والعلامات حتى 5 يناير 2016

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن ایضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل ایضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشتر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

ثانيا لنؤمن

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَأَن تُوْمِنُونَ.

ثالثا لننتبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

You can say what you like about our nearest star, but as this latest solar eruption proves, it certainly has impeccable timing.

On Monday (Dec. 28), a sunspot cluster erupted, blasting an M-class flare directly at Earth. The extreme-ultraviolet radiation immediately washed over our upper atmosphere, initiating an ionization event that caused a radio blackout over South America, Africa and the south Atlantic Ocean. The blackout may have been detected by mariners and ham radio operators in

Geomagnetic storm lights up northern sky, as year ends

Posted on January 1, 2016

January 2016 – SPACE – 2016 began with an explosion—not only of fireworks, but also auroras. On Jan. 1st, a G2-class geomagnetic storm sparked bright lights around the poles as revelers around the world were ringing in the New Year. In Glenfarg, Scotland, fireworks crackled against a backdrop of green: “Our neighbours let off some fireworks for the New Year,” says photographer Stuart Walker. “They were modest compared to the organized display in Edinburgh, but looked great alongside the ongoing aurora.”

The storm was the result of a CME strike on New Year's Eve (Dec. 31 @ 00:30 UT). At first the CME's impact had little effect. Indeed, we initially ruled it a “dud.” But as Earth moved deeper into the CME's wake, solar wind conditions shifted to favor geomagnetic activity. The very first sighting of auroras in 2016 may have come from Taichi Nakamura, across the International Date Line in Dunedin, New Zealand:

“It was a beautiful treat to see the auroras kick off the New Year,” says Nakamura. “The display began after midnight and kept glowing with waves and beams until morning twilight painted light over the aurora. It is summer now in New Zealand and my four year old son was delighted to come with me as it is warm even at night.” Those were the first auroras of 2016. Ready for seconds? NOAA forecasters estimate a 75% chance of more polar geomagnetic storms on Jan. 1st, subsiding to 45% on Jan. 2nd as Earth moves through the wake of the CME. —Space Weather

MONROE, N.C. (WNCN) – A community in Union county is cleaning up and helping one another after an apparent tornado touched down just south of Monroe.

Thankfully there were no reports of any physical injuries, but some people won't be able to shake what they saw from their minds for some time. Photos don't accurately capture what Tommy Guion said he experienced.

Missouri governor warns of 'historic and dangerous' floods

Posted on December 30, 2015

December 2015 – MISSOURI – Missouri's governor warned Tuesday of flooding and swollen river levels that could exceed levels seen in a devastating flood in 1993, and he pleaded with drivers to stay off inundated roadways. Thirteen people in Missouri have died in floods caused by severe storms over the weekend, and although the rain has moved on, swollen rivers are still rising and won't crest for days, Gov. Jay Nixon said. "It's very clear that Missouri is in the midst of a very historic and dangerous flooding event," Nixon told reporters Tuesday. "The amount of rain we've received, in some places in excess of a foot, has caused river levels to not only rise rapidly, but to go to places they've never been before."

Nixon declared a state of emergency Monday, and on Tuesday he activated the National Guard to assist first responders and to secure areas evacuated because of the winter storms. Several roads were blocked into the tourist mecca of Branson, where nearly 200 families were asked to evacuate voluntarily and the Red Cross opened a shelter on the Branson Strip. At Rockaway Beach near Branson, residents said the flooding, which peaked Monday night, was the worst they'd ever seen. "I'm usually pretty good about coming up with a game plan, and yesterday, literally my mind shut down, because I didn't know what to do," Rick Pickren, owner of White River Trading Co., an antique store, told NBC station KYTV of Springfield on Tuesday.

Flooding kills at least 20 in Missouri, Illinois as Mississippi River levels rival records

By Alex Sosnowski, AccuWeather.com Senior Meteorologist
December 31, 2015; 6:27 AM ET

 Share |

At least 20 people have been killed in dangerous flooding across Missouri and Illinois after intense December rainfall and rising river levels.

Flooding in the upcoming days and weeks could be one for the record books in the Mississippi Valley.

Major flooding along the Mississippi, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Arkansas and Meramec rivers will have communities dealing with long-duration high water.

Thousands of homes threatened by Missouri floodwaters

Periods of below-freezing air will cause some flooded areas to turn icy and will add to the challenges.

Flooding on the middle portion of the Mississippi River and its tributaries may reach levels not seen during the winter months since records began during the middle 1800s.

