وأیضا لا اقصد ان اخيف أحد بل من يخاف هو لا يثق في مواعيد الرب

سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقرب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة
بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لأنه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي المسيح في زمنه
ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

أولا لكيلا نرتاع

انجيل متى 24

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

Orthodox Easter was celebrated across the world Sunday with a fire ceremony, roasted lamb, cakes and street processions through the streets of Bethlehem and Jerusalem.

Protestants and Roman Catholics celebrated Easter in March, according to the Gregorian calendar, to commemorate the day followers believe Jesus was resurrected more than 2,000 years ago. But Eastern Orthodox churches celebrate this week, following the older Julian calendar.

In Jerusalem, at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre — built where Jesus was crucified and resurrected — priests entered a small chamber marking his tomb and emerged with "holy fire." In a ceremony that dates back at least 1,200 years, they shared the flames with the faithful who used candles to pass it from person to person until the light filled the streets outside.

Worshippers, some carrying crosses, walked the 14 stations of the cross, along streets lined with hundreds of Israeli security forces deployed to regulate the flow of people, according to the Daily Mail.

Patriarch Theophilos of Jerusalem also handed the flame to delegations who took it to Orthodox churches around the world. A Greek delegation, led by Deputy Foreign Minister Yiannis Amanatidis, took it to Athens Saturday, and from there to more than a dozen locations around the country, according to Greek news outlet Kathimerini.

Fireworks are an essential part of the festivities in Greece, despite official disapproval from the Greek Orthodox Church. On the eastern Greek Aegean island of Chios, two parishes in the village of Vrontados staged a spectacular mock war with a hail of fireworks, drawing visitors from across the country, according to the Associated Press.

'Holy Fire,' fireworks: Orthodox Christians celebrate Easter

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PUBLISHED: 16:01 GMT, 1 May 2016 | UPDATED: 16:03 GMT, 1 May 2016

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — With "Holy Fire," fireworks and solemn Masses, Orthodox Christians around the world celebrated Easter on Sunday, commemorating the day followers believe that Jesus was resurrected more than 2,000 years ago.

Roman Catholics and Protestants marked Easter in March, in accordance with the Gregorian calendar. Eastern Orthodox churches celebrated Easter this week, using the older Julian calendar.

Russian President Vladimir Putin and Prime Minister Dmitry Medvedev attended an Easter midnight Mass in Moscow's Christ the Savior Cathedral. Patriarch Kirill of Moscow, head of the world's largest Orthodox Church, officiated at the service, attended by some 5,000.

In Greece, the faithful attended Easter Mass holding candles lit with "Holy Fire" from the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. The "Holy Fire," coming from the Edicule, the small chamber marking the site of Jesus' tomb, is held by the faithful to miraculously light candles as a message to the faithful from heaven.

The fire was transferred to Greece by plane and, as custom dictates, welcomed at Athens airport with the honors due a visiting foreign head of state, before taken across the country by plane so it could reach the furthest parishes before midnight Sunday.

The "Holy Fire" was also transported to Russia and other Orthodox nations.

BRITAIN ON SNOW ALERT: UK to freeze in -5C TODAY as April blasted back to winter

BRITAIN is on Arctic freeze alert with up to four inches of snow and bitter gales expected to hit parts of the country TODAY.

By NATHAN RAO

02:20, Tue, Apr 26, 2018 | UPDATED: 09:30, Tue, Apr 26, 2018

The UK is set for a brutal cold snap this week with temperatures plummeting below zero

Severe weather warnings are in place for wintry showers in Scotland and the north with much of the country expecting the odd flurry.

Britain will be blasted back into winter throughout the week despite May being just around the corner.

Coastal regions and exposed communities are braced for chilling 60mph gales with hail, snow and thunder threatening to pile on the misery.

South Mississippi Hit by Flash Floods After 254 mm of Rain – Gulfport Declares Emergency

Parts of South Mississippi experienced flash flooding yesterday after a storm system struck in the early hours of Thursday, 28 April, 2016, dumping as much as 10 inches (254mm) of rain in just a few hours.

