اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن أيضاً علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل أيضاً قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيق اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذاري انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

ثانيا لنؤمن

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَأَن تُوْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

Booming Meteor Seen And Heard Over Alaska

25 NOVEMBER, 2015

On the sidewalks, at the stores, at the bars, people have been talking about a loud sound they heard around 2:30 a.m. Saturday. Most have never heard anything like it before. Life-long Petersburg resident Devren Bennett was asleep at home in Tlingit and Haida Housing Subdivision. Like many others, he was jolted awake. "I woke up from dead sleep to what sounded like a jet sitting on top of our house with the engine wound up all the way," Bennett said. "First thought was a landslide of some sort but there's no mountains around my house that would cause anything like that, otherwise I had no idea."

Meteor sighting I-196 near Zeeland

DARWIN 11/25/2015 07:30:49 PM 1042 6085 W08 5045 0050PM

ZEELAND, Mich. (WOOD) — A WOOD TV8 employee captured video of what appears to be a meteor over West Michigan. The video was recorded by a dash cam on Tuesday night over I-196 near Zeeland.

Meteors light up as they cross the sky because they are burning up as they enter Earth's atmosphere.

It's possible the meteor was part of the Leonid meteor shower. That shower peaked on Nov. 17 and 18, according to NASA, but lasts through the end of November.

7 dead in Texas and Kansas as wintry storm sweeps south-central U.S.

Posted on November 29, 2015

November 2015 – KANSAS – Flooding and wintry precipitation have led to at least seven deaths in Texas and Kansas as a storm system moves across the central Plains, authorities said Saturday. Four people died in single-vehicle accidents in Kansas, according to Lt. Adam Winters with the state's Highway Patrol. He said all of the accidents could be attributed to black ice or hazardous road conditions. Flooding claimed at least three lives in the Dallas. The victims include a man in Garland, northeast of Dallas. Benjamin Floyd, 29, was on his way to work when raging floodwaters swept his car off the road, according to CNN affiliate WFAA. He was unable to get out of his vehicle before it was submerged Friday, Garland city officials said.

The two other flooding deaths came in Johnson County, south of Fort Worth, county emergency management officials said. A significant section of the United States — from western Texas through Oklahoma and Kansas and into western Arkansas — has been coping with a weather system that brought rain and freezing temperatures. Some 83,000 customers were without power in Oklahoma, according to utility company OG&E. There are numerous reports of trees down across the state. At least 400 utility crews have been deployed and they have restored power to 50,000, the company says.

Australia Struck By Huge Hail Storm!

23 NOVEMBER, 2015

Severe thunderstorms are no longer affecting the Southeast Queensland area (east of Dalby from Rainbow Beach to Stanthorpe). The immediate threat of severe thunderstorms has passed, but the situation will continue to be monitored and further warnings will be issued if necessary, the Bureau of Meteorology advised at 8.15pm. Earlier, BOM reports a dangerous thunderstorm had developed and was headed for suburbs north of Brisbane.

Queensland's storms started to develop about 2pm, affecting first the Granite Belt and Darling Downs. There was golf-ball and even tennis-ball-sized hail smashing Stanthorpe about 4.30pm. The storms continued to hit Ipswich and then Brisbane, with spectacular displays of lightning. The Bureau of Meteorology warned that, at 7:50 pm, severe thunderstorms were detected on weather radar near southern Lake Wivenhoe and the D'Aguilar Ranges. These

Largest Snowfall In 60 Years Strikes Japan

28 NOVEMBER, 2015

Residents of northern Japan were surprised by an early blast of winter this week as sub-zero temperatures and heavy snow combined to cover much of Hokkaido with a white winter duvet. One resident of the prefecture capital, Sapporo, said: "It's a lot, a lot! Last year it snowed around November 8 but it was nothing like this". In this northern prefecture of Hokkaido, the lavender fields of Furano saw temperatures on Wednesday night drop to minus 21 degrees Celsius. On the same night in Sapporo, the temperature fell to minus 7C.

1 Dead after Floods in Saudi Arabia, Qatar sees 1 Year of Rain in 1 Day

25 NOVEMBER, 2015 BY FLOODLIST NEWS IN ASIA, NEWS - 0 COMMENT

Seasonal storms brought heavy rain to Qatar and central and eastern parts of Saudi Arabia on 25 November 2015.

Doha, Qatar, recorded more than a year's worth of rain in one day. One person has been reported as killed in the floods in Riyadh Region, Saudi Arabia in what is the third deadly flood event to hit the country in the last 4 weeks.

Saudi Arabia

The state-run Saudi Press Agency reported earlier today that seasonal storms brought heavy rainfall in central and eastern areas of the country, causing severe flooding in Riyadh and Al-Qassim Regions.

