اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا لا اقصد ان اخيف أحد بل من يخاف هو لا يثق في مواعيد الرب

هذفي فقط أن نذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل

ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر هذه الظلمة

وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه او من منا سيسلم وديعته في أي وقت. بمعنى نحتاج من

الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا

لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة

لان وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذاري انه لن يكون هناك

أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان
سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة
بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لأنه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي المسيح في زمنه
ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَأَن تُوْمِنُونَ.

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَاَنْتَصِبُوا وَاَرْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ».

Stargazers are preparing for the annual display of cosmic fireworks set to peak tonight, illuminating skies with a particularly impressive "outburst" not seen since 2009.

This year's Perseid meteor shower is expected to consist of an unusually high number of shooting stars, according to Bill Cooke from NASA's Meteoroid Environments Office.

"Forecasters are predicting a Perseid outburst this year with double normal rates on the night of August 11-12. Under perfect conditions, rates could soar to 200 meteors per hour," he said.

Atlantic may spawn as many as 8 hurricanes by season's end

By Brian K. Sullivan | BLOOMBERG NEWS AUGUST 12, 2016

The Atlantic basin will see the most named storms since the 2012 season, the year Sandy crossed the East Coast, with five to eight of those strengthening into hurricanes by Nov. 30, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration predicted.

NOAA increased its outlook to 12 to 17 named storms with winds of at least 39 miles per hour in the Atlantic after the end of El Nino, which can produce winds that damage systems, according to a forecast released Thursday. Two to four storms could grow into major hurricanes with winds of at least 74 miles per hour.

More than 6.6 million homes with an estimated reconstruction cost of $1.5 trillion lie in vulnerable areas along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, according to the Insurance Information Institute in New York.

At the start of the hurricane season in June, NOAA predicted 10 to 16 named storms, with four to eight becoming hurricanes. There were 19 named storms in 2012.

Five storms have developed in the Atlantic this year, including Alex, the first January hurricane in the basin since 1938.

At Least 2 Dead in Louisiana Flooding; Evacuations and Rescues Ongoing as Rivers Rise Toward Record Crests

Published: Aug 13 2016 10:30 AM EDT | By Ada Carr | weather.com

More than 30 Inches of Rain in Deadly Flooding

Three people have died in flooding in Louisiana. More rain is in the forecast.

Story Highlights

At least three people has died and one has gone missing in severe flooding that has swamped a large swath of southeastern Louisiana and southern Mississippi.

Louisiana Gov. John Bel Edwards has declared a state of emergency.

This Has Been The Worst 12 Months For Floods In U.S. History

By Michael Snyder, on August 15th, 2016

Since last October, the United States has been hit by "historic flood" after "historic flood", and this latest flooding down in Louisiana that is making headlines all over the world has been caused by a "500 year storm". Even before some areas of the state received more than 30 inches of rain, this was already the worst 12 months for floods in U.S. history, but without a doubt this has put an exclamation mark on this exceedingly unusual stretch of flooding. There are some rivers down in Louisiana that have crested three to four feet higher than their previous all-time records, and Governor Edwards is using the words "unprecedented" and "historic" to describe these floods. So far, 20,000 people have been rescued by authorities, and Governor Edwards even had to evacuate the Governor's Mansion due to chest-high water in the basement.

So why is this happening?

Why are we being hammered by historic flood after historic flood?

One of the most amazing images from the flooding down in Louisiana was of caskets that had been washed up from a graveyard that were literally floating down the street. Meteorologists are telling us that the storm that brought all of this rain was essentially equivalent to a tropical storm...

Could Water Be The Coming Hook In The Jaw?

9 AUGUST, 2016

(By Ricky Scaparo) The Bible tells us that in the future there will be a great battle that scholars identify as "The War of Gog and Magog" and is mentioned in Ezekiel Chapter Thirty Eight. This war will consist of many Nations including Turkey, Russia, and Iran that will come against Israel. In this battle, the Prophet mentions a very interesting key to what will initiate this future war.