Gulfport, Biloxi and D'Iberville have been hardest hit. Around 20 homes and businesses have been flooded in Gulfport, where emergency crews carried out over 70 flood rescues. The Red Cross has set up shelters for those evacuated.

Gulfport's mayor, Billy Hewes, has declared a State of Emergency for the city. In a statement of 28 April, he said:

"With today's unprecedented weather event, dropping over 10 inches of rain this morning with continued accumulation anticipated over the course of the day, resulting in widespread flooding throughout the City of Gulfport, I am hereby declaring a State of Emergency. Monitoring the storm since early this morning, our crews are at work responding to storm drain blockages, water rescues, road closures, and emergency calls. If you are experiencing or are aware of situations needing critical attention, please call 311 for non-emergencies, and 911 for emergencies. We urge citizens to continue to use extreme caution, and not venture out unless necessary."

Hail the size of grapefruits struck Nebraska and Kansas Tuesday. How does hail get that large?

By Ben Guarino April 27

Some Kansas residents saw "grapefruit-sized" hail rain down on April 26, while other Midwestern states were pummeled by hail of all sizes. Here's a look at some of the large hail stones that hit this week. (Jenny Starrs/The Washington Post)

A storm raged above the Midwest and central United States on Tuesday, bringing with it flood warnings, fierce winds, two confirmed tornadoes — and hail. Lots of hail.

By late afternoon, the sky began dropping icy stones the size of grapefruits, smashing into roofs and threatening to damage agricultural crops. The hail was not reported to have caused injuries — but fruit-sized ice gobs do not go down

According to the National Weather Service, there were numerous reports of a wall cloud from southern Putnam County through Hendricks and Morgan counties. And while there were reports of a tornado near Indianapolis International Airport, the NWS said there was no confirmation of a tornado.

