والعلامات حتى 31 مارس 2020

اكرر هدفي فقط من هذه الخدمة أن نذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد أي حياة اليقظة الروحية.
والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه لأننا نور العالم
الذي أصبح مظلم وليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا
مضيئة وقت مجيؤه او من منا سيسلم وديعته في أي وقت. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة
بأيمان عامل بالمحبة والتبشير وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان
الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان
وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذاري انه لن يكون هناك
زيت الا ما جمعته سابقا.

أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقرب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان
سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقرب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشرا اشاعات او اخيف البعض
ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لأنه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم يأتي
المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا

المسيح قال بعض العلامات مثل

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه

كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

ثالثا لنتنبه ونستعد

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَأَنْصَبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.».

(CNN) – Severe storms, including possible tornadoes and hail, are expected to affect wide portions of the United States on Saturday. “Over 70 million Americans face the threat of severe weather today, with the greatest threat for a significant weather outbreak covering roughly 45,000 square miles, including Chicago metro,” CNN meteorologist Derek Van Dam said.

“All-weather modeling points to a significant severe weather outbreak for portions of the Midwest today, with lower chances as you travel south towards the lower Mississippi and Tennessee Valley Region. The threats include tornadoes (a few which may be significant), large to very large hail and severe wind gusts.” Unseasonably warm and moist air ahead of a rapidly intensifying, low-pressure system will fuel the storms, which will stretch from the central portion of the country to the Great Lakes and Northeast.

According to a report from Daily Star, Adi Moskowitz noticed the lifeless creatures while walking through the Gan Leumi park in Ramat Gan on Saturday.

He then shared four of these photos of the dead bats on the ground before another resident who lived several miles away in the Pardes Katz neighborhood posted a video of the same event. Another Facebook user said they had seen the dead bats in the city of Hadera – some 50km away from Gan Leumi park. Many of these bats are young and display no signs of trauma, leaving one expert in the field baffled.

Abstract

Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) is a pandemic. Neurological complications of COVID-19 have not been reported. Encephalopathy has not been described as a presenting symptom or complication of COVID-19. We report a case of a 74-year-old patient who traveled from Europe to the United States and presented with encephalopathy and COVID-19.

Introduction

Coronavirus disease (COVID-19) was first detected in December 2019 in China and has rapidly spread to the rest of world. The World Health Organization (WHO) has recently declared COVID-19 a pandemic, with more than 180,000 reported cases to date. COVID-19 is a novel corona virus that probably emerged from an animal source, which is now spreading rapidly from person to person. The typical symptoms of COVID-19 can range from mild to severe respiratory illness. The most common symptoms that have been reported thus far are fever, cough, and shortness of breath. The elderly population, especially those with underlying medical problems like chronic bronchitis, emphysema, heart failure, or diabetes, are more likely to develop serious illness [1,2].

Neurological complications in COVID-19 infected patients have not been widely reported. Since elderly patients with chronic medical conditions are at an increased risk of altered mental status in the setting of acute infections, patients with COVID-19 infection can also present with acute encephalopathy and changes in their level of consciousness. Here we report a case of a patient who presented with encephalopathy and was found to be infected with COVID-19.

GENEVA, March 27 (Reuters) - Social unrest could erupt among the urban poor and marginalised in the West's biggest cities as they lack sources of income amid the COVID-19 crisis, the head of the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) said on Friday.

More than 80,000 people have tested positive for coronavirus in Italy since the outbreak emerged little more than a month ago and some 8,215 have died, far more than in any other country.

Francesco Rocca, an Italian who heads the world's largest disaster relief network, said that as well as social unrest the risk of suicide is increasing among vulnerable isolated people.

"We have a lot of people who are living very marginalised, in the so-called black hole of society... In the most difficult neighbourhoods of the biggest cities I am afraid that in a few weeks we will have social problems," Rocca told a U.N. news briefing.