Saudi Arabia civil defence report that 1 person has died in the floods in the province of Rimah, Riyadh Region, which is located about 120 kilometres north-east of the capital Riyadh.

Schools have been closed, roads blocked and in some cases flooding has forced drivers to abandon their vehicles. Saudi Arabia civil defence say they have responded to dozens of emergency calls. The city of Buraidah, Al-Qassim Region, is reported as one of the worst hit.

KARACHI, Pakistan

A powerful earthquake shook parts of Pakistan, India and Afghanistan late Sunday, sending panicked people on to the streets, officials said.

The epicentre of the 6.2-magnitude was 86 kilometers (53 miles) below the border between Tajikistan and Afghanistan, according to Pakistan monitors. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Last month a 7.8-magnitude earthquake killed nearly 400 people in Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Magnitude 6.2 quake hits off Chile coast, reported

SANTIAGO

A magnitude 6.2 earthquake struck off the northern coast of Chile on Friday, the U.S. Geological Survey said, although there were no initial reports of damage.

The USGS said the quake's epicenter was located 18 miles (29 kilometers) below the seabed, 82 miles (132 km) southwest of Antofagasta.

The quake, initially reported as a magnitude 6.0, struck at 6 p.m. (2100 GMT).

Local emergency services said the tremor was felt strongly in the northern Atacama desert, and they were assessing whether it had caused any damage. The navy said it was not issuing a tsunami alert.

A spokesman for Chilean state copper producer Codelco [COBRE.UL] said there were no reports of any damage at its mines in the area.

Chile, located on the so-called Pacific ring of fire, is prone to earthquakes and has strict building codes that limit damage when they occur.

UPDATE 2-Nearly 100 bodies pulled from landslide Myanmar jade mine

* Hopes dwindle of finding survivors

* Rescue worker estimates another 100 missing

* Landslide hit makeshift settlement as workers slept (Adds comment from local official, miner)

By Aung Hla Tun

YANGON, Nov 22 Nearly 100 bodies have been pulled from a landslide near a jade mine in Myanmar's northern Kachin State, local officials said on Sunday, and hopes are dwindling that any of an estimated 100 people missing will be found alive.

The landslide happened when a mountain of mining debris gave way in the early hours of Saturday in Hpakant, an area that produces some of the world's highest-quality jade. The mines and debris dump sites are hazardous and deadly accidents are common.

As of 4 p.m. local time (0930 GMT) on Sunday, 97 bodies had been pulled from the landslide, said Tin Swe Myint, head of the Hpakant Township Administration Department.

That number was expected to rise, but it remains unclear exactly how many people may be buried.

337 Whales Beached in Largest Stranding Ever

The cause of the massive die-off, discovered in remote waters off Patagonia, Chile, is being investigated. Scientists say they are most likely sei whales, which are endangered.

The dead whales were first observed in Patagonia in June from the air, but now scientists are trying to figure out what killed them.

RPT-Australia bushfire kills two people, thousands of animals - media

(Repeats story published late Wednesday; no changes to text)

Nov 25 A bushfire in southern Australia has killed two people and thousands of animals and destroyed homes and buildings along a 27-mile front, media reported on Wednesday, as the blaze headed for the wine-growing region of the Barossa Valley.

The fire comes after four people were killed in one of a series of wildfires sparked by lightning in Western Australia state last week.

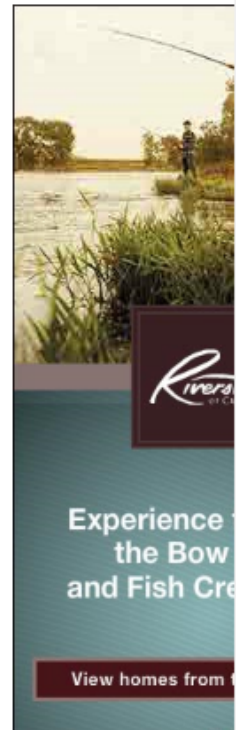

Wildfires are an annual summer event in Australia, but signs of rising temperatures have prompted some scientists to warn that climate change could increase the length and intensity of the fire season.

Two people had been killed by the fires in South Australia state where the blaze was being fanned by high winds, Australian Broadcasting Corp (ABC) said.

One resident told ABC he had no choice but to leave thousands of animals at a pig farm for dead.

Country Fire Service chief officer Greg Nettleton said the fire was moving so fast that fire crews could not establish positions at the front of the blaze.

"This is a particularly nasty fire. It will run right through the night and into tomorrow,"

Thousands of dying starfish have mysteriously washed up on an island in what has been deemed a rare natural phenomenon. Tour guide Rhett Ericson-Miller stumbled upon the stranded sealife with a tour group near Tangalooma Wrecks, a fleet of shipwrecks, in southeast Queensland's Moreton Island. The video he uploaded on Facebook has amassed nearly 20 thousand views, while scientists are unsure of exactly what caused the mass stranding. The vision shows a long stretch of the island's shore lined with the fish, making it impossible to throw them all back into the water.