Water levels could rival the mark set during the summer of 1993 and spring of 1995 and 2011 in some cases. Chester and Cape Girardeau, Missouri, as well as Thebes, Illinois, could experience record high Mississippi River levels.

Mississippi River flooding to threaten more levees, homes after leaving St. Louis area submerged

By Alex Sosnowski, AccuWeather.com Senior Meteorologist
January 3, 2016; 6:47 AM ET

Deadly flooding is expected to surge farther south along the Mississippi River over the coming days, putting many more levees at risk for failing and more homes and highways under water.

Communities along the Mississippi River in Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Louisiana should be prepared for flood issues over the coming weeks as the copious amount of water travels farther south.

Water levels will continue to rise in Memphis, Tennessee, and Greenville, Mississippi, as well as Baton Rouge, Louisiana, through the second week of January. Levees will be forced to hold back the rising water, but in some cases may fail, as has been seen in the past week. Residents in these areas will want to be prepared for potentially historic flooding.

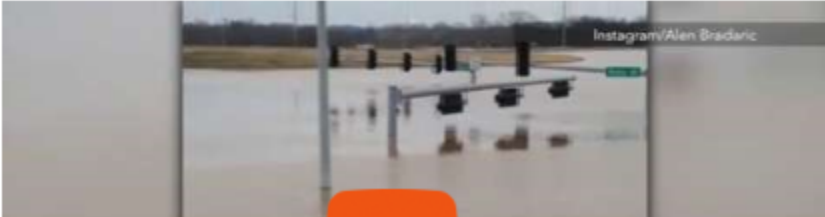

Flooding on the middle portion of the Mississippi River and some of its tributaries reached levels not seen during the winter months since records began during the middle 1800s.

Communities near St. Louis were devastated as the river entered major flood stage early on Wednesday morning. The river receded to a moderate flood stage early Sunday morning local time and will continue to lower through the week.

While the river has crested, several more days of flooding are still expected which will slow down cleaning and recovery efforts. On Saturday, Missouri Gov. Jay Nixon requested a federal emergency declaration to assist with debris removal and recovery costs.

"Devastating, record flooding has affected hundreds of homes and businesses across the St. Louis region and left a trail of destruction and debris," Gov. Nixon said in a press release. "Missouri response agencies, businesses, volunteers and citizens have responded heroically to the challenges, and now as we work to recover and move forward, I'm requesting federal resources for debris removal to speed the recovery process and ease the burden on strained local communities."

It was either cold or very cold throughout the state, said Civil Protection operations director Virgilio Cepeda, with average snow accumulation measuring 15 centimeters in 52 of the state's 67 municipalities.

The snow began falling Saturday night and continued for some 16 hours.

Seven flights were canceled at the Ciudad Juárez airport and parts of many highways were temporarily closed. Three-hundred emergency shelters were opened.

One fatality has been reported as a result of a motor vehicle accident on the Chihuahua-Parral highway.

Civil Protection coordinator Luis de Jesús Luján Peña said the fifth winter storm of the season was a result of the conjunction of cold front No. 24, maritime air and a jet stream, and a consequence of climate change.

The winter storm also struck Sonora, where four municipalities reported low temperatures. Lowest was recorded in Yécora, where the mercury dropped to -9.5 C.

Israel has been bracing for its first massive snowstorm of the year, and on Friday the weather did not disappoint, with gale force winds and heavy rains visiting upon various regions, and Mount Hermon in the north already under heavy snow since late Thursday.

As of 7 a.m., Mount Hermon, Israel's only ski site, had already recorded around 30 centimeters (nearly 12 inches) of snow on the lower levels of the mountain alone.

On the upper reaches of the mount, a full 60 centimeters (over 23 inches) had already fallen, with the snow anticipated to only get heavier throughout the day. The temperature in the morning hours has remained below 0° C (under 32° F). Mount Hermon is to remain closed over the weekend due to the growing snowstorm and road closures in the region.

Snow has started falling from the morning hours also on the mountains in the Golan Heights where it is expected to reach 20 centimeters (just under 8 inches), and is likewise predicted to spread to the Galilee later in the day where 15 centimeters (just under 6 inches) are anticipated.

January 2016 – FIJI – The small islands of Fulaga, Ogea, Vatoa and Ono-i-Lau are warned to expect destructive storm force winds of up to 140 kilometers an hour. The system, which at its centers has average winds of 150 kilometers an hour and gusts of more than 200 kilometers and hour, is forecast to move southwest between the islands of Kabara and Ono-i-Lau. The cyclone has slowed and by about 10 o'clock tonight it is forecast to get within about 70 kilometers of Ono-i-Lau.