"This is a social bomb that can explode at any moment, because they don't have any way to have an income," said Rocca, whose Geneva-based agency also deploys

Scientists in Iceland claim they have found FORTY mutations of the coronavirus – and admit seven cases can be traced back to 'a football match in England'

- Thousands of people in Iceland gave swabs to test for COVID-19
- Researchers sequenced the genome of the virus to look for mutations
- They found 40 which could be traced to three different countries - Austria, Italy and England. Seven people went to a football match in England
- Genetic sequencing allows scientists to trace where the virus has travelled

Top scientist: Coronavirus could be seasonal Anthony Fauci underscored the need to find a vaccine and treatments for the virus.

Washington (AFP) - There is a strong chance the new coronavirus could return in seasonal cycles, a senior US scientist said Wednesday, underscoring the urgent need to find a vaccine and effective treatments.

Anthony Fauci, who leads research into infectious diseases at the National Institutes of Health, told a briefing the virus was beginning to take root in the southern hemisphere, where winter is on its way.

KEY POINTS

- With COVID-19 impacting more and more Americans, individuals across the country are scrambling to set up wills and end-of-life directives.
- As of Monday, Boston-based Gentreo has seen a 143% week-over-week increase in people filling out wills, while San Diego's Trust & Will has seen a 50% uptick in users.
- However, lawyers caution that DIY wills can be deemed invalid if they don't meet all of the legal requirements of your state.

"I think we need to plan for this to be a few months long at least," US Defense Secretary Mark Esper said, judging from the experience of countries like China, South Korea and Hong Kong.

Coronavirus Update: Positive Cases

NEW YORK (CBSNewYork) — Gov. Andrew Cuomo said the rate of increase of coronavirus cases in New York has grown, and the rate of new infections is doubling every three days.

"That is a dramatic increase in the rate of infection," Cuomo said. "We're not slowing it, and it is accelerating it on its own."

Cuomo says new projections suggest New York will now need up to 140,000 hospital beds, and has a current capacity of roughly 53,000

NEW YORK (CBSNewYork) — Mayor Bill de Blasio prepared New Yorkers on Monday for what he says will be a “challenging week” in the fight against the coronavirus outbreak.

During his daily media briefing, de Blasio said it’s time for residents to get used to living in a way that is “absolutely unprecedented in our lives.”

“I think it’s safe to say as we woke up this morning, this Monday looked very different, unlike any Monday that we’ve ever experienced,” de Blasio said.

“Suffice it to say, we now, all of us, fully understand what we are up against. We are taking every conceivable action as a city, working with the state government and now increasingly working with the federal government to address this crisis, to try in every way we can to slow the growth of this disease, to help everyone in need, and to get to the day when this is part of our history, not part of the reality we are living,” the mayor added.

NEW YORK (CBSNewYork) — Mayor Bill de Blasio on Tuesday girded New Yorkers for a long, hard fight against the coronavirus.

"I have to be honest about the fact that we do not expect this to go quickly, and I wish we did, but we don't," de Blasio said. "But I have to respectfully disagree with [President Donald Trump] when he says, as he said earlier today, that he's not looking at months for this crisis. I have to say, Mr. President, I wish that was the case for New York City, I hope that's the case for the other parts of the country, but right now we are looking at months."

De Blasio had previously said estimates on New York City's medical supplies lasting to the end of the month did not match the increased rate of infection, and supplies were not expected to last the week.

"We are doing all we can just to get through March right now, particularly in terms of our health care system," he said. "April will unquestionably be worse than March, and right now, my fear is May could be worse than April. That's the reality we're facing. I think the notion that we could be quote-unquote back to normal in April is absolutely inconceivable at this point."

De Blasio threatens to permanently close places of worship that resist shutdown order

by John Gage | March 29, 2020 06:44 PM

New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio warned religious leaders that their places of worship could be shut down permanently if they did not follow the city's order to pause services during the coronavirus pandemic.

"A small number of religious communities, specific churches and specific synagogues, are unfortunately not paying attention to this guidance even though it's so widespread," the New York Democrat said Friday at his daily press briefing.

"I want to say to all those who are preparing for the potential of religious services this weekend: If you go to your synagogue, if you go to your church and attempt to hold services after having been told so often not to, our enforcement agents will have no choice but to shut down those services," he added.

De Blasio said that continued resistance of authorities to close religious services could mean a permanent shutdown.