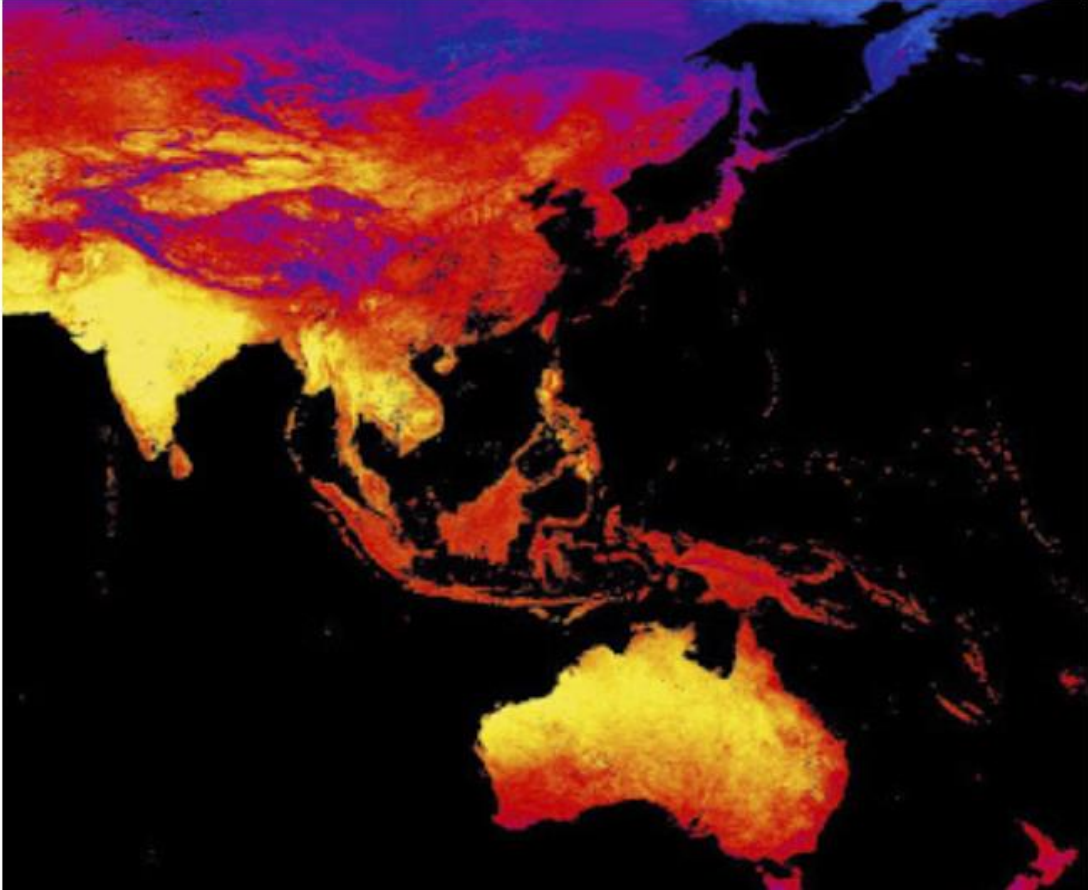

The airport did have a gust of 70 mph Sunday night. The storm was primarily a large hail/flooding event with rotating storms. An NWS survey team may go to Darlington/Linden to confirm reports of a tornado in the area.

Strong 6.0 magnitude earthquake rocks Mexico's Southern Coast

Posted on April 28, 2016

April 2016 – MEXICO – A magnitude-6.0 earthquake rocked Mexico's southern coast on Wednesday, but no injuries or damage were reported, the National Seismology Service said. "After monitoring all of the state, no effects have been detected so far from the earthquake that occurred a few minutes ago," the Chiapas state emergency management office said in a Twitter post. The epicenter of the earthquake, which hit at 7:51 a.m., was in the Pacific about 122 kilometers (nearly 76 miles) southwest of Huixtla, a town in Chiapas, and at a depth of 20 kilometers (12.4 miles).

The inspection protocol for natural disasters has been activated, the emergency management office said. Mexico, one of the countries with the highest levels of seismic activity in the world, sits on the North American tectonic plate and is surrounded by three other plates in the Pacific: the Rivera microplate, at the mouth of the Gulf of California; the Pacific plate; and the Cocos plate.

The Cocos tectonic plate stretches from Colima state south and has the potential to cause the most damage since it affects Mexico City, which has a population of 20 million and was constructed over what was once Lake Texcoco. In September 2015, Mexico City's government activated the Seismic Warning System to mark the 30th anniversary of the temblor that devastated the capital. The magnitude-8.1 earthquake that hit Mexico City on Sept. 19, 1985, was the most destructive to ever hit Mexico, killing some 10,000 people,

Posted on April 29, 2018

April 2016 – VANUATU – A large earthquake has hit near Vanuatu, but initial fears that it could generate large tsunami waves appear to have passed. The quake was 10km deep and hit shortly after 7:30am, NZ time. It had a preliminary magnitude of 7.3, but that had since been revised to 7.0. By 9:30am NZ time the Center had updated its information to say the tsunami threat had mostly passed.

The quake was centered about 95km southeast of the town of Santo, USGS said. A spokesman at Vanuatu's Bauerfield International Airport in Port Vila said the quake did not feel major. "It was just a small one," he said. The quake had not disrupted flights and the spokesman said he was not aware of any damage. Friday's quake was the fifth this year measuring magnitude 7 or more. Only about 15 strike the planet on average every year. The biggest quakes were in Ecuador, on April 16, and Sumatra a month earlier. Both measured magnitude 7.8. More than 650 people died in the Ecuador quake. –Stuff

PHOENIX (KPHO/KTVK) - More small earthquakes shook northwest Arizona Sunday adding to the list of temblors that have struck the area since March 29.

The Arizona Geological Survey said two quakes occurred, including a magnitude 2.6 quake at 12:07 a.m.

One of Africa's most active volcanoes is showing new signs of life

May 2016 – AFRICA – In the early morning of Feb. 29, park officials, tourists and locals near Mount Nyiragongo in the Democratic Republic of Congo heard an unfamiliar sound: rumbling. What they were hearing was the sound of earthquakes deep below the surface. The movement knocked giant rocks off of the crater walls. And at the same time, a new vent appeared on a ledge. Since that day, the vent explodes about every 30 seconds, throwing lava up to 90 feet in the air. Most of that lava flows back into the volcano, while the rest of it cools in the crater itself.