Fiji's education ministry has advised all school evacuation centers to be on standby for immediate activation. Hurricane force winds and phenomenal seas are forecast for the area within 25 kilometers of Ula's centre. Tonga's state of emergency issued for Vava'u and Ha'apai remains in force. The Deputy Prime Minister, Siaosi Sovaleni, who is the Chairman of the National Emergency Management Committee, says Ula caused no casualties. He says almost 400 people had been moved to evacuation centers to protect them against the storm. The director of Tonga Met, 'Ofa Fa'anunu, says forecasters were surprised that Ula sustained its strength. He says had there been more moisture, the cyclone could have developed into a category five

More earthquakes strike California and Oklahoma

Posted on December 30, 2015

December 2015 – CALIFORNIA – A moderate earthquake shook an inland area of Southern California near San Bernardino on Tuesday night, giving a start to thousands across a heavily populated area with more than one person comparing it to a rumbling big rig. There were no immediate reports of damages or injuries, however. The U.S. Geological Survey says in a preliminary report that the magnitude-4.4 quake hit in foothills northwest of San Bernardino about 5:38 p.m. at a depth of about three miles, a report from the U.S. Geological Survey said. Aftershocks of magnitude 3.8 and 3.2 came minutes later, and dozens of tiny aftershocks followed in the next few hours. People reported feeling the earthquake throughout the suburbs east of Los Angeles, which is about 50 miles southwest of the epicenter.

Brenda Torres, 24, a waitress at Papa Tony's Diner in San Bernardino said customers were a bit shook up but kept calm. Nothing in the restaurant rattled or broke and the quake was so short there wasn't even time to take cover under a table. "At first I thought it was a semi-truck that had hit the building or something," Torres said. Laura Melgoza, 23, a college student and cashier at WaBa Grill in San Bernardino, said she and her co-workers headed toward the front of the building as the restaurant shook. "I was just panicking," she said. "It was the biggest one that I've felt." Tim Franke, a dispatch supervisor with the San Bernardino County Fire Department communication center, said there were no reports of damage or injuries, but the shaking was felt "numerous times" at the department.

At least nine have been killed and close to 200 injured after a powerful 6.7-magnitude earthquake hit the eastern Indian state of Manipur, close to the border with Myanmar, according to initial reports coming from the region.

The quake was 55 kilometers (34 miles) deep and centered 29 kilometers west of Imphal, the capital city of the Manipur state, the US Geological Survey has reported. The USGS later revised the quake's magnitude down from 6.8 to 6.7.

India's ANI agency first reported that at least six people had been killed in Manipur.

Increase in activity, strombolian explosions, pyroclastic flows reported at Guatemala's Fuego volcano

Posted on December 31, 2015

December 2015 – GUATEMALA – The activity at Fuego might be picking up towards a new paroxysm (eruptive phase with strongly increased effusion rate, resulting in lava fountaining and lava flows). We camped on the SW side of the volcano last night, and observed mild to strong strombolian explosions that occurred at intervals between 1 and 10 minutes. The strongest explosions sent incandescent material to heights of up to approx. 500 m and similar distances. One particularly intense explosion was accompanied by a very strong shock wave.

Although not seen directly from our location, a pyroclastic flow occurred around 10:15 (local time): we observed the co-ignimbrite ash plume rising from what was likely a collapse of a new lava flow on the southern slope. According to staff at the Panimache volcano observatory, who confirmed our observation, the pyroclastic flow could have reached a length of 7 km and seems to herald the start of the 14th paroxysm of Fuego in 2015... Following the initial sighting of the brownish ash plume, it gradually spread around the whole southern slopes and caused fine ash fall in the area lasting about 2 hours, graying all vegetation.

WASHINGTON – Think you've got enough to worry about with collapsing economy, terrorism, wars and rumors of wars?

Think again.

Have you been paying attention to what appears to be an increase in volcanic activity across the planet?

There's a 5 percent to 10 percent chance in the next 80 years, scientists say, one of these eruptions will kill millions of people and poison the atmosphere beyond the imagination of anything man's activity could do in 1,000 years.

And no one is yet making any plans to deal with the calamitous possibilities.

One more thing – the earth is actually in "volcano season," as a recent study of volcano activity over the last 300 years has revealed.