California governor says state needs 50,000 more hospital beds

by Reuters

Tuesday, 24 March 2020 00:16 GMT

(Adds details and background)

March 23 (Reuters) - California's governor said on Monday that the state needs 50,000 additional hospital beds to accommodate a surge in coronavirus patients predicted by computer modeling.

Governor Gavin Newsom, speaking at an afternoon press conference, said that some of those beds could be made available by hospitals but that thousands more will need to be found if predictions of the course of the illness prove true.

Newsom said the state had gone to the open market looking to purchase some 200 million pieces of protective gear for doctors and nurses treating patients with COVID-19.

The governor said he had ordered the closure of all state parking lots after seeing people gathered at parks and beaches over the weekend despite a sweeping order that California residents stay home to help slow the spread of coronavirus. (Reporting by Katie Paul and Dan Whitcomb;

NEW YORK, March 27 (Reuters) - Nearly one in four U.S. adults said they have been laid off or furloughed during the coronavirus outbreak, yet a bipartisan majority of Americans wants businesses to remain closed to slow the spread of the deadly virus despite its impact on the economy, according to a Reuters/Ipsos poll.

The March 26-27 opinion poll, released Friday, also showed that the public is much more likely to heed the advice of doctors and local government officials than President Donald Trump.

Trump, who predicted in February that the virus would quickly disappear "like a miracle," has communicated an uneven level of concern for the disease, which has infected more than 85,000 people in the United States and killed more than 1,200.

The president took a hardline approach earlier this month when he urged people to gather only in small groups. Later he appeared to change course, telling reporters that he would like businesses to reopen by Easter, on April 12.

Top infectious disease doctor warns the US could see 100-200 thousand deaths

(ETH) – America's top infectious disease expert, Dr. Anthony Fauci, has just come out and warned that the U.S. will certainly have "millions of cases" of COVID-19 and more than 100,000 deaths. This comes as the U.S. has officially topped the world in reported infections from the new coronavirus, the director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases predicts 100,000-200,000 deaths from the outbreak in the U.S. As of today,

The U.S. is currently reporting more than 124,000 cases and more than 2,100 deaths. Fauci recently was on CNN's "State of the Union" as the federal government is discussing rolling back guidelines on social distancing in areas that have not been hard-hit by the outbreak. Fauci stated that he would only support the rollback in lesser-impacted areas if there is enhanced availability of testing in place to monitor those areas. He acknowledged "it's a little iffy there" right now.

Daniela Trezzi had been working on the intensive care ward at the San Gerardo hospital in Monza, around nine miles from Milan, but was in quarantine after showing coronavirus symptoms and testing positive for the disease.

The nursing group also revealed that 'a similar episode had happened a week ago in Venice, with the same underlying reasons'.

'Each of us has chosen this profession for good and, unfortunately, also for bad: we are nurses,' the federation said.

'The condition and stress to which our professionals are subjected is under the eyes of all.'

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson has tested positive for coronavirus. He has mild symptoms and will self-isolate in Downing Street.

"He was tested for coronavirus on the personal advice of England's chief medical officer, Professor Chris Whitty," a statement brought by BBC read.

On Friday afternoon, Johnson tweeted: "Over the last 24 hours I have developed mild symptoms and tested positive for coronavirus."

"I am now self-isolating, but I will continue to lead the government's response via video-conference as we fight this virus. Together we will beat this."

At the end of his tweet, Johnson added the hashtag, "#StayHomeSaveLives."

Iran will ban intercity travel within days in the wake of the coronavirus outbreak that has killed more than 2,000 people, officials said Wednesday, according to AFP.

The strict new measures come after weeks of cajoling largely failed to prevent hundreds of thousands of Iranians taking to the roads to visit family for the two-week Persian New Year holiday.

"New journeys will be banned, leaving towns and cities will be banned," government spokesman Ali Rabii announced on Wednesday, hours after President Hassan Rouhani revealed the government was poised to introduce "difficult" new measures against the outbreak.

Dengue too may join in

Experts fear simultaneous outbreaks; say empty Dhaka can help Aedes mosquitos breed

Helemul Alam

Sporadic rain and a relatively empty capital will make for an ideal breeding environment for the dengue-causing Aedes mosquitoes.