Thousands of dead fish found in Kam Tin River

Like Share 65 people like this. Be the first of your friends.

Tens of thousands of fish were found dead and decomposing in Yuen Long's Kam Tin River, with authorities not sure of the reason behind the phenomenon, Ming Pao Daily reported.

The Drainage Services Department, which is responsible for maintenance of the river, said it has made arrangements for a clean-up operation after it received reports of massive fish deaths.

Most of the dead fish were flathead mullet.

Cleaning workers arrived at the scene and began netting the dead fish. As of 5 pm Wednesday, the team had netted over 2,500 dead flathead mullet.

Number of strandings of marine animals in SC surprises researchers

The first swing Basin Beaches Monitoring Project of Santos, funded by Petrobras and coordinated by Univali in Itajai, brought up a number of strandings and deaths of marine animals far superior to what was expected by experts.

In September and October were 1,700 records in the 354 km stretch between Itapoá, in the north of the state, and Laguna in the south. Most pets have arrived dead to the beaches.

The project is unprecedented and is part of the environmental conditions set by IBAMA to release new explorations of oil in the Santos Basin. For the first time, the beaches of the coast of Santa Catarina, Paraná and São Paulo are inspected daily by researchers, who have the mission to establish the impact of production activity and oil exploration to marine life.

Live animals are rescued and reintegrated in nature. The dead go through the evaluation of carcasses. The report of the leading causes of death will be released when the project is six months.

Millions Of Spiders Stretching For Nearly A Half-Mile In Memphis

23 NOVEMBER, 2015

It's not frost or morning dew – but a finely woven spider web by millions of spiders stretching for nearly a half-mile. Residents of the Memphis neighborhood are trying their best to deal with the rare phenomena, but are quickly realizing they're just outnumbered. "I've seen about 20 on my porch just in the last day," Ida Morris told WMC-TV. Morris said neighbors have asked the city to step in and help deal with the spiders since there are kids in the neighborhood at risk of being bitten.

Weird purple slime choking Norway's fjords — What is it?

BY KAREN GRAHAM NOV 27, 2015 IN SCIENCE

Fisherman in northern Norway first noticed the strange-looking purple slime in late August of this year. At first, there were large clots of the slimy stuff, but now, it has collected in a 200 meter (219 yards) wide belt around Lyngen Fjord.

A single, misguided ideology, embedded in one's heart and mind, can set their life on a course toward emotional discord, empty pursuits of temporary satisfaction, brokenness and utter shame. People are writing the code of their life with their thoughts and emotions, drawing near to their heart's desires. A mindset where "everything goes" where there is no moral standard in intimate relationships, can set a person on a destructive course of hollow relationships, broken promises, mistrust and even greater incidence of sexually transmitted disease.

Liberia has placed 153 people under surveillance for Ebola after three new cases emerged in the West African nation this past week, months after it had twice before been declared free of the disease.

World Health Organizations (WHO) investigators were working to unlock the mystery of how a new cluster of cases emerged in Monrovia because there was no evidence yet of the usual factors, such as contact with a person suffering from Ebola, handling remains of an Ebola victim or traveling to a region where the virus is prevalent, said Margaret Harris, a spokeswoman for WHO.

There are currently no known cases in two neighboring countries that, like Liberia, have been devastated by Ebola for nearly two years. Sierra Leone was declared free of the disease earlier this month. A week ago, the last known patient with Ebola in Guinea, a 3-week-old girl, was found to have recovered. Forty-two days must pass without a new case of Ebola before a country can be declared free of the disease.

More than 11,300 people have died since the virus first emerged in December of 2013.

"What we are investigating is whether there has been contact with body fluids of someone with persistent virus," Harris said, referring to a person who has recovered from the disease but still harbors the virus in some part of the body.

The Ebola virus has been detected in semen and earlier this year, an American doctor who contracted the disease while working in a hospital in Sierra Leone and then later recovered, was found to have the virus still present in one of his eyes.

A deadly insect known as the "kissing bug" has been reported in North Carolina, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Triatomine bugs can carry a parasite that causes Chagas disease.

READ: Deadly bug reported in Texas

These bugs are typically found in the southern United States, Mexico, Central America and South America. Its not clear which part of North Carolina the insect was found.