It's beautiful, but it's also a troubling reminder of a 14-year-old catastrophe. The last time the volcano erupted — in 2002 — it killed 147 people and forced 400,000 people to flee the nearby city of Goma. The eruption effectively split Goma in two, destroying a third of the city. Lava even covered about 80 percent of the airstrips at Goma International Airport, making it almost impossible to evacuate people or get outside aid to survivors. Just like back in 2002, the threat facing Goma today isn't an explosion, but a fast-moving river

Fish breeders incur losses of RM1 million due to El Nino

TAIPING: About 10 caged-fish breeders in Sungai Sangga Besar and Kuala Sepetang near here have claimed losses of more than RM1 million due to the current hot and dry weather brought on by the El Nino phenomenon.

The breeders' representative, who only wanted to be known as Lee, said about 200,000 'tilapia', grouper and sea bass had died on Sunday.

"When we went to our farms that day, we found dead fish floating in the ponds," he told Bermama.

Apart from the hot weather, Lee said, lack of oxygen could have also killed the fish. — Bermama

WHO issues yellow fever warning as deadly outbreak grows

By Kate Kelland and Stephanie Nebehay

April 26, 2016

By Kate Kelland and Stephanie Nebehay

LONDON/GENEVA, April 26 (Reuters) - Amid rising concern over a deadly outbreak of yellow fever spreading from Angola, the World Health Organization on Tuesday urged travelers to the African country to heed its warnings and get vaccinated.

At least 258 people have been killed and there have been around 1,975 suspected cases of the mosquito-borne disease since an epidemic erupted in December 2015. It has already grown to become the worst outbreak in decades.

Yellow fever is transmitted by the same mosquitoes that spread the Zika and dengue viruses, although it is a far more serious disease with death rates as high as 75 percent in severe cases requiring admission to hospital.

Angola's outbreak has already spread to other countries in Africa, including the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), and at least 11 cases of yellow fever have been imported into China in people traveling from Angola.

"Cases of yellow fever linked to this outbreak have been detected in other countries of Africa and Asia," WHO director-general Margaret Chan said in a statement.

Nowhere in the U.S. has been hit harder by the Zika outbreak than Puerto Rico, where 570 people have been diagnosed with the virus, including 48 pregnant women.

The true number of Zika cases in Puerto Rico, where the virus is spreading among local mosquitoes, could be much greater. Only about one in five people with Zika develop symptoms, so most of those with the virus are unaware they've been infected, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Although 426 travelers in the continental U.S. have been diagnosed with Zika after visiting an outbreak zone, the virus is not yet spreading among local mosquitoes on the mainland.

Doctors worry most about the dozens of pregnant women in Puerto Rico who have been infected with Zika, which causes catastrophic birth defects and has been linked to rare cases of paralysis.

Secretary of Health and Human Services Sylvia Mathews Burwell, who just returned from a two-day visit to Puerto Rico, said her department has awarded $5 million to 20 health centers in Puerto Rico. The money will help expand family planning services, including contraception, outreach and education.

A strange birth defect is on the rise in the United States, and scientists are at a loss to explain it.

Gastroschisis is a birth defect that causes a baby's intestines to protrude outside of his/her body, through a hole in the abdominal wall beside the belly button. Sometimes this hole is very small, but it can also be quite large, and other organs such as the stomach and liver can extend from the baby's body.

It was the seventh successful flight test of the revolutionary glider, which travels at speeds between 4,000 and 7,000 miles per hour.

U.S. intelligence officials have assessed that China plans to use the glider to deliver nuclear weapons through increasingly sophisticated missile defenses. The DF-ZF also could be used as part of a conventional strategic strike weapon capable of hitting targets around the world within an hour.

Pentagon spokesman Cmdr. Bill Urban declined to comment on the latest DF-ZF flight test. "But we do monitor Chinese military modernization carefully," Urban said.