In a scientific report published in 2015, experts at the European Science Foundation concluded that large volcanic eruptions posed the greatest risk to human survival – greater, in fact, than an asteroid collision with earth, human activity leading to climate change and nuclear war.

RAINIER, Ore. (KOIN) — A widening sinkhole in Rainier has plenty of water running through it but no one knows where it's going — and it's costing ODOT about $10,000 a day to keep it from getting worse.

The sinkhole was spotted December 11, during the record-setting rainstorms that flooded parts of Oregon. It's affecting the back of Earth and Sun stove shop, and co-owner Jewel Forrest said the water is "just going somewhere and they're not sure where and how the damage, what it's really caused."

Tens of thousands of fish were found dead in fish farms in Tai Po's Sam Mun Tsai, their floating bodies scattered across nearly a kilometer of the Tolo Harbour.

A fish culture zone owner in Yim Tin Tsai Village, surnamed Lau, said dead fish started surfacing on Monday, but their number surged on Tuesday, with two to three hundred catties of Sabah Giant Grouper and Green Grouper worth tens of thousands of dollars lost, Apple Daily reported.

A fisherman estimated that over 10,000 Sabah Giant Grouper were found dead across the fish culture zones and Tolo Harbour, with many washed ashore.

Tai Po District Council member Lau Che-shing said at least 10 owners of fish culture zones have reported massive fish kills and sought help from authorities.

SRIKAKULAM: Thousands of carcasses of Olive Ridley turtles washed ashore from Ranasthalam to Ichapuram in Srikakulam district. Fishermen said they have seen innumerable carcasses in seashore villages of Gunupalli, Akkupalli, Dokulapadu, Manchineellapeta and Devunaltada in Vajrapu Kothuru mandal in the district in the last two days.

Srikakulam district fisheries joint director MA Yukub Basha said the turtles had died after they were accidentally trapped by trawlers. "This is the breeding season and the turtles come to the shore to lay eggs. Many of them get trapped in the nets of mechanised boats," he said.

Today, on the coast of Valizas 12 dead sea turtles, rolled in fishing nets found. Ten of them were found on the coast and two in Cabo Polonio National Park. Thanks to the intervention of vacationers, another five could be saved.

The animals are "juvenile green" species, said Alejandro Fallabrino El Pais, director of the NGO Karumbé, which is dedicated to saving sea turtles. They are common in the area and who live near the rocks found on the coast.

Fallabrino said they have already found such dead animals before the Uruguayan coast, but said they were never so many in one day.

He explained that the fishermen leave extended networks, in this case for about three days, which is illegal, since it is not allowed to put such tools as close to the coast. While looking for fish little fish, turtles are caught and die without being able to let go of networks.

The staff we Prefecture and has DINARA (National Directorate of Aquatic Resources) is limited, which can not make a thorough survey to get the networks or to control than on, Fallabrino said.

CHENNAI: In a worrying sign for conservationists, 15 Olive Ridley turtles, an endangered species, have washed ashore dead on Chennai beaches ahead of the nesting season. "There were 11 along Marina beach and four on Elliot's Beach," said Shravan Krishnan, a volunteer with Student Sea Turtle Conservation Network (SSTCN).

Finding so many dead turtles even before nesting has begun is not good, say conservationists. "Last year, we found 300+ turtles washed ashore during the entire season. Hopefully, this year the numbers will be lesser," said SSTCN coordinator V Arun.

The forest department has set up hatcheries near Broken Bridge in Adyar trained more than 60 rangers from nine coastal districts on tracking turtle nests and their relocation as well as on data collection. "Now, there are hatcheries in Besant Nagar and at Kovalam in Kancheepuram district. Over the next few weeks, hatcheries will come up all along the Tamil Nadu coast," said Chennai forest range officer S David Raj.

Sixteen cases of antibiotic-resistant gonorrhea, a sexually transmitted disease, have been reported in the UK, leading the country's chief medical officer to warn of the rise of "super-gonorrhea."

The resistant strain hasn't appeared in the US so far, but there is growing resistance to one of the antibiotics used to treat the sexually transmitted disease (STD). This week's warning from Dame Sally Davies, the UK's chief medical officer, followed a health alert concerning 16 cases in the north of England among heterosexuals.

Intelligence report warns of Russian naval buildup

By Bill Gertz • Published December 29, 2015 • Washington Free Beacon

Following decades of neglect, Russian naval forces are being modernized with advanced submarines and increasingly lethal ballistic and cruise missiles, according to a report by the Office of Naval Intelligence.