Ezekiel 38:4 – I will turn you around, put hooks into your jaws, and lead you out, with all your army, horses, and horsemen, all splendidly clothed, a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords.

It appears from this verse that the Lord will use something as a hook in the jaw of a fish to reel these Nations into a war with Israel to fulfill his sovereign purpose and fulfill the prophetic word given by the Prophet Ezekiel. The question that has baffled scholars and has left much for debate is, what exactly is the "Hook" in the Jaw? What would pull all these Nations into a war with the Nation of Israel? Three of the most prominent speculations have been either a famine in the land that would come in the future which would drive these Nations to the land of Israel to Heat wave ties record for the date in D.C.

By Martin Weil August 12

Three days into the region's latest heat wave, a record was tied Friday when the high temperature at Reagan National Airport reached 99.

As a matter of record, it has been that hot in Washington on Aug. 12 only twice before: in 1926 and 1900.

An excessive heat warning was issued for Saturday by the National Weather Service, meaning that temperatures are expected to be "dangerously high."

But on Friday, some area residents appeared to cope.

"It's not that bad in the shade, with a breeze, while eating ice cream but otherwise not moving," said a woman named Jessica, who asked that her last name be withheld for privacy's sake.

A modest amount of relief may be in sight, but it's still a few days away. By Thursday, Washington's high temperature could be "near 89," the Weather Service said.

Also, taking a longer view, the days are growing shorter. Compared with Aug. 1, Friday offered the region 22 fewer minutes to bake in the summer sunshine.

Berhampur: A high-level scientific team from Central Marine Fisheries Research Institute (CMFRI) in Puri on Sunday visited the fishing jetty near Gopalpur port in Ganjam district, where local fishermen have been spotting hundreds of dead fish for the past three days. The team led by CMFRI principal scientist, Rita Jayshankar collected water samples and inspected the vicinity of the port and the unit of the Indian Rare Earth (IRE) located in Matikhala near the fishing jetty.

"We have collected samples and sent them to laboratory. We can ascertain the cause of these peculiar deaths only after we test the water quality," said Jayshankar. She added that the report would be submitted to the government after about a week. Jayshankar, however, ruled out marine pollution behind these incidents.

MIAMI — As the number of locally acquired Zika cases in Miami climbed a notch on Tuesday, county officials held an emergency meeting to blunt concerns about an epidemic and to underscore that local infections remain well contained.

Gov. Rick Scott of Florida said Tuesday that four more people had been identified as likely to have acquired the Zika virus from local mosquitoes in

Harris County infant dies in first Zika-related death in Texas (KTRK)

Updated 2 hrs 2 mins ago

HOUSTON (KTRK) -- Texas has confirmed that an infant who recently died in Harris County had microcephaly linked to the Zika virus. The baby passed away shortly after birth and is the first Zika-related death reported in Texas.

During her pregnancy, the mother was in Latin America, where she was infected, and the baby acquired the infection in the womb. Recent test results confirmed the baby's condition and link to Zika. The mother and baby are classified as travel-related cases, and there is no additional associated risk in Texas.

Ukraine, Russia on alert as tensions escalate

By Andrew Osborn | MOSCOW

(Reuters) - Vladimir Putin summoned his security council and the Russian Navy announced war games in the Black Sea a day after the Russian president accused Ukraine of trying to provoke a conflict over Crimea, which Moscow seized and annexed in 2014.

The belligerent posture heightened worries in Ukraine that Russia may plan to ramp up fighting in a war between Kiev and pro-Russian eastern separatists that had been de-escalated by a shaky peace process.

Using some of his most aggressive rhetoric against Kiev since the height of the war two years ago, Putin has pledged to take counter-measures against Ukraine, which he accused of sending saboteurs into Crimea to carry out terrorist acts.

Ukraine has called the accusations false and says they look like a pretext for Russia to escalate hostilities. Such an escalation could be used by Putin to demand better terms in the Ukraine peace process, or to inflame nationalist passions at home ahead of Russian parliamentary elections next month.