Rep. Randy Forbes (R., Va.), chairman of the House Armed Services subcommittee on seapower, said China's hypersonic missile tests are a concern.

"China's repeated test of a hypersonic glide vehicle demonstrates Beijing is committed to upending both the conventional military and nuclear balance, with grave implications for the stability of Asia," Forbes told the Washington Free Beacon.

A Russian MiG-31 jet flew within 50 feet of a U.S. surveillance aircraft in Northeast Asia last week, Moscow's latest aerial saber-rattling against American ships and planes, according to defense officials.

"On April 21, a U.S. Navy P-8 Maritime Patrol reconnaissance aircraft flying a routine mission in international airspace was intercepted by a MiG-31 Russian jet in the vicinity of the Kamchatka Peninsula," Cmdr. Dave Benham, a spokesman for the Pacific Command, told the Washington Free Beacon.

Benham said the intercept was "characterized as safe and professional."

"Intercepts between the United States and other militaries occur often and the vast majority are professional," he noted. "For intercepts that are deemed unprofessional, the U.S. takes appropriate measures through military and diplomatic channels."

A defense official familiar with the MiG-31 intercept said the jet flew within 50 feet of the P-8, a maritime patrol and anti-submarine warfare aircraft.

The incident took place near the Russian city of Petropavlovsk-Kamchatsky, a port located on the southeastern end of the peninsula.

Kamchatka is Russia's main military hub in the Pacific and the focus of a buildup of Russian military forces that Moscow has said is intended to match the U.S. military rebalance to Asia.

Several military bases are located there, along with a major naval base. The peninsula is also the main impact range for Russian missile flight tests launched from the central part of the country.

'All Belgians to get iodine pills' in case of nuclear accident

Brussels (AFP) - Belgium is to provide iodine pills to its entire population of around 11 million people to protect against radioactivity in case of a nuclear accident, the health minister was quoted as saying Thursday.

The move comes as Belgium faces growing pressure from neighbouring Germany to shutter two ageing nuclear power plants near their border due to concerns over their safety.

Iodine pills, which help reduce radiation build-up in the thyroid gland, had previously only been given to people living within 20 kilometres (14 miles) of the Tihange and Doel nuclear plants.

OBAMA TO SEND 250 MORE TROOPS TO SYRIA

Published: 1 day ago

(REUTERS) President Barack Obama announced on Monday the biggest expansion of U.S. ground troops in Syria since the civil war there began, saying he would dispatch 250 special forces soldiers to help local militia to build on successes against Islamic State.

The new deployment increases U.S. forces in Syria six-fold to about 300. While the total U.S. ground force is still small by comparison to other American deployments, defense experts said it could help shift the momentum in Syria by giving more Syrian fighters on the ground access to U.S. close air support.

Announcing the decision in Germany at the end of a six-day foreign tour, Obama said the move followed on victories over Islamic State that clawed back territory from the hard-line Sunni Islamist group.

UN rejects Israel's claim over Syria's Golan Heights

Security Council says status of the Golan will not change after Netanyahu vows it will remain part of Israeli territory.

27 Apr 2016 02:44 GMT | Golan Heights, Israel, Syria's Civil War, Benjamin Netanyahu, Middle East

The UN Security Council has rejected Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's claim that the annexed Golan Heights in Syria would "for ever" remain under Israeli control.

The 15-member council agreed on Tuesday that the status of the Golan, which Israel seized from Syria in 1967, "remains unchanged", Chinese Ambassador Liu Jieyi, who holds this month's council presidency said.

Liu recalled a 1981 resolution which states that Israel's "decision to impose its laws, jurisdiction and administration in the occupied Syrian Golan Heights was nul and void and without any international legal effect."

Liu said that the Council members "expressed deep concern" over Netanyahu's remarks from earlier this month that "the Golan Heights will remain in the hands of Israel for ever."

Israeli intelligence officials are concerned that an ISIS terrorist cell operating in the southern Golan Heights - along the border with Israel - has obtained chemical weapons.