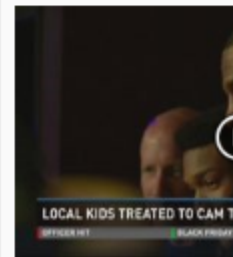

The CDC says these bugs can live in cracks and holes indoors and in outdoor spaces including:

- Beneath porches
- Between rocky structures
- Under cement
- In rock, wood, brush piles, or beneath bark
- In rodent nests or animal burrows
- In outdoor dog houses or kennels
- In chicken coops or houses

To keep these bugs away from you home, the CDC suggests:

- Sealing cracks and gaps around windows, walls, roofs, and doors
- Removing wood, brush, and rock piles near your house
- Using screens on doors and windows and repairing any holes or tears
- If possible, making sure yard lights are not close to your house (lights can attract the bugs)
- Sealing holes and cracks leading to the attic, crawl spaces below the house, and to the outside

UPDATE: The "kissing bug" is causing concern in Tennessee and Georgia, after the CDC claims the deadly insect has made its way to the region.

The bugs feed on the blood of mammals, including humans and dogs, and may carry Chagas disease. However, local experts say residents should not be alarmed because the kissing bugs in the Tennessee Valley are not as dangerous as the species in other parts of the world.

US Government Secretly Buried Nuclear Waste Near Playground - And Thousands Now Have Cancer

Written by: Daniel Jennings | Current Events | November 4, 2015 | 21 Comments | Print This Article

A government contractor buried tens of thousands of barrels of nuclear waste in two sites around St. Louis that may have caused more than 2,700 cases of cancer, a lawsuit and CBS News are alleging.

"Within a six-house radius, I knew four people with brain cancer, one a child, one a young professor," resident Jenelle Wright told CBS. "And I just thought, 'This is really odd.'"

What is truly disturbing is that Wright and others only figured out that something was wrong when they got together on Facebook to plan a school reunion. When they started reconnecting, they noticed that a lot of people they knew had developed cancer.

"If we did not have social media, if Facebook did not exist, we would never have put these pieces together," Wright said.

Nuclear Waste on Playgrounds

Wright and other residents of North County near St. Louis think the cause of cancer was the tens of thousands of barrels of nuclear waste dumped in the area decades ago by the Mallinckrodt Chemical Company. The company had been hired by the US government agency to process uranium for America's nuclear weapons program. Then, "under the cover of national

The downing of a Russian warplane in Syria by Turkey appears to be a pre-planned provocation, the Russian Foreign Minister said. Ankara failed to communicate with Russia over the incident, he added.

While authorities in Ankara have insisted that it shot down the Russian Su-24 bomber after the aircraft entered Turkish airspace, the Russian Defense Ministry has released video proving that the plane never left Syrian airspace.

According to a leaked letter written to the UN Security Council by the Turkish Ambassador, Turkey's military justified the shooting down of a Russian bomber by claiming that the aircraft had entered Turkish airspace for 17 seconds.

Obama Knows That Turkey Is Buying Oil From ISIS And He Isn't Doing Anything To Stop It

By Michael Snyder, on November 27th, 2015

At this point, is there anyone that still doesn't know that ISIS is selling hundreds of millions of dollars of stolen oil in Turkey? As you will see below, this is very much an open secret, but the mainstream media in the United States is being strangely silent about this. Why? Well, because if the truth came out Turkey would have to be kicked out of NATO and Barack Obama would probably be facing impeachment proceedings. He claims to be fighting ISIS, and yet an endless parade of trucks carrying oil that ISIS has stolen goes back and forth over the Turkish border with his full knowledge and approval. Barack Obama is very much aware that Turkey is buying oil from ISIS and he refuses to do anything about it. If the Republicans are looking for a scandal which could completely wreck Obama's presidency and essentially secure the 2016 election for them, this is it.

Evgeny Buzhinsky announced that following the downing of the Russian jet by Turkey, "Russia will have to resort to electronic jamming and other warfare equipment, including special aircraft with special equipment on board to protect our pilots from being struck by missiles." This was after Turkish Prime Minister Tayyip Erdogan warned Vladimir Putin "not to play with fire."

The tension between Moscow and Ankara was further ramped up by the following steps:

1. Turkey suspended its flights over Syria as part of its partnership with the US for air strikes against the Islamic State. According to DEBKAfile's military sources, Ankara decided to avoid the risk of being shot down by the highly advanced Russian S-300 and S-400 anti-air missile systems newly deployed to Syria.
2. The Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said that visa-free travel for Turkish citizens would be suspended starting from Jan. 1. Thursday, the Russian police detained 39 Turkish visitors attending an agricultural exhibition on the grounds that they had no licenses to contract business in Russia. Moscow also announced tightened controls on Turkish imports of food and farm products, and advised Russian holidaymakers to give Turkey a wide berth.
3. More than 1,000 trucks loaded with Turkish farm produce and industrial products for the Russian market are stuck at the Georgian-Russian border.