Clear and stagnant water in uncovered commodes, discarded containers, and reservoirs at construction sites may eventually be the source of armies of the mosquito in the coming weeks, experts fear.

If people had not emptied the water containers lying around the household, covered the commodes and any other places holding clear water before leaving for their villages, they are likely to return to an Aedes infested home, said Brig Gen Mominur Rahman Mamun, chief health officer at Dhaka North City Corporation.

According to Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), since January 1, 269 people were treated at hospitals with dengue fever in Dhaka and 63 outside Dhaka.

"Rainfall will create an environment conducive for all kinds of mosquitoes, especially Aedes," Manzur Chowdhury, entomologist and former president of Zoological Society of Bangladesh, told The Daily Star.

"We are not giving adequate attention to prevent the Aedes, which may cause an outbreak in the coming months if steps are not taken," he added.

North Korea fires two 'ballistic missiles' into sea

By Claire LEE
Seoul (AFP) March 21, 2020

North Korea fired what appeared to be two short-range ballistic missiles off its east coast on Saturday, the latest in a series of such launches by Pyongyang as the world struggles with the coronavirus pandemic.

The South Korean military condemned the launches as "extremely inappropriate given the difficult situation the world is experiencing due to COVID-19... We urge them to stop immediately."

North Korea has not reported any cases of the coronavirus, which has turned into a major crisis with more than 11,000 deaths and over 250,000 infections worldwide.

There has been widespread speculation, however, that the virus has reached the isolated nation, and health experts have warned that it could devastate the country given its weak medical infrastructure and widespread malnutrition.

Japan's defence ministry also confirmed the North Korean launches.

For decades, North Korea's leadership has faced international criticism for prioritising spending on its military and nuclear weapons programme instead of providing for the population -- even during times of famine.

Pyongyang considers its military development necessary for security in the face of what it describes as American aggression. North Korea is under multiple sets of punishing sanctions over its nuclear and missile programmes.

Russia ends war games as precaution against COVID-19

by Ed Adamczyk
Washington DC (UPI) Mar 23, 2020

The Russian army ended war exercises on its western border, it announced on Monday, as a preventative measure against the COVID-19 virus.

The war games were to be a response to a massive exercise by NATO troops in March, Europe-Defender 20, that was to involve over 20,000 U.S. troops and personnel from 10 other countries but was severely reduced in scope after the outbreak. The NATO exercise was criticized by the Kremlin, and Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said in February that Russia would respond with a reciprocal show of force.

"It's obvious that all of this is connected with preventive measures," Kremlin spokesman

Dmitry Peskov said on Monday of the cancellation of the Russian war games. "It's linked to the situation around the general fight against coronavirus."

An earlier statement from a Russian military official said the war games were called off as a sign of goodwill toward NATO.

Russia has announced only 200 confirmed cases of coronavirus, and on Friday Russian Defense Minister Sergei Shoigu said none were in the country's armed forces. The Russian military is involved in an airlift of medical personnel and material to Italy, which has been severely struck by the pandemic.

Russia's military also announced that the annual spring conscription, a military draft held between April and July, will go on as planned, and despite a ban on outdoor public gatherings in Moscow, over 10,000 soldiers have been practicing their routines for the planned May 9 Victory Day parade.

The Department of Defense successfully tested a hypersonic glide body in a flight experiment conducted from the Pacific Missile Range Facility, Kauai, Hawaii, March 19 at approximately 10:30 p.m. local time (HST).

The U.S. Navy and U.S. Army jointly executed the launch of a common hypersonic glide body (C-HGB), which flew at hypersonic speed to a designated impact point.

Concurrently, the Missile Defense Agency (MDA) monitored and gathered tracking data from the flight experiment that will inform its ongoing development of systems designed to defend against adversary hypersonic weapons.

Information gathered from this and future experiments will further inform DOD's hypersonic technology development, and this event is a major milestone towards the department's goal of fielding hypersonic warfighting capabilities in the early- to mid-2020s.