The Russian leader met his top military and intelligence service brass on Thursday and reviewed "scenarios for counter-terrorism security measures along the land border, offshore and in Crimean air space," the Kremlin said.

Ukrainian President Petro Poroshenko said he had ordered all Ukrainian units near Crimea and in eastern Ukraine onto the highest state of combat readiness. He was seeking to urgently speak to Putin, the leaders of France and Germany, U.S. Vice President Joe Biden and European Council President Donald Tusk.

In Washington, State Department spokeswoman Elizabeth Trudeau said the United States was extremely concerned and called on both sides to reduce tension and rhetoric.

In New York, the U.N. Security Council held a closed-door meeting at Ukraine's request to discuss the growing tensions.

Ukrainian U.N. Ambassador Volodymyr Yelchenko warned that Russia had amassed more than 40,000 troops in the region and said the build-up could reflect "very bad intentions."

Oleh Slobodyan, a spokesman for the Ukrainian border guards, said he had observed an uptick in Russian military activity in northern Crimea in recent days after heavier fighting in eastern Ukraine.

Russia Building New Underground Nuclear Command Posts

U.S. intelligence detects dozens of hardened bunkers for leaders

Russia is building large numbers of underground nuclear command bunkers in the latest sign Moscow is moving ahead with a major strategic forces modernization program.

U.S. intelligence officials said construction has been underway for several years on "dozens" of underground bunkers in Moscow and around the country.

Disclosure of the underground command bunkers comes as Army Gen. Curtis Scaparrotti, commander of U.S. European Command, warned recently that Russia has adopted a nuclear use doctrine he called "alarming."

"It is clear that Russia is modernizing its strategic forces," Scaparrotti told a conference sponsored by the U.S. Strategic Command.

"Russian doctrine states that tactical nuclear weapons may be used in a conventional response scenario," Scaparrotti said on July 27. "This is alarming and it underscores why our country's nuclear forces and NATO's continues to be a vital component of our deterrence."

Mark Schneider, a former Pentagon nuclear policy official, said Russia's new national security strategy, which was made public in December, discusses increasing civil defenses against nuclear attack, an indication Moscow is preparing for nuclear war.

"Russia is getting ready for a big war which they assume will go nuclear, with them launching the first attacks," said Schneider, now with the National Institute for Public Policy, a Virginia-based think tank.

Satellite photos released on Monday appear to show China making progress on construction of at least two dozen hardened concrete hangars suitable for housing Chinese air force planes, including strategic bombers and inflight refuelers, on disputed islands in the South China Sea.

The photos were collected and studied by the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS), a Washington-based think tank. They show construction work on man-made islands at Fiery Cross,

In the wake of the Hague's recent ruling on the South China Sea, tensions between Japan and China over another long-lasting territorial dispute in the East China Sea have increased dramatically, with both parties claiming rights to the Senkaku/Diaoyudao Islands and surrounding waters.

On Monday, Japan's Chief Cabinet Secretary Yoshihide Suga accused Beijing of 14 violations throughout the past weekend of what Tokyo considers its sovereign territory, vowing a "firm," but "calm" response to the Chinese side.

Suga said that Japan's Coast Guard will work with other national agencies to respond to developments. The Japanese Defense Minister, Tomomi Inada, also added that air raids over Chinese vessels will be conducted.

The Chinese military appears to be dramatically increasing its presence around a key island in the South China Sea, sending a strong message to Washington.

As Beijing continues its land reclamation projects in the South China Sea, Washington has remained adamant about one island in particular: Scarborough Shoal. Located northeast of the Spratly archipelago, it is claimed by China, Taiwan, and the Philippines, and the US has maintained that any attempts to militarize the shoal would cross a "red line."

According to Pentagon officials, Beijing may have just crossed it.

Iran is permitted to pursue the construction of two newly announced nuclear plants under the parameters of last summer's nuclear agreement, Obama administration officials informed the Washington Free Beacon, setting the stage for Tehran to move forward with construction following orders from President Hassan Rouhani.