The French Army was last night protecting water facilities around Paris amid fears of a chemical attack by Islamic State terrorists.

Scientists were carrying out tests on the city's water supply after equipment used to guard against chemical products, including protective suits, was stolen from a Paris hospital.

In other developments yesterday:

- Brussels was in lockdown over the threat of an imminent Paris-style attack. The country terror threat level was raised over 'precise information of possible multiple gun and bomb attacks'. Armed police and soldiers patrolled the streets, shops were closed, sporting events cancelled and the underground metro system closed.
- Six British men of Pakistani origin were arrested last night while travelling through Belgium in three old ambulances. They were thought to be travelling on an aid convoy – possibly destined for Syria – and police searched the vehicles. One of the men is known to British police, it was reported.
- Police raided a property in the Brussels suburb of Moolenbeek, described as the 'jihadi capital of Europe' and home to three of the Paris gunmen. Officers confiscated three guns.
- Police commandos arrested four people in a suspicious vehicle at the Place du Grand Sablon in Brussels.
- Turkish authorities detained a Belgian man of Moroccan origin on suspicion he scouted out the target sites for the Paris attacks. Paris Water president Céline Blauel confirmed that water samples were being analysed and six vital sites were under armed guard.

BIBLICAL CHRISTIAN TOWN BECOMES FRONTLINE WITH ISIS

'The men are staying behind to defend'

Christians in Sadad, believed to be same town mentioned in Book of Kings, say they won't be moved by jihadists.

On the outskirts of the Syrian Christian town of Sadad, children play in front of a cannon fired just hours ago in an ongoing battle against the Islamic State jihadist group (ISIS).

Soldiers and pro-regime militiamen nearby look on with amusement at the children, who appear oblivious to the fact that their ancient town is now in the sights of the jihadist group.

Sadad is majority Syriac Orthodox Christian, and it is believed to be the same town referred to as Zedad in the Old Testament's "Book of Kings."

Its ancient churches have been caught in the crossfire before, with regime and rebel forces battling for control of the town in October 2013.

Regime forces eventually secured the town, but ISIS is not far away and many residents have fled.

"Around 60 percent of the 12,000 residents, particularly the women and children, have fled to other Christian villages in the province, like Fayruza and Yazdal," said Suleiman Khalil, Sadad's mayor.

"The men are staying behind to defend the town," added Khalil, in his 30s, working a rosary through his fingers as he walked.

ISIS already controls several towns and villages in Homs province, including the famed city of Palmyra, home to ancient ruins that the group has systematically destroyed.

It also holds the town of Al-Qaryatain, where its fighters kidnapped hundreds of civilians including Christians, and blew up an ancient monastery.

ISIS can be defeated, but it will take much greater will on the part of President Obama, an exponentially more robust air campaign with more reasonable rules of engagement and Arab ground forces to get the job done, according to retired U.S. Air Force Lt. Gen. Tom McInerney.

A series of videos apparently leaked by the Russian Defense Ministry reveal the presence of Iranian F-14 and MiG-29 fighters in Syrian skies for the first time. They were shown by "The Aviationist," Italian magazine, escorting heavy Russian bombers, including the Tupolev TU-160, the heaviest, fastest and most destructive bomber ever built, on missions no more than 150 km from Israel's northern border. The ageing F-14s, built in the 1970s by American aviation giant Grumman, were originally sold to Iran when the Shah was in power and taken over by the reorganized Iranian air force after the 1979 Islamic revolution. Upgraded many times, the F-14s now feature state-of-the-art avionics, weapons and navigation systems, procured by Tehran despite the strict UN embargo on their sale to the Islamic Republic. Dozens of these upgraded warplanes, upgraded with intelligence-collection and tracking systems, have begun operating in Syrian air space near the Israeli border, under the pretense of escorting the Russian bombers. Iranian eyes in the sky are therefore studying the frontier area and gather valuable intelligence on Israel's air defenses. Normally, if Iranian warplanes had turned up in Syrian air space, the Israeli Air Force would have fought them off and shot them down, but by flying alongside Russian bombers they are protecting themselves against Israeli action.

As DEBKAfile reported on Saturday, November 21, Russian air and missile attacks are systematically destroying Raqqah, the ISIS capital in Syria, without consideration

In a move dubbed "surreal" by a leading UN watchdog, and as a campaign of daily Palestinian terrorist attacks continues to target Israelis, the United Nations General Assembly on Tuesday adopted six resolutions - all of which bar none condemned Israel.

Not a single mention was made of the Palestinian attacks, which have left 22 Israelis dead and hundreds wounded, nor did any other countries - even serial human rights violators such as Saudi Arabia, Iran, Russia and others - receive any of the General Assembly's attention. More disturbingly still, five of the the UNGA resolutions were sponsored by the Palestinian Authority, while the sixth was sponsored by none other than Bashar al-Assad's regime in Syria.