The naval buildup includes three new classes of advanced submarines and several new types of warships that the report warns will "provide a flexible platform for Russia to demonstrate offensive capability, threaten neighbors, project power regionally, and advance President Putin's stated goal of returning Russia to clear great power status."

Following the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991, Russia's navy was reduced in size, and many new weapons systems were canceled while weapons were mothballed.

Under Russian leader Vladimir Putin, the navy is getting substantial funding for new weapons systems, with the goal of restoring Soviet-level power by 2020, according to the 68-page December report, "The Russian Navy: A Historic Transition."

The publication seems to be evidence of further U.S. government recognition that Russia, following its military annexation of Ukraine's Crimea last year, is emerging as an elevated strategic threat.

The U.S. aircraft carrier USS Harry S. Truman came about 1,500 yards from an Iranian rocket in the Strait of Hormuz last week, two U.S. military officials told NBC News on Tuesday.

As the Truman was transiting the strait, which connects the Arabian Sea and the Persian Gulf, Iranian Revolutionary Guards conducted a live-fire exercise right near the U.S. carrier Saturday, officials said.

A U.S. military official said an Iranian navy fast and short attack craft began conducting a live-fire exercise at the same time the carrier was nearing the end of the strait, firing off several unguided rockets. A French frigate, the U.S. destroyer USS Buckley and other commercial traffic were also in the area.

As U.S. Focuses on ISIS and the Taliban, Al Qaeda Re-emerges

A Washington state man who purchased a toy airplane for his nephew this Christmas said he was stunned by the recording it played back when powered on.

"My nephew opened a present. We put the batteries in and didn't get what we expected," Bjorn Thorpe told KING-TV. "The plane is supposed to make flying noises and plane noises."

Instead, the plane's speakers played back the verses to an Islamic prayer.

FBI offers $5,000 reward after bacon found at Vegas mosque

Published December 31, 2015 • Associated Press

(Masjid Tawheed via Fox 5)

The FBI is offering a $5,000 reward for information that helps them find the person who put raw bacon on the door handles of a Las Vegas mosque.

The FBI said in a statement Wednesday that agents are trying to find the man seen in a surveillance video putting the meat on the entrances of the Masjid-e-Tawheed mosque. Authorities call it a desecration of the Islamic worship center.

The Quran, the holy book of Islam, prohibits Muslims from eating pork, and pigs have been used to taunt or offend Muslims.

Here Is Your New Muslim Postage Stamp, America

2 JANUARY, 2016

(The Daily Caller) It's a brand new year, America, and the U.S. Postal Service has just introduced its annual batch of 2016 stamps. Among the stamps is a purple-and-gold stamp celebrating the two most significant festivals in Islam: Eid al-Fitr and Eid al-Adha. The stamp's gold calligraphy (by Mohamed Zakaria of Arlington, Va.) reads Eidukum mumbarak, which translates as: "May your Eid be bountiful (or blessed)."

Your next life changing moment Awaits you in the land of the bible

Eid al-Adha occurs in the autumn and honors Abraham's willingness to sacrifice his son on God's command. As part of the holiday, Muslims who can afford it are expected to sacrifice their best domestic animal (cow, goat, camel, sheep, etc., depending on the region).

President Barack Obama announced two years ago he would curtail eavesdropping on friendly heads of state after the world learned the reach of long-secret U.S. surveillance programs.

But behind the scenes, the White House decided to keep certain allies under close watch, current and former U.S. officials said. Topping the list was Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu.

Scientists who have long been puzzled by the origins of Earth's water are beginning to believe it originated deep inside of the planet—just like the Bible describes.

Where did our planet's water come from? This question remains a hotly-debated issue among geologists and astronomers, who concede that it is still largely a mystery. Evolutionists who believe the Earth was originally a hot molten sphere abounding with toxic gases have struggled to make sense of the abundance of water currently on our planet.

"Water is so vital to our survival, but strangely enough, we don't know the first thing about it—literally the first," wrote Brian Greene in a "Smithsonian Magazine" article. "Where does water, a giver and taker of life on planet Earth, come from?"

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, a basket of 30 stocks, lost 2.2% in 2015, while the broader S&P 500 fell 0.7%.

The S&P's loss ended three years of double-digit gains for the index, but was far from the nearly 40% dive it took in 2008, a year of financial crisis.