Ali Salehi, Iran's top nuclear official, announced on Thursday that Iran has invested $10 billion into the construction of two new nuclear plants after receiving orders from Rouhani, according to reports in Iran's state-controlled media.

A State Department official said to the Free Beacon following the announcement that Iran is allowed to move forward with this venture under the nuclear agreement, which does not prohibit this type of nuclear construction.

"The [nuclear deal] does not prevent Iran from pursuing new light-water reactors," a State Department official not authorized to speak on record said to the Free Beacon in response to questions about Iran's latest announcement. "Any new nuclear reactors in Iran will be subject to its safeguards obligations."

Critics in Congress of the Obama administration's diplomacy with Iran condemned the new nuclear reactors, telling the Free Beacon that the administration is turning a blind eye to the Islamic Republic's continued pursuit of illicit nuclear technology, including the know-how to build a nuclear weapon.

"Nothing in the behavior of the Iranian regime in the year since the JCPOA went into effect should give us any confidence that they will be confining their nuclear program to peaceful activities," Sen. Ted Cruz (R., Texas) said to the Free Beacon, using the official acronym for the nuclear deal. "Secretary Kerry seems to think that the mullahs are interested in curing cancer and civilian energy production, but their rapid progress in ballistic missile technology suggests they are far more determined to develop the nuclear weapons these projectiles are designed to deliver."

"This is just the most recent confirmation of how misguided, shortsighted, and downright dangerous the Obama administration's

The largest terror group in the world has begun using drones to carry out military-style attacks, according to a report in Joseph Farah's G2 Bulletin.

The Iran-backed militia group Hezbollah used an unmanned aerial vehicle, or UAV, to drop cluster bombs on a village in Syria and released footage of the attack last week.

It was the first time Hezbollah has used attack drones to carry out bombing raids, despite having used drones for reconnaissance or one-use "kamikaze" style attacks in the past, according to intelligence experts and the Clarion Project.

The Islamic State is known to also have reconnaissance drones and is feared to have bomber drones as well.

Will we ever be able to get our privacy back, or has government surveillance become too entrenched?

Do you know what your "threat score" is?

Today, more than 90 percent of all local police departments and nearly all government agencies employ some sort of technological surveillance. One of the most common applications is called "Beware", and it scans billions of "arrest reports, property records, commercial databases, deep Web searches" and social media postings to give authorities an idea of who they are dealing with. So the next time that police pull up in front of your home, it is likely that what you have posted on Facebook will be searched. If you have said things that could be construed as "anti-government" or "anti-police", there is a very good chance that you will have a very high "threat score" and you will be on "the red list."

I understand that this sounds like something that comes directly out of a science fiction movie, but I assure you that it is very real. In fact, the Washington Post reported on this just the other day:

While officers raced to a recent 911 call about a man threatening his ex-girlfriend, a police operator in headquarters consulted software that scored the suspect's potential for violence the way a bank might run a credit report.

Muslim flight attendant sues ExpressJet over suspension

Published August 09, 2016 · Associated Press

DETROIT — A Muslim flight attendant has sued ExpressJet, accusing the airline of wrongly suspending her because she refused to serve alcohol to passengers.

The Council on American-Islamic Relations' Michigan chapter announced Tuesday it filed the lawsuit last week on behalf of Charee Stanley, a Detroit-based flight attendant for the airline headquartered in Atlanta.

The federal court case follows a discrimination complaint filed last year with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, which dismissed it without determining whether the airline violated the law.

Stanley alleges ExpressJet didn't provide a reasonable religious accommodation and seeks back pay and other damages. She was placed on unpaid leave last summer.

ExpressJet didn't immediately return a message seeking comment. The airline previously said it values diversity but couldn't comment on specific personnel matters.

And the U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Michigan announced that her office and the Department of Justice are investigating whether the mosque was treated fairly.