"This test builds on the success we had with Flight Experiment 1 in October 2017, in which our C-HGB achieved sustained hypersonic glide at our target distances," said Vice Adm. Johnny R. Wolfe, Director, Navy's Strategic Systems Programs, which is the lead designer for the C-HGB.

"In this test we put additional stresses on the system and it was able to handle them all, due to the phenomenal expertise of our top notch team of individuals from across government, industry and academia. Today we validated our design and are now ready to move to the next phase towards fielding a hypersonic strike capability."

Cape Canaveral AFB (SPX) Mar 26, 2020

A United Launch Alliance (ULA) Atlas V rocket is in final preparations to launch the sixth Advanced Extremely High Frequency (AEHF) communications satellite for the U.S. Space Force's Space and Missile Systems Center. The launch is on track for March 26 at Space Launch Complex-41 from Cape Canaveral Air Force Station. Launch is planned for 2:57 p.m. EDT at the opening of a two-hour launch window. The live launch broadcast begins at 2:37 p.m. EDT on www.ulalaunch.com. The launch of AEHF-6 will mark the 138th launch for ULA and first National Security Space mission for the U.S. Space Force.

"In the current dynamic environment, national security is of utmost importance," said Gary Wentz, ULA vice president of Government and Commercial Programs. "We are proud to launch the first National Security Space mission for the U.S. Space Force and look forward to delivering the final AEHF asset to support our nation's national defense and the warfighter community."

Producing more than two and a half million pounds of thrust at liftoff, the Atlas V 551 configuration rocket is the most powerful in the Atlas V fleet. The 551 rocket has launched groundbreaking missions for our nation—from the critically important MUOS constellation to historic science missions including New Horizons, the first mission to Pluto and the Juno mission to Jupiter. The Atlas V 551 configuration first launched on January 19, 2006 and has launched 10 times to date.

Russia's warships moved into Channel by Putin while UK is 'distracted' by coronavirus

VLADIMIR PUTIN's deployment of warships further into the English Channel than normal has prompted a former NATO Commander to warn that this could be the Russians trying to take advantage of the UK's coronavirus crisis.

Taiwan anger over China military drills during virus outbreak

by Staff Writers
Taipei (AFP) March 25, 2020

Anger is rising in Taiwan over China continuing to buzz the island with fighter jets and warships even as they both fight the global coronavirus pandemic.

The self-ruled democratic island has had to scramble its own fighter jets in response to recent Chinese manoeuvres, designed to show that Beijing's military might remains unbowed by the health crisis.

But the tactic is winning few friends among the Taiwanese.

"As the world grapples with the severity of the COVID19 pandemic, China's military manoeuvres around Taiwan have continued unabated," President Tsai Ing-wen said in a tweet late Tuesday accompanied by pictures of her visiting troops.

"Whether it's national defence or preventing the spread of disease, our armed forces remain as vigilant as ever," she added.

Beijing has ramped up drills around the island since Tsai was first elected in 2016 because she refuses to acknowledge its concept that Taiwan is part of "one China."

There has been little let up during the devastating coronavirus outbreak that began in China.

Taipei's defence ministry said four "targeted" drills have been conducted by China near its borders this year, which it said was "concrete evidence of provocations and threats".

Iran says produces new generation of centrifuges

Adjust font size:

TEHRAN, March 27 (Xinhua) – The Atomic Energy Organization of Iran (AEOI) has designed and produced new generation of centrifuges at the Natanz nuclear enrichment plant in central Iran, semi-official Mehr news agency reported Friday.

The Iranian experts have been working hard to produce the new generation of centrifuges in line with the country's need of nuclear technology for civilian use, an unnamed source in AEOI was quoted as saying.

These machines mark a breakthrough in advancing Iran's peaceful nuclear energy program, the source said, without further details.

The new generation of centrifuges will likely be unveiled on April 8 which is Iran's National Nuclear Technology Day.

Following the U.S. withdrawal from the Iranian landmark nuclear deal in May 2018, Iran dropped its commitments to restricting its nuclear program under the accord at intervals.