According to a Channel 10 report, Israel is hunting the cell, located on the Syrian side of the border, amid fears the jihadists have imminent plans to use the chemical weapons in their possession.

The report added that the jihadists are not believed to be planning on using the chemical agents against Israel, but against their enemies inside Syria, of which there are no shortages. ISIS in Syria is currently fighting a multi-pronged war against the Assad regime, rival jihadists from Al Qaeda, other Syrian rebels, and, in northern Syria, against Kurdish forces.

UK Labour Party MP Naz Shah has declared that all Israeli Jews should be "relocated" to the United States. She even suggested that the British government could pay for the "transportation costs" of removing Jews from the Middle East.

Her statements were uncovered by the website Guido Fawkes, which found a number of social media posts, including one that claimed the total cost would be "less than 3 years of defense spending," to which she added the phrase "problem solved."

Human extinction risks: people more likely to die in an extinction event than a car crash

Posted on April 30, 2016

April 2016 – GLOBAL CATAclysms – Nuclear war. Climate change. Pandemics that kill tens of millions. These are the most viable threats to globally organized civilization. They're the stuff of nightmares and blockbusters—but unlike sea monsters or zombie viruses, they're real, part of the calculus that political leaders consider everyday. And according to a new report from the U.K.-based Global Challenges Foundation, they're much more likely than we might think.

In its annual report on "global catastrophic risk," the nonprofit debuted a startling statistic: Across the span of their lives, the average American is more than five times likelier to die during a human-extinction event than in a car crash. Partly that's because the average person will probably not die in an automobile accident. Every year, one in 9,395 people die in a crash; that translates to about a 0.01 percent chance per year. But that chance compounds over the course of a lifetime. At life-long scales, one in 120 Americans die in an accident.

LOOK: Soccer club in Argentina embedding microchips in fans

By Roger Gonzalez / Soccer Writer

April 26, 2016 10:56 AM ET

It what is one of the weirdest, most unbelievable soccer stories in quite a while, an Argentine soccer club says it will be providing season tickets through a chip that is implanted into a person's arm. Really. Tigre announced its "Passion Ticket" on Twitter on Monday.

— Club Atlético Tigre (@catigreoficial) April 25, 2016

Through a chip implanted in the body with all the information of the season ticket holder, the fan can enter the stadium by only moving close to the ticket scanner. This will read the information of the implanted chip, and if the fan has their payments up to date, the security gate will open to provide access to the corresponding section of the stadium.

As you can imagine, fans of the club are doubting the validity of the tweet, wondering why something like fingerprints won't be used, why go to the length of implanting chips? Argentine soccer isn't loaded with money, especially a small club like Tigre, so it makes little sense and I'm still not convinced it is true, but that's what the club is saying at the moment.

That is so weird. But is it as weird as Lionel Messi being filmed eating breakfast with a fork when the only person who would use that utensil to eat a cracker covered in dulce de leche is Mr. Pitt from Seinfeld?

Syrian refugees arrive in Europe. Another 10,000 are set to arrive in the U.S. this year and at least that many in 2017. But now the U.N. is concocting a plan with the Obama administration that will lead to many more than 10,000 finding their way to the U.S.

President Obama and Congress have agreed to fund the permanent resettlement of 10,000 Syrian refugees, but the number of Syrians entering the U.S. over the next three years will end up being much larger.

Kenya's government announced it will start building a wall that will stretch almost 435 miles along its northeastern border with Somalia as a means of slowing the crossing of terrorists affiliated with the group al-Shabaab.

"This will help us check on people like al-Shabaab from crossing to and from Somalia," said Kenya's Interior Cabinet Secretary Joseph Nkaissery, Defense News reported. "We will not limit movement of other people. There is a need for joint cooperation between both countries and our leaders in dealing with terrorism, which has affected us negatively."

Suicide Rates Surging Higher in U.S.

By Dyanne Weiss on April 24, 2016 - 1 Comment

The reasons vary from being middle-aged and unemployed in a tight economy to teen relationship or schooling angst. Regardless of the circumstances driving them, more Americans are losing hope and killing themselves. In fact, according to the government, suicide rates in the U.S. are surging higher and now at their highest point in 30 years, 13 per 100,000 people.