In one e-mail, a police official asks whether the FBI can be contacted to see whether the mosque leaders are "on their radar."

REUTERS - The bodies of 133 migrants have washed up on the shore at the western Libyan city of Zuwara in recent days, the Red Crescent said on Sunday.

Spokesman Al-Khamis al-Bosaifi said about three-quarters of the migrants were women and there were at least five children. No documents were found with the bodies, which were partly decomposed, but they were mainly sub-Saharan Africans, he said.

AP — The treacherous Mediterranean Sea crossing from Libya to Italy has claimed the lives of over 1,030 migrants in the last week, mostly as barely seaworthy smuggling boats foundered and sank despite calm seas and sunny skies, a migration agency said Tuesday, citing new accounts from survivors.

Hamas terrorists such as these are allegedly receiving support and funding from World Vision, Save the Children and possibly other international aid groups, according to Israeli intelligence.

Hamas has infiltrated a second major international aid agency, Save the Children Fund, according to an Israeli claim that one of the group's Palestinian staff members in Gaza was recruited into the terrorist organization.

The allegations against Save the Children come on the heels of last week's explosive charges against a regional manager for another major international NGO, World Vision.

'Let refugees into your homes' France pleads with citizens to help ease migrant crisis

THE French government has urged citizens to welcome refugees into their homes because the country's migrant centres are so crowded.

The French government is struggling to tackle the migrant crisis

There are currently 147 reception centres across France, but these are in massive demand as desperate refugees continue to flee the Middle East.

Housing minister Emmanuelle Cosse has pledged to build a further 50 centres before the end of next month in a desperate bid to ease the crisis.

But she has also called on French people to open up their homes to migrants in need. Several organisations have already promised to help.