Washington has called for renewed nuclear deal with Tehran to impose further restrictions on Iran's nuclear and ballistic missile programs. Enditem

US-China war of words deepens over coronavirus origins

by Staff Writers
Paris (AFP) March 23, 2020

A war of words between Beijing and Washington over COVID-19 intensified Monday after the Chinese embassy in France suggested that the outbreak of what President Donald Trump calls the "Chinese virus" actually started in the United States.

"How many cases of COVID-19 were there among the 20,000 deaths due to the flu that started (in the United States) in September last year?" the Chinese embassy in Paris asked in a string of messages on Twitter -- a service largely blocked in China.

"Did the United States not try to pass off (cases of) pneumonia due to the new coronavirus as flu?"

The embassy did not point to any scientific evidence for its claims.

Trump and his Secretary of State Mike Pompeo have angered Beijing by repeatedly referring to "the Chinese virus" when discussing the COVID-19 outbreak first detected in the Chinese city of Wuhan.

The virus has since spread to infect tens of thousands worldwide, leading governments to place hundreds of millions in home confinement in a bid to curb the outbreak.

On Sunday, Trump said he was "a little upset" with China, adding: "They should have told us about this."

China, Iran lead UN push for US sanctions relief during pandemic

by Staff Writers

United Nations, United States (AFP) March 26, 2020

China and Iran led a group of countries in a joint push Thursday for the UN to pressure Washington to lift sanctions, which they charged are hindering the global fight against COVID-19.

"We urge you to request the complete and immediate lifting of such illegal, coercive and arbitrary measures of economic pressure (...) in order to ensure the full, effective and efficient response of all members of the international community to the coronavirus," they said in a letter addressed to UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres.

Dated Wednesday, the letter was published on Twitter by the Iranian mission to the UN.

The letter does not specifically mention Washington but all eight signatories currently face US sanctions.

The signatories said they want to "reject the politicization of such a pandemic."

In addition to Iran and China, two of the countries most affected by the coronavirus, the signatories include Russia, Venezuela, North Korea, Nicaragua, Cuba and Syria.

(WASHINGTON EXAMINER) -- Iran's theocratic regime could crumble under the pressure of the coronavirus outbreak that has spread through elite ranks and the broader population alike, according to the European Union's top diplomat.

"Elsewhere, countries like Venezuela or Iran may well collapse without our support," EU High Representative Josep Borrell wrote in a recent bulletin to European colleagues. "This means we should ensure they have access to IMF assistance. And with Iran, we need to make sure that legitimate humanitarian trade can proceed despite US sanctions."

Xi tells Trump China and US must 'unite to fight virus'

by Staff Writers
Beijing (AFP) March 27, 2020

China and the United States should "unite to fight" the deadly coronavirus pandemic, President Xi Jinping said in a call with Donald Trump on Friday, as he called for the US to improve relations.

The two countries have clashed in recent weeks over the virus, and Chinese state media said Xi told Trump he hoped the "US will take substantive actions to improve Sino-US relations."

He also called for the two countries to work together to tackle the virus and said Beijing "wishes to continue sharing all information and experience with the US", according to state broadcaster CCTV.

Trump sounded a positive tone, tweeting that he had a "very good conversation" with Xi, and that both leaders discussed the pandemic "in great detail".

"China has been through much & has developed a strong understanding of the virus. We are working closely together. Much respect," he wrote.

Trump and his Secretary of State Mike Pompeo angered Beijing this month by repeatedly referring to "the Chinese virus" when discussing the COVID-19 outbreak first detected in the Chinese city of Wuhan.

Trump has since dropped the term amid accusations of racism, in another small sign of easing tensions between the two world powers.

The Advent of Mind-Reading Arrives in Silicon Valley! Scientists Develop Brain-Reading Chip to Improve Neural Activities

The researchers, as a result, claim their chip can report more information while simultaneously being much less invasive than preceding models.

After years of toiling a group of material scientists, researchers have finally designed a chip that lets people study other people's minds better than ever. This innovation allows scientists to study masses of neurons in mind in real-time. The device is primarily based on modified silicon chips from the camera by filming neural electric activity.

And as you will see below, corporate insiders also sold off billions of dollars worth of shares in their own companies just before the stock market imploded. In life, timing can be everything, and sometimes people simply get lucky. But it does seem odd that so