"Surreal barely captures the scene: the world is under assault by terrorists killing in the name of Islam and martyrhood — as Palestinians did this week while stabbing Israeli Jews — and the UN's response is to reflexively

The former acting director of the CIA, Michael Morell, told a PBS “Charlie Rose” audience the reason America doesn’t try to take out certain oil wells in the Mideast – specifically, the ones that help fuel and finance ISIS – is because the White House is afraid of causing collateral environmental damage. “We didn’t go after oil wells, actually hitting oil wells that ISIS controls, because we didn’t want to do environmental damage and we didn’t want to destroy that infrastructure,” he said, the Hill reported.

Obama Quietly Releases Plans For 2,224 Regulations Ahead Of Turkey Day

While millions of Americans prepare to stuff themselves with Turkey and pie, the Obama administration quietly released its plans for 2,224 federal rules Friday — a preview of just how many more regulations the president is attempting to issue before he leaves office.

President Barack Obama's Unified Agenda for Fall 2015 is his administration's regulatory road map and lays out thousands of regulations being finalized in the coming months. Obama has developed a habit of releasing the agenda late on Friday before a major holiday.

Indeed, Obama's Spring 2015 agenda detailing the status of more than 2,300 regulations was released the eve of

More Than 80 Radical Mosques In The US, No Plans To Shut Any Down!

French Interior Minister Bernard Cazeneuve called for the “dissolution” of radical mosques following last week’s terrorist attacks in Paris that killed 130 people. Belgium’s Prime Minister, Charles Michel threatened similar action in his country where the attacks were staged. Neither President Obama nor other officials in his administration, however, have spoken of shutting down radical mosques in the U.S. But U.S. reticence about taking actions now being implemented by France and Belgium isn’t for a lack of mosques in this country in which hatred for American values and support for jihad terrorism are regularly heard.

Obama ignores pleas from 30 US governors against Syrian refugees – president vows to settle more refugees in US

November 2015 – KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Pushing back against efforts to bar Syrian refugees from resettling in the U.S., President Barack Obama vowed Saturday that his country will be a welcoming place for millions fleeing violence around the world “as long as I’m president.” Obama commented Saturday at a learning center in the Malaysian capital that serves the poor, including some refugees. He met with boys and girls wearing crisp white and black uniforms and neckties as they sat at tables and worked on painting and puzzle projects. Obama said the youngsters “represent the opposite of terror, the opposite of the type of despicable violence we saw in Mali and Paris.”

Most of the children the president met with are Rohingya, a Muslim ethnic group. Tens of thousands of Rohingya have fled Myanmar to escape persecution by the country’s Buddhist majority, with many ending up in Malaysia, where Obama was attending a regional economic summit. Obama noted that the world is currently focused on the humanitarian tragedy in Syria, where years of civil war have forced millions to flee to other countries to escape the bloodshed. But he said the world must not forget about some 60 million people who have been displaced around the globe. Last week’s Paris attacks have led U.S. lawmakers to seek to halt or delay the resettlement of Syrian refugees in the U.S. out of concern that terrorists could try to slip in with them and carry out similar attacks. Obama has rejected that idea and pledged to veto any bill sent to him to block Syrians from entering.

The American Civil Liberties Union has launched a lawsuit against Gov. Mike Pence, R-Indiana, accusing the chief executive of violating the Constitution by blocking Syrian refugees from his state.

Obama's Latest Governor

"This lawsuit is calling out Governor Pence on his unconstitutional bluff," said Judy Rabinovitz, deputy legal director of the ACLU's immigrants' rights project, in a press release. "He does not have the power to pick and choose between which lawfully admitted refugees he is willing to accept. Singling out Syrian refugees for exclusion from Indiana is not only ethically wrong, it is unconstitutional. Period."

Obama Administration Says America's Legal Gun Owners Are A Threat, But ISIS Is No Threat At All

25 NOVEMBER, 2015

American gun owners can spot a gun-grabber a mile away, and they have known for several years now that their president is one of them. Time and again, Barack Obama has attempted to goad the country and Congress into backing stricter gun control laws that would do little to reduce mass shootings that are statistically rare to begin with,^[707] according to a government study. But statistics and facts and the truth about guns don't matter to an ideologue like Obama; as Guns.news, a Natural News indy partner site, reported recently, Obama is likely to spend his final year in office pressing for more gun control laws that will weaken the Second Amendment and actually make Americans more vulnerable to criminals.

'Allahu Akbar' is No. 1 song on UK charts

Dance track featuring Islamic call skyrockets to top of Spotify's UK music charts, continuing to spread onto other European charts.