U.S. accepts more Syrian refugees than all of EU: 8,000 vs. 6,000

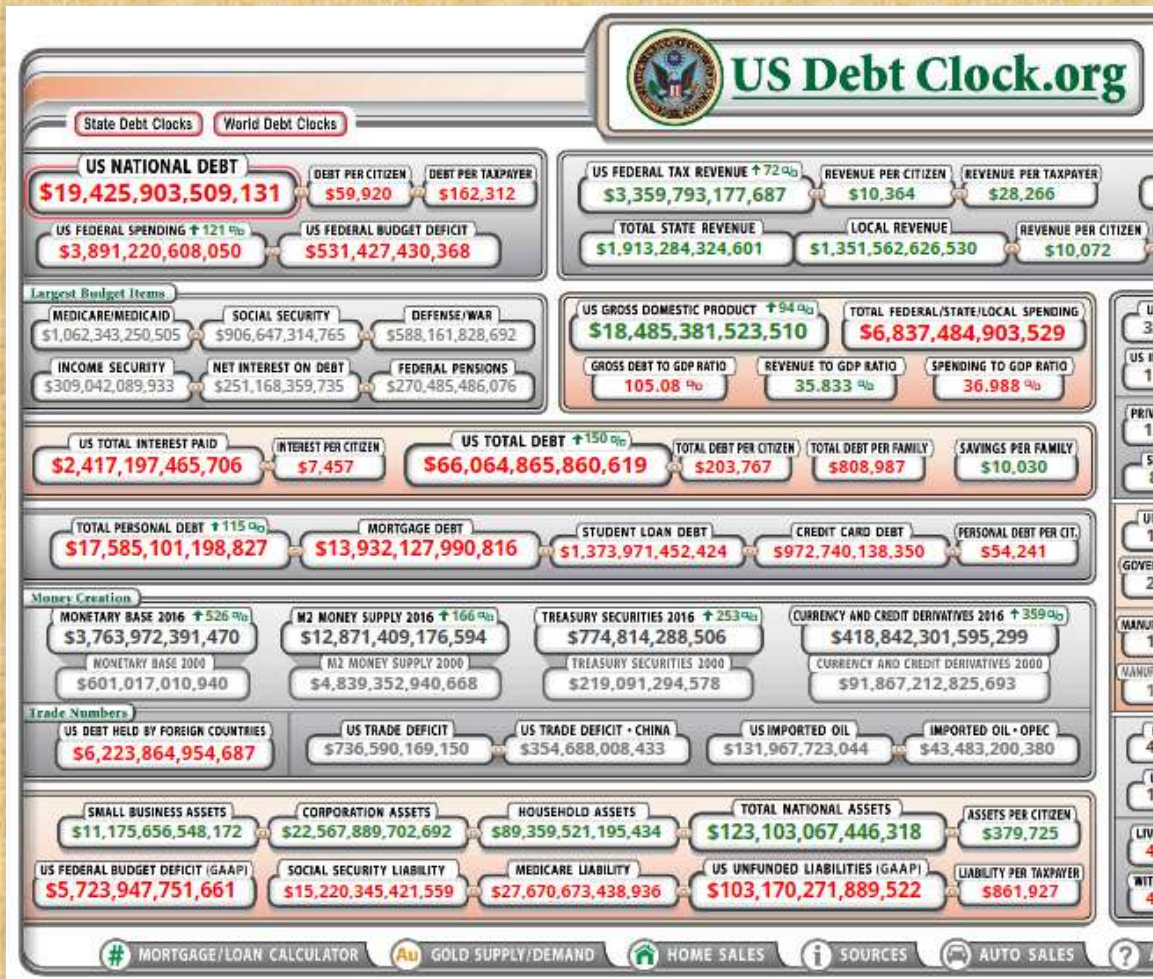

By PAUL BEDARD (@SECRETSBEDARD) • 8/15/16 8:51 AM

Despite promises of European Union member states to take in 160,000 refugees, a new report shows that they've accepted a fraction, 6,000, while the United States has embraced 8,000 of a planned 10,000 this year.

As President Obama, backed by Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton, has ramped up accepting refugees fleeing Syria and other war-torn nations, the EU has put the brakes on hard, apparently bowing to public outrage.

'We should nationalise German banks' Warning Deutsche Bank teetering on edge of CRISIS

Germany central bank, the Deutsche Bank, would be hit hard in a new financial crisis

Martin Hellwig said stress tests carried out by the European Central Bank revealed the Deutsche Bank would be left in a precarious position in the event of another financial crisis.

While it would probably not go bust in a fresh downturn - he predicted the bank which is crucial to the German economy would face serious equity problems.

He said: "Putting it short: for a long and serious crisis there simply wouldn't be enough money."

As dire as things currently look around the world, noted investor and author Jim Rogers is warning that things are going to get a lot worse in the coming years.

The unexpectedly sharp antagonism between Turkey and the west accelerated today, and one day after NATO preemptively reminded Turkey that it is still a NATO alliance member and advising Ankara that "Turkey's NATO membership is not in question", Turkey had some more choice words for its military allies. Cited by Reuters, Turkey foreign minister Mevlut Cavusoglu told Turkish's NTV television on Thursday that the country "may seek other options outside NATO for defense industry cooperation", although its first option is always cooperation with its NATO allies." Translation: if Russia (and/or China) gives us a better "defensive" offer, we just may take it.

The sharply worded retort came on the same day that Turkey said it will resume airstrikes on Islamic State targets in Syria, and asked Russia to carry out joint operations against its "common enemy." Ankara halted strikes after the downing of a Russian plane by Turkish forces last year.

In the same interview, Cavusoglu said that Ankara "will again, in an active manner, with its planes take part in operations" against Islamic State targets. Cavusoglu also said that Ankara has called on Moscow to carry out joint operations against the "common enemy" of IS. "Let's fight against the terrorist group together, so that we can clear it out as soon as possible," Cavusoglu said, adding that otherwise IS will continue to expand and spread into other countries.

To be sure, coming from the nation which directly engaged in oil trade with the Islamic State, this is at least a little ironic, however, what is notable is the significant pivot Turkey has made vis-a-vis military engagements, rotating not toward the US alliance, but toward the Kremlin.