Retired Pastor James McConnell is waiting to see if his next sermon will be given from a prison pulpit. His crime? On May 18, 2014, the 79-year-old pastor, speaking at the church he founded in Belfast, Ireland, preached a sermon on 1 Timothy 2:5: "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus."

Pastor McConnell says he wrote that sermon to protest "... the terrible injustice done to a young Muslim woman named Miriam Ibrahim who was converted to Christianity and for marrying a Christian man. Miriam Ibrahim was pregnant and was to receive eighty lashes and possibly martyrdom."

As WND previously reported, McConnell stated in part of his sermon, "Islam's ideas about God, about humanity, about salvation are vastly different from the teaching of the Holy Scriptures. Islam is heathen. Islam is satanic. Islam is a doctrine spawned in hell."

Oregon bakery owners pay more than $135G in damages over refusal to make cake for gay wedding

Published December 29, 2015 • FoxNews.com

The owners of an Oregon bakery who denied service to a same-sex couple have paid more than $135,000 in state-ordered damages – months after refusing to do so – according to state officials Monday.

Aaron Klein, co-owner of Sweet Cakes, by Melissa, dropped a check off for $136,927.07, according to the Bureau of Labor and Industries. The payment includes interest. Klein also paid $7,000 earlier this month.

Damages were award in July for emotional suffering caused by the bakery which refused to make a wedding cake for Laurel and Rachel Bowman-Cryer more than two years ago. The bakers said they refused to make the cake because of their religious beliefs.

The dispute goes back to January 2013 when Bowman-Cryer came into the shop with her mother for a cake-tasting appointment. However, Aaron Klein told the women that the bakery didn't do cakes for same-sex weddings. The women filed complaints with the state and triggered a national debate over claims of religious beliefs against anti-discrimination laws.

Labor Commissioner Brad Avakian awarded the damages nearly six months ago, saying the owners had violated the women's civil rights by discriminating on the basis of their sexual orientation. They were also slapped with a gag order that prohibited them from speaking publicly about their refusal to participate in or bake wedding cakes for same-sex marriages.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. — A Pennsylvania junior high school is moving a Ten Commandments stone monolith from its campus after a $64,000 court battle resulted in a judge ruling the display unconstitutional.

"It doesn't matter what the cost was, it was a fight that needed to be fought," David Show, organizer with the group Thou Shall Not Move, told the Pittsburgh Tribune-Review. "That's something that should not be a problem in our schools."

Show and others rallied to keep the 3,000-pound Ten Commandments stone monolith at Connelssville Junior High after Connelssville Area School District officials initially covered it with plywood in response to a complaint from the Wisconsin-based Freedom From Religion Foundation in the 2012-13 school year, according to the news site.

Amid public backlash, school officials reversed their original plans to move the 4 ½ foot monument to another location, and FFRF sued to get its way. The monolith and numerous others like it were donated to schools by the Fraternal Order of the Eagles in the late 1950s in response to the movie "The Ten Commandments."

The Connelssville monument has stood in front of the school since 1957 — nearly 60 years — and FFRF filed the complaint on behalf of a student who was apparently offended by its presence but no longer attends the school.

Homosexual Group Wants Govt to Release Names of Schools 'Using Faith as Guise for Discrimination'

By Heather Clark on January 4, 2016 · 66 Comments

A prominent homosexual advocacy group is calling upon the U.S. Department of Education to release the names of religious schools that it believes are "using faith as a guise for discrimination" by seeking exemptions from a federal law that has recently been interpreted to pertain to homosexuality and transgenderism.

"There is an alarming and growing trend of schools quietly seeking the right to discriminate against LGBT students, and not disclosing that information publicly," said Human Rights Campaign (HRC) President Chad Griffin in a statement. "We believe that religious liberty is a bedrock principle of our nation, however faith should never be used as a guise for discrimination."

Churches to provide shelter to illegal immigrants

By Anna Giaritelli • Published December 28, 2015

Fifty churches throughout the U.S. have said they will shelter illegal immigrants seeking sanctuary from upcoming raids by Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

The Sanctuary movement, a political and religious group that works to protect those who illegally entered the U.S. to escape violence and economic instability in Central America, said over the weekend that its network of congregations will welcome any individual who fears he or she will be retargeted for deportation.

The announcement came after a report that the Department of Homeland Security's immigration wing ICE was planning a January crackdown on individuals who had previously evaded deportation.

Out of more than 100,000 people who traveled from Central America to the U.S. over the past year, less than 1,000 will be targeted in the raids.
