contempt of court and held Thursday for her refusal to issue marriage licenses in wake of the Supreme Court decision to allow gays to wed say they will process the paperwork starting Friday.

But Rowan County Clerk Kim Davis, whom U.S. District Court Judge David Bunning has placed in the custody of U.S. marshals ready to take her to Boyd County jail, said through her lawyers that she will not authorize any of her employees to issue licenses in her absence.

Same-sex couples issued marriage licenses in Rowan County; jailed clerk claims licenses are void

BY JOHN CHEVES
jcheves@herald-leader.com September 4, 2015

MOREHEAD — James Yates and William Smith Jr. paid $35.50 and filled out paperwork early Friday to become the first couple to get a marriage license in Rowan County since the U.S. Supreme Court legalized same-sex marriage June 26. More couples soon followed.

With Rowan County Clerk Kim Davis in jail on civil contempt charges for defying a judge's order to resume issuing licenses, deputy clerk Brian Mason ended the office's two-month license ban by politely serving Yates and Smith on Friday, even congratulating them and shaking their hands afterward.

Hours later, however, attorneys for Davis said the marriage licenses issued by her office Friday were void because only Davis has the

Rowan County Clerk Kim Davis

The left-leaning fundraising site GoFundMe has declined to accept a fundraising campaign for jailed Rowan County, Kentucky, clerk Kim Davis.

Davis was jailed on Thursday for defying a federal court order to issue marriage licenses to same-sex couples following the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling in Obergefell v. Hodges in June. She was ordered detained for contempt of court and later rejected a proposal to allow her deputies to process same-sex marriage licenses that could have prompted her release. She has become the symbol of religious opposition to the heavy-handed tactics of the "gaystapo" who are ramming same-sex marriage through at the federal level across the nation in opposition of religious conservatives.

We better get prepared.

The subtitle to my new book new book, "Be Thou Prepared," is "equipping the church for persecution and times of trouble" for exactly the reason we see Kim Davis imprisoned today.

The imprisonment of Kim Davis won't be the end of the insanity infecting America. We have been given over to a depraved mind, and the travesty inflicted upon this brave believer is unprecedented in American history as far as I know. I do not believe that anyone, public official or private citizen, has ever been jailed simply because of his or her firmly held faith-belief that marriage is between a man and a woman and not between two men or two women.

Not only is this legal sham unparalleled in American history, it flies in the face of the Word of God and almost 6,000 years of human history. Christians are often mocked for uttering the phrase, "What would Jesus do?" Well, here's a different phrase for our legal system: What would our Founding Fathers say about this monstrosity that is being called a "legal ruling"?

What would the founders of our nation and the framers of the First Amendment say about an American court that has actually jailed a public official because that official believes in the traditional definition of marriage? Do we know of any Founding Father or Supreme Court

Dozens of N.C. magistrates refuse to perform gay marriages

RALEIGH, N.C. — The number of North Carolina magistrates recusing themselves from performing civil marriages under a new law has more than doubled in recent weeks.

The state court system says it's received 32 notices from magistrates since the law took effect June 11. That's up from 14 in early July and represents nearly 5 percent of the state's magistrates.

The law exempts court officials with sincerely held religious beliefs opposing gay marriage.

The law also gave the recusal option to some register of deeds workers issuing marriage licenses. Elected officials would perform the duties as a last resort.

Sen. Phil Berger sponsored the bill. Berger says the law is probably preventing situations like the one in Kentucky, where a clerk has refused to issue licenses. Utah has a similar recusal law.

Marion County Judge Vance Day is being investigated by a judicial fitness commission in part over his refusal to perform same-sex marriages on religious grounds, a spokesman for the judge said.

When a federal court ruling in May 2014 made same-sex marriage legal in Oregon, Day instructed his staff to refer same-sex couples looking to marry to other judges, spokesman Patrick Korten said Friday.

Last fall, he decided to stop performing weddings altogether, aside from one in March that had long been scheduled, Korten said.

Uproar in St. Petersburg after demon statue destroyed

Hundreds rallied in St. Petersburg Sunday to protest the destruction of a demon statue ripped down last week. A group calling itself the "Cossacks of St. Petersburg" has claimed responsibility. The figure of a bat-winged creature on Lakhtinskaya Street dated to around 1910 and was ripped down and apparently destroyed by vandals. "What happened is awful," 35-year-old protester Anna Astakhova told the AFP news agency. "If it's