"We will discuss all the details. We have always called on Russia to carry out anti-Daesh [IS] operations together," he said, adding that the proposal is still "on the table." The foreign minister went on to tout the benefits of closer cooperation between Turkey and Russia,

"Many countries are engaged in Syria actively. There could be mistakes," he said. "In order to prevent that, we need to put into practice the solidarity and cooperation [mechanism] between us including sharing of real-time intelligence."

The comments came just days after Turkish President Erdogan visited St. Petersburg for talks with Russian President Vladimir Putin, in the first meeting between the two leaders since the plane was downed.

To get a glimpse of the future of commerce in America, look no further than Sweden.

The Scandinavian country is largely a cashless society, with consumers relying on mobile phone payments or plastic. While the U.S. is still far from achieving the same level of cash-free existence, increasing numbers of restaurants and retailers are now snubbing the lowly dollar bill.

Some merchants such as SweetGreen, a salad chain, refuse to open their registers for cash, telling customers they can pay only with mobile payments or cards. With some newer vending machines, only a card or mobile wallet will get that cold Coca-Cola to roll down the chute.

Are we headed towards a cashless society?

The stance may appear un-American -- after all, currency is considered legal tender for all debts or dues -- but the Treasury permits private businesses to set their own policies, which means going cashless is fine with Uncle Sam.

"What we've seen is a push toward electric payments because of convenience, especially for Generations X and Y and onward," said Greg Burch, vice president of strategic initiatives as Ingenico Group, which makes payment systems for merchants. "The phone has become more personal than the wallet has."

While going cashless is still at what Burch said is an experimental level, he predicted that more stores will be adding mobile payment options or their own mobile wallets, similar to Starbucks' (SBUX) payment app. The coffee chain's mobile wallet is gaining in popularity: It now accounts for about one out of every five purchases.

Using cards or mobile apps is increasingly popular with younger generations, but stores have good reason to like the trend, as well. Moving away from cash removes the cost of storing and transporting bills and coins, which merchants like. It also

An Iowa church just wants to be free to preach the gospel, but the state's so-called nondiscrimination requirements could block the house of worship from doing just that.

Lawyers for the church are asking a federal court to prevent Iowa from censoring what the religious group can say about homosexuality, same-sex "marriage," transgenderism and other related topics.

The case erupted when the state's Civil Rights Commission first claimed the authority to control the content of sermons and then to define what's religious.

At issue is the state's nondiscrimination requirements that specify any "public accommodation" can be ordered not to say anything that might make a homosexual or a transgender feel "unwelcome," such as even reading from the Bible a condemnation of such behavior.

But his attempt to use the Hebrew Scriptures to support transgender activism is utterly misguided, fatally flawed and unworthy of serious consideration. (torbakhopper/Flickr/Creative Commons)

In an August 12 op-ed piece for the New York Times entitled "Is God Transgender?", Rabbi Mark Sameth claims that "the Hebrew Bible, when read in its original language, offers a highly elastic view of gender" and that, "counter to everything we grew up believing, the God of Israel—the God of the three monotheistic, Abrahamic religions to which fully half the people on the planet today belong—was understood by its earliest worshipers to be a dual-gendered deity."

Are there any truths to these claims?

Certainly not.

For Rabbi Sameth, these are issues of social concern and not merely theological abstractions, as he states explicitly at the outset of his article: "I'm a rabbi, and so I'm particularly saddened whenever religious arguments are brought in to defend social prejudices—as they often are in the discussion about transgender rights."

The real question, though, for Jews and Christians who look to the Hebrew Scriptures as God's Word is very simple: What do the Scriptures teach? What is the explicit testimony of the Bible?

ثالثًا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَأَنْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.».

وأيضا استعدوا فقد تسلموا وديعتكم في أي وقت فهناك 150 ألف شخص يموتوا في اليوم الواحد

انت لا تعرف متى ستكون منهم

المسيح اقترب فاصنعوا ثمار تليق بالتوبة واستعدوا لاستقبال العريس.