Deaths from suicide in the country have increased 24 percent from 1999 to 2014, according to researchers at the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and are the 10th leading cause of death. In 2014 alone, more than 42,000 Americans despaired enough to kill themselves. The real rate is probably higher since many suicides are labeled as accidents.

 Updated: Apr 28, 2015 3:34 PM MDT

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - A life-size replica of the Bible's Noah's Ark - larger than a football field and holding 5,000 people - will eventually dock in Southern California, the director of a Pasadena-based Christian foundation said Wednesday.

Ark Of Noah Foundation - Facebook

Dutch carpenter Johan Huibers built the massive, five-floor ship four years ago in the Netherlands as a religious attraction and, in partnership with the Ark of Noah Foundation, is raising money to fund a world voyage.

The 410-foot, 2,500-ton facsimile is expected to travel by barge this summer 5,000 miles across the Atlantic Ocean, from the Netherlands to Brazil, stopping afterward at ports in Long Beach, San Diego, San Francisco and Seattle, according to Herald A.M.A. Janssen, the director of the foundation.

"We cannot promise how long it will take, but we will come to California," Janssen said. "You get the feeling that a lot of people and animals can fit on this boat."

Huibers' ark was designed as an interactive museum and event center, based on the Bible story of a man who is instructed by God to build a vessel which saves his family and pairs of all the world's animals from a catastrophic, months-long flood.

In line with the story, the ark includes life-size models of giraffes, elephants, lions, crocodiles

China must be on guard against foreign infiltration through religion and stop "extremists" spreading their ideology, President Xi Jinping told a top-level meeting on managing religion, state media reported on Sunday.

China must also manage the Internet to promote the Communist Party's religious theories and policies, the official Xinhua news agency cited Xi as saying.

"We must resolutely resist overseas infiltration through religious means and guard against ideological infringement by extremists," Xi was quoted as saying at a two-day national working conference on religion that ended on Saturday.

The ruling Communist Party says it protects freedom of religion, but it keeps a tight rein on religious activities

A U.S. Department of Education is instructing educators to be aware of bullying of Muslim students and to "include Islam" in their classroom lesson plans and discussions. Nothing was mentioned about Christian or Jewish victims of bullying, resulting in charges of favoritism.

The U.S. Department of Education has posted instructions to educators on its website imploring them to be aware of their responsibilities to protect Muslim students from "bullying."

The DOE post urged teachers to "be sure to include Islam" in classroom discussions during "social studies, current events, children's literature."

The post is seen as so inflammatory by some Christian groups that a Change.org petition drive has been launched demanding the DOE "halt its efforts to Islamize school children."

Virginia-based Christian Action Network announced it is collecting petitions to present to U.S. Secretary of Education John B. King Jr.

North Carolina State University says it wants to "create that inclusive, welcoming environment." In other words, the only way to be truly inclusive and welcoming is to shut down the Christians and shove them into a closet.

A permit is required before students can talk about Jesus at North Carolina State University, according to a lawsuit filed in federal court.

Grace Christian Life, a registered student group at NC State, filed suit over a policy requiring a permit for any kind of student speech or communication anywhere on campus – including religious speech.

In September 2015, the student group was told that without a permit, they must stop approaching other students inside the student union to engage in religious discussions or invite them to attend group events.

The woman had recently decided to forego all treatments for her Hodgkins Lymphoma cancer after only two rounds of a new drug.

"And the choices I had to make after that were so hard. I decided that I was done with all treatments and that I just wanted to live the rest of my life feeling good. God gave me peace about my decision he told me to just be still in my presence and trust me. So I did and it was hard," she posted to Instagram. "I have known since the first day I was diagnosed that I wouldn't die from this cancer and 9 years later and after being in remission many times I was still fighting for my life. I was scared Gods promises weren't real."

Corrections and clarifications: A previous version of this story incorrectly referenced North Carolina's transgender bathroom law. It requires transgender individuals to use public restrooms associated with the sex on their birth certificate.