The atmosphere in Europe can easily be described as tense at the moment, with authorities battling terror on a scale that was previously unheard of. Thus it is surprising that a song titled "Allahu Akbar" has held the number one spot on the UK Spotify chart, and 5th place on the international charts.

The hit was created by an anonymous artist named "DJ Inappropriate." The song is a upbeat dance track, leading some to believe that it is not meant to incite, but rather serves as a protest against "modest" Islamist terrorists. With that said, no one truly knows the purpose of the song.

Over 850,000 Migrants Arrive To Europe By Sea In 2015

24 NOVEMBER, 2015

Over 850,000 migrants have landed on Europe's Mediterranean shores since the beginning of the year, the International Organization for Migration (IOM)'s latest figures said on Tuesday. According to the IOM, 858,805 migrants have arrived to European shores by sea this year. At least 3,548 people died or have gone missing crossing the Mediterranean on way to Europe, according to the figures. Greece has the highest share of the influx, with 712,159 arrivals, according the agency.

Persian Gulf Muslim States Have Accepted No Syrian Refugees

27 NOVEMBER, 2015

While the United States and Europe argue over how many Syrian refugees to allow in, the richest Persian Gulf states have accepted exactly zero. The Muslim countries of the Gulf Cooperation Council that include Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Bahrain and United Arab Emirates steadfastly refuse to accept any Syrian refugees. Amnesty International, USA (AIUSA) tells The Daily Caller News Foundation they have not accepted a single refugee since the armed Syrian conflict erupted years ago.

Ahmed Mohamed seeking $15 million in damages

IRVING – Attorneys for the family of Ahmed Mohamed, the Irving high school student who made international headlines after being arrested earlier this year for bringing a homemade clock to school, have sent letters to both the city of Irving and the Irving School District demanding apologies and $15 million in damages.

"The numbers are huge, and we admit that," said attorney Kelly Hollingsworth from his offices near Lubbock. "But the damages caused against this young man and his family are incalculable.

Hollingsworth is representing Ahmed and his family, who have since relocated out of the country to Qatar.

In the letters, the attorney claims that after a teacher became suspicious about Ahmed's clock, "Ahmed was subjected to on-campus detention and 7-on-1 interrogation [that] went on for approximately one hour and 25 minutes [...] Ahmed constantly was pressured to sign a written statement admitting that he intended to bring a 'hoax bomb' to school."

Both letters claim that Mohamed's civil rights were violated, and he and his family have suffered physical and mental anguish because of the ordeal.

Muslim Sues Over Reprimand For Henna Ink, Says Hospital Violated Her Right To Exercise Religion

24 NOVEMBER, 2015

A Muslim receptionist at a New Jersey hospital claims she was wrongfully disciplined after coming to work with henna ink markings on her hands — a common ceremonial practice in the Islamic faith. Althea Saunders, a 53-year-old Camden resident who has worked at Cooper University Hospital for about 24 years, filed a complaint in New Jersey Superior Court in Camden last week alleging the hospital violated her right to exercise her religion freely. The hospital prohibits visible tattoos or markings.

KaDeWe in Berlin removes Israeli products from its shelves following EU decision to label Israeli products.

In the wake of the European Union's (EU) decision to label Israeli products from Judea, Samaria and the Golan Heights, a German department store has removed Israeli products from its shelves.

The store in question is KaDeWe, which is located in Berlin and is Europe's largest department store. A spokeswoman for KaDeWe, told the Der Spiegel magazine that the store would return Israeli products to its shelves but "only after fixing the labels."

She did not provide details on what kinds of products were pulled.

Responding to KaDeWe's decision, a diplomatic source in Israel said on Saturday night that "KaDeWe's move is appalling and disappointing. The store has a duty to repair the unnecessary damage it caused. Whoever starts with labeling products does not know how it will end."

Following the EU's labeling decision, Israeli officials responded with anger, saying the move was essentially a boycott of Israel.

EU officials, however, have denied that the EU is boycotting Israel. Last week, the EU's ambassador to Israel Lars Faaborg-Andersen lashed out at critics of the body's controversial decision.

Amid growing concerns that the United Nations is taking steps to create the global state predicted by the biblical prophets, the U.N. is opening a "regional hub" in Washington, D.C., FoxNews.com reports.

With the apparent blessing of the Obama administration, the chief U.N. human rights agency plans to use the "hub" as a center for "organizing against the death penalty" and for "affecting the legal frameworks, policies, and strategies of American counterterrorism."

Known as the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights, the "hub" also has a number of more "nebulous 'thematic' objectives for the U.S., which include, according to an OHCHR information document, 'the establishment of national participatory bodies for reporting and implementing recommendations of human rights mechanisms' and the aim of 'widening the democratic space' with the aid of undefined

The price of oil has long been a key indicator of economic health and stability. And that index is tanking fast.

In the last few years, dramatic overproduction of oil has become a major tool of geopolitical conflict.

As prices have plummeted from $110/barrel to $40, Americans have tapped huge sources of fracking and flooded the market; OPEC and the Saudis have continued pumping despite dropping prices; Russia, dependent upon oil for its economy, has been under siege via sanctions and bottom-level prices; ISIS and other terror organizations are undercutting everyone with illegal oil sales and China remains large in the whole affair.

Proxy wars and threats and rumors of world war have accompanied bitter economic warfare over currencies and energy. Now, oil is at a record level of glut, and nearly every storage facility in the world is filled past capacity.

The U.S. Dollar Has Already Caused A Global Recession And Now The Fed Is Going To Make It Worse

By Michael Snyder, on November 22nd, 2015

The 7th largest economy on the entire planet, Brazil, has been gripped by a horrifying recession, as has much of the rest of South America. But it isn't just South America that is experiencing a very serious economic downturn. We have just learned that Japan (the third largest economy in the world) has lapsed into recession. So has Canada. So has Russia. The dominoes are starting to fall, and it looks like the global economic crisis that has already started is going to accelerate as we head into the end of the year. At this point, global trade is already down about 8.4 percent for the year, and last week the Baltic Dry Shipping Index plummeted to a brand new all-time record low. Unfortunately for all of us, the Federal Reserve is about to do something that will make this global economic slowdown even worse.

Throughout 2015, the U.S. dollar has been getting stronger. That sounds like good news, but the truth is that it is not. When the last financial crisis ended, emerging markets went on a debt binge unlike anything we have ever seen before. But much of that debt was denominated in U.S. dollars, and now this is creating a massive problem. As the U.S. dollar has risen, the prices that many of these emerging markets are getting for the commodities that they export have been declining.

Global debt markets are on the cusp of an unwelcome development with the number of companies defaulting on their obligations set to reach the century mark, driven largely by struggling US shale gas providers. Currently, 99 global companies have defaulted since the year began, the second greatest tally in more than a decade and only exceeded by the financial crisis which saw 222 defaults in 2009, according to Standard & Poor's. US companies account for 62 of this year's defaults. MORE

The Triumph Of Materialism: The Average American Will Spend 830 Dollars On Christmas In 2015

By Michael Snyder, on November 24th, 2015

Has there ever been a major holiday more focused on materialism than the modern American Christmas? This year, Americans are planning to spend an average of 830 dollars on Christmas gifts, which represents a jump of 110 dollars over the average of 720 dollars last year. But have our incomes gone up accordingly? Of course not. In fact, real median household income in the United States has been experiencing a steady long-term decline. So in order to fund all of our Christmas spending, we have got to go into even more debt. We love to pull out our credit cards and spend money that we do not have on lots of cheap, useless stuff made on the other side of the world by workers making slave labor wages. We do the same thing year after year, and most of us have grown accustomed to the endless cycle of growing debt. In fact, one Pew survey found that approximately 70 percent of all Americans believe that "debt is a necessity in their lives". But then we have to work our fingers to the bone to try to make the payments on all of that debt, not realizing that debt systematically impoverishes us. It may be hard to believe, but if you have a single dollar in your pocket and no debt, you have a greater net worth than 25 percent of all Americans. I know that sounds crazy, but it is true.

The Underground Revival in the Middle East That Might Take Down Islam

11:00AM EST 11/23/2015

J.D. King

In the darkest corners of the Middle East, there's a revival beginning that's unprecedented in the history of world missions. (iStockPhoto)

The churning, tempestuous world looks remarkably different than many imagine. This is undoubtedly true if you're an average American.

In the darkest corners of the Middle East there's a revival beginning that's unprecedented in the history of world missions. I've previously reflected on it here and here, but I wanted to take this amazing story further than before.

I hope that you'll journey with me as I explore unbelievable developments in the expansion of Christianity in the Middle East.

Reliable reports suggest more Muslims have become followers of Jesus over the last two decades than in Islam's combined 1,500-year history. Based on the accounts of several missiologists, it has been surmised that "more Muslims have committed to follow Christ in the last 10 years than in the last 15 centuries of

If you think there might be something wrong with homosexuality, you most likely have a mental disorder, according to a recent study by a team of Italian researchers.

Discussing the study, lead researcher Emmanuele A. Jannini, M.D., stated: "After discussing for centuries if homosexuality is to be considered a disease, for the first time we demonstrated that the real disease to be cured is homophobia, associated with potentially severe psychopathologies."

That's right. The research team specifically found that "psychoticism," "immature defense mechanisms" and a "fearful attachment style" were associated with a greater "homophobic" attitude in individuals.