A conservative Christian activist group has gained more than half a million signatures and counting from people pledging to boycott Target over its transgender bathroom policy.

As part of the ongoing debate regarding which public bathrooms transgender individuals should use, the Target chain of retail stores came out publicly to welcome any transgender guests or employees to use the bathroom of the gender with which they self-identified.

The public position taken by Target stood in stark contrast to that held by a majority of the American people, resulting in a fierce backlash against the retailer and a growing boycott of roughly three-quarters of a million people vowing to never shop at the store again.

According to BizPac Review, a statement released by Target in response to the boycott seemingly recognized the trouble they have brought upon themselves, yet unexpectedly doubled down on its “inclusive” policies that were actually viewed as rather exclusive to most people.

RALEIGH, N.C. (CBSNewYork/AP) — Rhetorical skirmishes continued Tuesday in North Carolina over a law limiting protections for LGBT people, as Democrats criticized a Republican's plea to "keep our state straight."

The criticism came a day after dueling demonstrations drew thousands of protesters for and against the law, ending with the arrests of 54 people voicing their opposition to the law in the Legislative Building.

Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam

Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam signed into law a bill that underscores the rights of therapists, counselors and other mental-health professionals to refuse clients with issues they believe violate their personally held convictions and beliefs – but some say the measure was a back-door attempt to undercut the current LGBT community's demand for certain rights.

THE MOST

As BuzzFeed reported, the American Counseling Association criticized the measure as conflicting with the field's code of ethics because it appeared to target and discriminate against LGBT individuals. And an online petition that generated 42,738 supporters before closing called on Tennessee to "don't deny LGBTQ folks mental health care!"

By Laretta Brown | April 25, 2016 | 12:41 PM EDT

(CNSNews.com) – Merriam-Webster, the leading publisher of dictionaries in the United States, added over 2,000 new words and phrases to their unabridged dictionary last week, including the terms "cisgender," "genderqueer," and the gender neutral title "Mx."

The Merriam-Webster definition of cisgender is "of, relating to, or being a person whose gender identity corresponds with the sex the person had or was identified as having at birth."

Genderqueer is defined as "of, relating to, or being a person whose gender identity cannot be categorized as solely male or female."

"The gender-neutral Mx. is used as a title for those who do not identify as being of a particular gender, or for people who simply don't want to be identified by gender," according to Merriam-Webster.

A woman says she caught a man trying to record her undressing in the Sawgrass Mills Mall in Sunrise, FL, according to a Local 10 report.

Candace Brenn was trying on swimsuits in Forever 21 when she noticed the end of someone's shoe from the room next door poking out. Something shiny on the edge of shoe then got her thinking.

"It's nasty. It's disgusting. I don't understand why some people would do that," Brenn told Local 10. "I glance down and I notice that it's a camera lens on the top of this man's shoe, and I really was just beside myself."

Once she realized it was a camera lens, Brenn went to confront the man with store employees.

Alabama city passes transgender bathroom ordinance

The Associated Press

OXFORD, ALA. — People in an Alabama city who use public restrooms intended for a gender other than what is listed on their birth certificate will be punished under an ordinance officials passed this week.

Oxford City Council President Steven Waits was quoted by news media outlets as saying the ordinance was a response to a new policy announced by Target Corp. last week allowing transgender employees and shoppers to use the restroom that matches their gender identity. There is a Target store in the Oxford Exchange shopping center.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — A House committee in Alabama has approved a bill that would abolish the use of marriage licenses in the state and end solemnization requirements, a move that some believe will remove Alabama from the argument over same-sex nuptials.

Sen. Greg Albritton, R-Bay Minette, introduced S.B. 143 in February, which states that one of its purposes is to “abolish the requirement that a marriage license be issued by the judge of probate and replace existing state statutory marriage law with a statutory contract for marriage.”

“All requirements to obtain a marriage license by the State of Alabama are hereby abolished and repealed.

The requirement of a ceremony of marriage to solemnized the marriage is abolished,” it reads in part.
